Britain Closes Parliament To Visitors, As Police Check Secret Bomb Clues

"Ultimatum" is Received From Irish Army; Thousands Of Police Go On Hunt As Munition Plants Reported Robbed

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP).—The Houses of Parliament were closed to visitors as a precautionary measure today while police announced the discovery of important secret clues in a wave of bombings attributed to sympathizers of the Irish Republican army organization.

At the same time Sir Thomas Moore, a Conservative member of parliament, announced he will propose legislation in the House of Commons to provide corporal punishment for persons convicted of bombing charges.

Detectives and police conducted a widespread search for persons suspected of having connections with the terrorism, which yesterday culminated in the bombing of two London subway stations.

Four men were ordered held by London, Manchester and Liverpool police courts on charges connected with the bombings. One man, arrested in Manchester, was alleged to have said that "though you have got us, the cause will go on.' The I.R.A. seeks to sever all connections between Ireland and England.

Police said they discovered seven hand grenades and 11 rounds of ammunition in the garden of Michael John Lyons, 36, a London resident who was charged with complicity.

An Irish Ultimatum.

Officials disclosed that the home office is 'dealing" with an Irish Republican army ultimatum" served on Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

The Daily Herald said a four-day ultimatum for removal of British troops from all Ireland had been sent to Lord Halifax Jan. 12—four days before the first bombings. As quoted by the Herald, the ultimatum said.

"We shall regret if this fundamental condition is ignored and we are compelled to intervene actively in the military or commercial life of your country as your government now is intervening in ours."

Reports that large stocks of explosives were missing from munitions factories intensified the hunt, the biggest of its kind since the Great War.

Explosions at 10-minute intervals started fires in sheds of the Rheostatic airplane parts factory early today at Slough, 15 miles from London. Scotland Yard detectives and Home Office experts rushed there, but after an investigation announced they were satisfied the blaze had no connection with the previous terrorism. Bursting oil drums were believed to have caused the explosions.

Dempster Runs In Defence Of Democracy

COLDWATER, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—Capt. W. J. Osborne Dempster of Toronto entered the Simcoe East by-election in "defence of democracy, loyalty and the right to self-determination," he said in his initial campaign speech last night. Capt. Dempster announced Wednesday his intention of entering the campaign as a Conservative candidate.

The election, to be held Feb. 27, is to fill the seat vacated by William Finlayson, a Conservative and former provincial cabinet minister who resigned to open his riding to Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, recently-elected leader of the Ontario Conservative party. Col. Drew has the backing of the Simcoe East Conservative Association.

"I have chosen to return to you the democratic right to say who shall represent you," Capt. Dempster said Friday. The English-born candidate, once a British army officer, said Col. Drew had "attempted to destroy one of the bulwarks of democracy, namely, the two-party system."

The Coalition Move.

When the 1937 general provincial election "was at its hotttest," Col. Drew, who was party organizer then, demanded that the possibility of a coalition with Premier Hepburn's government be considered by the Conservatives, Capt. Dempster said.

"He urged upon his leader the acceptance of this coalition in which, it was believed, there might be a Conservative attorney - general," Capt. Dempster charged. "Thus, at his earnest solicitation, an autocracy would have been formed, at least one party would have disappeared and democracy would have ended."

The attempt was blocked, Capt. Dempster said, by Hon. Earl Rowe,

Buck 'Picked Up' In Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—(CP). — Tim Buck of Toronto, secertary of the Communist Party in Canada, was held for four hours and then allowed his freedom yesterday after being picked up by provincial police. No charge was laid against him.

Buck, who arrived here Thursday from Toronto to preside at a reception to-day for Canadians returning from the Spanish war, was found by police visiting a Dorion street house with a warrant to search for Communist literature under Quebec's "padlock law." Buck sand five other men were taken to headquarters with him and later released. Provincial police denied they had taken along anyone but Buck.

Buck said last night a friend had invited him to Montreal to address a gathering of neighbors concerning Buck's part in recent Toronto civic elections where he was defeated narrowly in the race for a Board of Control seat. Buck said he was going to discuss "our fight to have the Consumers Gas Company take off the meter charge, and other things like that which would interest housewives in Montreal.

Provincial police said that no resistance was offered when officers of the red squad entered the home where Buck was found. They had invited him to headquarters "to talk the matter over," they said. Buck said the officers refused to let him telephone from headquarters, and that one officer had "snatched some notes from an article I was preparing out of my hand."

Opposes Drew

Capt. W. J. Osborne Dempster, of Toronto, has announced that he will oppose Col. Drew, newly elected Ontario Conservative leader in the East Simcoe by-election. Capt. Dempster also claims to be a Conservative.

Britain To Buy 250 More U.S. Warplanes

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The air ministry announced today that Great Britain will purchase 250 warplanes in the United States in addition to 400 already on order.

Fifty of the new planes, the air ministry said, will be Lockheed general reconnaissance machines and the other 200 will be North American Aviation Company trainers.

"In view of the improved deliveries in prospect under orders for aircraft placed by the air ministry in the United States last year," the announcement said, "it has been possible to negotiate an increase in contracts for delivery within the period originally contemplated."

The air ministry announcement came amid a stir in several capitals, particularly Washington, over sale of American-made planes to France.

Delivery In 2 Years.

Delivery of the original British order of 400 planes at an estimated cost of $35,000,000 was expected within from one to two years. The air ministry announced this order last June and indicated then that it might be increased.

The first British purchases were recommended by a mission that came to the United States last year. Two hundred planes were ordered from the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of Burbank, Calif., and 200 from North American Aviation, Inc., of Inglewood, Calif.

A French mission to the United States was understood in Washington recently to be considering the purchase of 250 or more American aircraft.

Official sources said the French government already had doubled an order placed last year with Curtiss-Wright for 100 fast pursuit planes.

President's Denial Flatly Refused; Rome Attacks Go On

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—(AP).— The controlled German press refused to accept to-day President Roosevelt's statement that a report he had said the United States' defensive frontiers were on the Rhine was a "lie."

"Intrinsically, it is of small importance whether the President actually used those words," said the Lokal Anzieiger in reference to Mr. Roosevelt's denial of a report that he told a Senate committee last Tuesday the American frontier was in France.

"But he must have meant something like it, or else the American papers hardly would have been so unanimous on the subject."

"Moreover, the sale of war planes to France speaks with a sufficiently clear voice."

Chancellor Hitler, meanwhile, approved changes in the air force that were designed to bolster its preparedness and efficiency in personnel and equipment.

Speed Up Air Force.

An official announcement said the changes, which Field Marshal Herman Goering suggested and actually went into effect Feb. 1, would mean "a further decisive advance in building up the air force through the closest cooperation of all elements."

Goering's mouthpiece, the National Zeitung of Essen, said that President Roosevelt "evidently did not expect the reaction that followed his attempt five days ago to sabotage Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech (in which the Fuehrer last Monday expressed his belief in a "long peace.")

"We have good grounds for believing that his policy is based on intervention in Europe and that is what lead sto war. That is the program which has to be reckoned with.

"Roosevelt's curious defence, however, brings out this salient fact, that the American people, despite all war like incitements, is still so peacefully and sensibly minded that its belligerent President, in lire necessity and at the last moment, must swallow his words."

ROME, Feb. 4—(AP)—Diplomatic representations by the United States ambassador, William Phillips, failed today to halt Italian press attacks on President Roosevelt.

As the fascist grand council prepared for a meeting tonight with Premier Mussolini—which may bring important disclosures on foreign policies—bitter editorial reaction was expressed concerning the president's statement describing as a lie a report that he had said America's frontier was on the Rhine.

Il Popolo Di Roma traced editorially the political course of what it called "this extremely queer personage" in an effort to prove that Mr. Roosevelt's domestic and foreign policies both were confused.

The newspaper stated flatly that the president "said and later denied it that he would run to defend the Rhine" and concluded that "it would be futile to seek coherence in a man whose coherence consists in being incoherent; to ask logic of a nature eminently illogical."

Tonight's meeting of the fascist grand council, the first this year, held the anxious attention of diplomats who speculated whether Mussolini would choose the occasion to proclaim Italy's colonial demands on France.

The concensus in political circles was that the premier was not ready to break his silence before insurgent General Franco had won a complete victory in the Spanish civil war.

Red, Manchuokou Cavalry Tangle

TOKYO, Feb. 4—(AP).—Terse communiques indicated today that Russian and Manchoukuo cavalry had engaged in a series of sharp skirmishes on the Siberian Manchoukuo border.

The official statements, made public by Domei (Japanese News Agency) in a dispatch from Harbin, said the Soviet units had attacked five times on Tuesday at a point 60 miles northeast of Manchuli.

The Manchoukuoans were said to have beaten back the attacks, which were resumed Thursday and Friday, all aimed at the same spot. Manchoukuo protested to Russia.

The Soviet government on Wednesday reported a new clash on the Siberian Manchoukuo border after months of quiet, following an incident last August when Japanese and Russian troops fought for possession of Changkufeng hill, near the junction of the Siberian, Manchoukuo and Korean borders.

(A Moscow communique said 18 Japanese and Manchoukuo soldiers attempted on Tuesday to take a Soviet island in the Argun river, which forms the northwestern boundary between Siberia and the Japanese protectorate, Manchoukuo.

(The communique added that six Soviet soldiers had forced the Japanese to retire, carrying seven men killed or wounded.)

Bren Investigation Cost $12,595 House Is Informed

Ottawa, Feb. 4 (CP)

COST of the Bren gun contract inquiry to Jan. 23 was $12,595, Defense Minister Mackenzie replied to questioners in the Commons yesterday.

Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, who conducted the inquiry; Hon. J. L. Ralston, government counsel, and L. A. Forsyth, Montreal, associate, served without salary. Plot For Divorce Kills Girl 6, Father Blamed

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4.—(CP).— A verdict holding Steve Eller, unemployed mechanic, responsible for the death here Jan. 24 of his six-year-old daughter, Rose Marie, was returned by a coroner's jury last night.

The child was suffocated after being bound and gagged with her underclothes in the Eller suite. Eller's young housekeeper, Kay Rykunyk, was also bound and gagged and her feet tied to a table. She was not injured.

The verdict read, in part:

"We the jury find that Rose Marie Eller died from suffocation. From the evidence we find the said suffocation was caused by the girl having been gaged, said gag having been placed in her mouth by her father, Steve Eller.

"We also wish to add we are quite satisfied no third party was concerned in the tragedy."

Eller was not called to testify. Miss Rykunyk was called but, near a nervous collapse, she could not utter a word.

A statement in which the housekeeper blamed Eller for "what happened" was admitted as evidence. Both are held on coroner's warrants. No charges were laid after the inquest.

A Publicity Stunt.

In the statement to police, Miss Rykunyk is quoted as saying Eller, who is separated from his wife, and herself planned "the scheme" to gain publicity for a divorce.

"I had no intention of killing Rose Marie and this thing was done only to speed up Steve's divorce," the statement said.

"I held Rose Marie's feet while Steve tied her up on the bed. She cried a little, then while I sat on the bed Steve tied my mouth and then I stood up and he tied my hands with a rope and a piece of sheet. Then he tied up my legs around a table leg."

She then recorded according to the statement, that Steve left, visiting a hotel to establish an alibi, and that he returned two hours later to find his daughter dead.

Two Tots Perish As Home Burns

EDEN, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—Ruins of a frame house near here, 20 miles east of St. Thomas today marked the spot where fire claimed two tiny victims, Jack Sivyer, five, and his brother, Donald, aged five months, were burned to death last night when flames swept their home.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sivyer, the tots were alone when the blaze started, their mother having gone to a neighboring farm to obtain milk. Their father was working in Woodstock.

Noticing the flames, Earl Turnbull and William Goodwin tried to enter the building but were driven back. They said they noticed stovepipes lying on the floor and it is though the boy might have upset them. He had accompanied his mother as far as the nearby home of his grandparents and returned.

Jew Refugee Freed On $1,000 Bond As U.S. Ponders Border Jumping

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 4 — (CP)— A 25-year-old Jew, Isadore Celnik, who said he escaped from a German concentration camp and admitted entering the United States from Canada, gained his freedom on $1,000 bond to-day pending a hearing on illegal entry charges.

Celnik was arrested last week with Edwin Clarence Wagner, 42, of Fort Erie, Ont., as they alighted from a rowboat in the Niagara River at the foot of Ferry Street in Buffalo.

Celnik's bond, $500 posted with both the Immigration and Justice Departments, assured his appearance whenever the Government calls for it, Arthur J. Karnuth, District United States Immigration Inspector, said.

In the meantime, Celnik will stay at the home of friends in Buffalo. Celnik said he was a native of Poland and went to Germany as a youth.

Karnuth quoted Celnik as saying he escaped from a German concentration camp at eLipzig and went to France. Later he travelled to Belgium when he sailed to Canada aboard a Norweigian vessel on a six-months' permit.

Shot If He Goes Back

"In Toronto," the Buffalo Evening News quoted Celnik as saying, "I got somebody to bring me into the United States. The trip across the Niagara River was dangerous, but I though I might as well drown here as go back to Germany and be shot."

Celnik said he had relatives in New York city, and that his wife, also escaped from Germany, is at present in Antwerp, Belgium.

Karnuth, discussing the case, said there had been no noticeable increase in illegal entry of aliens into the United States recently.

City's 1939 Tax Rate Is Recommended By Finance Committee Of Council At 35 Mills, Same As In The Past Year

As Civilization Marches On

Gaining the temporary sanctuary of Le Perthus, France, this Spanish mother clutches her baby in bewilderment, a mixture of hope and hopelessness in her eyes, as she wonders where she will be forced to turn next after escaping from Barcelona following General Franco's victory. Alone with her child and with no funds, hers is but one of the many such pitiful results of the Spanish civil war.

Fire Pumper Goes Other Increases Pass The Committee

Peterborough's tax rate for this year will be 35 mills, the same levy as last year.

Providing for the maintenance of all the city's municipal services on the usual standard of efficiency, and allowing for some purchases of new equipment in several departments, with increased scope for the Board of Health, while adhering throughout to the pay-as-you-go policy, the Finance Committee reviewed the estimates of the year's expenditures Friday night, and on Alderman Gordon's motion, seconded by Alderman McCannan, recommended the 35-mill rate to the council, with instructions that a bylaw be prepared to incorporate it for final approval at Monday night's regular February meeting.

The new rate absorbs the increase of $12,500 in the requisition of the Board of Education and will enable the Police Commission to purchase a two-way radio set to enable police cruising cars to be in constant communication with headquarters. It also provides for the resumption of the Well Babies' Clinic in co-operation with the members of the medical profession of the city, and by the engaging of a nurse to carry on this service which has been suspended for nearly eight months.

City Treasurer Shaver informed Alderman Cotton's committee that accepting the departmental estimates with only slight alterations the tax revenues would leave $8,073.30 for miscellaneous expenses, after all other estimated costs had been met, and from this prospective surplus Alderman McIntyre was encouraged to expect that $6,000 would be assigned for the purchase of the new 500-gallon pumper he has been urging for the Fire Department.

Proposed Lower Rate.

"If the council decides to buy a new pumper for the Fire Department later in the year, it must be remembered that we won't have any margin for extra work to be done by the Board of Works," Alderman Cotton said.

"We don't have to decide on the pumper to-night," Alderman Gordon remarked. "We can give that future consideration."

At that stage the sheaf of estimates, nearly all of them within the council's discretion, had been examined item by item without any substantial changes. Alderman Bradburn interposed an objection that the ratepayers were not looking to the council merel yto hold the tax rate at the same level as last year.

"The taxpayers are looking for a reduction in the rate, not the same rate they paid last year," he said. "I agree there is a need for a new pumper, but the question we are deciding is what the rate is going to be. I am prepared to go through the estimates again and try to get

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 4—(CP). — A $100,000 fire destroyed three stores, caused smoke and water damage to three others, and for a time threatened to wip out a business block early today. It was the city's worst fire since 1922.

The stores that were wiped out were the Agnew-Surpass shoe store, the Artistic Ladies' Wear, and the Walker Stores, a department store, and the largest of the three. The Kreutzweiser Pool and Billiard Hall, over the shoe store, was also destroyed.

Smoke and water damage was done to the Wilkinson shoe store, Buzza Brothers jewelry store and the Grafton Clothing store. Fire walls on both sides of the three-store group that suffered most saved the rest of the Butchart Block on the east side of Second avenue in the city's main business district.

Three Hour Fight

Occupants of three apartments over the stores had ample time to escape and to save their belongings The fire started in the basement and worked upwards gradually. First discovered at one o'clock, it was under control by 4.30 a.m.

Firemen said the fire started in the central heating plant for the block. This was in use this winter for the first time. Cause of the outbreak was a mystery.

Chief Angus McArthur and his brigade were praised by municipal officials for confining the fire to the one group of stores.

Store stocks valued at more than $40,000 were said to be a complete loss. Only the shell of the building remains.

Detroit, Feb. 4 (CP)

AS a drunken driver, Leo Couch, 24, is the equivalent of the drunk pedestrian that tries to fool people he is sober by carefully walking a straight line.

Couch was drunk as he drove his car downtown. He travelled only eight miles an hour, stopped at every intersection and drove so carefully police became suspicious and arrested him.

He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two weeks in the House of Correction.

Sudbury's Chief Asked To Resign

SUDBURY, Feb. 4 (Special).—Resignation "forthwith" of Chief of Police David Louden was demanded by the police commission yesterday following sworn testimony that he had been drinking heavily, had been seen in an intoxicated condition at headquarters and that he had ordered detectives to "lay off bootleggers" just before election time and prior to Christmas.

The sensational developments in the police situation, said to have been brewing for a year, climaxed a two-day investigation by the commission. Inspector Edward Pyle will act as chief constable until such time as a new chief is appointed.

The motion to ask for Chief Louden's resignation "forthwith" was unanimously adopted.

In addressing the commission prior to this action being taken, Mayor W. J. Laforest dealt with three specific charges made against the head of the police department. There was a woeful lack of efficiency and co-operation in the department, the mayor declared.

Applications for the position of chief constable, the mayor said, will be received up to February 15.

Flood Cry Echoes Down The Ohio As 981-Mile Valley Prepares

Trapped In Blizzard 11 Skiers Freeze To Death

Tokyo, Feb. 4 (CP-Havas)

ELEVEN of a party of 17 skiers caught in a blizzard on Mount Hakkodasan have been frozen to death, Tokyo authorities were advised today. Five bodies have been recovered. Mount Hakkodasan was the scene of a disaster in 1899 when 200 soldiers were caught in a blizzard during a forced march and perished.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4 — (AP). — A cry as old as the river, "She's goin' to flood," rang through the vast Ohio Valley to-day but echoed among people better prepared to fight the big stream's ravages.

From Pittsburgh to Cairo, the 981 miles from the confluence of the Monongahela and Allegheny to the Mississippi, the flood warning was sounded as melting snow and rain of a score of watersheds poured into the swelling Ohio.

Far up tributary streams, lowland dwellers retreated to higher ground while authorities made ready to repair damaged or destroyed bridges and roads. Some sections of smaller streams, subject to "flash" floods, already were receding, their burden on its way to the Ohio.

Rising streams had caused two deaths and four other persons were reported missing, all in West Virginia.

Crests of three to seven feet above flood stage were predicted at most points, which would cover lowlands but do comparatively little damage.

Better Protection.

People in the valley to-day had a little better protection than two years ago, provided by legislation and appropriations. Just two years ago they were caught in the worst flood in the Ohio's recorded history. To-day they had disaster relief committees to organize relief ,refugee and rehabilitation work before the crisis.

Even though the indicated danger was little more than that of a 'good raise" as compared with the 1937 flood, officials everywhere detailed assignments to volunteers—just in case.

In Pittsburgh flood waters rolled down on the city, but the situation was viewed without general alarm as weather bureau experts, revising previous estimates, predicted only a crest of 27 feet, or two feet above flood stage.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Love will find a way, so the young fellow who broke his engagement with the niece of Queen Elizabeth two years ago because he was too poor will meet her at the altar after all.

The re-engagement of Kenneth Harington, 27, and Cecilia Bowes-Lyon, daughter of Lord Glamis, the Queen's brother, was announced today.

They had been engaged for three years when Harington broke the engagement in 1937, announcing he didn't believe in love in a cottage." However, he quit his job as junior assistant in the diplomatic service and went to work for a metal corporation. Apparently he has done all right in business.

The King and Queen may attend the wedding which will be held in London March 8.

Bren Gun Debate Delayed Till Monday

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—(CP)—Echoes of the Bren gun report, which featured parliamentary debates almost every day this week, will be heard in the House of Commons again Monday when debate resumes on the motion of Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North) to refer the whole question to the public accounts committee.

To allow time for members to ponder his suggestion that debate on the Bren contract be delayed until after the committee has reported on it, Prime Minister Mackenzie King adjourned debate on Mr. MacNeil's motion yesterday.

Mr. MacNeill had moved that a five-point reference be made to the standing committee on public accounts to ascertain:

1. Whether or not the possibilities of public manufacture of the Bren gun were fully explored.

2. Whether or not individuals examined at the inquiry made accurate statements.

3. Whether adequate reasons existed for failure of the interdepartmental committee, created to examine munitions contracts, to report back to the government when the system of supervision of contracts fell down.

4. Whether procedure followed in negotiating the contract protected the public interest.

5. Whether proper steps were taken to ensure discharge of the responsibility assumed in the selection of a favored contractor.

No Pay For Counsel.

In reviewing the whole series of events leading up to the award of a cost-plus contract to John Inglis Company Limited of Toronto for 7,000 Bren guns, without calling tenders, and the subsequent Davis commission of inquiry, Mr. Mackenzie King revealed that Hon. J. L. Ralston of Montreal acted as government counsel without remuneration other than expenses.

The prime minister did not oppose the motion but suggested it would not be well for members of the house who would serve on the committee to prejudge its report by entering into debate at this time.

Mr. Mackenzie King suggested the debate should be on the committee's report when it is made to the house. In order that members might think over his suggestion he adjourned the debate, announcing it would be resumed Monday.

Mr. Mackenzie King said the government had acted promptly last summer when suspicion was directed at the contract by Col. George Drew's article. It had ordered an inquiry by royal commission so that parliament would have all the facts when it assembled.

Rebels Capture City Of Gerona

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 4. — (CP-Havas).—The insurgent army's Navarrese corps to-day entered Gerona, last remaining important town on the main highway leading from Barcelona to Figueras, temporary Spanish government capital.

Capture of this key town which is approximately 22 miles from Figueras, and 36 from the border, was regarded as a foregone conclusion last night, when the Navarrese columns ,fanning out on both sides of the road, occupied Santa-de-Farnes and pressed on to within 5½ miles of Gerona.

Meanwhile, the Moroccan Legions on the east, after reducing Llagostera, pushing forward to cut the road from San Feliu-de-Guixols to Gerona.

Air Raids Take High Toll.

The sharpest insurgent advance was along the Mediterranean, where Franco's troops followed up their occupation of the highway town of Llagostera yesterday with a new thrust to the north, striking around Casa de la Selva, six miles south of Gerona.

Another column farther inland moved north and east from Vich along the Ter River Valley toward Gerona, cutting behind the government's fortified line in the Montseny mountains from the west as the coastal forces had done from the east. At Gerona and Figueras insurgent air raids were taking a heavy toll, starting a new rush of refugees toward France. More than 75,000 refugees were estimated to have crossed the border since the fall of Barcelona.

The shattered remnants of the government's Catalonian army were still resisting the insurgent advance, but aerial defences appeared to have collapsed.

With hundreds of refugees who reached the frontier were many wounded from Figueras where first aid facilities were insufficient to cope with the estimated 150 dead and 200 injured in yesterday's terrific air bombardments.

Government officials were said to be evacuating the civilian population of Figueras to the open countryside.

Mayor May Enter Into Fight

Possibility there might be a triangular campaign was seen as Mayor ames Mackie of Midland said he might enter the candidature as an independent. He said he had been approached by a number of organizations to offer himself as a candidate.

"I was definitely opposed to entering anyone in the field to oppose Col. Drew alone," he said, "and as a matter of fact in the riding Liberal Association. I was one of the prime supporters in the move to give him an acclamation.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn said before his departure for Australia there would be no official Liberal oppostiion to Col. Drew's election.

Demand Senators Tell Version

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — (AP).—President Roosevelt's denial that he looked upon the Rhine as the United States' frontier brought a Republican demand to-day that he let Senators tell their version of what he said at a secret conference on foreign affairs last Tuesday.

Senator Bridges (Rep-New Hampshire), one of the military committee members who attended the conference and pledged secrecy, mad th demand after the President had disputed some accounts of the meeting and had accused some newspaper owners and senators of misrepresenting his point of view.

Talking with reporters later, Senator Bridges declared:

"As long as the President has stated his views of what took place there, I think that it is only fair that the members of the committee be permitted to state their views. This is a quesion that may involve the destiny of America and millions of Americans."

saved the main part of the factory and put out the other fires in several hours. Scotland Yard tried originally to link the fires with the violence attributed to sympathizers of the illegal Republican army, which demands withdrawal of British soldiers from Northern Ireland.

I.R.A. sympathizers were suspected of bombing two important London subway stations yesterday when eight persons were injured, one seriously. Similar bombings three weeks ago were aimed at disrupting public utilities.

A close guard was kept at all vulnerable transportation, communication and utility centres.

Raids were made during the night on Irish quarters in London, Manchester and on republican quarters of Belfast. Several arrests were made and some explosives seized.

Police leaves were cancelled in London. Nearly 10,000 officers were on duty. Guns were given to more than 100 detectives, who were searching the homes of known Irish republican army sympathizers.

The public was becoming angry today. The explosions at the Leicester Square and Tottenham Court road subway stations injured innocent persons, having no connection with politics.

Windows were shattered, women knocked down steep escalators, and blocks of masonry torn from luggage room walls where time bombs had been concealed in baggage.

On report said hundreds of tons of dynamite and arms were hidden in various parts of the country. A mysterious voice telephoned the Bow Street police station yesterday and threatened to blow it up, claiming "certain persons" did not receive justice recently. A swift search was made at the station and guards were mounted. A group of alleged Irish terrorists appeared in the Bow Street court yesterday in connection with charges resulting from the first bombings.

Kick At $300.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 4—(CP).—Members of the Board of Control here balked at paying $200 for a horse for one of the civic departments. "Is it a racehorse," demanded Mayor David Croll. The board laid the matter over to see if a better price could be had.

Man Is Found Unconscious On Verandah

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Feb. 4.—Fred Arnott, a bachelor, residing on Albert Street, was found in a serious condition on the verandah of his home on Thursday by a salesman named Dennis. As a result of exposure he is today suffering from pneumonia in the Ross Hospital. Mr. Arnott has suffered from a heart condition and it is believed he was seized with an attack and lay for some time in an unconscious condition before being noticed. Neighbors noticed him early in the morning, and when he was found he was crumpled up in a heap.

Knitter Cuts Hand.

Myrtle Coppins, who is employed at the Knitters, Limited, plant sustained a severe accident on Thursday when her hand slipped and was caught in a knitting machine. The member was badly mangled. The injured girl was rushed to the Ross Hospital.

Rap Ice Fishing.

Members of the Victoria Yacht and Anglers' Association at their monthly meeting Thursday night vigorously condemned those parties who are fishing through the ice during the closed season. J. W. Gravestock suggested that the association co-operate with Game Warden Hodgson in stamping out the practice. He pointed out that a fish killed during the spawning season results in the death of at least 50,000 fry. Game Overseer Hodson stated that in order to stop the illegal catching of fish it was necessary to put an end to the market for them. Those who indulge in illegal fishing try to sell them. The overseer further declared that merchants on Kent Street have purchased fish out of season. There are thousands of carp in the canal near Kirkfield, he stated, which, in his opinion, could be easily destroyed.

Pleads Guilty.

A nineteen-year-old Gooderham youth, named Hill, pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of theft by conversion. The accused admitted finding a cheque in Fenelon Falls made out for $80. He hired a car to bring him to Lindsay and cashed the cheque at Arnold's garage. The proprietor of the garage cashed the cheque, believing the youth was a son of the man to whom the cheque was made out. The writer of the cheque was notified and he stopped payment. At the time the young man was arrested by Chief Lawler he had thirty dollars in his possession. He promised to make restitution to the garage owner. The police are also looking for another cheque artist who victimized two merchants by forging the name of a local truck driver.

Budapest Synagogue Bombed, Many Hurt

BUDAPEST, Feb. 4 — (AP). — A bomb explosion in the heart of Pest, the commercial section of Budapest, to-day injured many persons and damaged the Dohany Street Synagogue, largest Jewish place of worship in the city.

The explosion in the synagogue courtyard came just as worshippers were entering the rambling structure topped by Oriental-style cupolas.

It was heard several miles away and occurred as a parliamentary committee was considering legislation for control of Jews. Authorities regarded the bombing as a political demonstration.

London, Feb. 4 (CP Cable).

GERMANY'S decision to attain parity in submarine tonnage with the "British Commonwealth of Nations" and increase the armaments of two of her cruisers was officially made public by the foreign office last night.

Its announcement outlined the Anglo-German naval conversations arising from the decision and summarized the Reich's naval plans, concluding: "In doing so, Germany exercises the right to which she is entitled by treaty."

OVERCOAT STOLEN.

While William McCarthy, 30 George Street, was attending the Conservative dance in the Canadian Legion Hall Friday night, a sneak thief broke into an automobile owned by E. O'Toole, Water Street, and stole McCarthy's overcoat, valued at $37.50. Entrance to the car was obtained by breaking the glass in the door of the machine.

WEEKLY GRAIN REVIEW

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Wheat futures put in a series of dull sessions at Winnipeg during the last week as the market settled into a rut following speeches by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Chancellor Hitler, which tended to ease the European political situation.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were estimated at 500,000 bushels, probably the lowest for any one week since the beginning of the present crop year, last August 1. Friday's close found prices ¾ to ⅞ cent lower, with May at 62¾, July 63½ and October 63¾ to 64 cents.

Most of the information affecting the market was bullish but only from a long-range standpoint as importers appeared satisfied with supplies of surplus wheat now on view in exporting countries.

A revised estimate of importers' wheat requirements for the crop year August 1, 1938, to July 1, 1939, totals 568,000,000 bushels.

Freak Wills Are Related To Club

Some more comical and interesting phases of the law profession have been thrown open to an interested audience for last evening at the Friday Night Club T. J. Carley, K.C., gave an interesting talk on some of the humorous instances in his profession.

"Let's listen to some wills. Which are very interesting to most of us. Some say it's not necessary to make a will, and therefore things get muddled and twisted up quite a bit. But a will is an essential and necessary document that should be drawn up in the correct manner," the speaker said. Some examples of freak wills were read by Mr. Carley. One was drawn up in a manner that the donner was merely getting even with the ones mentioned in his or her will. In another instance it was necessary for the beneficiaries to learn and quote before witnesses numerous passages from the Bible. In still another case a man put in his will that his pall-bearers were to be all poor men and each was to receive $25 for the services they rendered.

"It has been the custom that a man could do nearly as he wished in his will, now certain laws control this," he said.

Mr. Carley stated that he thought it was better if 99 guilty men were set free than to convict one innocent man.

In many law cases an innocent person will plead guilty to something they never committed due to their not understanding the laws. There are different ways to be tried in cases, some prefer to be tried by the Magistrate others by a judge and jury. Often a person is guilty but it cannot be proven satisfactorily and the guilty party gets off.

Some of our laws run back centuries and are outmoded and overruled in court by common sense. In this country there are many bodies making laws, the Dominion Govern, Provincial Government, also the city, county and the township councils.

Lawyers receive some very amusing letters, two of which Mr. Carley read to the group. The speaker was introduced by Noel Barr. Jack Richardson moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the club.

London, Feb. 4 (CP)

PAYING TAXES WITH YOUR THUMBNAIL

You run your thumbnail through the excise stamp which seals a package of cigarettes or pipe tobacco. It is a simple action — much easier than filling out tax forms and writing cheques! Nevertheless, you are helping to support post offices, government railways, waterways, trade commissioners and all the other services of our Federal Government . . . for you have paid a tax.

Every working morning, tobacco manufacturers buy excise stamps as you buy postage stamps. They affix one to every single package of cigars, pipe tobaccos, cigarettes (the direct tax on a 25c package of 25 cigarettes is 11.4c). By doing so, with no trouble to the taxpayer, without risk and at practically no cost to the government, in the 1937 fiscal year the tobacco industry collected $32,972,373 in excise duties alone.

Biblical Thoughts For the Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James

STRENGTH AND BEAUTY

Solomon set up pillars in the porch of the Temple; and upon the top of the pillar was lily work. So the work of the pillars was finished.

What a startling imagery: "and upon the top of the pillars was lily work". Those massive pillars, named Jachin and Boaz respectively, represented firmness and strength. It was an age when only the strong man could hold his home in peace and safety. Has that age passed? With prophetic insight the architect ordered the lilies to be carved on the top of the pillars, signifying that strength to be truly completed must have lily work at the top. Many centuries pass by and Herod's Temple is built on the same site, more beautiful, more lovely, with the pillars having lily work at the top. There they stood awaiting the coming of the man who would fulfill the ideal that the truly strong man must also be beautiful, attractive, charming, friendly, loveable.

All through the ages men have erred in their thoughts of God. In the age of Solomon Jehovah was the Lord of Hosts, mighty in battle. It was a necessary teaching for that time. Defeat at the hands of their enemies meant that Israel had sinned and that Jehovah had refused to help them. It is an important truth for every age that God is almighty, all powerful. It is good for us to remember that the Lord remaineth a King forever. This was the thought in the mind of St. Paul when he encouraged Christians to "put on the whole armour of God." In the time of trouble and anxiety remember that God is Almighty. "Underneath are the everlasting arms". We are to become like God strong.

On the other hand men have thought of God as lily work; a good natured God; one who will not be hard on men. Such men have cultivated kindness, courtesy, gentleness, softness. But being lily work only they cannot stand and bear heavy burdens. You would not dream of going to them in time of trouble —in the day of storm. They cannot stand the stress and strain. It would be absurd to look to such men to carry heavy responsibilities or be a tower of strength.

So these pillars teach us the twin truth that God is both strong and beautiful. He looks for His worshippers to be like Him, both strong and beautiful.

In the fullness of Jesus Christ Who is the express image of the Father, came to the Temple and to His people and His own received Him not because He was too kind, sympathetic and compassionate with the poor and degraded. Yet He showed His strength of character in cleansing the Temple bringing upon His Head the hatred of the financial interests. He stood calmly and with such dignity before the Roman Governor that he marvelled. He was strong to endure the awful scourging and the terrible agony of the Cross. He is strong. But He is also tender hearted, sympathetic and loving. Children are attracted to Him. Men and women in trouble draw near to Him knowing that He will hearken and do. Behold, the Man, both strong and beautiful.

You are a strong man, an able executive to whom men listen with atention and know they can depend upon you. You are a pillar both of the church and society. You are strong and grim and dependable, but there is no lily work in your make up.

Remember that the lily work is cut out of the stone itself, out of the granite at the top of the pillar. It is not commented or added to the pillar. So out of the strong, positive, dynamic character there must be carved by the Spirit of the Lord Christ in dwelling the lily work of gentleness, kindness, sympathy, compassion and all those traits which mark a man as a gentleman.

This is essential for Christianity is not a kill joy. The Christ was the most attractive of men, strong and beautiful and His Spirit is given you to enable you by His indwelling presence to produce these gifts of love, joy and peace, which beautify character. Our Lord said: "I am the good Shepherd", which also means "the beautiful shepherd".

To Sing At Trinity

George Lambert of Toronto, who will be guest soloist in Trinity church next Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Lambert, who is president of the Ontario Music Teachers' Association and baritone soloist in Bloor Street United Church, Toronto, came to Canada from his native England a few years ago and is recognized as a soloist and musician of the highest standing.

Ladybrook Choir Singing Lauded

The engagement of the Ladybrook Ladies' Choir, assisted by Miss Margaret Maddison, A.R.C.M., pianiste, at St. Andrew's Church Thursday, February 9, has been preceded by the fine reputation these English musicians have attained in the Old Country. One of the choir's most notable achievements was the winning of first place in a Welsh festivale, in competition with leading Welsh choirs. Their singing has been lauded by Sir Richard Terry, Sir Hugh Robertson and other distinguished English critics. The Ladybrook Ladies arrived at Halifax about ten days ago for a tour of Canada and the United States, including several concerts at the World Fair in New York next summer.

Miss Maddison is reputed to be one of the most brilliant of English pianists, whose talent and art have been highly praised in the British press. It is only on rare occasions that Peterborough music lovers have an opportunity of hearing musicians from the Old Land, and it is expected that a cordial greeting will be extended to the Ladybrook Choir and Miss Maddison here next week.

Cuba entertained more tourists, but fewer excursionists, last year than in 1937.

Highlights On Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

PETER HEALS A LAME MAN.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 12 is Acts 3: 1 to 4: 22, the Golden Text being Acts 3: 6, "Then Peter said, 'Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee.'")

We will start to-day's lesson by telling the story of Jesus during His life on earth with His disciples. He was walking with them among the corn. The disciples were hungry and ate of the grains of corn. But when the Pharisees saw this they complained to Jesus that it was unlawful to pluck and eat grain on the Sabbath. You remember how very strict the Jewish law was against doing anything unnecessary on the Holy Day.

But Jesus was not to be caught with such accusations. He reminded them of their church history, which told of David having eaten shewbread in the temple on the Sabbath. This was the unleavened bread which the priests placed before Jehovah in the sanctuary of the temple. David, He told them, was not blamed for doing this, neither were the priests who did the same thing.

"But I say unto you," He said, "that in this place is One greater than the temple"—meaning 'God.' This is told in the last reference given for the week's reading, Matthew 12: 1-8.

The rest of the lesson tells of Peter and John preaching together to convert people to the religion of Jesus. The two men went to the gate called Beautiful of the temple to pray at the accustomed time. Every day at this time a man was brought to the gate to beg. He always had been lame, and what he received was all he had to live upon.

He held out his hand to Peter and John, but Peter looked at him, saw his lameness, and said to him: "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee."

What he had to give was worth much more than silver and gold, for Peter took the man by his right hand and helped him to his feet, and he found that he could walk. He followed Peter and John into the temple, leaping an dpraising God.

All the people who had seen the miracle crowded about Peter and exclaimed over it. He told them that it was faith in Jesus that had allowed him to cure the man.

But the captain of the temple and the priest did not like this at all. They kept Peter and John until the next day and asked them a number of questions. Peter told them it was power from the Christ whom they had crucified that permitted their acts, and the priests could not find any good reason to longer detain them, so let them go. They were warned, however, that they must not preach, mention Jesus' name or perform miracles any more.

It was quite useless for the priests or anyone else to forbid the disciples especially Peter, to preach. Peter had had his moment of weakness, when he denied Jesus. Now he was strong and determined to do what he thought was right. And he knew it was his duty to preach the gospel as long as he lived. This simple, uneducated fisherman was to become one of the truly great men of the earth, remembered and honored centuries after many richer and better schooled had been entirely forgotten.

He had no money, but truly he had that which was more precious than riches — he could heal the sick and bring a message of good cheer to those who were sad and discouraged — and the latter we also can do, to show we are trying to follow the Lord he worshipped.

Cathedral Musings

If we would seek to apprehend the truth we must seek truth for its own sake. It is important that we cast aside our preconceived opinions, beliefs and prejudices, for even the best of us are a mass of psychological complexes, ideas and what not, that have their origin in our self-aspect. We must be, in effect, as impersonal in our approach as a research worker would be in seeking a solution of a scientific problem and as impartial as a judge sitting upon the bench. Otherwise, we inevitably becloud the issue. God did not endow us with reason so that we could order our affairs in this life and expect us to cast all reason aside in dealing with spiritual things, for this attitude is based on the false premise that the spiritual world and the material realm ai two separate fields of action, instead of being two aspects of the one field. Too long has man, not God, erected a barrier between himself and his soul. Too long has he put his earthly life and problems into one pigeonhole of his mind and spiritual things into another. There is NO barrier, except in his thinking. Life is a continuity, ever unfolding in emotion, thought and all that goes to make it and the sooner we recognize this, with all its implications, the better. Everything in the universe is eternal. It is the form, only, that changes. To quote one of our ancient brethern of Greece: 'Everything is forever becoming' and man is no exception to this universal truth. Nothing is static. The Divine Mind is ever expressing itself in ever evolving form. A static universe would be a dead creation and a static God could not possibly exist, for we worship a Living God, not a dead figment of imagination. So, also, there is nothing static in the expression of God's truth, for His Truth is so illimitable that, no matter how it is expressed, there must remain always higher aspects beyond all expression. Beyond our grasp today, but should we not aspire towards them? Or should we be content with what we think we have and make no effort Godwards? Even the immediate disciples of Jesus were not capable of receiving all the truth, but to them, as indeed to all who earnestly aspire, was promised the Spirit of Wisdom which leads to these higher truths, even to the Throne of God. The issue is clearly up to us, for unless we seek, we cannot find; unless we knock, the portals of the temple of God's wisdom will never open for us. We must use our spiritual faculties, or lose them. We must either grow, or perish.

A National Message

Now we return and look at the last proviso of the bill of divorcement. It is the division for restoration after redemption. (Please read Hosea ii, 14-23.)

Thus the experiences of the divorce and exile are foreshadowed, as well as those of the final restoration.

Let us see how this is set forth in the terms of the Redemption chapters of Isaiah. We have seen the progress of the great redemption story in chapters li and lii. We have seen the culmination of the Redemptive Act in chapter liii. Now let us look at the immediate result of the Redemption and the rapid spread of the nation. (See Isaiah liv.)

Beneath the rolling harmonies of the music, into which the message is cast, there is the deepest spiritual note indicating a most intimate spiritual relationship with God. The passage, and all that went before and all that comes after, has contributed to the spirit of worship for countless congregations and individuals, who had not the haziest idea of the great matters of national and world import which were really being dealt with.

But over and above all that, there is here a clear manifestation of the Lord's purpose concerning that nation and company of nations, which have iterest in the bill of divorcement in the Redemption.

It is well that we should be aware of this fact, for this great purpose of God in its fulfilment is now affecting and will more and more effect the movement of world affairs. It is, in fact, doing this more than any other cause at the present time.

How the succeeding chapters of Isaiah glow with the glory of the message, and of the restoration after the Redemption.

How the Acts of the Apostles and the Epistles shine with the magnificance of the purpose of God.

What a grand finale is the Book of Revelation, which draws aside the veil more fully than any message that has preceded it.

It is the glory of the Old Testament and of the New Testament.

When the restoration is accomplished, then the Son of God, who once came to redeem, will come in glory to reign.

The bill of divorcement shall then be replaced by the New Covenant, to be made with the house of Israel in the last days.

Show Of Anger

BERLIN, Feb. 4—(CP-Havas).—The Soviet Union's breaking off diplomatic relations with Hungary today was termed "a demonstration of anger on the part of Soviet Jews against constant reinforcements of the anti-comintern pact" by the National Zeitung of Essen, organ of Field Marshal Hermann Goering.

Moscow yesterday broke relations with Budapest because of Hungary's adherence to the anti-comintern agreement.

Sunday Is Set Aside As Education Sunday

The Teachers' Federation of Canada has requested all ministers to observe Sunday, February 5th as Education Sunday, and to call attention to the paramount interest of education on that day. Both services in St. Andrew's church will have special reference to this subject.

In the morning the pastor will speak on "Some Principles of Education" as outlined in a little book by Principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's University, Kingston. This book contains a series of three lectures delivered in Victoria University, Toronto, under the auspices of the Burwash Memorial Lectureship. In the closing lecture Dr. Wallace sums up the position he holds, and has some things to say which are of importance to parents, teachers and students.

At the evening service the subject of the address will be "The Growth of a Soul."

The campaign of education week always begins and ends on a Sunday to emphasize the partnership of the home, the church and the school in the work of education. Religious leaders are placing increased stress upon the unity of religious and secular education. There are two million boys and girls in Canadian schools under the supervision of almost 50,000 teachers. Thoughtful people are turning to-day to young people as the hope of the world's salvation. No greater theme is available to the preacher than that suggested by the promoters of education week, "The new and the old in Education."

Rev. Richard Oliver Be At All Saints'

The Rev. Richard B. Oliver of Nigeria will be in our city in the coming week and willgive an illustrated address on his work in Central Africa in the chapel of All Saints' church, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. He has been connected with the Sudan Interior Mission for many years, working in close conjunction with the Church of England mission carried on by the church Missionary Society from England.

The work of this mission has been greatly disrupted by the Italian conquest of Ethiopia and nearly all the missionaries have been driven west, across the border line of Abyssinia. Even the missionary doctors and hospitals have been compelled to move and the work of the Red Cross has also come under the ban.

Mr. Oliver leaves before the end of the month for Africa, so that this is a farewell visit to friends in Peterborough. All are invited to this service next Wednesday.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Peter Preaches at Pentecost — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 2:5-18, 36-41.

The disciples are gathered together with their risen Lord, who tells them that they will be baptized by the Holy Ghost, and then ascends to heaven.

On the day of Pentecost, or Jewish harvest home, the disciples are baptized with the Holy Ghost which descends on them like cloven tongues of fire.

They begin to speak in different languages, and some think them drunk, but are rebuked by Peter who by his words converts and baptizes over 3,000.

Peter dreams of a sheet let down from heaven and that God rebukes him for calling any food common or unclean. (GOLDEN TEXT—Zecharish 4:6.)

He Did And He Didn't

President Roosevelt went right off the deep end when he began denying statements which were credited to him a few days ago. It had been reported the world over that the President had stated at a conference that "United States frontiers are in France." Mr. Roosevelt found it advisable to use a strong word and say it was nothing but a lie. He is opposed to any entangling alliances and in favor of any and every move to reduce or limit armaments.

When the Examiner referred to this Roosevelt declaration a few days ago it stated Britain and France might well receive it with certain reservations. And Mr. Roosevelt has since supplied the reservations.

There was something strange about the whole business. There was a meeting of the Senate Military Board and the members are sworn to secrecy regarding what transpires at such meetings. But the secrecy which was observed after the meeting appears to have been of the variety which shouts things from the house tops. On the face of it that looks like a stupid sort of arrangement.

President Roosevelt has the cure for much of his trouble in his own hands. If he has an important statement to make then he could do so over his own signature in such a way that it could not fail to be reproduced just as it had left him. The other way of securing information from those who were present at a secret conference is too much like listening at a keyhole and then making it appear one had been present as an invited and privileged guest.

There are a good many people in a good many nations who will with sufficient cause resent the manner in which the alleged Roosevelt utterance was foisted on the world. If the President has nothing to say for publication then there would be nothing said, but if he has a statement to make then he should make it off his own bat and out in the open.

A Candid Admission

Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Finance Minister, and former Minister of Railways, made a notable contribution to the debates in the House of Commons. His address was not outstanding by reason of its length or by the force of hard argument. He did not produce a great array of figures, nor was he speaking with the idea plainly before him that an election is in the offing and political fences need repairing.

Mr. Dunning's great contribution was in the candid admission that political pressure had been so strong on both political parties in Canada that there had been failure on the part of both to adequately deal with the railway problem. He spoke plainly, like this:

"There is no subject on which we all, including myself, require more earnest heart-searching than our own great publicly-owned utility. We all when in opposition criticize the government on things which we ourselves have failed to do."

That is why the Examiner believes Mr. Dunning made a great contribution. Because he spoke with the candor which places public good above that lesser thing, political advantage. Because he has been through the mill and knows the sort of grist which it grinds. Because he is honest enough to frankly admit that the Canadian people who pay the bills have not been getting the sort of service from their governments to which they are entitled. And that is why the railway problem has always been put on a dead-end line as far as parliament is concerned.

We may yet get some place if more of our public men will come out in the open and speak to us plainly, even if their explanations and admissions do weigh heavily upon our political parties and their methods.

One can follow through the debates on this question, and find that the C.N.R. has been subjected to political pressure in a good many ways. The period of expansion is now over, but when it was on there were a good many politicians who wanted the railway situation in their own bailiwick well attended to and paid for by all the people in the country. They wanted contracts for supplies to go to their good political friends. That having been the case there should be more of the Dunning type of admission, and from then on a plain determination to forget the much spoken-of railway vote and seek for practical solution.

Reason For This Trip

Senator Leon Berard of France is on a trip to talk things over with General Franco. No introductions will be needed as the gentlemen are well-known to each other. The French Foreign Office is certain there is no official significance attached to the visit, but admits the wisdom of seeking some better understanding between France and General Franco. It is intimated this French deputation of one man will even see what can be done to stop the war in Spain.

Back of all that France actually has a domestic problem which is growing more acute by reason of the retreat of the Royalist forces as Franco pushes them ahead of him. When streams of refugees escaping from the war districts flee from Spain they make a habit of crossing over into France.

Right now France fears it is going to have to deal with the retreating Royalist forces in Catalonia. When there is no place else for them to go they will attempt to cross the border into France, and then what is France going to do with an army of outsiders who have no food and no resources and no homes? The Foreign Office in Paris is probably much more interested in the mission of Senator Berard that it is willing to admit.

So They Do As They Like

What a jumble we face at times because two governments have made two sets of laws for the same people. Several months ago the Ontario government said it was not going to enforce the Canada Temperance Act which is in force in Manitoulin Island.

The question was brought up in the House of Commons and Hon. Ernest Lapointe had prepared a rather profound statement by way of answer. This Act was like others which although passed by the Federal government, concerned matters where enforcement was supplied by the provinces. In the end Mr. Lapointe said "responsibility for the enforcement of Canada Temperance Act on Manitoulin Island does not rest upon the Dominion."

As though fond hope prompted him to say more the Minister of Justice added this:

"I earnestly hope that ways will be found through co-operation within the limit of existing constitutional jurisdiction to cope with the situation described by the hon. member."

Constitutional jurisdictions is a form of wordage which indicates heavy going but we fear in this case that it doesn't mean a thing. And why? Because Acting-Premier Nixon says Ontario is not going to enforce the Temperance Act in Manitoulin. So it ends right there.

The result is there is no law at all being enforced in Manitoulin Island although it is in the province of Ontario and also in the Dominion of Canada. People can trade in liquor there today in a way which if done in Peterborough or elsewhere would result in fines and jail sentences. And all because of two governments with two sets of regulations.

They Have No Money

Perhaps it is the eternal duty of one generation to bother about the one which is following. Not a profitable business we admit, but there are surely some in the coming generation who do things which appear silly and useless.

For example: In a neighboring town on a recent Sunday evening eight youths got into an argument with the owner of a Chinese restaurant. That part of the trouble did not grow too serious but a moment after the crowd left the place it was found a wastepaper basket had been set on fire. The owner rushed it out and received burns on his hands and face. Apparently he considered he had put up with enough nonsense and went to court. Result was a fine of $49.10.

When the amount was not forthcoming the magistrate consented to adjourn the case to allow the eight youths to see what they could do about raising the money; they had no success and a further respite of ten days was allowed to see if funds would be forthcoming If not there are jail terms ahead.

It is quite apparent the eight youths have no money, and yet the eight were in a restaurant on a Sunday night and it would cost them money to go there. None of them was in need of nourishment as they admitted they could get all they needed or wanted to eat at home. And it is apparent their folks have little money on hand as there is trouble enough trying to raise $49.10 among the eight of them. Why under the sun such chaps do not act as though they had no money is one of the questions one generation would like to ask of the next.

Education Week

Education Week has become a fixture in this country, and during this February period an effort is made to tell the parents as much as possible about what the schools are trying to do with their children. Trying perhaps to get them a few stages beyond the place where the one point of contact is in signing a report card at regular intervals.

We do not know if there ever will be complete agreement on what it means to be educated. We get the word educate from the Latin educare, which in a general way means to lead out, or train, instruct and so on.

That process is continual so education itself is in the same class. The finest thing which school instruction can do for the child is to cause the child to realize that days in school are but the beginning, and that training there is not complete in itself but rather is intended to cause the pupil to have a desire to continue learning in the great world outside.

There can be nothing more tragic than the graduate of any school who has the belief firmly fixed that his or her education is complete and adequate. Our whole basis of economic belief shifts; our methods have to be altered as improvements come upon us, and our technique of yesterday is often enough ready for the discard the day after tomorrow.

Not the least harm done, and perhaps much good if parents take advantage of Education Week to find out more about what is going on. They know the bills for schools are high, and they should know more about what they are getting for their expenditure.

Better Leave It Alone

An Examiner reader has found a new way to look after a portion of our federal financing. Here it is:

"I read the other day that Canadian mines had paid over $100,000,000 in dividends during the year 1938. That wealth belongs to all the people and should not be the property of the few who happen to own mining stock. If our government had sense enough to go in and take control of the mining industry in the first place we could today be drawing enough to pay a good share of our national expenses."

If one did not look too long at the idea it might be good, but the longer the plan is under consideration the more defects there are in it. The dividends reported were from the few mines which are actually in production and which are making sufficient headway to send cheques to the stock holders. It leaves out of consideration entirely the hundreds of mines which have failed, and in the process of finding out that they were failures millions of dollars have been lost in development and promotion work and in the equipment of plants.

There is nothing to indicate that a government would have any better chance of selecting a good claim than a bad one. A government which in its term of office had picked out a half a dozen poor mines and had spent some millions in finding out they were poor would stand no chance at all of re-election. The government is playing with something much more secure in the way of getting revenue when it confines itself to the fine old custom of taking real money away from the people in the form of taxation.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Within the last year 40,000,000 gas masks have been made and distributed in Britain, and all hands will be pleased if no practical use is ever made of all this investment.

The groundhog saw no shadow on the second of February and so we are told spring is on the way. We are inclined to believe spring is coming regardless of what the groundhog saw or did not see.

Man was arrested in Toronto because he had received a total of $2,880 in relief in six years while he had been working. And why not at the same time arrest some of the inspectors who are supposed to look after such affairs.

Young man in court for stealing a suit of clothes said he figured he needed them more than the man who owned them, and of course it is never very difficult for a man to convince himself of the justice of anything he desires to do.

Quebec Legislature will restore pay cuts. The premier will receive $14,000 instead of $12,000, and ministers with portfolios go from $7,000 to $8,000. The rest of the folk in the neighboring province will have to get along as best they can.

Former members of the British parliament who find themselves hard up will be able soon to draw from a pension fund to which all members will contribute £1 per month. That is a good way to finance such a plan. It is also satisfactory to know that Britain has men who have served in public life and who are still hard up. It speaks well of the sort of service they have been giving.

PERHAPS IT'S YOU

(By A.R.K.)

¶ New family came to live in town, they got a house and settled down, and goodly folk they were; the lady went about her chores, they kept her pretty much indoors, but no one bothered her.

¶ And living here seemed kind of strange, for her it was a sudden change, she was away from home; she missed the friends she used to know, missed folk who used to come and go, she felt so much alone.

¶ She started wearing quite a frown, and said she didn't like the town, she'd quit it if she could; it was a frigid sort of spot, the people were a chilly lot, as dull as blocks of wood.

¶ She used to tell her husband too, how she was feeling rather blue, how everything was strange; she'd like to see some one she knew, where she could do some talking to, she needed such a change.

¶ A friendly lady called next day, and had a pleasant little stay, she made a pot of tea; before the lady started home, the stranger felt she was at home, as happy as could be.

¶ There's lots of folks who feel the same, I needn't call them here by name, they feel a little blue; and who should go and call in there, and take perhaps a friendly air—why, say, perhaps it's YOU.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

SNOW REMOVAL

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I noticed where Ald. Dutton had written to thank Reeve Anderson of Otonabee for the manner in which that township was keeping its roads open this winter. I like that kind of thing and am tempted to do a little of it myself. I do not drive much in the country but I do a good deal of driving right in the city, and I can be included in the class at which you poked your editorial finger the other day. I drive to work.

I see where there has been objection taken to the snow plows going along and piling snow in the entrance to walks and drives, but I hardly see how that can be stopped. But what I was getting at is the way the snow problem is handled by our city. I think they do a good job at it and keep a good many principal streets clear even when the snow fall is heavy. I have seen men working in various parts of the city trucking the snow away and they have been going it at a good pace all the time. I drive all the time, a good many miles each day right around this city and I have had no trouble this winter, and that's why I want to say thanks to the people who attend to snow removal.

PROFANITY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I was reading the following in a book the other day: "At the Exhibition of 1917 in Toronto, a rough stockman was heard to remark, 'I allow no profanity nor boisterous men in my stables. I find such conduct hinders the development of my cattle'. I also remember reading some years ago that an angry word spoken to a horse increases the heart beat some 5 to 10. So much for the effect of evil in man on poor dumb animals.

Now let us look for a moment at its effect on humans, children and gentle women in particular. Have we not all seen at some time or other a little child shrink back in terror from a father's uncontrolled rage and perhaps the mother's heart ready to jump out of her as he prepares to strike the child. Why? I ask do good people shudder at profanity? It is because we are witnessing the smoke of a furnace burning within and which if left uncontrolled will destroy the man himself. I hate to say it, but how long must we women have to behold the havoc that men have wrought in this world? Must we stand by and endure it as they rave and plunder and mill and make homeless women and little children? Has the good man perished from the earth? I fear almost. What do good women look for from men? They want them to be gentlemen in the truest sense of the word to protect them as a lion stands guard over his mate and his young. Oh you men, the noblest animals put you to shame. How long will you roam the earth seeking only your own glory, making a desert instead of creating a home and winning the respect and the love of your wife and children.

Lastly a word about the effect of accumulated evils upon nature. I cannot in this short space, tell you why I believe as I do, and it may seem far-fetched to attribute earthquakes "etc." to wide spread evils on earth, but read carefully what happened at Jerusalem at the crucifixion of Christ and you will have to admit that the darkness, the rending of rocks, and the fear, that took hold of the centurion and others was nature bearing witness to the effect of accumulated evils.

Be it known that the spiritual world, though invisable is so near that all our thoughts flow in from it, the evil first, and then the good thoughts flowing in from the Lord through the angels labor to dispel the evil and so we are kept in balance, but if evil predominates our balance is gone. We are free to chose which influence we will allow to predominate and so we need not wonder at our unbalanced world.

WOULD INDUSTRIES HELP?

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I notice by a news item in a recent edition of the Examiner that $2,000.00 has been earmarked for use by the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, for the purpose of advertising the city in the hopes of securing new industries.

As a citizen of this community and indirectly a taxpayer, I believe there are sufficient arguments against this appropriation to at least raise some opposition to it, and it is difficult to understand how it could have been passed by the council let alone being increased over the estimates of the chairman, without at least one objection on the part of some member.

The "new industries" illusion which is apparently shared unanimously by our city fathers is a snare and delusion, for the simple reason that if the committee under discussion were to succeed in their endeavor of locating some new industries here, it would mean that our city would expand a little, bringing with it a higher assessment of property values and a larger relief bill, consequently a higher tax bill all of which our city fathers have pledged themseves to keep as low as possible. The truth of this contention will be readily seen if one will examine the tax bills of a home owner in Toronto with one in Peterborough. Their homes might be exactly the same type of construction and size, yet the Toronto gentleman will be required to hand over double the number of dollars to the city treasurer than his friend in Peterborough, this being the result of higher assessment which folows with an increase in population and is the result of new or expanded industries.

Until we have learned to provide city services in large communities as economically per capita as in the smaller towns and cities, and until we can control land values against the ravishings of the real estate speculator, possibly along the lines Mr. Cowan has outlined in his talks to the service clubs, it is evident that Canada would be better served by spreading its industries throughout the smaller towns and hamlets, thus building up many small cities like Peterborough rather than blotting the landscape with cities like Toronto and Montreal, where taxes make a decent standard of living practically impossible even for skilled labor.

It is possible however that our council, in good faith, entertain the popular delusion that if they could induce a new industry to locate here, it would absorb a large part of our unemployed workers and thus reduce our relief costs, and here again we are doomed to disappointment, for it is well known fact that in industrialized countries the population is highly transient, the flow in good times being toward areas where a better living can be obtained and in bad times wherever sustenance can be found. Were we to provide work, here for a thousand men, twenty thousand would apply. We cannot make an oasis of Peterborough, unemployment is a national problem and must be treated as such. Whatever percentage of unemployment Canada has has a whole, Peterborough will have also, irrespective of how many industries we have here.

If this is the case, Mr. Editor, and I believe it is, should not our City Council reconsider this appropriation, and apply the money to something which will benefit the community, otherwise we may get the reputation in Peterborough of being careless with our cash.

ENCOURAGEMENT

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I recently read an article about a newspaper joker which interested me very much. Would you kindly allow me space to pass on to your readers a few thoughts. This joker amused himself by sending telegrams to twenty of his acquaintances with the one word "Congratulations." So far as he knew, not one of these people had done anything worth noticing, but he tried out the plan, and to his surprise, every one of the twenty wrote him a letter of thanks. Each one had done something to which he felt he could apply the telegram.

This was rather a cruel joke yet it is a fact that most people are so seldom offered words of appreciation that they are glad of any words which show, or seem to show that their labors are appreciated. If we all would set forth the good that is in others in place of the faults we would have a better world.

THE FASCIST STOMP.

Rumania, too, has caught the Aryan bug. King Carol has announced that his 1939 motto is "Rumania for Rumanians." But Carol himself is not a pure Rumanian, since he descends from British and German stock. Ethnologists frankly doubt whether they can spot a drop of pure Rumanian blood in that country, which for 15 centuries has been a melting pot of Asiatic and European nations. Neverthe'ess Rumania has commenced the expulsion of Jews and other undesirable "foreigners" as the first step in "purifying" the Rumanian nation. Thus Rumania has joined in the deadly dance now sweeping Europe—the "Fascist stomp." — (Toronto Star)

COUNTING RUSSIANS.

The Russians have just finished a new census. They took one last year, but it seems that "wreckers corrupted it with hopelessly unscientific methods" — another Fascist- Trotskyist plot, presumably —so the job had to be done over and seems to have been done very well.

One question that caused a good deal of embarrassment, according to our Moscow correspondent — though it had only the innocent purpose of accurately checking the number of the population by counting everybody at the same time —was "Who spent the night in this apartment?" But if Stalin's constituents have to answer that question only on the night the census is taken, they are better off than a good many Continental Europeans, now or in the past. Even in the milder days of pre-war Germany, people who dropped in on a friend for an all-night card game were likely to have their names reported to the police the next morning.—(New York Times)

STATE INTERESTED.

VARIOUS CLERGYMEN are presenting opposition to steps which are proposed in some parts of Canada to make medical examination a compulsory preliminary to marriage. They say that this runs counter to doctrine and that the state should excercise no control over marriage the regulation of which is the peculiar property of the Church. Surely the state however, ought to be in a position to say something about the state of health of those who contract marriage when it is very frequently required to bear the expense of caring for the diseased, malformed or blind offspring of physically or mentally unfit individuals who contract such alliances.—(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Scared Bear Scares Deer Which Leaps In Pond, Lumbermen Save It

Lindsay ,Ont., Feb. 4 (CP).

A BEAR AND A DEER joined forces in eluding capture in the bush at Uphill with disastrous results for the deer. It was caught while the bear escaped.

Bush workers from Russell Carrick's lumber camp roused the bear while felling a tree. In its flight, the bear leaped over a brush pile and out sprang a deer.

When the bear stopped on the edge of a pond, the deer raced out on the ice and broke through. The bear then ambled off into the woods while the bush workers went to the deer's rescue.

No Defence Ties With States

OTTAWA, Feb. 4—(CP). — Exchange of information between the military authorities of Canada and United States for the defence of the North American continent was most desirable and no doubt such information was being exchanged, Prime Minister King told the House of Commons Thursday. However, there had been no commitments.

After reading a Washington news despatch that said "Quietly, without need of treaty or negotiation, the United States and Canada are preparing to defend this continent from invasion, on a join, cooperative basis, the armies and navies of both working together by definite plan," J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, asked "whether this statement is correct and whether there are any commitments involved."

The question was of such importance, the Prime Minister said, that he would not like to answer it off hand. He should like to see the statement and read it carefully.

"I gather, however," he continued, "that the purport of the question is this: Are there any commitments on the part of the present government with the government of the United States in respect of the defence of the Pacific Coast; if that is the question I answer there are no commitments that I am aware of and I think I should be aware of any if there were."

Mr. Woodsworth asked if there was an arrangement to defend this continent from invasion, involving joint cooperative action and to what extent the despatch was correct.

"I should think," Mr. Mackenzie King replied, "That an arrangement would be in the nature of a commitment and I repeat that there is no commitment.

U.S. Increasing Air Reserves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(AP).—The United States army air corps is studying means to intensify training of reserve fliers, officials indicated today, while it schools new pilots for the additional warplanes asked by President Roosevelt.

Some 2,400 air reservists now constitute a national defence backlog. Their number is expected to be increased by thousands in a few years, under administration plans.

Reservists' spokesmen have asked for more instructors, increased pay and other incentives for spare time flying. Legislation embodying some of the proposals has been offered in Congress.

A large portion of the reserve fliers are commercial pilots. Of the approximately 2,400 members of the inactive corps; about 1,500 are listed as qualified pilots, available for emergency service.

On active duty with the air corps are 721 reservists, including 158 who were graduated Feb. 1 from Randolph Field, Texas.

Army flying jobs are open to all reservists who can meet requirements, if they possess the requisite technical qualifications and experience and are under 35.

Rebel Executions About To Start

BARCELONA, Feb. 4—(AP). — The insurgent military intelligence service, with Barcelona's famed "Fifth Column" supplying information for arrests, is rounding up enemies of the Franco regime.

The "Fifth Column" is composed of insurgent sympathizers who, during the 2½ years of war, have risked their lives in espionage activities under the nose of the government.

Members of this column are expected to have a decisive voice in determining which "enemies of Spain" will be condemned to death. The number of former Government supporters now under arrest was not available to-day, but it was believed likely that scores would be executed within the next few weeks.

Insurgent police last night disclosed the arrest of several persons charged with "having stained their hands with the blood of their brothers." They said the first government leader caught here was Eduardo Barriobero, 50, former president of the popular military tribunal. They said he would be charged with murder.

Conflict Between Have And Have-Not Power Of World May Develop Over Colonies

LONDON, Feb. 4.—"The demand for colonies will ever and again be raised for our so densely populated country."

Chancellor Hitler

Chancellor Hitler has addressed these pointed words to Great Britain, holder of the majority of Germany's pre-war territories.

For four years now Hitler has gradually been increasing his din, ever demanding the return of the colonial areas that were stripped from the Reich by terms of the settlement of the world war.

The German dictator's demands are firm. Herr von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, acting as Hitler's spokesman, has served notice on the world:

Reveals Alternatives

The remedy for the injustice done to Germany in taking her colonies is to be found in either returning the colonies or in Germany's own strength."

The "stand and deliver" order of the German chancellor has made the British empire equally firm in its answer.

In a "no colonies for the Nazis" declaration, Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's colonial and dominions secretary, ignored the Hitler shouts, flatly asserting:

"We are not discussing this matter. We are not considering it. It is not now an issue in practical politics."

Without truculence and certainly without shallow hostility to Germany, Britain has spoken.

Commons Resolution

Recently the question was discussed by thirty members of parliament at a private meeting in the House of Commons which declared:

"There can be no transference of territories at present held under the British flag...we are further convinced from all the evidence since adduced that while the German claim for transfer would gravely imperil the strategic safety and impair the homogeneity of the British empire, more especially in Africa, such change would provide no substantial relief to Germany in the matter of raw materials or settlement for her people."

Although refusing to turn over territories, England has left the matter open for international discussion. The British government has officially declared that it would "welcome the consideration of any proposals which might meet any real difficulties encountered by Germany or other states in securing adequate access to supplies of raw materials or foodstuffs."

British Policy Defined

Summed up—British policy revolves about the belief that the colonies are "not ours to give."

It is the English belief that the colonies were conquered by the united effort of the whole empire and the dominions, and Britain holds them as an insurance against renewal of the dangers and losses which their one-time possession by Germany caused.

Britain argues that they have given guaranties to the natives and to settlers, and that they are in a position of trustee and are bound to fulfil their trust.

Seeks French Support

England is seeking support from France, her natural ally, in defence of the empire position. France, also a holder of world war reparation colonial mandates, is expected, according to international political observers, to throw her lot in with the British lion.

Japan and Italy are the nations regarded as Germany's possible partners in a new international alliance antagonistic to the powers retaining possession of her former territories overseas. Already, the German press has backed up Italy in her thrust against French Tunis. Japan is considered a likely partner in the Far East.

Although primarily an issue between the Reich and England, it is more than possible that the matter will resolve itself into a showdown between the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis and the London-Paris combine.

The question of German colonial demands is destined to play an important part in the history of 1939. The ABOVE map shows the bulk of the former German colonies in Africa, showing present names and ownership and names when held by Germany. By the Versailles treaty the Reich lost also New Guinea and a number of islands in the Pacific.

2 Women In Pyjamas Run Thieves 9 Miles, Nab One, Gets Hens Back

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—Chased nine miles in a car by two pyjama clad women, Kenneth Langford, 18, of Thamesville, was arrested early today on a charge of chicken stealing. Two companions, as yet unidentified, escaped by taking to their heels across snow-covered fields, when their car was halted by their pursuers.

Miss Edna Giffard, of Dresden, and Mrs. Harold Thompson, a neighbor, were heroines of the midnight escapade, which ended only when Langford was handed over to police.

The trio of young men, Langford, among them, was seen moving from the direction of chicken coops on the farm of William Giffard, Chatham-Camden townline, by Mrs. Thompson, who lives across the road. Mrs. Thompson saw them carrying bags evidently filled with dead chickens, toward their car, parked a short distance away. Although she had previously retired, she was about her house attending to her husband, ill for some time.

Take Trail For 9 Miles

Grabbing a coat and a pair of shoes, Mrs. Thompson aroused Miss Giffard, who was alone at her home at the time. The two women took the Giffard car and gave chase.

For nine miles the women followed the trail of the chicken thieves and finally located them when they pulled off the main road into a lane leading to the farm of Park Pickard, midway between Kent Bridge and Thamesville on number two highway.

Miss Giffard ran to the second vehicle and began to talk to the driver. Meanwhile Mrs. Thompson went to the Pickard home and called Thamesville police. Two companions of Langford made off with two bags of chickens when the car was stopped. Running across the fields they apparently thought their burden too heavy and discarded the lot. In the bags were 33 dead chickens, each with their necks broken.

Germany Runs Short Of Express Trains

BERLIN, Feb. 4 — (AP). — Curtailment of railway passenger service throughout Germany was explained to-day by officials on the grounds that the Sudetenland was stripped almost bare of railroad rolling stock by retreating Czechs when they ceded the territory to Germany earl in October.

Besides eliminating 28 express trains on main routes, numerous vacation trains of the Nazi "strength through joy" recreational organization have been cancelled. Officials said the curtailment was only temporary.

Despite the official explanation, informed circles believed a general shortage of raw materials had compelled Field-Marshal Hermann Goering, as director of the four-year self-sufficiency plan, to curtail the German railways' allotment of steel and other raw materials considerably.

London Jobless Want Coffin Back

LONDON, Feb. 4—(CP-Havas).—"Cough up that coffin!" was the alliterative legend that appeared on banners carried by a group of jobless who marched to Scotland Yard today demanding the return of the symbolic coffin they have been using to demonstrate the alleged plight of the unemployed.

A delegation of the unemployed went to the Home Office to complain that the police had forcibly taken the coffin when a group of the jobless tried to take it into the House of Commons Tuesday. A spokesman for the "national unemployed movement' said the police would be prosecuted for seizing the coffin.

The delegation then marched with their expressive banners to Scotland Yard, where they applied in vain for an interview with Sir Philip Game, chief of the Metropolitan Police.

Suggest Indians Grow Wild Rice

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 — (CP). — The Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources reported to-day it instructed officers of the branch in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta to survey the possibilities of the cultivation of wild rice by Indians.

Oldest cereal crop harvested in Canada, wild rice commands high prices on United States markets due to a reported shortage. According to information received by the department a band of Indians at Fort Alexander Reserve south of Lake Winnipeg succeeded in harvesting wild rice. They sold 20,000 pounds, which brought them 18 to 25 cents a pound.

Fields near Lac du Bois, Manitoba, have been under lease to a commercial enterprise which has been successful in developing good rice harvests.

Bury, England, grammar school has offered to adopt at least one Jewish boy.

GARNET AND GREY TEAMS WIN TRIPLE BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Rubber Town Teams Suffer Defeat

Garnet and Grey basketball teams last night fought their way to a clean sweep of their triple-header Lakeshore League games with Bowmanville High school before a fair crowd of fans in the Collegiate gym. The Senior and Junior boys' teams won in close games and the P.C.I. Sennor Girls copped a 29-6 for their third straight victory.

P.C.I.'s Junior Boys' squad, held on even terms by a hard-fighting Bowmanville team through the first half, seemed to find themselves late in the third quarter to pull well ahead and were adding to their lead through the final minutes. Bowmanville, while never ahead, were always in the hunt and only poor shooting kept the score from being closer.

Scott, Clarke and Amys were the home squad's stars, the former defensively and the last two on the attack. McIlveen and Jackman stood out for the losing Red and Black squad. The teams:

P.C.I. (30)—Centre, Clarke (4); forwards, Amys (7), Gillespie (5); guards, Rogow, Scott (4); subs, Kay, Moorhead, McPherson (4), Moore (2), Hall (2), Dundas 2).

B.H.S. (21)—Centre, Slemon (5); forwards, McIlveen (7); McFeeters (5); guards, Jackman, Morden (2); subs, Crawford (2), Allen, Tamblyn.

Referee—Gord McIntyre.

Home Girls Win.

The Garnet and Grey Senior Girls took a commanding 13-4 lead at the half and continued to pile it up in the last to win 29-6 for their third triumph to take a firm hold on first place in their group. They outplayed the visitors from start to finish but Bowmanville fought hard all the way and but for poor shooting would have cut down the homesters' lead. It was 8-2 at the quarter, 13-4 at the end of the half and 23-4 going into the last quarter. E. Saunders, M. Juby and J. Ottewell were the Garnet and Grey outstanding stars, and C. Mitchell and H. Granville were best for the visitors. The teams:

B.H.S. (6)— G. Mitchell (2); B. Emmett (2); H. Glanville (2); K. Storey, M. Spencer, P. Emmett, G. Wager, D. Tapson, D. Smale, D. Wheeler.

P.C.I. (29) —J. Ottewell (2); E. Craig, M. Juby (8); R. Dalliday (2); E. Saunders (17); D. Glover, J. Coleman, H. Beatty, L. Reid.

Referee—H. Longworth. Umpire, H. Smith.

Seniors Win.

P.C.I.'s Senior Boys' squad battled neck and neck with Bowmanville through three quarters of the game with the lead see-sawing back and forth and then rallied strongly in the third quarter to win 39-27 in what may prove to have been a crucial game.

Each team was guilty of fouling 13 times, P.C.I. making 5 tries and the losers but 1. Gillespie, Moorhead and Johnston led the winner's attack and Fagan and Brown were best for Bowmanville. The teams:

P.C.I. (39)—Centre, Foster (4); forwards, Cutting (6), Taylor (2); guards, Gillespie (9), Johnston (4); subs, Moorhead (12), W. Ferguson (2), W. Harle, R. Ferguson.

Bowmanville H.S. (27)— Centre, Fagan (5); forwards, Mason (4), Brown (12); guards, Collville (4), Rockham (2); subs, Graham, Ashton, Casbourne, James.

Referee—Dr. Worton.

Remember When—

Age conditions for the King's Plate, Toronto turf classic, were changed a year ago to-day, restricting the race to three and four year old horses. Previously only two-year-olds were barred. Bunty Lawless, a three-year-old and favorite, won in 1938.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

It comes to our ears that Dit Clapper, Hastings' husky who is starring for Boston Bruins, will receive a presentation fro mthe home-town folk at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens on Feb. 25th. Provided there is no kick from Gardens' officials—and why should there be? Reeve Lewis Kelley and Councillor Stanley Stevenson, Hastings, have been named chairman and secretary-treasurer of a committee to attended arrangements. Nature of the presentation has not been settled, but the Council is doing its part. The matter of renting a bus to carry 40 or so up for the Bruins-Leafs game that night is also being considered. Hastings' sports clubs have pledged their support and donations from individuals have been received. A nice gesture from the folks to a great hockeyist.

Southend Hockey League secretary, in sending thanks to R. M. Glover for the O.H.A. gift of sticks, points out that this loop, since its revival some five years ago, has been providing organized hockey for about 150 boys up to 18 years of age. The O.H.A. junior Monarchs and the O.J.H.A. entry (St. Peter's) are made up practically 100 p.c. of former Southend Loop players. It's a good builder circuit, and the sticks rightly enough will go to the bantam teams in it.

Just Ooze Confidence

Coach Bill Jackson, Manager Hap Wilgar and all the junior Colts claim the locals will trim the husky Oshawa squad here Tuesday and even up the O.H.A. junior "B" series. They are so confident that we get some of it ourself listening to 'em. The gang points out that the smaller ice surface here will bother the Oshawa outfit, and that an even break in refereeing will make a big difference to the locals. They have lots of class but don't always click up to form—and the Colts are certainly due to click this time. And they don't intend to get bumped and booted around like they were in the Motor City, but will fight back. We look for a dandy junior "B" battle, and are inclined to call the Colts to win.

* * * * * *

Three lively cage contests were run off at the P.C.I. gym last e'en, with the locals coming out on top in every one over their Bowmanville High opponents. The senior boys and the junior boys had a fairly stiff fight of it, while the senior lasses romped home handily. Score of the junior joust was 30-21 for the locals, and the senior Collegiate gang copped a 39-27 affair. The local gals won by 29-6 chuckle — and it was a ha-ha win! Still, those things go in cycles, and the belles from Bowman Villa may have the last laugh. Tonight, cage fans can trek to the Y.M.C.A. gym where three senior men's games are being played. St. Paul's meet Quakers at seven, St. John's and C.G.E. have a real tangle at eight, and Dominions play Hecla at nine.

Petes Look Weak

The Petes dropped an 8-3 decision to the Trenton Fliers here last night, and the boys of Bella Villa will be very angry indeed. This will make them most unhappy, seeing as how the Fliers pulled up into a second-place tie with the Thomasites, and now they can cop a playoff berth by beating the Quinte crew on Tuesday. If the R.C.A.F.-ers play then as they did last eve, they'll take Belleville—since the Fliers turned in a dandy effort. Fast stepping, smooth passing and a checking system that smacked strongly of glue. Whereas the Petes looked pretty bad. Hard to figure how they can take a 7-1 win over the Airmen Monday and then drop an 8-3 tilt to the same squad Friday—except that their opponents improved a lot since Monday. And the locals slipped several miles—only playing hockey in the third period. Disorganized, missing passes, failing to check back, poor defensively—yep, they'll have to do better than that when the playoffs commence.

* * * * * *

None of the Petes shone in this rather sorry showing, though they worked hard and were clicking better toward the end. The starry first line for the Fliers was smooth as satin and fast as antelopes. M'sieu Lecompte wafted the black biscuit into Earl McNabb's twine tepee four times as slick as a confidence man on market day. And Gibson was both good in goal and decidedly aggravating. The way he'd flop on the rubber at every opp. Game was held up a coupla times when thoughtless folk tossed programs on the ice—it being a rather pointless custom. While the half-wit who threw the bottle out—and nearly beaned Bun Kingdon—should have been ejected permanently. And through the snow hole at the south-end of the rink, too! Two of the Fliers received cuts, Johnston getting it on the upper lip and Oleskevis in the leg. Both were accidents, as the game was clean. But not too interesting, at all.

* * * * * *

Our Battling Juniors

Our Monarchs put up a stiff battle in Lindsay but fell before the Midgets, 4 to 0. A ganging-up attack in the middle canto racked up three tallies for the big Midgets and sunk the hopes of the Monarchs in their scrap for a playoff spot. Our other junior club, Colts, had an exhibition game in Bowmanville and took a 4-3 win in overtime. Shorthanded and spotting 'em three early—before our goalie got used to the dim lights—the locals played an aggressive style of hockey to get the verdict. There were no less than three fights, the large lads of the village of Bowman finding the husky Colts able and willing to play their style. Wiseman drew a match penalty finally.

* * * * * *

Lakefield Legionnaires keep rolling right along. They ankled into Sutton last gloaming and yodelled out of there a bit later with the better end of a 5-4 chuckle. Had to work for it, but earned the nod nicely. Chittick missed connections on his job and didn't go down, so Buster Whitton was pushed up between Jewell and Blewett. The mighty atom could only manage to score three of his team's five goals up front! Cy Whatley was added to the Legros gang's rearguard and played a fine game on the back fence with Burton. The whole Lakefield lineup looked good in knocking off such a tough rival. They're now but a game back of Sutton, who are second to Whitby. Lakefield goes to Lindsay Tuesday and has Whitby at home later in the week.

Toronto Rinks Capture Ontario Tankard

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP).—The Ontario Silver Tankard gleamed from a prominent shelf in Toronto Curling Club today, back in the club for the third time since it entered competition 64 years ago. J. M. Rothschild and C. R. Redfern skipped rinks that won the trophy by defeating S. Meredith and G. O. Cameron, Barrie, 35-25.

The Burden Trophy, consolation prize for losers in the group finals of tankard play, went to London for the second successive year. Dr. J. A. Wright and F. C. Wilson ousted Meaford's W. Braithwaite and W. Pillgren in the finals 36-23.

In the semi-finals of the tankard competition Barrie eliminated Kitchener 29-23, while Toronto knocked two Lindsay rinks from the double-rink competition by a 37-16 score. London beat Orangeville 28-14 in the Burden fours, while Meaford eliminated Cobourg 35-25.

Last Won By Toronto In 1915

Put into play in 1875, the Tankard last was held by the Toronto Curling Club in 1877, which also won it the previous year. Its custody signifies supremacy n the Ontario Curling Association.

Highlight of the finals was J. M. Rothschild's recovery in the 15th end of his match with Sol Meredith. At the 12th end Meredith, Barrie's cagey commander, had overcome an early handicap and tied the score at 11-all. At the end of the 14th Barrie had a three-point lead, but a five-end Rothschild scored in the 15th held Toronto safe. Rothschild scored 16 and Meredith 15.

One close finish also marked the final in the Burden competition. F. C. Wilson of London took an early lead over W. Billgrem of Meaford, but by the close of the 15th end the score was tied at 12-all. A lone point London scored in the last end brought victory to Wilson.

The other match in the Burden final was called at the end of the 15th, when Dr. Wright had a nine-point lead over W. Braithwaite. The Redfern-Cameron match in the Tankard finals was Toronto's all the way through, with Redfern opening his scoring with a five-end.

Canadian Team Turns Back Netherlands 8-0

BASLE, Switzerland, Feb. 4 (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters, Canada's Allan Cup champions, were ready today for Poland, their next opponent in the world's amateur hockey championship tourney, after turning back The Netherlands 8-0.

The Smoke Eaters, defending the championship won for Canada last year by Sudbury Wolves, had as little trouble with the Dutchmen in their first-round engagement last night as the score indicates. They scored once in the first period, four in the second and three times in the third.

Other first-round games found the United States topping Italy 5-0 while Czecho-Slovakia buried Yugoslavia under a 24-0 score and Germany turned back Finland 12-1. Switzerland defeated Latvia 12-0 and Hungary knocked off Belgium 8-1.

The Poles, along with Great Britain, were idle.

Jimmy Morris, Smoke Eater defenceman, was high man for the Canadians as they routed The Netherlands. He scored three goals as the Canadians demonstrated how, and why, they have just completed a 22-game exhibition tour in Europe without being tied or defeated and at the same time scoring 147 goals to 11 allowed opponents.

Dick Kowcinak scored two Can-Joe Benoit notched one apiece. Ab Joe Benoit nothced one apiece. Ab Cronie received credit for the other Canadian counter when Gerritsen of The Netherlands deflected the puck into his own net.

Contestants were divided into two pools from which the teams will move into second round play.

Shewchuk Recalled From Providence

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP).—JaJack Shewchuk, Brantford boy with Providence of the International-American circuit, will accompany Boston Bruins to Chicago for tomorrow night's National Hockey League game against the Black Hawks, manager Art Ross announced today. Chewchuk will be taken along in the event Busher Hollett is unable to play.

Hollett was injured in last night's game against Toronto Maple Leafs. An X-ray was taken of his right side today to determine whether there was any fracture but the plates have yet to be developed.

If Shewchuk gets into the game at Chicago he will be playing with Red Hammill, a teammate of his junior days with Copper Cliff, in the season of 1937—the year the northerners won the eastern Canada title. Hamill was brought up from Hershey this week.

Lakefield Wins From Sutton By 5-4 Score

Lakefield Legionnaires climbed to within a point of the second-place Suton team in an O.H.A. intermediate "B"game at Sutton last night, when they copped a 5-4 decision. Minus Chittick, the classy Legionnaires turned in a fine effort in a speedy, clean content and earned the decision neatly. Whitton was shifted up to centre and Cy Whatley used on defence..as a newcomer—with Burton.

Blewett and Chappell had one goal each for the winners, while Whitton flipped the rubber into the enemy twine three times. Sutton got the first goal, but the Lakefield lads quickly overhauled them and led most of the route. Loyst, Whitton and Whatley turned in a swell game, and the rest of the crew were close behind in effectiveness. Jewell and Blewett worked well on the line with Whitton, Creighton, O'Leary, Chappell and Deeth proved able alternates.

TRENTON FLIERS GRAB AN 8 TO 3 SENIOR WIN OVER THE PETES

Airmen In Second-Place Draw With Belleville Redmen After Easy Win Over Locals

Trenton Fliers pulled up into a second-place tie with the Belleville Redmen here last night by knocking off the Petes, 8 to 3, in the locals' last Senior "B" scheduled contest of the season. A crowd of about 1200 fans saw the homesters turn in a very mediocre performance with the Airmen flying high all evening.

The Fliers dominated play for the first half and piled up an impressive lead before the third stanza opened. They took a 4-1 edge in the first period, and made it 6-1 as the second finished. Play was very even in the third as the Petes came to life—but it was too late then for the Buckland boys to do much. It was a speedy, clean but not overly exciting fixture. The Fliers and Belleville settle the other playoff berth early next week.

Fast skating, heady passing and close checking won the game for the R.C.A.F. gang. They played heads-up hockey, being dangerous in close and the Petes looked disorganized a good part of the fracas. The locals failed to back-check effectively and muffed a lot of chances through poor passing or missed passes when in the enemy zone. They came to life in the third and ganged up to threaten often, but were only able to tie their rivals on the period's play. The Fliers earned the victory all the way. The ice slowed up the last half.

None Starred

There were none of the Petes who starred over most of the route, though several flashes of fine hockey. They worked hard but couldn't get clicking as they had when they trimmed the Fliers by a 7-1 score the first of the week in Belleville. The first line for the winners sparkled, Lecompte scoring four of their goals and the wingmen being equally impressive. The defence checked well and Goalie Gibson aroused the fans' ire with his holding tactics, but he was good. A few thoughtless fans tossed out papers on the ice to hold up the game, and one nitwit threw a bottle.

Legris came close to tallying in the first minute of play and shortly after McNeeley counted in close on a pass from Oleskevis. It was even and fast for a time and a Creighton-Gardner rush made Gibson jump. Nichol pulled a neat rush and, when Todd went off for holding, the Petes pressed. Later Lecompte took Legris' pass and counted at close range, and half a minute later, Nichol scored from Creighton inside defence. Gray and Tompkins pulled a fine rush and then the Airmen got another, Lecompte taking a return pass from Legris to sink it. Brackenbury got another in a scramble on McNabb's doorstep. The Fliers kept flying in there hard. McNabb and Creighton were gated for roughing it gently, and later Crowe followed for tripping, as the Fliers kept boring in.

Had An Edge

In the middle chukker, the Government gang had an edge due to their systematic play and smart hockey inside the defence. They also checked the Petes up closely. Early in the stanza, with the locals short a man, the Airmen pressed and got a goal, Lecompte scoring from Eric McNeeley. Crowe pulled a fine rush through defence and play was hot and pretty event for a time. McNabb robbed McNeeley and then Brackenbury went off for tripping. The Petes pressed hotly but did no damage. Lecompte later counted a lovely goal on a short forward pass through the defence from McNeeley. Todd went off for tripping and the locals again ganged up. The period ended a few seconds short when someone threw an empty bottle out on the ice and it broke. The extra time was added to the third period as attendants cleaned up the ice.

The Petes carried the play most of the third, ganging up hard and having an edge, but they could only tie their opponents 2-2 on the frame. Legris scored a nice one around the net from McNeeley early in the heat and then a Tompkins-Kingdon drive came close. Later Starr flung a hot shot at Gibson, who hung onto it. Gardner blazed one by the goalie on Kingdon's pass around defence. Gray was gated for a trip and the Fliers pressed on McNabb. With all back, Weir counted in close with a fine shot as they pressed up, Starr and Creighton aiding on the play. Crowe rushed neatly but was blocked and Johnston got a cut lip and had to leave. The Petes kept ganging and McNabb had to watch for breakaways. Gardner got the finger for boarding and the Airmen tore in hard for a few minutes. Oleskevis went off with a cut in the leg—both accidents not being the result of rough play. Just a minute before the finish, Cook golfed one in from outside defence for the final counter of the contest.

The teams:

Fliers: Goal, Gibson; defence, Oleskevis and Todd; centre, Lecompte; wings, Legris and McNeely; subs, Brackenbury, Johnston, McNabb, Baldwin and Cook.

Bettina Whips Tiger Jack Fox

MELICO BETTINA TIGER JACK FOX

Getting organized in his eighth round in a bout with Tiger Jack Fox, Melico Bettina whipped his opponent badly for the light heavyweight championship of the world. The bell saved Fox in the eighth but he was out on his feet in ninth when referee stopped the fight.

John Henry Lewis Must Look To Laurels To Beat Bettina

Melio cut down Tiger Jack Fox, the war-worn Spokane, Wash., negro in 1.22 of the ninth round of their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night. Bettina, at 172½ pounds, gave 2¼ to Fox.

In the eighth Bettina suddenly got organized and the Tiger fell apart. A left hook to the chin shook Fox and Bettina went after him. Ten punches to the face and body and the Tiger dropped to the canvas. He was up at nine, but he was through.

Bettina hit him savagely for the rest of the round, but the bell saved Fox. It didn't in the ninth. Melio came out fast, shook off one of Fox's whistling rights and tore in. Fox was out on his feet when Referee Eddie Josephs stepped in and called it.

Mic-Macs Whip Tweed In 5-4 Tilt

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Feb. 4.— The largest crowd of the season attended the Tweed-Madoc hockey match in the Madoc arena on Friday night to see the Marmora-Madoc Mic-Macs eke out a 5-4 decision over their traditional rivals.

Rooters from Tweed supporting their team and rumors of a continuation of the hostilities that broke out in Tweed a week ago, swelled the crowd, who were kept at fever heat throughout the entire game. Disputed goals, close-called decisions by the referees, and the very evident animosity among the players, contributed toward the most exciting game seen so far this season.

Right from the face-off the game became one of close checking. The break came at the 12 minute mark. Hike was chased for tripping. The Mic-Macs put on the pressure and Loveless chalked up the first count from N. O'Neil's pass. Three minutes later Tweed tied the count, with Cournyea scoring on Provost's passout from the corner. Two minutes later Meraw put Tweed one up on a shot from the blue line that dribbled between the goalie's pads. Period ended 2-1 for Tweed.

In the second period the game opened out. Tweed claimed a disputed goal but lost the decision. H. Leal left the game to receive repairs to a cut from a high stick. Kellar scored for Madoc but the play was called as the rubber entered the net. Five minutes from the first of the period N. O'Neil tied the score as he sank the rebound from Loveless' shot. Tummon put Tweed one up on a nice solo effort. With a minute of the period left Loveless evened the count on a lone rally.

The third period opened with both teams playing wide open. Madoc claimed a goal which seemed to hit the back net support. The goal was disallowed by the Tweed referee, who claimed it hit the post. Provost was penalized for tripping. Tweed, in attempting to clear the puck out of the defensive territory, shot the puck into the crowd, hitting the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle of Marmora. This was a most unfortunate accident as several stitches were required to close the wound.

The Mic-Macs went one up as C. O'Neil counted on Alexander's passout from behind the net. Seconds later Madoc counted again when Alexander batted a rebound in after Reeves had stopped three in a row from the same play. With half a minute to the final bell, Tummon and W. Leal combined to get the final count of the game, Tummon getting the counter. Mic-Macs 5, Tweed 4.

The teams:

Tweed — Goal, Reeves; defence, Tummon, Oar; centre, W. Leal; wings, Meraw, Wager; alternates, H. Leal, Cournyea, Ellsbury, Hike and Wood.

Goodyears Wind Up Schedule With 35 Points Of Possible 40; Oshawa Assured Of Second Place

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Toronto's mighty Goodyears, having wound up the senior "A" schedule of the Ontario Hockey Association undefeated, sat back today and awaited the opposition to decide who would engage them in the playoffs. The remaining five teams have at least one game each before semi-finals begin Feb. 15.

Goodyears finished the regular 20-game season conspicuously last night by whipping Niagara Falls Brights 2-0 in the Cataract City after playing scoreless ties against the Falls in two previous games. Don Metz, clever winger, who trained with Toronto's National League Maple Leafs last autumn, snared both goals in the last period.

Oshawa made certain of second play in the final standing by wallowing the slipping Port Colborne Sailors 7-1 at Oshawa. St. Catharines Chiefs, playing on home ice, leaped into third place by edging out Brantford, 5-3.

Metz's first goal against Niagara stopped the scoreless rivalry between the teams at 182 minutes and 30 seconds. The last previous goal was scored on Dec. 11 in Toronto, of the third period, when Toronto whipped the Falls, 10-2.

Goodyears finished the season with 15 wins and five ties, for a total of 35 points of a possible 40, Oshawa, with two games remaining, are 12 points behind. St. Kitts are in the third slot with 18 points, while Port Colborne and Niagara Falls are tied for the fourth and last playoff spot, each with 17. Brantford, a hopeless last, have won but one game this season.

Monarchs Lose In Lindsay 4-0

Peterborough Monarchs suffered a 4-0 reverse at the hands of the Midgets last night in Lindsay, before a fair-sized crowd of fans. It was the last home scheduled tilt for the strong Scugog squad, who have not dropped a decision so far this season. The Monarchs still have a chance of making the group play-offs.

Lindsay counted a goal in the first period and ganged up throughout the second to ram home three tallies. They were blanked in the last heat. It was a speedy, interesting struggle, clean over most of the route, with the losers having a good share of the play. They made the classy Midgets hustle every minute to earn the win.

One In First.

Jackson scored the only goal of the initial inning, but Betts, Dart and Cook all counted in close on power plays in the second, Cook and Betts each having one assist, also. Eight penalties were passed out, Lindsay drawing five of them. Jackson received an accidental cut under the eye in the third, requiring two stitches, and had to retire from the game.

Morrison turned in a fine effort in the Monarchs' cage, holding off many hot Lindsay thrusts and kicking aside some close-in stabs in every inning. Vitarelli checked his wing closely, while Mortimer flashed some fine offensive work for the losers. Giardino and Rochetta played a steady game. For Lindsay, Cook, Jackson, Brennan, Dart and Betts all were outstanding, and Turner in goal thefted the Monarchs of three or four almost-sure counters.

The teams:

Monarchs — Goal, Morrison; defence, Beggs and Giardino; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Connelly; alternates, DeCarlo, Mackness, Mortimer, Nicholls and Cauley.

Midgets — Goal, Turner; defence, Ferguson and Elliott; centre, Cook; wings, Brennan and English; alternates, Betts, Leahy, Jackson, Dart and Angiers.

The President's Cup games got off to a good start and thanks to the Trinity Club we were able to have six mats going at once in the basement.

We were sorry to see the fighting Mac pass out of the picture. When the Fire Hall Scots beat them two straight. And the last City Decorators kept up their form by squeezing out the Fire Chief and his aides in a good battle—but the surprise of the evening was Trinity Aces beating the league leading Tinkers in two straight, making the second game a whitewash to the tune of 13-0. We are looking for a nice fight when they meet the Fire Hall Scots in the second round.

The other games had to run into three games each with 2-5 and 7 coming out on top. Some one is wondering how the secretary managed to creep into those games and come out on top. Wonders never cease—wait till the next results.

Peterborough Colts copped a 4-3 victory over Bowmanville junior hockeyists in an exhibition contest last night in Whitby. The Colts were short three regulars, Parnell, Foster and Stewart—but picked up Les Clarke to take alone as one replacement. Cournyea found the dim lights in the rink hard to get accustomed to at first, and the big Bowmanville boys rammed in three quick goals on him to put the Colts on the spot. However, Cournyea settled down then and played a brilliant game in the net to blank his rivals the rest of the way.

In the meantime the visitors stepped out and tied it up on counters by Craig, Wade and Williams. The overtime counter to break the deadlock was scored by Berwick. The Colts played a fast, aggressive style of hockey to earn the decision on poor ice. It was a rough game, marked by three fights, with the winners holding their own. Wiseman, main aggressor all evening, finally drew a match penalty from Referee Lott.

Inside Sportin' Dope

by A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, I guess the biggest item of local sport since my last is the seniors, under the leadership of Mister Frank Buckland, has clumb to the top of the loop and a cinch for 1st place by reason of them walloping the Fliers in Belleville Mon. nite 7 and 1. The lads had a lot more trouble plowing through the snowdrifts on the way there and back than they had winning for the once-feared Airmen was nothing formidable in the way of opposition on that occasion anyway.

After the way the Petes performed here last Fri. nite when they looked like they was trying to qualify for places on the C.G.E. broomball team, the reversal of form they showed Mon. was sure refreshing to all and sundry. As it looks now it may be the Belleville Redmen instead of the Air Force outfit in the playoffs and while the Petes has beat the Thomas outfit 3 outa 4 games and looks like they oughta trim them anywhere, anytime, the Belleville crew generally contrives to make our outfit look ragged and crude. Just how it is ain't apparent on the surface but all the Jackson, St. Louis and Company has to do is to skate out there and make a few faces in the general direction of the Petes and rightaway the home talent seem to forget most of their finesse and skill. They aint no reason for it but it works thataway. However if the 2 outfits clash in the playoffs the Buckaroos should come on the bit. After all they got too much class to go down to a hill billy outfit like the Redmen.

The Colts Lose

In the junior circle, Mac, our Colts run into some tough picking in Oshawa the other night, the Motor City gang, last year's juvenile champs with a couple extra Majors thrown in, outscoring them 5 to 0. That aint as bad as it sounds, old timer, because it was pretty even going until the last few minutes and the Colts is more 'n likely to get even with the Oshawans when they visit the Brock next week.

As for the Monarchs, old timer, they win theirselfs their 1st victory of the season here Tues. by beating the Port Hope Ontarios and the kids played some smart hockey against a heavier outfit to cop the win. The battle was featured by the smallness of the crowd and the largeness of the penalty list. There was 2 fights calling for police interference and altogether it was a merry cup of tea throughout. The bad man of the season made his appearance here in that fixture, none other than Mister Edmunds of Millbrook who played on the Port Hope defence and whose idea of stopping a rush was apparently to do it with a knockout. Mister Edmunds collected ½ doz. penalties but at that Mister Sabatino, the eminent Lakefield arbitrator, was looking the other way at least 6 times more when the O.H.A. code was being tossed outa the window.

Nice Shooting, Kid

Our Mister Bill Calladine is doing nicely in the Baltimore area, so nicely indeed that it is reported the Philadelphia Ramblers, the New York Rangers' farm team, want to grab off his services and that he will report to them before the end of the season. It is quite a jump from Poverty Pond, Ashburnham, to Philadelphia but Mister Calladine seems to have made it by way of the St. John's juniors, the Petes intermediate and senior outfits and the Baltimore Orioles. They pay off in goals wherever you play and Mister Calladine knows how to shoot them.

That's about the week's dirt, so cheerio.

Sportfully yours,
A WISE CRACKER

Campbellford H.S. Squad Trounces Norwood By 6-3 Score

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 4. — Norwood High School suffered a setback in the interscholastic schedule last evening at the Norwood arena, when they came out on the short end of a 6-3 score in a lively tussle with the Campbellford High School squad. The game was wide open from start to finish and both goalies had plenty to do all evening. Neither defence was very effective the opposing forwards sifting through them at will.

Both teams as well as the fans were quite peeved with the manner in which Referee Ross Ayrhart of Campbellford handled the game, when he allowed hooking and tripping go on several occasions without a penalty. The visitors were peeved when he disallowed a goal by Donnan in the last frame, although this would have made no difference in the final verdict. Donnan's shot hit the net and bounced out again, and the goal judge failing to stick up his hand, Ayrhart called for a face-off in Norwood territory. The game on the whole however was clean and fast, only three penalties being handed out, all of these to J. Kelly of the visiting squad.

Baker, Norwood netminder and J. M. Kelly of Campbellford both turned in a fine chore in goal. Puffer, Sargent, Petticrew and Gill were among the best for the Norwood team, with Bongard teaming up on the defence with Puffer for his first try at this position doing well, and showing promise of being a valuable addition to the squad before the season ends. Campbellford's first string line of Farrell, Jarvis and J. Kelly were standouts for their team, with Donnan and Rowe also being very effective.

It was not until halfway through the stanza that Campbellford went into the lead on Kelly's goal, Jarvis and Farrell also taking part in the play. Puffer scored in the last minute of the period on a pass from Gill to end the first twenty minutes of play with the score tied 1-1.

Puffer scored his second of the evening early in the second, placing his team ahead for the only time during the game. The lead was short-lived however for Lee once more deadlocked the score, just two minutes later, when he rammed the rubber past Baker in a scramble in front of the net. Jarvis placed the visitors on top once more flipping the puck into the empty net, after Baker had skated out from his cage to make a beautiful stop on Farrell. A play almost a duplicate of the previous, increased the count to 4-2, when Farrell notched another on Kelly's rebound. Playing one man short, with Kelly getting the gate, Campbellford scored their last of this session, Rowe tallying unassisted. Norwood trying hard kept the play in the visitors territory, Gill finally notching one on Puffer's pass.

Donnan, speedy Campbellford defenceman made several brilliant rushes in the final, one goal being disallowed, but came through again with another to end the scoring for the game. The teams:

Campbellford—Goal, J. M. Kelly; defence, Donnan, Lee; centre, Farrell; wings, Jarvis, J. Kelly; alternates, Coughlin, Curle, O'Sullivan, Tinney, Rowe.

Referee—R. Aryhart, Campbellford.

Summary:

First Period

Campbellford—Kelly (Jarvis, Farrell) 8.20
Norwood—Puffer (Gill) 8.30
No penalties.

Second Period

Norwod—Puffer 8.43
Campbellford—Lee 8.45

Norwood—Gill (Puffer) 9.01

Campbellford Drops First Game On Home Ice To Norwood Team

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 4.—Fading for the first time in their march toward the T.V.L. leadership Campbellford dropped an 8 to 5 victory to Norwood before close to eight hundred fans here last night.

As a test of hockey it was alright but for the supporters who were waiting expectantly for the locals to hit their stride in the final episode when the visitors were riding on the top side of a seven to three score it was a big disappointment.

The powerful Brennan-Webb defence line of the visitors was an effective challenge to the combination tactics of the Phillips-Blake-Couch organization which was repeatedly stopped at the blue line.

The affair was packed with excitement and though Referee Skinny Innes shot eleven players to the noosegow all the scoring was done with the teams at full strength. Both teams were awarded a penalty shot, Brennan scoring for Norwood, Blake shooting wide of the net for Campbellford.

Fast Third Period.

Campbellford pressed hard during the final frame and though they swarmed in on the Norwood net time after time even the bullet-like shots of Blake failed to get past. Robinson was taken out of the game for repairs after getting hit above the nose and this made the fans plenty mad, but he was back in the game five minutes later. After Blake missed his chance when the locals were awarded a penalty shot because Beavis held the puck, Ivey picked up Hagerman's relay inside the blue line to stretch out their lead to 8 to 3 with fifteen miutes of the period left.

With the Campbellford forwards seeming at times to be skating aimlessly around it remained for Blake and Phillips to combine on a nice combination play which really clicked, bringing the score to 8-4 at the six minute mark. Blake slipped the puck to Phillips who was right in front of the net.

Summary:

First Period—

Norwood—Hagerman ..... .35
Campbellford—Phillips (Atkinson) 5.45
Campbellford—Free 8.50
Norwood—N. Rogers (Puffer).. 9.50

Peterborough Steps Ahead!

About September next, a new dial telephone system will begin to serve the city of Peterborough. It will entail an outlay—including necessary rebuilding of outside telephone plant—of approximately half a million dollars. It will be concrete evidence of the City's progress—a gesture of confidence in its future.

The public services of a growing, progressive community must be abreast—even in advance—of demand. It is Bell Telephone policy and practice to watch advancing cities and be prepared for growing telephone traffic. Our local facilities, taxed by the continuous growth of Peterborough, will be replaced by the dial system, designed to care for the City's telephone needs for years to come.

This dial installation is an extensive project requiring many months for completion. The work of all departments—architects, engineering, manufacturing, installation, operating—must be so co-ordinated that service proceeds without let-down or interruption. Final conversion from the old to the new is as nearly as possible flawless and instantaneous.

Public co-operation is, of course, vital to the success of such an undertaking. We plan to keep our subscribers informed on the progress of the work, and to make sure that everyone is familiar with the details of dial operation.

NEW RATES BASED ON GREATER SERVICE

Since the present rates for telephone service were fixed twelve years ago, the scope of Peterborough's service has expanded substantially. You may call a thousand more local telephones today than in 1927; daily local calls have increased by over five thousand.

The more telephones there are in a community, the greater the scope and value of the service to each user. The greater, too, the cost of operation per telephone.

The small advance of 25c per month for residence service and 50c on business service, to apply when dial service goes into operation, will be more fully dealt with in later announcements in this paper.

Meanwhile, we invite your interest and co-operation.

Cry Of Hard Times In The East Become Chronic, Champ Says, Western Conditions Much Worse

If the people in Peterborough had a chance to compare conditions in this city with those in Saskatchewan they would begin to think they were well off and would be giving thanks instead of crying hard times, W. W. Champ, manager of the Hotel Champlain, who has just arrived from Regina, said to-day.

Questioned by a reporter as he sat in a local barber shop, Mr. Champ explained he was en route to Niagara Falls as a delegate from Regina to the National Convention of Y.M.C.A., and he said it was amazing the difference in the way the Westerners look at things and the Ontario resident's viewpoint. Mr. Champ is a member of the Saskatchewan Minimum Wage Board and was chairman of the Saskatchewan Voluntary Rural Relief Committee for five years. During that time food and supplies was gathered all over Canada and distributed among the victims in the drought area.

"This cry of hard times has developed to the point where it appears to be a chronic disease. I'll admit times are not as good as we would like to have them, but on the other hand if the people in Ontario had a chance to compare conditions here with those existing in the West, particularly Saskatchewan, they would begin to think they are very well off.

Farmers Carrying On.

He explained that the farmers in Saskatchewan have not had a paying crop in ten years, yet they are carrying on. They are not discouraged but are hopeful as ever that the province will come back. Some people in the West have lived there for thirty years, have made fortunes, then saw successive crop failures wipe out everything they owned. "Even with blows such as that they are not squawking hard times," he declared.

"There is no doubt that I notice it more than anyone else because I have just come from Regina, but I believe any stranger coming from the West into Ontario will hear more talk of depression and hard times in a week thain he will hear in twelve months in the West."

Should Be Thankful.

"The man who is unemployed cannot help but feel somewhat discouraged but the man who is faking a living and eating regularly should be thankful instead of critical."

"Nothing travels faster than bad news and every time some person starts talking about how hard times are, the depression becomes more real. We must take the bitter with the sweet and from what I have seen the people of Ontario who are working should sit down and count their blessings instead of complaining."

"My small business in Peterborough has been so successful I cannot help but feel optimistic. This city is the finest in the province but the people don't know it."

He remarked on the fact that the theatres appear to be well patronized and this week in Toronto hundreds of people were turned away from the mid-week hockey game between Boston and Toronto.

Mr. Champ said it was most peculiar but not unusual to see prominent business men from many towns and cities attending conventions in Toronto where they spent upwards of $300 in a few days, much of it for amusement and luxuries and all the time they are still crying "hard times."

He voiced admiration of the indomitable pioneer spirit being shown by the farmers of Saskatchewan who do not know the meaning of the word quit, and even in their everyday talk do not complain that times are so bad.

Cottontails Active

Gardeners and others have reported that cottontails have already started to work eating the bark from fruit trees and shrubs in city gardens, and one man suggested today it might be wise to organize a rabbit hunt within the city limits rather than go after the jackrabbits. The cottontail is the most difficult perhaps of the three common varities to catch. It dens up in a hole in the ground. The cottontail does not turn white in the witner like the snowshoe rabbit. The tracks in garden and on streets indicate the cottontails are very numerous in the city.

Sawyer Suffers Loss Of Thumb

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 4—When he fell against the revolving blade of a circular saw Friday night, Edward Shaughnessy, laborer, suffered a severed thumb on his right hand. He was taken to Dr. W. N. Campbell's office but was later removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough, for treatment.

The accident was unusual since he received minor injuries to his foot from the saw blad a second before his hand hit the whirling disc. He was employed by Tripp Brothers sawing slabs in Plants' lumber yard. Shaughnessy was standing behind the machine when he slipped on ice. His foot came up and hit the revolving saw, causing minor injuries. In order to gain his balance, he leaned forward and in the confusion, he fell against the saw with his right hand forward, resulting in hand injuries.

$25 Fine Imposed In Gaming Case

On a charge of keeping a common gaming house at 337 George street, Edward Alberico was fined $25 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. He was given two weeks time to raise the money and in default of payment will be given twenty days in jail.

Five other men, who pleaded guilty to being "found in" were each fined $10 and $2.25 costs, and in three other cases adjournments were granted. One of the last three told the magistrate that if he could get time to pay his fine he would plead guilty.

"You want to make terms with the court, do you?" asked the Magistrate.

The accused was given a week in which to secure the money to pay his fine.

Call For Aid

MENOMINEE, Mich., Feb. 4—(CP).—Commercial fishermen here who lost $50,000 worth of nets when ice from the bay here drifted out into Lake Michigan will ask federal aid in replacing them. About 250 fishermen had their entire working equipment wiped out by the sudden blow.

"The government help the farmer," fishermen declared. "Why shouldn't the government help us? We will have to go on relief unless we get aid."

Canadian Volunteers Enroute Home From Spain

Just prior to leaving France on their way back to Canada, this group of Canadian volunteers who fought for Loyalist Spain were pictured as they registered at Cerbere, France, after they crossed the French border from Spain. The Canadians were ordered out of war-torn Spain after the fall of Barcelona. Major E. Cecil-Smith, leader of the volunteers, is shown third from the LEFT, wearing glasses.

Death Strikes Campbellford Family Twice In Week

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 4. — The pasing of Henry Twigg marked the second time death had struck a member of one of this town's most respected families in little more than a week.

Coming to Canada nearly sixty-four years ago from Scotland Mr. Twigg was a descendant of a family which for generations had been engaged in the weaving and dyeing industry. He himself first entered the trade as a boy in Scotland and first found employment in Canada at Sherbrooke, P.Q. Following his marriage to Susan Ringrose in Almonte, Ontario, fifty-nine years ago the family later moved to this town where they have resided for the past forty years.

Mr. Twigg, who was in his eightieth year, had been in failing health for the past two years, and his condition was thought to have been aggravted by a fall he sustained while working in his garden during the past summer. He had been confined to bed about two weeks and was unable to attend the funeral of his grandson, Walter Twigg, Jr., who was buried here little more than a week ago. His death occurred at the family residence, Booth Street, early on Friday morning, and the funeral will be held from there on Sunday at 1.30 p.m., the Rev. Harold B. Neal of St. John's United Church officiating.

Surviving him besides his grieving widow are five sons, Harry of Trenton, Steven of Campbellford, Walter and Jack, both of Toronto, and Harold of Campbellford; and three daughters, Mrs. Henry Mitchell, of Wooler, Mrs. W. G. Graham and Mrs. Edward C. Coth, both of Toronto.

The pall-bearers will be the deceased's five sons, Harry, Steven, Walter, Jack and Harold, and W. G. Graham of Toronto. Interment will be in Burnbrae Cemetery.

A Fine Building

Bouquets by the dozen are being tossed to the architects and engineers responsible for the construction of the new Bell Telephone building here. A thoroughly modern building in every respect, it stands out among Peterborough's structures. One unique feature is a roof that slopes to the centre, allowing water to flow to a central drain —the reverse of older types of architecture.

Lumber Company Given Judgment

Judge Sheldon Smoke has handed down judgment in a county court action between the Scott Coal and Lumber Company and Joseph J. Robertson, awarding $502.83 of a claimed $795.35 to the plaintiff, the lumber company.

Scott Coal and Lumber Company was represetned by Jacob Low, while T. J. Carley, K.C., was for the defendant.

During four years ending in 1938 Mr. Robertson was engaged in trucking lumber, timber, wood and other material for the company. Throughout this period the plaintiff, under arrangement with the defendant, paid certain of his accounts and made certain payments to the defendant. The total amount of all such payments charged by the company to Mr. Robertson was $10,108.20.

The total amount of credits the company had given Mr. Robertson for his services was $9,464.59. The plaintiff sought to recover the balance with interest, while the defendant denied owing anything, claiming certain deductions from the amount charged against him, and that the credits allowed were not sufficient for the work done.

In his judgment, after awarding Mr. Robertson a few of his claims, Judge Smoke reported, 'The defendant appears to find fault with practically the whole of the credits which he has been allowed. With few exceptions, however, I am unable to determine that the credits allowed are not in accordance with the general prices prevailing for similar work done by other truckers in the vicinity."

Chief items not allowed were claims for more than $100 interest, and insurance on the truck involved.

"The account was an open account and I would allow no interest. There will accordingly be judgment for the plaintiff against the defendant of the sum of $502.82, together with the costs of this action, other than such costs as may have been occasioned by reason of the adding of additional plaintiff's claims, to which I make no order."

SKATING AT PARK LIKELY

Skating will probably be permited on the Jackson Park rink on Sunday afternoon, officials of the Winter Sports committee said today. The ice is beginning to stiffen about the edges and should be ready for use tomorrow. But no skating will be permitted this afternoon or this evening, they said.

Doing Good Job

Many people have remarked on the fine work the large road grader is doing in clearing the snow from the city streets. Between Parkhill road and Brook street on Water the grader not only cleaned the road but the operator swept in close to the edge and cleaned sidewalks on both sides of the street. Removal of wooden poles a short time ago makes this possible.

Indian Discovered Starved To Death

ST. Felicien, Que., Feb. 4 — (CP). —A short wave radio set at this Lake St. John district town brought news yesterday of a 55-year-old Indian's death from hunger and privation in the isolated region of Lac Presque Ile, 50 miles north of Lac Chibougamau.

A message received from the Chiboufamau Consolidated Gold Field mining camp said the Indian, Dave Dizon, was found in his cabin yesterday by a trapper, who reported the victim's married son, daughter-in-law and the younger Dizon's children also were suffering from lack of food and exposure.

Both survvors were reported in a state of extreme weakness and camp officials said preparations were being made to send food, clothing and medicine to the cabin.

Dream Of Making Jackson Park Great Recreation Centre Is Coming True For E. H. D. Hall

The gradual transformation of Jackson Park into a winter sports centre is a dream of long ago coming true for E. H. D. Hall, 88-year-old lawyer in this city, and chairman of the Nicholls Park Commission.

The parks in this city that were originally the gift of the late Mrs. Nicholls, would probably never have been known had it not been for Mr. Hall. When Mrs. Nicholls was drawing up her will, leaving moneys for various benevolent purposes, it was after his suggestion that she included funds for purchase of suitable land. It would perhaps be accurate to say that had it not been for his suggestion, she would never have left such funds. When he did suggest it, the plan found immediate favor with Mrs. Nicholls.

But Jackson Park did not come into existence as easily as that. Mr. Hall had a great deal of convincing before his associate members of the commission agreed to its purchase. One of them favored a park that could be used for baseball, the other wanted a park that would have great expanses of carefully tended green grass, and neither of them wanted such a wooded place as Jackson Park.

Wanted That Park.

Mr. Hall had played in what is now that park when he was a youngster, and he loved every inch of its hilly land and sparkling water. Indeed, when he mentioned the matter of parks to Mrs. Nicholls, it had been this particular site about which he had been thinking.

Finally he prevailed upon the other members to visit the site for themselves, and once he had them there, he was able to convince them of its possibilities.

So the park came into existence—although actually its proper name is not Jackson Park, but West Nicholls Park. The name Jackson Park became used in some vague way because Mrs. Nicholls' nephew, Andrew Jackson, was a resident of the city and members of the commission wanted to interest him in sports, so placed a nickname in his honor on the grounds. But its legal name is still West Nicholls Park.

For many years it was a matter of great concern to Mr. Hall that the park was not used more extensively, and particularly for winter sports. He saw it lying practically idle the year around, and he was deeply disappointed, for he realized what a great recreation centre it could be.

The commission did not have funds with which to go ahead and the action of the Winter Sports Committee in promoting its use, receives his hearty praise. At last, he feels, Jackson Park—for the name is bound to stick—is on the verge of coming into its own.

Once Had Sawmill.

Mr. Hall remembers when a sawmill was standing at the edge of the creek near the ornamental bridge in the park. What is now the skating rink was once a mill pond, and a great deal more water flowed through then than now. Draining of the Cavan swamp has greatly lessened the flow of water. Waste gates were once necessary to let the overflow pass through the pond, and below them was a near perfect swimming hole that was a favorite spot for the young lads of Peterborough a half a century and more ago.

The pond was never used as a skating rink before, despite the fact that the surrounding hills and trees completely shelter it from the wind. The first open-air rink in Peterborough, Mr. Hall recalled, was situated where the McDonald Lumber Company now stands. That was 75 or 80 years ago, and a self-appointed committee sold badges to citizens to raise money to keep it clear of snow and to flood it. Times have not changed, it becomes apparent, when one remembers that the Winter Sports Committee is taking exactly the same steps to-day to care for the Jackson Park rink.

The first covered rink in the city was erected on Hunter Street some 65 or 70 years ago on about the same spot where Coughlin's monument works now stand. It was a good sized building, which Mr. Hall remembers as having been about the size of the present Brock Street Arena. He could not recall when it disappeared nor what happened to it, but it has been gone a long time.

The Rambling REPORTERS

THANK YOU.

The moral in this story is that if you see a motorist stuck in a snowdrift, leave him there. This morning a north-end resident was walking south on Water street when he noticed a car stalled in a pile of snow in the centre of the road thrown up by the road grader. The driver shouted at the passerby for a shove. The man willingly went to the assistance of the motorist and after much strenuous pushing the car was freed. During the battle, however the spinning rear wheels of the car covered the man who was pushing the car from head to foot with fine snow, even to filling his overshoes, and as the car broke free the motorist stepped on the gas and sped down the road without even offering thanks, a wave of the hand, or a ride to the assistant who was left to celan off his clothes.—McG.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time, though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds, belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyre, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning.

Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER TWENTY

CHIEF ELLIS grinned when Richard referred to him as a jackass. "Suppose," he suggested gently, "suppose you tell me what you know."

"Richard doesn't know a thing," Daphne cried. "He wasn't in the house this morning."

"No? And where was he?"

"I was in town," Richard informed him savagely, "and what I was doing is none of your business!"

"Richard is excited," his sister put in quickly. "He was doing some errands for me — at the drug store!"

"That right, son?"

"Yes," the boy admitted sullenly, "that's right."

"All right. We can check on that." Ellis waved him aside. "Now, Miss Witherspoon, you haven't told me where you went after leaving the salon."

"I went to Miss Westcott's room. I helped her pack."

"Pack?"

"She is leaving on the evening train."

"Oh, no, she isn't!" Ellis contradicted her. "No one leaves this house until I give the word."

"But, officer!" Glad Westcott protested this order. She rolled her big eyes in his direction. "I've simply got to catch the evening train. My mother's expecting me."

"Sorry." He refused to be vamped. "No one can leave. Where were you this morning when you weren't packing?"

She pouted, reproachfully: "I was in bed, officer," she drawled. "I never get up before ten o'clock."

"Did anyone see you there?"

"Why, officer!"

Chief Ellis' neck turned fiery red.

"One up for Georgia," whispered Phil, and I giggled, but sickly.

"Quiet, please!" Ellis glared at us. "Now you, Miss—" he signaled Della Craig. "What have you to say?"

The actress regarded him coldly. "Nothing whatsoever." She had evidently made up her mind not to forgive his earlier lapse.

"You were a friend of the deceased?"

"Naturally."

"She invited you here?"

"The family invited me."

"I see. You are Della Craig, the actress, are you not?"

"I am."

"And where were you this morning?"

"In my boudoir."

"So?" He regarded her suspiciously. "What were you doing there?"

"I was writing letters."

"Alone?"

Della's glance would have frozen an Eskimo. "Quite!"

"All right." His eyes rested upon Toots Lemoine, and that young woman twisted and untwisted her jeweled fingers in her lap.

"Miss Lemoine?" He consulted a scrap of paper in his hand.

"That's me," affirmed Toots, and crossed her legs so that her silken shafts were revealed above her knee.

"You are a guest here?"

"Yeah."

"A friend of the deceased?"

"Not exactly." She cocked her head to one side and exploded her bombshell. "I'm engaged to Richard Witherspoon!"

"No!" cried Daphne involuntarily, "No!"

"Say!" Toots forgot her role of lady and reverted to type. "Are you calling me a liar? Ask him! Ask your darling little brother! Go on, ask him!" She glared at Richard. The boy's eyes were glued to her face. Once at a street carnival I saw a snake the glazed eyes of which watched those of the Egyptian snake charmer who owned him as Richard's watched Toots. He was as if mesmerized: he bobbed his head jerkily at her command.

"It's true," he said, and he sounded as helpless as a man can sound. "We're engaged."

"Oh, Dickie!" Beneath her rouge Glad Westcott paled. "How could you?"

"I'm sorry, Glad."

"Sorry, eh?" Toots said shrilly. "Sorry for what? You asked me to marry you, didn't you? Didn't you?"

"No wrangling, please." Ellis stepped in and took over the reins. "Did Mrs. Witherspoon approve of your engagement, Miss Lemoine?"

"She—she didn't know."

"Secret, eh?"

"No, it wasn't!" Toots denied quickly. "We just made up our mind this morning."

"While Richard was in town?" Ellis demanded shrewdly.

"Never you mind when!" Toots was losing her temper.

"Well," he changed the subject, "maybe you can tell me where you were between eleven and eleven-fifteen this morning?"

"I was in bed," snapped Toots, and this time the chief let well enough alone.

It was Count Orsini's turn next. He answered promptly — too promptly, in my opinion—the questions put to him. He was, he explained smoothly, a guest in the house at the invitation of his fiancee, Miss Daphne Witherspoon. He had met Miss Daphne in Paris the winter before through mutual friends. Ellis got nothing from him save the fact he had spent the morning in his room, and had been seen there as late as eleven o'clock by the maid who entered to change his bed.

"I'll get to the servants later," promised the chief, and then turned to Jeffrey Todington. "Are you also engaged to one of the ladies present?" he inquired sarcastically.

"I am not." Jeffrey's face flushed, and I guessed he was trying to remain cool and collected and refrain from punching the chief of police on the nose.

It turned out that Jeffrey was a house guest at the Manor at Mr. Richard's invitation. Mr. Richard and he were fraternity brothers and Jeffrey was a family friend of long standing. There was no mention made of his relations or former relations with Daphne, but, then I guess a man naturally does not boast of being jilted by the girl he loves. And Jeffrey was in love with Daphne. Any fool could tell that by the way he looked at her.

"And where did you spend the morning?"

"I was in the aboretum, and as far as I know no one saw me there."

"Communing with nature, eh?" Ellis was losing his temper.

"That's my business!" Jeffrey's coolness threatened to rise to fever pitch.

"And mine," added the chief soberly. "Everything connected with this household is my business—now!" And at his words I had another shivering spell.

What secrets would this policeman unearth before he had finished with us? What skeletons would he drag forth from dark closets? I stole a quick glance about the room. Others, evidently, shared my fear and wonder.

DOROTHY DIX

The Old Adage About Distance And Enchantment Is Particularly True In The Case Of In-Laws—They Should Never Live Together If This Can Possibly Be Avoided

DEAR MISS DIX—I used to think that you were unjust when you opposed mothers going to live with their married children, but now I know that you are right and that in-laws should not live together if it can possibly be helped. Recently unforeseen circumstances made it necessary for me to go to live with my son and his wife. Having been in business and accustomed to getting along with people, and also being exceedingly fond of this daughter-in-law and having put her on a pedestal, I felt that I was well adapted to take care of the situation. But in spite of all of my preparedness, an intangible unpleasantness crept in and I was greatly relieved when I could eave and go back to living by myself. To be frank, I think I got to know my daughter-in-law too well. I began to see little faults that I had never perceived before; her small peculiarities began to get on my nerves, and no doubt she felt the same way toward me. Now that we are parted, I am beginning to forget her little faults, but we will never quite feel the same way toward each other again. So my advice to all mothers is to keep out of their children's homes except for a visit, and then to make it snappy. A MOTHER-IN-LAW.

ANSWER:

When the lion and the lamb shall lie down together, doubtless in-laws will be able to live together in peace and harmony, but in the meantime their disastrous attempts to do so fill the world with woe.

Statistics show that a mother-in-law in the house causes more divorces than drink, or infidelity, or temper, or any of the major vices. This is not because Mother-in-law is an evil old woman bent on breaking up her children's homes, but because Mother, having nothing else to do, spends her time in picking flaws in her in-laws and calling her son's and daughter's attention to what poor creatures they have married.

Unfortunately, none of us are perfect. We don't bear close inspection. It takes distance to give the proper perspective on our virtues and blur our faults and weaknesses. Those who see us occasionally perceive only our charms. Those with whom we live, day after day, get so that they see only our blemishes.

And that is why in-laws should never live together if it can possibly be avoided, because their happiness depends upon their liking and admiring each other and not knowing each other too well.

Nothing is more true than the old saying that what we don't know doesn't worry us. And it is far better that Mother should not know that Mary peels her potatoes too thick and wastes John's money, or that Susie henpecks Tom, or that Sally isn't raising the baby according to Mother's recipe. For that leaves Mother free to think what charming women her sons have married, and for the daughters-in-law to be able to think of Mother-in-law as an interesting old lady whose visits they enjoy and not as a fault-find old busy-body who is always interfering in their housekeeping. Distance lends enchantment, especially to in-laws.

DEAR MISS DIX—My best friend has been engaged for three years and she and her fiance have bought many things for the home they have planned. But suddenly the young man has met a girl with whom he has fallen head over heels in love. He tells my friend that he no longer cares for her and wants to break off the engagement, and says that if he marries her now it is only because he thinks it is the honorable thing to do. But she has made such scenes about it that he keeps seeing her, though he also sees the other girl. What should she do? A FRIEND.

ANSWER:

There isn't but one thing for your friend to do if she has any sense of decency, or any regard for her future happiness, and that is to let the young man go.

No woman in the world could possibly wish more misery on herself than to drag an unwilling bridegroom to the altar. It is bad enough for a girl to hold a man to an engagement when by his indifference and coldness and loathness to marry she knows that he is tired of her and has lost his taste for her. But she can always befool herself into believing that, somehow, after they are married she can reawaken love in him.

But when she knows that he loves another woman there is no possible chance of her ever winning him back again. He will not only not love her, but he will hate her because she has kept him from marrying the woman who was his heart's desire and stands between him and happiness. He will never look at her without hating her, or speak to her without cursing her in his heart.

No man can be a good husband if he feels that he is the victim of a selfish woman who has married him against his will. And how any woman with a shred of self-respect can want to put herself in the position of an unwanted wife is past comprehension.

I think that if a man finds that he is mistaken in his feelings toward a girl and that what he thought was love is mere liking—and particularly if he falls really in love with another girl—he has a perfect right to break the engagement himself; that it is a false sense of honor that makes him feel that he is bound to marry the first girl. He saves both her and himself a lifetime of misery by doing it.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of 20. I have got tired of looking for my Prince Charming who doesn't come along and have practically decided to marry a man whom I know will make me a good husband, but with whom I am not in love. Don't you think I am sensible? C.C.

ANSWER:

Well, if I were only 20, I think I would sit on the watch-tower a little longer with my eye glued to the horizon. Twenty is mighty young to give up looking for love and taking what you can get in a husband instead of what you desire. And the trouble is that Prince Charming is so likely to ride down your street after you are tied down with a husband and a couple of children.

London, Feb. 4 (CP-Havas)

IN A SIGNED ARTICLE in his newspaper, the Daily Express (Independent), Lord Beaverbrook today called on the government to develop the colonies for the benefit of the empire.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

All the mails in the tool-box were talking at the top of their voices. You and I couldn't have heard them. But Knarf and Hanid, the shadows of the children, heard them very well.

They drew close to the tool-box and listened.

"Our greatest enemy is the hammer!" one of the nails cried. At this all the other nails agreed.

"He hits us," said one.

"He bangs us on the head with all his might," said another.

"He drives us into walls, and into boards and into the shingles of the roof."

All Agreed.

"No one hates us worse than the hammer," they all said again. "Whenever he sees us he does something we don't like."

"And even after he drives us into a board or something, he often changes his mind. Then he yanks us out again. And if we come out bent, he bangs us on a piece of stone or iron until we're straight again."

"We must do something about this terrible hammer," said all the nails. "We must drive him out of the house."

At that moment a little voice spoke up. It was the voice of a tiny carpet tack. "I don't mean much to you big nails," it said. "I'm just a little tack. The hammer hits me, too. But I don't mind so much."

"You don't!"

Aha—True!

"No," said the tack. "I know that if it weren't for the hammer I'd be no use at all. Nails and tacks are no good without the hammer."

"That's silly!" the nails cried angrily. "We're good just as we are. We're straight and shiny. We have sharp points and large round heads. We're beautiful to look at."

"But we can't get into boards or walls or anything unless the hammer drives you there. And neither can I get into the edge of the carpet to hold it down unless the hammer hits me. And if it weren't for the hammer, we'd be thrown away. So you see," concluded the little tack, "the hammer is really our friend after all, and not our enemy."

And Knarf and Hanid looked at each other and smiled. They knew the little tack was right. But the nails just kept on grumbling. I'm afraid they haven't changed their minds a bit.

Detroit To Tow Off Cars In Plow's Path

DETROIT, Feb. 4—(CP).—Detroit public works department officials said snow removal costs would be cut in half through action of the city council in permitting them to tow away all cars parked on streets where snow clearance is under way. Snow removal in this week's storm cost $125,000 here and they estimated the cost could have been cut by $62,500 if hundreds of cars had not been parked along the arterial highways.

"We could have cleared one route in six hours instead of 48 hours if we had not had to contend with parked cars," said works commissioner Beyster.

"Every time a plow has to go around a car it wastes from seven to 10 minutes and leaves 50 feet of curbing uncleared.

"It certainly is wrong that a few persons who park their cars on main highways can cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars, delay traffic and possibly cause accidents.

Over 900 People Attend Party By Conservatives

It was a gala night for Conservatives from Peterborough and the surrounding district Friday evening when they gathered well over nine hundred strong to be guests of the Peterborough County Conservative Association at a dance in the Legion Hall. Happy couples swung out to the music of Mose Yokom's orchestras in a program which included round dancing, square dancing, and the still popular Lambeth Walk.

J. Ford. Strickland, K.C., welcomed the guests, and presented dance and bridge prizes. Euchre and bridge tables were in play upstairs, where prizes were won by Mrs. G. Pakenham, 737 Weller street; Mr. Ira Dunford, Burleigh Falls; Mrs. Fisher and R. J. Miller.

Gordon K. Fraser, president of the Association, was a genial host, and presented Senator Iva Campbell Fallis to an enthusiastic audience. Although it was impossible to quiet the crowd which thronged every available inch of floor space on the dance floor long enough for Senator Fallis to be heard, the audience upstairs received her royally, and listenend with great interest to a brief address in which she reviewed the many changes which had taken place since she spoke to a smillar gathering of Conservatives a year ago.

Since that time the two most important changes, Senator Fallis said, were the appointment of Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion as successor to the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, and Col. George Drew as leader of the Conservative party. "I would like to emphasize to you," she remarked, "that in the choice of these two leaders we have two men of whom we might well be proud. Both have served their country royally; both have great ability and great personal charm, and both bring to their new positions a health and vigor which will mean a great deal in shouldering the responsibilities of public life."

I don't suppose that political meetings and prayer are associated in people's minds very often. Senator Fallis said, but tonight as I looked over this crowd of happy young people I thought we might well offer our heartfelt thanks that we live today in a country where we can sing and dance and be merry; where we have freedom of thought and freedom of speech without shuddering about what the consequences may be. Is it asking too much of people, especially the young people, she questioned, that they take a little more interest in helping to keep this freedom intact? We need to be on guard even in Canada if we are to remain certain that "it can't happen here."

Mr. Strickland also spoke briefly, and in his remarks advocated Col Drew's policy with regard to provincial dealings with national matters, stating that the discord and lack of co-operation between the provinces and the Dominion government was the greatest and most serious problem in Canada today.

Appreciation to those who had contributed towards the success of the evening, particularly to the women of the Ladies' Liberal-Conservative Association, was expressed by Mr. Fraser. Coffee was served upstairs at the card tables under the direction of a number ladies from the Women's Liberal-Conservative Association.

Mary Pirie Is Saturday Bride

The home of the bride's parents at 547 Romaine street was the scene of a charming wedding ceremony this afternoon at two o'clock when Miss Mary Lillian Pirie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pirie, became the bride of Mr. Cecil Harvey, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harvey of Harwood. The ceremony was performed under a bridal arch of roses and ferns centred with a white wedding bell by Rev. M. C. Parr. Mrs. J. Fowlie played the weding music, and during the signing of the register Mrs. James Howard sang "Because."

The bride entered the large drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. She wore a graceful gown of white satin that flowed into a long train at the back. It was fashioned on form fitting lines, buttoning at the back with tiny, satin-covered buttons, and tight-fitting sleeves formed into a point at the wrists. Her veil of embroidered net reached to the hem of the gown, and was held in cap effect by orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of Bettertime roses, calla lilies, and white heather brought over from the hills of Aberdeen, Scotland, by the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. Husband, who recently returned from a trip to the British Isles.

Mr. William Harvey was his brother's groosman, and Mr. Glen Hogg of Harwood was usher.

A reception was held after the ceremony, and the bride's mother received in a gown of royal blue chiffon velvet with matching turban, and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a navy ensemble with Johanna Hill roses corsage.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque; to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet with cameo setting; to the soloist and organist white necklaces, and to the best man and usher leather billfolds.

Later Mr. Harvey and his bride left by motor for Sudbury, the bride travelling in a blue crepe frock trimmed with garent seal coat with Bombay lamb collar, matching seal cap, and grey accessories. On their return to the city they will live at 516 Charlotte street.

Fine Foods Are Often Finer When Spices Are Added

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

WE ARE happy to hear that so many women received for presents those delightful boxes containing herbs or spices. We hope that they will use them to give a zip, a zestful tang to their cooking. The continental cooks are past masters in the art of spicing their dishes. So let us, with the fine foods that we have at our command, add just that suggestio nof flavor to make a good dish superlative. The good cook never lets one herb, spice on condiment predominate in flavor. The palate is just pleasantly aware of an extra richness, an extra flavor. Today we prints some hints on the use of these adjuncts to fine cooking and we hope that the housewife won't regard spices or herbs as something exotic, but as regular kitchen company.

Beef stew takes on a banquet flavor when cooked with a small quantity of pickling spices. Boiled potatoes will make the dieter forget calories if the spuds are cooked in salted water with two bay leaves, then rolled in a mixture of melted butter and paprika. Clam chowder needs thyme, a bay leaf and caraway seeds as much as it needs clams. Boiled eggs are improved by the addition of celery salt and paprika.

Add Chili Powder.

Canned corn heats up to a fine tastiness with one-eighth teaspoon chili powder, salt, pepper and a lump of butter. Cole slaw becomes extra delicious when made with French dressing and the addition of celery seeds. Lamb, either roast or stewed, is improved by a teaspoon of dried majoram. Pot roast is always good but better with the addition of six ginge snaps dissolved in the gravy for thickening and flavor. Or, just rub a little ground ginger on the meat at the time you dredge it with flour.

Pound cake is more fragrant and more delicious when one-half teaspoon of mace is added to the dough. Tomato jutice tastes like more when a pinch of powdered majoram is added. Scalloped eggplant with a suggestion of sage is excellent. To scallop, mix two cups stewed egg plant, pulp, one-half cup tomato pulp, one tablespoon minced onion, salt, pepper, sage. Spread with buttered bread crumbs and bake until heated through.

Like It This Way.

Those who insist that they don't like spinach, won't eat it at any price, can be made to eat their words when they sniff the vegetable cooking this way: Use canned or fresh spinach. Drain off juice. Chop fine. Make a brown sauce by browning two level tablespoons flour in one tablespoon butter, then thinning out with one-quarter cup of the juice. Stir chopped spinach in sauce; season with sale, pepper and a dash of nutmeg. When cooking succotash, add a few grains of nutmeg. Do right by sweet potatoes by mashing and blending them with cinnamon. Garnish with paprika.

When using whipped cream to top pie sand puddings, whip in one-half teaspoon cinnamon and two teaspoons powdered sugar. Add a small stick of cinnamon while stewing prunes are simmering and several thin slices of lemon. Good for breakfast and for prune whip.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.
It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments till dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.
Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really superior cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.
This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.
Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

You
WORRY → POOR APPETITE → INDIGESTION → WEAK BLOOD → NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

CAN BREAK THIS VICIOUS CIRCLE WITH Dr. Chase's Nerve Food
The mad whirl of this vicious circle usually begins with worry and leads on to the loss of appetite, indigestion, anaemia or weak blood and nervous exhaustion. Then worry increases, appetite and digestion are further impaired, nutrition for the blood and nerves is lacking and the nerves are further starved and weakened.
You can break this vicious circle by the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because it supplies the mineral substances and the all important vitamin B1 which is lacking when this nervous condition is developed.
Vitamin B1 supplies in condensed form what is lacking in the body when nervous symptoms develop. This vitamin helps to restore the appetite, to improve digestion and to break this vicious circle which is holding you down and will likely continue to hold you down until you take definite action to secure the restoration of the nervous system.
Unless your will power has been undermined by nervous exhaustion you can make up your mind to employ this food treatment regularly as a means of bringing back health and vitality and happiness. Why procrastinate when you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Be up-to-date in your medical treatment and benefit by the latest discoveries of science combined with the time-proven value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
MAKE THIS 3 DAY TEST
Trial box, 3 day's treatment of the new Nerve Food, containing Vitamin B1 will be sent free. Address The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Oakville, Canada.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

If scoring an 8-end is a curler's dream, then Howard Clegg last night just about fulfilled that idea when in the eighth end of his game with Tommy Holyman, he scored a great big seven to make the game all square with two ends to go. — We don't know how Tommy felt when he fired his last stone and missed rings, stones and all, but they say Tommy's knees are badly bruised this morning.—It has been many a long day since a seven-end has been made at our curling rink, and just for the moment we don't remember when the last one was scored. — However, seven-end and all was not quite enough to pull the game out of the fire.

A number of mixed rinks are playing this afternoon and evening in Bobcaygeon for the "Harkness" Trophy.

Albions Trounce Trent River 2-1

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 4—The Havelock Albions advanced another step towards a spot in the East Peterborough Rural League playoffs, when they handed the Trent River squad a 2-1 defeat at the Havelock rink last evening. The teams were well matched and a close tussle ensued, with Havelock getting the breaks, backed up by another good goal-tending chore by Doug. Hill.

There was no scoring in the first period, a good exhibition of clean, fast hockey being given, but few scoring chances. F. Ellis put the Albions out in front early in the second frame, and notched their second and last of the game in the third stanza, with E. Ellis assisting. Scoreless, so far, Trent River tried hard to even things up, but one goal was their best. Jim Brown tallying this in the dying minutes of the period, with Jamieson also taking part in the play.

The Albion forward line, composed of E. Ellis, F. Ellis and H. Gordon, along with Hamilton and goalie Hill, were most effective for the locals, while Runions, Jamieson, Parcels and J. Brown went best for the visitors.

The teams:

Havelock: Goal, Hill; defence, Hamilton, E. Gordon; centre, H. Gordon; wings, F. Ellis, E. Ellis; alternates, Lade, Varty, Williams, Pollock, Griffith.

Trent River: Goal, Runions; defence, Elliott, A. Brown; centre, Parcels; wings, F. McLaughlin, J. Brown; alternates, W. McLaughlin, E. Vanvolkenburg, Jamieson, Chaplin, Ketchen, White.

Referee, J. Hooper, Havelock.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

FOILING AN END PLAY

KEEN CARDSMEN CAN sometimes see, as soon as the dummy goes down, that the declarer can squeeze them later on or catch them in a lead-throwing end play, unless radical measures are taken at the outset to prevent it. Even if the trick scored by such a procedure does not mean the difference between making and defeating the contract, it can be vitally important in tournament play, perhaps the difference between top and bottom on the deal.

East opened here with 1-Heart, South doubled, North bid 2-Diamonds, South a rather fancy and daring 2-No trump and North 3-No trump. South felt this was probably sound, since whatever his partner held outside of diamonds was almost sure to be in spades, in view of East's heart bid and his own club holding.

When West opened the heart 6, East felt that his own failure to double the contract necessitated his setting it at least two tricks in order to get anything but a bad score. He could count on getting either two or three tricks in hearts, one in diamonds and probably one in clubs, which would likely be the trick with which he would be thrown into the lead and would have to lead into the spade tenace. So he strained to get his partner into the lead.

South let East hold the first trick with the heart J. East then led the Q, which South had to win or else later lose his K. He led the diamond K to East, who then made his sortie, a lead of the heart 2, hoping West had led from the 10-6-5. West won with the 10 and led the spade 5 to the Q and K. East now cashed the heart A and returned a spade to the A. Declarer took three diamonds and two clubs, then lost a club at the end, going down two instead of only one.

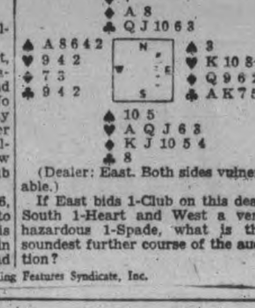
Monday's Problem



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

If East bids 1-Club on this deal, South 1-Heart and West a very hazardous 1-Spade, what is the soundest further course of the auction?

U.F.A. Launched On New Plan To Aid Farmers

EDMONTON, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Vital in affairs provincially and federally since its birth, the United Farmers of Alberta is launched into a transition period with politics cut from its program.

The 31-year-old agrarian organization that provided the voting power behind the Alberta government for 14 years from 1921 to 1935 and sent as many as 10 members at once to the House of Commons during the same period is striking out anew to build up consumer co-operatives and hit a new economic stride.

Without changing from the leadership of Robert Gardiner and Norman F. Priestley, president and vice-president respectively since 1931, the U.F.A. convention at Calgary voted to end 20 years of direct political activity and bring a higher standard of living and greater security to farm people.

Pioneer Organizations

Two pioneer farm organizations—the Canadian Society of Equity and the Alberta Farmers' Association—merged in Edmonton in 1909 to form the U.F.A. Ten years later on Jan. 19, 1919, the organization voted itself into direct political action. And 20 years later, on Jan. 19, 1939, it stepped out of the political field.

Decision of the 1919 convention to take direct political action culminated two years later in formation of the first farmers' government in Alberta. In the same year the U.F.A. sent its first group of members to parliament to speak for agrarians. Most elected members are still active in affairs of the organization.

Herbert Greenfield, now prominent in the oil industry in Calgary, was called to form the first government. He was succeeded in the premiership by J. E. Brownlee, Edmonton lawyer who gave the major address on debt to the Calgary convention. Third and last U.F.A. premier was R. G. Reid, now member of the Alberta Provisional Unity Council seeking unity in politics against Social Credit.

Lead Party in Commons

President Gardiner held the leadership of the U.F.A. party in the House of Commons from 1921 to 1935. He succeeded to the presidency in 1931 when 82-year-old Henry Wise Wood, recognized as father of the agrarian movement in Alberta, retired from the field. The Missouri-born doyen now lives on his farm at Carstairs, 35 miles north of Calgary.

Voice of the farmers and driving force behind the organization, Mr. Wood came to Alberta in 1905. He became president of the U.F.A. in 1916, always preaching economic action. He refused the premiership in 1921. He fathered the Alberta Wheat Pool and became its chairman when it was formed in 1923. He retired from the post in 1937. He was made a commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George in 1935.

The U.F.A. was one of the foundation units of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in 1932. E. J. Garland, U.F.A. member of parliament for Bow River from 1921 to 1935, is now national organizer for the C.C.F. At its 1938 convention, the U.F.A. voted to continue affiliation with the C.C.F. in the federal field but remain autonomous in provincial politics

Defeat in the government arena overtook the organization in 1935. Forming the government in Alberta in the year every U.F.A. member of the legislature met defeat. In the same year in federal elections, the U.F.A. members of the House of Commons were all defeated. The two elections left the U.F.A. without any elected representatives.

During its tenure of office the U.F.A. government in Alberta urged the Dominion government to set up a national wheat board, a national board to handle other products of agriculture, machinery to reduce private debts now provided in the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, national control of currency and credit through a publicly owned central bank, refunding of public debt at lower interest rates and reduction of all interest rates.

Debt Adjustment

It claimed that the first deb adjustment legislation passed in 1922, instituted an income tax with higher rates on larger incomes adopted regulations to protect the public from fraudulent stock selling practices and claimed the most advanced program of public health which included district health units, travelling clinics, district nurses and public health education.

It claimed that the first debt and standard of eductaional efficiency by provision of a system of equalization grants for weak rural districts and contended its contribution to economic security by old age pensions, mothers' allowances and agricultural and unemployment relief were the highest in Canada.

U.F.A. supporters also point to establishment of the superannuation scheme for civil servants, extension of highways and market roads, fostering of agriculture in use of pure seed, etc., provision for consolidation of arrears of taxes over a period of years, government guarantee of co-operative enterprises such as the wheat pool and dairy pools and high administrative efficiency.

When it bowed out of politics, the organization pledged itself to promote and co-ordinate farmers' co-operative and commercial activities, urge crop-insurance and national marketing legislation and seek solution of such problems as high interest rates, rural housing, adjustment of currency and exchange rates and farm debts.

At the end of its first year, the U.F.A. had 122 locals with a membership of 2,147 men. With the United Farm Women of Alberta formed as a sister organization in 1915, the membership peak was reached in 1921 when the total was 37,721. Today the membership is approximately 7,000 in 349 locals in all parts of the province.

to Mr. Justice Davis before the inquiry started the Prime Minister had said:

"I should like to take advantage of this opportunity to express the deep appreciation of my colleagues and myself on your willingness to undertake this public duty. I need hardly add that you will have the full support and co-operation of the government which above all else desires that the inquiry be carried out in a manner which will meet with the entire approval of the Canadian people."

In stating the present was not the proper time to debate the Bren gun matter, the prime minister said the rules of the house provided that a member who had taken a stand against a particular bill could not be a member of a special committee appointed to study the bill.

The public accounts committee was not a special committee but he submitted the principle was the same. Every member on it would be expected to examine the contract honestly and form his judgment. Had the government opposed the inquiry, a debate would be expected but when the government supporting it the position was different.

Fears For Members.

"What I am concerned about," he said, "is that some members in the course of debate at this stage may commit themselves by their expressions to such an extent that every man, woman and child in the country will know they have arrived at a particular attitude which they intend to enforce in the committee and therefore the committee will lose altogether the judicial aspect which it ought to have."

Hon. C. H. Cahan (Con. Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George) said Mr. Mackenzie King's statement was "by way of intimidation rather than enlightenment."

The prime minister retorted that were it not for Mr. Cahan's years and experience he would demand withdrawal of the statement.

"Perhaps the word intimidation was too strong," said Mr. Cahan. "I shall withdraw it. But he was trying to influence members of the committee who might speak on this motion and preclude them from exercising their ordinary rights and privileges in discussing the motion."

City Tax Rate

the rate down below last year's."

"If you make that a motion I'll second it," Alderman McIntyre said. "I've been letting certain items go, but we might be able to cut off another mill if we were to go through the estimates again right from the start."

"You are doing that because the pumper is not included to-night," Alderman Gordon commented. "There's enough money for a pumper with that $8,000 for miscellaneous but we don't have to decide it to-night."

Alderman Cotton submitted the Bradburn-McIntyre motion, but only Alderman Stocker raised his hand with theirs to support it.

Those who voted for the Gordon-McCannan motion to strike the rate at 35 mills were Aldermen Wilson, McCannan, Glover, Dutton, Gordon and Mayor Hamilton. With the amendment definitely lost Alderman Stocker indicated his agreement with the motion. As chairman in committee Alderman Cotton was not required to vote, and Alderman Juby had not sufficiently recovered from his illness to be present. Incidentally, a suggestion from Alderman Juby to the Board of Works to provide $400 for the purchase of another set of traffic lights was included, and was adopted with the rest of the Board's estimates. Alderman Wilson said that if another set of lights is bought this year they should be installed at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Streets.

Increase to Legion.

A deputation from the Canadian Legion, Chief Gimblett, president, George A. Macdonald, Doug. Loomis and Max Sloan, appealed to the Finance Committee to increase the grant to the Legion by $300, from $500 to $800. Mr. Macdonald, former Mayor, said the Council had been granting the Legion $500 a year which was paid back into the city treasury as taxes. The fixed assessment on the Legion's property expired this year with consequent increase of $300 in the taxes. If this additional grant was made, Mr. Macdonald said, it would also be paid back to the city treasury.

The Legion's request was acceded to without any objection. It was regarded as simply a matter of cross entries in the city's bookkeeping.

Alderman Glover called the attention of the committee to the recent death of Arthur Ringer, assistant assessor for the last nineteen years. "We all know Mr. Ringer worked under a severe handicap due to his war service," Alderman Glover said. "It struck me that the Council might consider making some allowance to Mrs. Ringer because of her husband's service to the city. I had in mind six months' salary."

Alderman Glover's motion, seconded by Alderman Dutton, was immediately adopted, providing $750 to be paid to Mrs. Ringer in six monthly instalments beginning with February 1.

The item of $425 for extra traffic lights was added to the Fire, Water and Light estimates on Alderman Gordon's motion, seconded by Alderman Stocker.

Board of Health.

Alderman Stocker, chairman of the Board of Health, reminded the committee that he expected a substantial part of the outstanding accounts of $1,400 due the Queen Mary Hospital would be collected, an expected revenue which he believed would be realized to a large extent.

A new item of $1,200 for the engaging of a nurse for the Well Babies' Clinic was a new activity for the Board of Health which he would not oppose if the members were in favor of it, Alderman Stocker said.

Alderman Dutton explained that the Peterborough Medical Association had stipulated as a condition to their co-operation in this clinic that a nurse should be engaged. Their co-operation meant that they were willing to give their services for the successful operation of the Clinic.

"Peterborough's infant mortality and still birth rate is possibly the highest in Canada," Alderman Dutton stated as reason for establishing the Well Babies' Clinic as an enterprise of the Board of Health instead of an association service as it had been up to the time it had been discontinued by the women who had organized it.

"It is a tragedy that eight or nine months have gone by without this Clinic," Alderman Stocker said. He renewed his proposal that all civic automobiles and trucks should obtain their gasoline from a municipal station, stressed the economy of that system, and held up a list of the motor vehicles that should get their gasoline and oil from a central municipal pump.

Alderman McIntyre agreed that this project had been mentioned often enough to warrant some action. He moved, seconded by Alderman Gordon, that a special committee composed of Aldermen Wilson, Stocker, Dutton, and Cotton, inquire into this question of gasoline and oil purchases, and report to the Council.

"And the purchasing of all other supplies by a committee might also be considered," Alderman Dutton suggested. That idea was left to the sub-committee.

Police Radio System.

The proposal to buy new weigh scales for the Market at a cost of $1,000 was dismissed on Alderman McIntyre's motion, seconded by Alderman Gordon.

"We found there were only about seven weighings a day," Alderman Wilson said, and Alderman McCannan reported the old scales had been inspected and were giving satisfactory service.

Alderman Gordon strongly recommended approval of the $2,500 for the purchase of two-way radio equipment fo rthe Police Department. "You won't have the police going out to look for their car at night when it is cruising. If a call comes to the station, it will be sent on at once by radio to the police car. It should mean that instead of trying to detect crime after it has taken place you will have a better system of prevention. If criminals know you have radio police cars there'll be fewer of them come to Peterborough."

"Like the wood pile for transients," Alderman Stocker added. "If they know you have it waiting for them they'll go on by."

Cut Band Grant

The item of $3,325 for the provincial labcratory at the city hall is offset annually to the extent of $2,000 by a grant from the government. On that basis the estimate for this year is actually $1,325.

The grant of $600 to the band of the Prince of Wale's Regiment was reduced from $600 to $500. Alderman Glover pointed out that bandsmen do not get the engagements that once came to them from rinks and other public affairs. His motion to leave the grant at $600 was lost on a tie. At first Alderman Cotton counted the division in favor of the motion, but Alderman Bradburn said it looked like a tie to him.

On the recount of hands those for the $600 grant were Alderman Glover, McCannan, Dutton, Cotton (chairman) and Mayor Hamilton; and those against, Aldermen Bradburn, Stocker, Wilson, McIntyre and Gordon. The grant was reduced to $500 for the Regiment, and the $150 for the Salvation Army Band was renewed.

$2,000 For Exhibition

The estimates included a grant of $2,000 for the Peterborough Agricultural Exhibition, the same amount as last year. Alderman Glover, replying to a question by Alderman Cotton, said that the Exhibition Park would become a city park, by the gift of Harold A. Morrow, if at any time its use for Agricultural Exhibition came to an end.

On Alderman Gordon's suggestion the grant of $400 to the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association was placed at the disposal of Alderman Glover's Industrial, Advertising and Tourist Committee. E. A. Outram, deputy city clerk, urged that this $400 appropriation might be devoted in whole or part in connection with the Examiner's Mail-It-Away edition, which he said warranted the support of all the communities in the Kawartha district. The Examiner's tourist number Mr. Outram said, covered the entire field of the Kawartha resorts; had developed into an exceptionally attractive number, that incorporated all tourist resorts of a wide area. He suggested that if the various communities would lend their support to this edition, it could be improved even to a greater extent, and would take the place of any smaller tourist advertising publications that tended to scatter instead of concentrating the district effort to make the Kawartha and Haliburton more widely known.

Alderman Gordon raised the question as to whether the committee intended to communicate with the Board of Education for a reduction of their estimates, to which Alderman Stocker answered, "You're only wasting your time."

Family Of Troubadors Make Music and Pay Their Way

Finding it impossible to make a living from their farm in a remote part of Northern Saskatchewan, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hahn, LEFT, were forced to go on relief. Being fond of music they bought an accordion, and were immediately cut off relief. Mr. Hahn then built himself a trailer, and gathering his family together, left the Saskatchewan farm. Since then they have come across Canada, singing, dancing and making music pay their way. No matter where the family roams, Joyce, 7, the youngest of the family, RIGHT, must keep up with her studies. The Saskatchewan Department of Education keeps her supplied with school work. The travelling troubadors were pictured, ABOVE, when they arrived in Toronto.

Unusual Cures

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 4—(CP)—Hope that an effective treatment for influenza meningitis, usually fatal, has risen here from the apparently complete recovery from the disease by two children.

The two — Shirley McConnell, three years old, Napanee, Ont., and Doreen Young, seven — from the Napanee district have been discharged from Kingston General Hospital after treatment by Dr. R. R. MacGregor, head of the hospital pediatrics department, and Dr. W. D. Hay of the Richardson Laboratory, Queen's University Medical School.

Great Strides In Combatting Cancer Made

The most important thing in regard to cancer that the general public does not seem to know is that great strides have been made in combatting the scourge, Dr. C. B. V'aite told members of the Kiwanis club at their luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel on Friday.

Dr. Waite said that most people seem to be of the opinion that cancer is a disease that cannot be cured, and about which the medical profession seems to know very little. On the contrary, he said, more advance has been made in the past quarter of a century than in a thousand years preceding. It is now possible to eliminate many kinds of cancer that were hitherto regarded as hopeless, but those cures were possible only when the disease was checked in its early stages.

He urged support of the public in a new drive on cancer, said that people must be educated to know cancer in its true light, and must be educated to take intelligent action to wipe it out of the life of this country. The trouble with fighting most cancers is that patients do not reach physicians and surgeons until the disease is far advanced, he said.

While most cancers occur in persons between the ages of 40 and 65, nevertheless cancer does appear at any age and some very severe and fatal forms are found in childhood and youth, though infrequently.

Three Stages

"Cancer can be conveniently divided into three stages. In the first stage we have a well localized lump or tumor and it remains in this stage for weeks, months, sometimes years. In the next stage it spreads to the lymphatic glands in the vicinity and very soon after that comes the third stage, when secondary growths appear at a distance, due to cancer cells getting into a bloodvesel and being carried sometimes long distances in the blood stream.

"While the disease is in the first stage, a localized tumor, is the best opportunity to treat it successfully. Once the glands are invaded the chance of successful treatment must be abandoned, although various kinds of treatment may give great relief and may even prolong life."

Co-operation Needed

The medical profession needs the co-operation of the general public if they are to reduce the number of deaths from cancer, he said. By regular examinations after the age of 40, it should be possible to detect cancer early.

"If you have a jagged tooth or an ill-fitting dental plate, have it attended to. Go to your doctor if you have a sore tongue which continues to be sore; or a cracked lip which will not heal; or a lump on the breast which is not painful; or a hoarseness of the voice which persists without adequate cause; or difficulty in swallowing your food or indigestion coming on about 40, when formerly you could eat anything, or a wart or mole for no apparent reason begins to get rapidly larger; or any unnuatural and persistent bleeding from any orifice of the body."

"If you have any of these symptoms," he said, "consult your doctor at once. The chances are three to one against cancer, but there is a one in four chances that it is cancer."

A good many cancer cures have appeared in the past few centuries, some of them amulets endowed with wonderful properties like Aladin's lanip, some of them extracts of frog's toes, snake's eyes, and so on, some of them medicines or drugs of various types. "Some of them brought forward by their originators in good faith, but most of them were fraudulent."

"If any man or women has a cure which he or she believes has merit, the medical profession and the government stand ready to assist in investigating it thoroughly. But the experiments must be done in properly equipped laboratories on animals first—not indiscriminately on human beings. It would take probably twenty to twenty-five years to determine the value of a cure for cancer, if used only on man. Cancer in the mouse or rat is exactly the same as cancer in man, but the life of a mouse is only two years. We can, therefore, get a preliminary idea of the value of a cancer cure in a few months by trying it on mice.

Attack Has Been Slow

"Canada has been slow to attack the cancer problem in a national way. We are one of the few countries in the world with no Cancer Research Institute. Research work is being done in Canada on other problems but very little on cancer.

"Some is being done, however. A National Society for the control of cancer has recently been organized in Canada. Many prominent people in Canada are members and we look for important results, but it will take time, perhaps a long time, to solve the cancer problem.

Dr. Waite was introduced by Carl Browne. In moving a vote of thanks, Dr. F. C. Neal urged the importance of the drive on cancer, pointed to the reduction in number of deaths from tuberculosis due to its recognition as a dread disease that could be checked at its start, said the same could be done for cancer.

Miss Alma Duffy was soloist, played two piano selections.

Revises Punishment

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, of Texas, who was recently elected on "The Golden Rule" platform, postponed the execution of Winzell Williams, Negro, who killed his white employer, because "It seems to me that new forms of punishment could be harsher than to see certain death staring you in the face day and night for 30 days."

Burn Seized Brushes

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 4—(CP)—Three dozen shaving brushes of Japanese manufacture, suspected of carrying the dread anthrax germ, were seized by Kitchener health authorities yesterday. The brushes, burned without tests being made to determine whether they were contaminated, were seized on order of the provincial department of health in consequence of the discovery that a recent shipment of Japanese shaving brushes to Canada and the United States had not been sterilized and that the germ had been found on some of them. The brushes seized here bore the word "foreign" and the stamp "332" as mentioned in the provincial order .

Swimming Is Banned In Daylight

INGERSCOLL, Ont., Feb. 4 — (C. P.). — Echoes of the controversy roused here when the law interfered with a recent swimming exhibition in the Thames River are still sounding. It was revealed a by-law bans swimming within the town limits in daylight hours.

No Stanley J. Smith has searched the town by-laws and he finds:

If you drive a vehicle, even a 1939 streamliner, the law requires that before you cross a sidewalk to enter a laneway you halt "and lay two pieces of timber along the edge of each side of the pavement."

It is against the law to play marbles on the sidewalk.

Application must be made to the Mayor, Chief Constable, or Town Council to fire off any squib or firecracker within the town limits, no exception being made for May 24.

If you meet another person on a sidewalk, you must pass to the right.

"Three or more persons shall not stand in a group or near to each other after a request to move on by any constable, the only exception being the congregation of individuals to attend and listen to street preachers."

Radio Entertainers Win Pay Demands

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP). — A threatened country-wide strike of radio entertainers was averted today with the signing of a two-year agreement between the American Federation of Radio Artists and two major broadcasting chains.

The agreement resulted from negotiations which had been in progress since Monday, after nearly 2,000 members of the union had cast a strike vote.

The contract, signed by the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, was announced jointly by the A.F.R.A. and a committee for advertisers, representing sponsors of commercial network programs.

The federation, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, is headed by Eddie Cantor, and includes such stars as Jack Benny, Phil Baker, Edgar Bergen and Bing Crosby.

Terms of the settlement, announced last night, provided for minimums for actors, announcers and singers.

They were announced as:—

Actors: Minimum of $15 for 15 minute programs or less; $25 for a half-hour and $35 for an hour; on 13-week arrangements a guaranteed minimum of $105 a week for one 15-minute broadcast per day, five days a week, $100 for four days a week, and $80 for three days a week; rehearsals, $6 an hour.

Conscience Breaks Rewed Dentist, Admits Slaying First Wife, Son

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3.—(AP). — District Attorney Andrew Park related to-day the bizarre story of a conscience-harried young dentist who, although remarried, returned here after a long flight from the law and admitted the slaying of his son and first wife.

Unsuccessful as a dentist, 34-year-old Dr. Norman Stewart, who later became a grocery clerk and bartender, stole $300 from a Jacksonville, Fla., hotel to finance the trip and came here yeterday, leaving the woman he married a year ago in Jacksonville, Park said.

Stewart walked into the office of Attorney C. Dick Cable yesterday and told his story. Cable turned him over to Park.

For four hours last night, arms folded and showing no emotion, Stewart detailed in a gruesome statement how, driven to desperation by debt, his mind "went blank" after an argument with his lovely young first wife over finances in their flat above a garage in suburban Wilkinsburg.

Finds Both Dead.

When he came to his senses later, Park said the statement added, Stewart found his wife, Mary Stewart, 29, and his four-year-old son and namesake, Norman, Jr., dead—beaten to death with a hammer and stabbed with a bread knife.

That was on June 15, 1935 when, after having failed to make a success of a dental practice, Stewart held a depression job as a $15-a-week grocery clerk.

With $11 in his pocket, Park said the statement related, Stewart hitch-hiked to Jacksonville where he was a bartender and odd jobs man. The district attorney did not disclose the name of the Jacksonville woman Stewart said he had married.

"I came back to Pittsburgh because I wanted to get the whole thing off my mind," Park quoted Stewart as saying.

The district attorney added that Stewart had been indicted for murder after the deaths of his first wife and son and that he probably would be brought to trial in several weeks. He was committed to jail on a bench warrant under the old indictment.

Negrin Trails Beaten Army Over Border To France Drafts Surrender Plans

Premier Calls British, French Envoys In To Discuss Mediation Of The War; Franco Snubs Naming Of Any Conditions

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 6 (AP).—Premier Juan Negrin of the Spanish government called a conference today with the British and French Envoys to Spain, presumably to take up mediation of the Spanish civil war.

Negrin's Foreign Minister, Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, joined in arranging for the late afternoon meeting while Negrin's defeated Catalonian army poured into France.

With Catalonia abandoned to the forces of General Franco, the Spanish government leaders were believed by diplomats to be discussing the possibility of ending the civil war by surrender of their remaining one-fourth of Spain.

It was presumed Negrin and Alvarez Del Vayo would draw up terms on which surrender of the central and southeastern "island" territory might be carried out.

Still Has 500,000 Men.

The government's remaining one-fourth of Spain embraces Valencia and Alicante a well as Madrid. Government forces there are estimated to number 500,000.

The broken government forces started their disorganized flight on Sunday afternoon when French authorities decided to permit them entry, to disarm them and to put them in concentration camps until their future could be arranged.

Twenty thousand had crossed into France today along with the continuing flood of civilian refugees. Sixty thousand more were expected. The rest of the northern force of 200,000 had died, deserted or been taken prisoner.

The Premier and four Cabinet members entered France at Le Perthus at 3.45 a.m., after a conference with other Ministers in the Spanish Border village of Agullana.

President For Peace?

President Manuel Azana, who was said to have favored peace along with the Catalonian and Basque provincial government presidents, preceded Negrin and was reported en route to Paris.

With Negrin were Tomas Bilbao, minister without portfolio; Segunda Blanco Gonzalez, minister of Education; Ramon Gonzalez Pena, minister of justice, and Paulino Homez Saiz, minister of home affairs.

Mattresses and suitcases were strapped on the roofs of their eight automobiles. The windshield of one car was bullet-punctured. Bodyguards handed over to the French frontier guards an arsenal of pistols and sub-machine guns. The party drove away swiftly.

Insurgent domination of the north made the route from France by plane or ship the most practical one to Valencia and Central Spain.

No Conditions for Franco

Week-end efforts toward peace collapsed, as had previous efforts, with the reported refusal of General Franco to accept anything short of absolute victory and the unconditional surrender of government forces.

Premier Negrin was said to have the support of army and trade union

"Britain Stands With France" —Chamberlain

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(AP)— Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today that "any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate cooperation of this country."

His declaration followed a statement yesterday by Virginio Gayda, Italian Fascism's newspaper spokesman, that Italian troops will stay in Spain until General Franco's political, as well as military victory, is assured.

The prime minister said the British government is "in complete accord" with the statement Jan 26 by the French foreign minister, Georges Bonnet, that "all the forces of Great Britain would be at the disposal of France, just as all forces of France would be at the disposal of Great Britain" in case of a war in which the two countries were involved.

His statement was in reply to questions by Arthur Henderson, Labor, on Anglo-French relations and was greeted with applause from all sections of the house.

Timely Statement.

It was considered particularly significant in view of fascist agitation for concessions in the Mediterranean and Africa.

Mr. Chamberlain qualified his statement by saying "It is impossible to examine in detail all the hypothetical cases which might arise." He added, "however:—

"I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of interest by which France and this country are united in such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate cooperation of this country."

Outside the house Spanish insurgent authorities were reliably reported to have informed the government their peace terms are "unconditional surrender" of the Spanish government.

Three-point Peace Offer.

This disclosure came on the heels of a report in authoritative quarters that Great Britain and France are making a fresh attempt to mediate in the war.

Informed sources said C. B. Jerram, assistant to the British agent

Disliking His Nickname Gunman Phones Protest Police

Chicago, Feb. 6 (AP)

THE detective bureau press room phone rang.

"What," said a voice, "do you mean by calling me Hamburger Harry? My name's Henry."

Reporters scoffed, not believing the gunman police had nicknamed "Hamburger Harry" would be bold enough to call.

"So you think it's funny, eh? I'll stick up another place before 5 a.m.," said the voice.

At 4:35 a.m. a west side hamburger stand was held up by a gunman. The desk sergeant chalked up the robbery against "Hamburger Henry."

Mayor Holds Up Reliefee's Pay For Debt

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Feb. 6. — (CP).—Mayor Dan Kennedy said today he had seized as $12.25 municipal pay cheque belonging to Walter Manley, 39, until Manley paid a $10 debt he owed Kennedy, for goods bought at Kennedy's hardware store.

Manley said he owed the hardware store only $3 and the balance was owed by his indigent mother.

"I need that money to buy food and clothing," Manley said. "The mayor is taking advantage of his municipal office to collect his business debts. It is illegal.

"I worked 35 hours shovelling snow off city street at 35 cents an hour to earn that money and my mother and I can't go without food."

Manley said he would take the fight to the council to-night and make a public demand for his money.

Department Inquires.

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—(CP).— Department of Municipal Affairs said to-day it would make an immediate inquiry into the issue raised at Leamington where Mayor Dan Kennedy is holding up a municipal pay cheque issued to Walter Manley until a $10 debt to the mayro's hardware store is paid.

Officials could not locate any satutory provision for such action by a municipal officer without due process of law.

Australia Plans War Service Census Canada Already Checked Up

HOBART, Australia, Feb. 6—(CP-Havas). — The Australian government has decided to create a "voluntary national service register" similar to the one now being organized in Great Britain, it was learned today. The cabinet has been in session here over the week-end.

A committee under the chairmanship of Major-General Sir Thomas Blamey, former deputy chief of the Australian general staff, has been appointed to work out details of the register.

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP).—Canada has taken a census of her citizens, who would be particularly useful in case of war but there is no national service register similar to that proposed in Australia, it was learned today at the department of national defence.

The department has voluminous files of information gathered in the last three years. The professions have been thoroughly canvassed and the government has full information on hundreds of engineers, chemists, metallurgists and others whose specialized knowledge would aid war industry.

SINGAPORE, Feb. 6—(CP-Havas) —The government of the Straits Settlement has decided to introduce a national register system and will make an announcement to this effect in the near future, it was learned today. The register will apply only to British subjects in Malasia, Chinese and Indian residents will be enrolled in anti- aircraft units.

PRETORIA, Feb. 6—(CP-Havas). —The South African government has no intention of introducing a national register at this time, official circles said today.

It was learned, however, that the southern Rhodesia government has decided to call for volunteers to be ready to serve in the event of war in both white Rhodesian and imperial units.

Franco Victory Fascist Blow To France

ROME, Feb. 6 — (C.P.-Havas).— The Bologna newspaper Resto del Carlino asserted to-day that the Spanish War has brought an Italian Fascist victory over France.

"If the Ethiopian War was an Italian victory over 52 nations, the Spanish War is a victory won by Fascist Italy over France, and lost wars must be paid for, and are paid for the more dearly when there are old accounts to settle such as those we call Corsica, Tunisia, Nice, Savoy, Djibouti, the Suex Canal, etc."

"To refuse ill-gained property, Paris to-day invokes solidarity with London, but does the wise Chamberlain Government wish to destroy with ts own hands the patent work of collaboraton, undertaken by Italy, by throwing the nation and the British Empire into the fracas? This is the question we ask Great Britain."

In one of the periodical "annexations on paper" indulged in by the Italian press the Popolo di Roma to-day published a map devoted to German colonial demands in which French Somaliland is included in Italian East Africa. The same newspaper recently published a map in which a large band of territory in Southern France connected Italy and Spain.

I.R.A. Out To Blast British From All Ireland, Disrupt Vital Services

Secret Plan Discloses Proposed Sabotage In Every Field Of Public Activity Timed Specially Just Before Any Crisis

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Allegations that the outlawed Irish Republican army organization had formed a plan to blast British officials and soldiers out of every part of Ireland were made in Bow Street Police Court today as Scotland Yard guarded the royal family, high officials and public buildings against further bomb outrages.

At a hearing for 12 men accused of conspiring to cause explosions, the prosecutor spoke of a mysterious "aluminum powder," a new arrest of "considerable importance," and a plan, designated as "X" and described as "most comprehensive and covering every field of public activity."

The prosecutor said the plans were discovered in a search of the home of Michael O'Shea and read: "In order to exercise a maximum world effect, the diversion (presumably bombings) must carried out at a time when no major or world crisis is on, but if it is carried on when trouble is anticipated, with the jumpiness and nervous expectation of the government as well as the nervous potential panic of the people, it can be exploited to the full."

The alleged plan gave details of a four-day ultimatum sent Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax January 13, four days before three explosions occurred in various parts of the country.

The ultimatum, which referred to the "government of the Irish Republic," threatened active intervention in the United Kingdom's "military or commercial life" unless British forces were withdrawn.

Defence Units Marked

Other documents, the prosecutor said, detailed the alleged I.R.A. main plan as having two sections—propaganda and action.

The latter, under six headings, he said disclosed detailed arrangements for countrywide sabotage of military, air and naval establishments and stores, public services — including postal, telegraph and radio system—key industries, newspapers, water supplies, drainage systems and fire brigades.

The documents were said to have mentioned London, Birmingham and Coventry as places where attacks could be staged.

The prosecutor declared the plan also mentioned 'legitimate destruction or sabotaging of airplane factories or stores and munition factories or stores" of vital importance to the rearmament of Great Bitain.

It was admitted, however, that "these would probably be so well guarded that success would be at matter of chance."

Among key industries said to be listed for attack were electirc and underground railways, commerce, banking, shipping, cotton mills, grain, tobacco and liquor stores, automobile tire stores and timber yards.

The postal service, the document said, let itself "to a wide range of destructive activity."

No Water Pollution

It ruled out water pollution, however, since "water is essential to life."

The document described government offices as a "legitimate target."

It called for "moral sabotage" by forging government dispatches to cause action "such as troop or ARP (Air Raid Protection) mobilization."

It recommended sabotaging the war prepardness scheme for a na-

30,000 Homeless As Ohio Flood Eases

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6—(AP). — Emergency relief agencies set up temporary shelter to-day for an estimated 30,000 routed from their homes by flood waters as forecasters studied the possible effect of predicted rainfalls over the watershed.

The threat of serious flood disaster abated to-day as the Ohio River flattened out from Pittsburgh to Portsmouth, O., while southward from Point Pleasant, O., to Carrollton, Ky., down-river residents prepared for the oncoming high tide.

On the basis of a 58 to 59-foot crest from Huntington, W.Va., to Carrolliton, weather forecasters at Louisville estimated the rest there at 34 to 35 feet, as against a 28-foot flood level. Serious damage does not result, however, unless the water goes beyond the 35-foot stage.

Rain was forecast for to-night in West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, but engineers at Huntingdon commented a "cloudburst" would be necessary to halt the river's fall.

Houses Swallowed.

In West Virginia and Kentucky, where mountain streams covered housetops before starting to recede, the Red Cross directed its greatest rehabilitation task. Mrs. Ella Brown, executive director of the Red Cross here, said agencies would care for 30,000 homeless in Kentuck, Tennessee, West Virginia and Ohio. Six deaths were reported as a result of the high water.

Catlettsburg, Ky., where the Big Sandy runs into the Ohio, 350 persons abandoned their home as water invaded the business district. The water swirled into Greenup Avenue in Ashland, industrial city of 25,000, driving 50 persons from homes. There was four feet of water in Point Pleasant's main street as the Ohio crested nine feet about flood level and started a slow decline. About 100 homes were abandoned there and at Ironton, O.

Gunman's "Victims" Confess To Hoax

WINDSOR,Ont., Feb. 6—(CP).— Two "victims" of masked-gunman holdups here confessed in police court today to conspiracy to rob charges and were remanded one week for sentence.

John Cote, 19, taken to hospital Jan. 29, with a bullet wound through his shoulder, pleaded guilty also to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Raymond Strickland, 17, attendant at a gas station, said he conspired with Cote to rob the gas station where he worked.

Death Threatened Picket-Feeder

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP). — Death threats against Mrs. Harry Bijur, who for three months has fed the families of 26 striking employees of the fashionable apartment house in which she is a tenant, were investigated to-day by police of two states.

Mrs. Bijur, wife of a lawyer, said a letter delivered Friday to her nineroom apartment on Central Park West had warned her to cease supporting the pickets.

The same day, she told police, she received a phone call from an unidentified man who said her body and those of her two sons would be "found in the furnace" if she continued aiding the strikers, members of an independent union. They walked out last Oct. 28 after demanding higher wages and have since been replaced by members of a rival American Federation of Labor Building Employees' Union.

Mrs. Bijur also disclosed Connecticut police had failed in an attempt Saturday to trap a person who sent a fraudulent telegram to the Bijurs' son, Ryan, 15, at a prep school in Cheshire, Conn., advising him to return home immediately.

The telegram said Mrs. Bijur was dead and the boy's father injured and signed "Nora," the name of the Bijurs' maid.

Arthur N. Sheriff, head master of Cheshire Academy, said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been called into the case and a police guard placed over the boy.

Italian Soldiers Fighting In Spain Were Found To Be Poor Infantrymen Says John Malone

(By Pete McGillen)

Spanish Loyalists have no chance of defeating General Franco unless England or the United States supply them with arms and other war supplies, John Malone, 28-year-old Irish-Canadian and member of the International Brigade who has just returned from Spain said today. Malone is visiting friends in Otonabee where he worked for three years prior to leaving for Spain in October 1937.

Thousands are facing starvation in the war torn country but conditions are far worse in the Loylist territory than in Rebel Spain because most of the food is going to the troops, he said, and added that a trainload of Spanish women and children which arrived at Gerona from Barcelona ate dry bread and drank hot water warmed over open fires, the only food they possessed and many had not even that much. Canadians who had been paid ten pesetas a day, the regular Spanish army fee tossed their money to the refugees because it had no value outside of Loyalist Spain.

Wounded Twice

Malone worked as a milk man for Clinton Young in 1934 covering a route in Ashournham and also worked for several farmers in Otonabee and Douro. He came to Canada in 1924 from Ireland and sailed from Vancouver in 1937 after making quite a stake in the lumber camps along the Pacific coast. When he arrived in Dublin, his home town, his first cousin, Pat Malone, 23, suggested they go and fight with the Loyalists because other Irishmen had gone from Dublin, and the two set out. They crossed from France to Ceberra and signed up with the Loyalist forces at Port Bou, were given two weeks training at Elba City then placed in the front lines. Malone was wounded twice when a burst of machine gun fire struck him, one slug entering his left cheek and the other striking his leg. Surgeons at Matero hospital removed the lead pellet from alongside his nose. The bullet was evidently spent or it would have killed him.

Shock Troops

The International Brigade comprising 10,000 men were the shock troops in the fighting and bore the brunt of all the major attacks. In the brigade was every nationality including Chinese, Poles, Germans, French, Americans and Canadians. They were equipped with Czech army rifles and Spanish Mauser regulation army rifles, Major Cecil Smith of Toronto was officer commanding the battalion in which Malone was a sergeant.

English Machine Guns

"The Rebels have a great advantage in artillery and air power and dominate the fighting in the day time, but the Loyalists do most damage at night on raiding parties. We always took Germans, Italians and Moors prisoners and it was unusual to find any Spaniards on the raids, because evidently the foreign soldiers were being used as shock troops, he stated.

"We captured Vickers machine guns manufactured in England which the Loyalist officers believe are being sold to Germany and Italy and shipped in to the Rebels from either of these two countries." From what I saw we were fighting regular Italian troops with a few battalions of Moors and Germans, but the Italians were poor infantry men and were repulsed time and again by the International Brigade in close encounters."

Convents and monasteries all through Loyalist Spain are deserted and closed, he stated and explained that on one occasion an officer had taken a few of the Canadians on a tour through a convent that had been built in the fourteenth century. The nuns had all fled to France with the exception of a few who were maintaining hospitals at Valenciens and other points.

Malone could not advance any specific reason why the nuns and monks had fled, but said all of this had taken place in the early part of the war.

Religious Fervor

Malone who is a Roman Catholic said he attended Mass at several places and that while the Loyalists occupied Barcelona, all of the churches were open except those which had been bombed. There were no non - Catholic churches at any point in Spain where he had fought. He said also that a priest had come into the Loyalist lines to administer the last rites of the church to dying soldiers. The people he said were very religious and were attending church regularly but he met many Spanish soldiers who evidently had fallen away from the church and he gathered from talking to them that if the Loyalist forces were victorious the Catholic church in Spain would be "curbed" and not permitted to dominate the country as had evidently been the case before the war.

"Propaganda papers never stated that the Catholic church was supporting the Rebel forces, and articles appearing in the papers of Loyalist Spain stressed the fact that it was not a war against the church nor a civil war but a war to

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—(CP)—Back from the Spanish Civil War, more than 100 members of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion will attend a mass meeting at Massey Hall to-night where their commandant, Major E. Cecil-Smith, former Toronto newspaperman, is scheduled as main speaker.

The weary warriors, clad in non-descript clothing, arrived here Saturday amid scenes reminiscent of troop-train days of the Great War. Repatriated by the Spanish government army, for whom they fought, the band disembarked at Halifax Friday.

A crowd of at least 10,000, unparalleled in Toronto's Union Station since the Vimy Pilgrimage of 1936, was on hand to greet and cheer them. They acknowledged with smiles and the clenched fist salute. Those of the returned soldiers who do no live in this city will, for the most part, complete the journey to their destinations tomorrow.

A moving panorama of emotions began as the crowd gathered hours before the train arrived. When the men were finally billetted and dismissed, tears of joy ran down the faces of warriors and friends alike as they embraced. There were mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, sweethearts and wives jammed in the dense throng.

There was joy for those who came back and sadness in the memory of those who didn't. Two grey-haired mothers who waited in vain for their sons turned away with tear-stained faces as the last of the battalion was dismissed. Their boys were somewhere "over there."

Hunts Her Son

Mrs. Arthur Johnson stopped every man of the contingent, pleading that they recognize a picture of her son, Arthur, 23, who went to Spain to fight a year ago and has not been heard from in five months. When all hope that her son was on the train was gone, Mrs. Johnson wept.

Danny Smythe, 23, was another who did not come back. His mother and father were at the station and heard he was taken prisoner. They prayed his life would be spared.

Douglas Howard brought a snapshot of his son, Alan, to the station. The son has been missing nearly a year. No one knew his boy, and he left to return home and break the news to his wife.

Three May Join Race For U.A.W. Presidency

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 6.—(CP)—Three possible candidates for presidency of the United Automobile Workers are outstanding now according to U.A.W.A. officials here. They are R. J. Charles Millard of Oshawa, Canadian regional director, was considered an unlikely candidate for the office, although as middle-of-the-road advocate he would draw strong support from Canadian members and many United States members.

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Formal proclamation setting March 8 as the opening day of the second session of Ontario's 20th legislature has been signed by Chief Justice R. S. Robertson, administrator for the Province of Ontario.

Premier Hepburn, expected to return here from his Australian tour Feb. 24, will—health permitting—lead the house through the session. Col. George A. Drew, leader of the Conservative opposition, will be present for the opening ceremonies. He is seeking a seat in the legislature through the Simcoe East by-election Feb. 27.

Adjournment of the house over the Eastern period of early April will be necessary because of the lateness this year of the sessional start.

Seeking a Cure

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 6.—(AP).—The science professor who discovered a vaccine for undulant fever strove diligently today to find the origin of an epidemic of the fever which took the life of one student and caused the illness of more than 40 other persons in this college town.

Dr. I. F. Huddleson, research professor of bacteriology at Michigan State College, launched his investigation a month ago, when the first case among the students was reported. He redoubled his efforts yesterday when A. Arthur Goldberg, 22, of Newark, N.J., succumbed. Twenty-one others are under treatment.

Collegiate Youth Tests Out Chloroform Discovers That It Is Sleep-Producing

A little curiosity plus a little chloroform equals a little nap, a Collegiate Institute student discovered the other afternoon. An argument over the sleep-producing qualities of the drug resulted in one pupil bringing a bottle of chloroform to school and turning it over to the doubting Thomas.

The latter took the bottle into the class-room with him, took out the cork, and indulged in a few quiet whiffs. Suddenly his head dropped down on his desk—and he was sound asleep. The teacher in charge, believing at first that the pupil was merely enjoying a natural "snooze," took the thing quite calmly. However, the nap lasted longer than might have been expected, and finally the cause was located. The experimenter "came to" in a quarter of an hour.

tional register of manpower since the country "cannot organize effectively for war without it." The sabotaging was to be effected by burning depots where the registers are compiled.

The document also advised placing of "incendiary unit number two or unit number one" to the firing of government offices, where the help of a "sympathetic government employee is available."

Disrupt Heart of London.

Another document, the prosecutor said, contained the plan of a powder magazine in Hyde Park. One coded letter, he charged, instructed I.R.A. sympathizers to "concentrate on Oxford street, Regent street and Piccadilly," all in the heart of London.

Other alleged decoded notes and letters gave details of explosives supplied to supposed members of the organization and referred to "operations" at places where explosives have occurred.

All the defendants were held for a further hearing February 14.

Reports from Belfast, meanwhile, said copies of British National Service booklets, part of the civilian defence program, were burned in Londonderry. A house-to-house collection was said to have been made while a crowd shouted around the blazing pamphlets.

Guards for Royal Family.

Extra guards were placed about Buckingham palace and Windsor castle. Everyone entering the grounds had to present credentials to high Scotland Yard officials.

The King and Queen were driven at a mile-a-minute speed with police card ahead and behind when they drove 12 miles from Windsor to Aldershot to church yesterday. Police in cars and afoot were stationed every 20 or 30 yards along the route.

Some 30 suspected persons were under arrest. Police were on emergency duty. Terrorists, nevertheless, continued to slip through with their bombs. Incendiary bombs, believed to have been placed by women, were set of in four stores in Coventry.

Scotland Yard officials attribute the wave of bombings to extremists of the outlawed Irish Republican army.

Plot On Palace.

A conspiracy was uncovered in Belfast, Northern Ireland, to blow up Buckingham palace and the British Houses of Parliament, officials reported. They immediately summoned 10,000 extra police to guard vital services and historic buildings.

Brixton prison, where the alleged terrorists were held during intermissions in their court hearings, had a reinforced special guard following the week-end bombing of a Liverpool jail, where several persons accused of participating in the terrorism were held.

Explosions in two London subways stations last week frightened many people.

A Chatham county policeman was knocked out by two men he surprised near the Rochester airport early this morning. An official report said that bombs were found near the hangar and gasoline tanks of the airport.

Irish Head For Home

A number of Irish laborers employed in Britain returned home because, they said, of mounting anti-Irish feeling. Some Irishmen working in Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow reported they were discharged because of bitterness aroused by the bombings, which started Jan. 16. Others said they quit voluntarily.

On the border between Eire and Northern Ireland, alarm grew because several shooting incidents were reported after British regulations there were tightened. Supporters of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera urged that Irish troops be sent to the border to maintain order.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax disclosed Saturday that the Irish republican army had sent an ultimatum demanding the withdrawal of British troops from Irish soil. This strengthened the belief in some police quarters that the I.R.A. was responsible for the bombings. Others, however, believed the secret Irish Republican Brotherhood was to blame. The brotherhood was formed in 1853 to unite Irishmen for an idependent Irish republic independent of Great Britain.

The I.R.A. has been desribed as the active weapon of the brotherhood of whose activities the government of Eire and Northern Ireland disapprove.

Hon. D. G. McKenzie To Visit Peterborough

An eminent Canadian, Hon. D. G. McKenzie, former Minister of Agriculture in the Manitoba Government, will speak to a large and representative audience in Peterborough next Friday.

Mr. McKenzie, now chairman of the National Farm Chemurgic Council, will be a guest of the Peterborough Kiwanis club, and representatives of the city and county council will be present. It is expected to be one of the club's largest attended meetings of the year. Members of the Exhibition Board and as many farmers as possible will be invited.

Mr. McKenzie, who resigned his portfolio in 1935 to become vice-president of the United Grain Growers, Ltd., is an outstanding man in agriculture, a man who was born and brought up on a farm, and who became a successful farmer himself. He has been an official of importance on united farmers' organizations in the west for many years.

He was invited to Peterborough by the Kiwanis club at the instigation of E. B. Fowler, who learned that Mr. McKenzie was coming east and realized that this city would profit by hearing him.

The Chemurgic Council of which he is chairman, has as its purpose the development of more uses in industry for farm products. By its efforts a greater market is now being opened to what were formerly surplus products and the Council is intent on finding still more uses. Mr. Fowler said he has been amazed to learn what a wide variety of farm products are now being used in an industry such as the motor industry.

at Burgos, insurgent capital, had called the attention of General Franco's regime to a three-point peace offer by Dr. Juan Negrin, premier of the Spanish government.

The insurgents were said to have told Mr. Jerram flatly that these terms are "utterly unacceptable". One of Negrin's points called for an insurgent guarantee against foreign influence in Spain.

Jerram, it was understood, then requested the insurgents to "refrain from any action that would cause unnecessary bloodshed."

Insurgent rejection of Negrin's peace terms was said to have led to France's decision to open the Pyrenees frontier to the government army now in retreat from Catalonia. While British officials were disappointed by the insurgent refusal to consider mediation there were indications that the British request for mercy in the Catalonian clean-up apparently had some effect.

It was reported insurgent planes flying over the border area refrained from bombing government troop concentrations.

Jerram's action calling insurgent attention to Negrin's overture did not amount to official mediation, it was argued here.

Third party peace moves were hampered by the swift course of the war.

"The Spanish government apparently has left Spain," one informed source said, "and we do not know whether they are actually holding together."

The Government of Loyalist Spain was he said a Popular Front party, composed of three main groups, the Communists, Anarchists and one other, with several lesser important factions.

"To say it is a civil war is ridiculous, the Loyalists regard the war as a war invasion and my experience has been that the people are behind the Government. When the Rebels started to attack a town the civilian population fled but when the Loyalists attacked a town the civilians remained.

Rebels Bomb Towns

Malone was quite emphatic on the point that Loyalist airmen did not bomb towns that were not occupied by troops, but that on the other hand the Rebel planes dropped bombs on any town they happened to fly over. He was at Matero, 40 miles from Madrid when the latter was bombed and the explosion shook the windows of the hospital where he was a patient.

The Rebels use shrapnel and incendiary bombs, but fires are not so devastating as most of the houses are built of soft brick with tile roofs. The Fliers do not go in for dive bombing but fly at a high altitude and dump the load. They approach a city at a high altitude then cut their motors and glide before the anti-aircraft gunners are aware of the attack.

Russian Tanks

The Loyalists army have superiority in tanks, he said, all of them being the large type and manufactured in Russia. This equipment was shipped into Spain at the start of the war but very little war material has come into Spain from Russia during the last year, according to Malone.

"If England or the United States would ship war materials and guns to Loyalist Spain they would have an even chance to defeat the Rebels still, but if no help is given them, it will only be a short time until General Franco will take the entire country," he said.

750 Canadians Killed

"There were 1,200 volunteer fighters in the McKenzie-Papineau battalion made up of Americans and Canadians and as near as I can figure only 450 returned, the rest were either killed, died of wounds or disappeared. All of the Germans, Poles, Russians and other nationalities who could not return to their native countries when foreigners were ordered out of Spain went to Mexico," he said.

Malone read a general enlistment notice posted shortly before the fall of Barcelona which called every man between the age of 16 and 45 to the colors in Loyalist Spain and at the present time there are only Spaniards fighting in the Loyalist army. Even members of the medical corps who were foreigners left the country following an order which was effective on September 23, 1938.

Cited For Bravery

Malone's army book records that he was wounded twice and also states that he was "cited by higher command for courage and bravery at Sierra Pandols." In recognition of this act of bravery Malone was given a metal finger ring on the face of which is inscribed the hammer and sickle, the Communist party emblem of Russia, and of the Loyalist Popular Front Government.

He related how the dynamiters in the Loyalist army works, and said a gunner in a tank must approach an enemy position over a certain route because olive orchards and terraces make such a plan necessary, and the gunner can only see directly in front of him. A dynamiter stands about thirty or forty feet to the side, hidden, and when the tank comes opposite him, tosses three or four sticks of dynamite at the tank. They light the fuse from a cigarette end, and the tank is out of order. Sometimes they tie three Mills type bombs together and hurl all three at once. They have special ammunition for the rifles which is used on tanks. The bullets are incendiary and explosive and a barrage will wreck an approaching tank.

Pathetic Scenes

The most horrible part of the whole war according to the veteran was the plight of the refugees. Thousands line the roads and all are begging for food. The stations near the French border are jammed with hundreds seeking to escape into France, and he stated that he learned at the French border that the food shortage in the section of Spain now held by the Rebel troops has been alleviated because truckloads of food have poured into the Barcelona and Catalonian districts.

The Canadians offered to go back into Spain and fight after the general order for withdrawal of foreign troops took place, but Premier Negrin refused to allow it, and in a speech to the International Brigade declared the Loyalists would fight to the last man.

Malone intends to spend a few days visiting friends in the Peterborough district and will then return to Vancouver, for which spot he has a railroad ticket.

"I went to Spain just for the adventure and would go back again if I had the chance," was his parting remark.

Market Review

TORONTO, Feb. 6. —(CP)— The stock market bogged down again today but for a display of strength in the base metals. Most of the indices were up at noon but the gains were too narrow to hold any significance. Gold issues changed a margin on the up side at noon for a minor net loss at the close and the western oil also showed an insignificant loss. Base metals closed higher and the industrials were little better than firm. Turnover aggregated about 575,000 shares.

The market ventured cautiously forward in the early trading but volume was small after the first hour. Only 410,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours. The industrial and mining indices showed minor gains at noon and the westerr oil index was down slightly.

Higher prices were posted by the utilities, papers and liquors and other industrial groups were steady. Strength was mainly apparent in the base metal group. Smelters added a point or more and Nickel, Noranada and Hudson Bay gained ½ to ¾. Chromium figured in the action at a gain of

Girls Contemplating Marriage Need To Do a Bit Of Analyzing Of The Man—Don't Put Too Much Stress On His Courtship Methods, But Study His Real Self

"HOW can a girl test the quality of a man and find out before marriage whether he is her real soulmate and the GREAT and ONLY for her; somebody she would enjoy spending the next forty or fifty years with?" asks a young woman.

Well, daughter, it is a difficult thing to do, for when a man is courting a girl he puts on a protective coloring, so to speak, that disguises his natural tastes and habits and makes him appear the answer to a maiden's prayers. Under its influence a tightwad will frequently become a spender pro tem., a grouch will be the life of the party, a selfish egotist will be be converted into a doormat for a woman to walk over, a dummy will burst into song in praise of his lady's eyebrows.

Some of the best men in the world, judged by moral standards, are the meanest husbands. A man may be as domestic as the house cat, yet so cantankerous to live with that his wife would bless any siren who took him away from her. He may be as sober as a town pump and yet so cold and unemotional that his wife envies every woman whose husband goes on a loving jag. He may be a good provider, who feeds his wife on champagne and caviar, yet starves her soul for understanding, and he may have the mother complex so badly that he never ceases to be a little boy tied to mamma's apron strings.

Still, for all of that, there are straws which show which way the winds of a man's temper and temperament blow. First and foremost and most important of these signals along the matrimonial highway that warn a girl to stop, look and listen is congeniality. So, daughter, watch your step. Otherwise whether your inclinations and the man's click.

Never marry a man with whom you find yourself in a perpetual argument. The ideal marriage is not a scrapping match. It is one in which the husband and wife yes-yes each other and ride the same hobby-horses.

Then note well how much real intelligence a man has and what sort of conversational line he carries beyond the usual supply of jolly. Don't marry any man who doesn't read and think and have something to talk about besides himself; how many miles his car makes on a gallon of gasoline; what he said to the boss and the boss said to him. Otherwise you will be bored to death.

Observe a man's way with money. If he is a spendthrift who throws it away foolishly, he is a bad bet as a husband. If you marry him you will waste your life vainly trying to sew up the holes in his pockets. You will pinch pennies while he hurls dollars at the birds, and you will never get anywhere or accumulate anything because a wife's saving is of no avail against a man's wasting.

But if he is niggardly and holds on to a nickel until he becomes so attached to it he can't bear to part with it, he is even worse husband material, for he will expect his wife to work for her board and clothes and run a house on air, and every time you ask for a dime he will rend the air with his wails over your extravagance and the cost of matrimony.

Pick out for a husband a man who has respect for money but who doesn't make it a god; one who spends generously and not foolishly; one who looks at the price tag on things, but pays the price without a murmur if he wants it. And before you marry any man get his views on the allowance question and what percentage a wife is entitled to of the family income. And act accordingly.

Finally, there are a lot of little things you might check up on. Whether a man is slovenly in his dress, for it is mighty hard for a wife to stay in love with a husband who looks as if he needed to be run through the laundry; whether he scoffs at old women or is tender to them, for some day you will be old yourself; whether he is a good sport or a quitter; whether he sulks and pouts like a child when things go wrong or laughs them off like a man. All these are infallible tests as to the sort of a husband a man will make.

The Same Tax Rate

The tax rate in Peterborough for 1939 will be the same as 1938—35 mills—so if your assessment is $3,000 then your tax bill will be $105. Following the discussions which have taken place on a number of occasions it is difficult to see where council members could have made serious reductions. As things stand at the moment they are seeking to make things come out even throughout the year with a margin of only some $8,000 to go on. Under the provisions of municipal law it is not possible for a council to cut the tax rate to the point where it is anticipated a deficit will be he result.

There was one item concerning which there is room for doubt, and that was $6,000 for a new pumper for the fire department. It was not finally decided that no purchase would be made, but the pumper purchase seemed to fade in its chances toward the end. It is not included in the estimates. This pumper would come under the heading of what we refer to as fire-fighting equipment, and fighting is actually what has to be done when a fire breaks out. When fire starts the city wants all the chances to be with the people who are doing the fighting, so for that reason there is a degree of urgency in keeping fire-fighting equipment up to the minute which may not exist in other departments.

Even if there is no reduction in the tax rate the ratepayers should know their city is on the way to a better financial standing, and is also coming toward a point where a number of taxpayers are going to receive the benefit of reduction even if it is not reflected in the general tax rate.

During the present year there is due for retirement debenture debt of $337,381, and in the following year the amount of retirement will be $491,019, making a total of $828,400 in two years, and the wiping off of that debt has all been provided for. If one wishes to extend that clearing-off process for another year and include 1941, then the total debt retirement for the three years will amount to the very considerable figure of $1,130,000. And we know of no better method for paving the way toward lower tax rates and lower special levies than by a generous reduction of debenture debt.

The Wolf Is a Nuisance

It is the feeling of those who are interested in the matter that the bounty for killing a wolf should be $25 instead of $15. One of the objections to the increase is that with Quebec on one side and Manitoba on the other paying $15 there would be a tendency to get over into Ontario with the pelts to claim the larger bounty.

Now and then a hunter or a farmer comes to the Examiner to exhibit a wolf pelt; occasionally they wait and stretch the trophy full length while our camera man gets a shot. We could probably publish more such pictures were it not for the fact that one wolf pelt looks pretty much like another.

Men who have taken a wolf all tell us the same thing. It is hard to catch a wolf and the trap is about the only means of securing one. A man with a gun can walk for a long time in country where it is known wolves abound and he may never see one. One hunter informed the Examiner that compared to a wolf the fox was stupid.

The wolf is a plain nuisance in this district or any other. They pull down a good many deer especially in a season like this when the snow is heavy and the going is hard. In deep snow the deer can become actually stalled and there is no escape when the wolf comes to tackle. The Examiner carried a report only a few days ago of a horse attacked and killed by a pack of wolves.

An added handicap is that right now when the person with the wolf pelt collects $15 his source of revenue is ended. James Geraghty of this city says when he and a party were hunting last fall in Parry Sound district they killed two wolves and the pelts are still the property of the party, and when Mr. Geraghty comes to the point where he is stuck with something which he cannot sell then there is not much prospect of others doing better. In former years trappers and hunters could get rid of their wolf pelts but they are not now in demand, so the government bounty is the only source of income.

There are places in this district where people become so aroused by the invasion of wolves that they organize hunts on a large scale not so much for the securing of the bounty but to try and get rid of the wolves. They may meet with some success but of that there is never any assurance because the experience of such parties is that when a number of people start out looking for the wolves then the wise wolves seem to have retired.

If a $25 bounty would bring down a greater number of these pests—and that is what they are—it would be money well spent. We have found no good purpose which they serve and there is plenty of evidence to justify placing them in the nuisance class.

Mr. Morris Writes a Book

Whether a publication of 40 pages should be called a pamphlet or a book is open to debate. F. J. A. Morris of Peterborough has issued one under the auspices of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists. We have noticed reference to it as being the work of a committee but our belief is it was entirely the work of Mr. Morris because his style and his intimate knowledge of "Our Wild Flowers," which is the title of the publication, are present on and through each page. The Department of Education has recognized this book, and 3,000 copies are being distributed in Normal schools, collegiates and primary schools.

Reading this Morris publication—for we claim it is to be such—is informative and delightful. Mr. Morris has taken many of our wild flowers and told their story as though they were human beings. He makes them part of life itself, tells how they seek the ground best fitted for their growth and development, how their roots find their way down and go searching about for the peculiar form of ground mineralization they must have in order to live. Reading it one begins to secure adequate idea of why it is that a naturalist finds his supreme pleasure in being about outdoors and in the bush or trailing through the swamp.

Nor is that all. In this book we find special mention made of the value of our wood lots and of the serious blunder which has been made in clearing them out. Almost patiently it seems Mr. Morris traces the results of such unwise measures. Our Peterborough naturalist who is a recognized authority on all such subjects, has placed on record facts and affections, has linked natural beauty and commercial value and the result is a work which entirely merits the recognition which it has already received from the Department of Education.

Sifting Hitler's Claim

In the last public utterance made by Hitler the claim was put well toward the front that Germany needed her colonies back "in order to relieve its economic difficulties." That argument is based on the plea that Germany needs raw materials and supplies which cannot be obtained in the home-land but which can be secured from the former colonies which were taken from Germany following the war. In a general way the same argument is advanced to cover the needs of Germany, Italy and Japan.

It was the Nazi minister, Dr. Goebbels, who listed six items essential to a powerful state; Coal, iron, oil, cotton, rubber and copper. Of that six as named Germany is short on the last four, and clever as German chemists have proved themselves to be in other lines, they have not yet produced a substitute for any of them. That is the situation to which Hitler was undoubtedly referring, and it was on that ground that he pinned his claim that restoration of colonies would give to Germany these raw materials which are so essential.

The one proper way to test the validity of such a claim is to look and see how much of these raw materials Germany was receiving during the years when she was in possession of the colonies. Such figures are not readily obtainable, but they are in existence, and they show just this—that Germany imported from her colonies next to nothing. Germany's total trade with the colonies amounted to only one-half of one per cent. of its entire world trade.

It makes an interesting study to see where Germany stands in securing an adequate supply of all the raw materials of which she is admittedly short. Take the entire list—coal, iron, oil, cotton, rubber and copper. There is not an item on that list with which the world markets at the moment are not glutted.

The next question is: Would Germany have to pay an excessive price for these raw materials? The answer to that is a plain "No." It is an established fact that the countries which "have not" are able to buy many materials for less price than the countries which "have" sell to their own people. That is due to the manner in which countries subsidize exports in order to rid their own market of surplus stocks in order to enhance the price at home. Our wheat is sold more cheaply to foreigners than it is to the Canadian Wheat Board, and United States is following the plan of dumping its surplus at a dead loss. It would cause no surprise at all to find United States ready to sell cotton to the world at a less price than she sells it to her own people.

So there does not see mto be much force in Hitler's arguments for a return of the colonies on the ground of not being able to secure essential raw materials because Germany was not securing them from her colonies before she lost these lands. The demand for the colonies must therefore be shifted to another base, and that is military prestige and Hitler's desire to make it known that he is able to go into the world and demand what he wants and get it.

Forwarding a Resolution

The Brant County Municipal Association is a newly-organized affair, something of a new-comer to the field of much organization. At its first gathering it decided to send a resolution to Queen's Park. An organization which cannot pass a resolution is not getting off to a good start so the one in Brant can now be regarded as in action.

This resolution stated that people who had been receiving relief for a period of six months should not be allowed to vote at municipal elections, and Queen's Park has heard about that many times. It has been urged in a good many municipal councils but nothing has happened.

The chief argument in such a condition is that the individual who receives relief through a municipal council actually has a contract with that council and is therefore a prejudiced person when it comes to voting. It is also argued that a member of a council as an individual cannot do business with the council in the way of selling its supplies.

The other agrument is that there is an injustice being done by taking the franchise away from an individual because he has been forced to the point where he has to go and apply for relief. The argument if continued goes on to claim that the individual would be working and self-supporting if he could find profitable employment, and society, through the agency of the council or legislature, has no right to take the vote from him while denying him the right to work, by which work he would retain his rank as a voter.

These arguments have been put through the fanning mill so often that it is doubtful if the association in Brant can add much to them which is new. So far Queen's Park has left the matter alone and will probably do so in the future.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Bren gun inquiry cost $12,595, and we can hardly charge that up to national defence costs, because we have nothing to show for it.

In Canada there are some 3,800,000 people who have savings accounts in our banks, and of that number we estimate 100 per cent. wonder why it is they increase in size so slowly.

Britain is buying 250 more war planes in United States, and United States is, if we recall correctly, the place where they held the Boston tea party some years ago.

Reading in the Sault Star we find the popular way to entertain for an evening in Algoma is to have the guests play Chinese checkers and then fill them up with baked beans.

Capt. W. J. Osborne Dempster is going to run against Col. George Drew in East Simcoe by-election. He says he is running in defence of democracy, and probably in defiance of the Conservative party.

Man in Detroit drove his car so carefully and observed all the regulations so well that police decided he must be drunk. He was. Trouble was he did not feel it was safe to travel over 8 miles an hour.

Chief of Police in Sudbury has resigned, the reason being he was asked to do so "forthwith." So there will be one case where the reporter will not be able to use that fine old phrase about "leaving to accept a more lucrative position elsewhere."

The German press was angry when it reported that President Roosevelt had said that the "U.S. frontier is in France." And now it is angry again when the President denies having made such a statement. Anger seems as necessary for the production of a paper in Germany as type and ink.

Dr. J. K. Blair, Liberal M.P. from North Wellington, warned Dr. Manion that if he allowed himself or the Tory party to come under the domination of Toronto Tories it would be the end of Dr. Manion and his party. It is almost time some kind-hearted people began thinking of some nice thing which could in a pinch be said about Toronto.

ALMANAC

(By A.R.K.)

¶ The man who writes the almanac, which hangs so gaily in my shack, tells of some wondrous pills; he tells me of some ointments too, of tonics claims his words are true, they'll throttle all my ills.

¶ I like to read too all his jokes, I like to read about the folks, who recommend his wares; for they were cripples one and all, could hardly move about or crawl, were lying on two chairs.

¶ One man who had rheumatic knees, and even shivered in a breeze, tied up in knots last spring; he took some pills and felt so gay, when came the 24th of May, he danced the Highland fling.

¶ A woman lay long weeks in bed, and ached right from her toes to head, she knew not what to do; she poured some bitters in her frame, and started feeling much the same, as back in '82.

¶ Another man had spells of gout, and he could scarcely move about, of joy he found no trace; he swallowed pills like everything, and when it came to merry spring, he won the fat man's race.

¶ And so I read the almanac, and all its jokes from front to back, and all its roads to health; when I get sagging now and then, perhaps I'll go with other men —and try such things myself.

Our Statesmen At Their Labor

Mr. J. K. PLAIR, (Wellington North): In Toronto on a Saturday night—and I could name some hon. members who were on the platform with him—Mr. Bennett told the audience that the depression was the result of overproduction. That was the harvest-tone festival week-end. On Sunday those same Tories were sitting in church, as the preacher was fervently praying for an abundant harvest to gladden the heart of man. The Almighty Himself would not know what to do with the Tories of Toronto. He could not. They were saying one thing and praying another. You could not tell what to do with them.

That political philosophy in Toronto is the silliest concoction of ideas ever put together. I cannot understand it, and I never shall—but I have tried. We need trade in Canada. We are a farming country, and we cannot eat all we produce. To suggest that we can would be absurd. I should like to have seen the house cleaned out of some of the old guard who were backing the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett and his policy of "no truck nor trade with the Yankees." He would not trade with Russia because they did not observe the marriage laws. He would not trade with Japan because the standard of living there was too low. He would not trade with Germany because she was the cause of the last war. He would not trade with the United States—"No truck or trade with the Yankees."

Mr. SPENCE: The hon. member should not repeat that because he knows he is wrong.

Mr. BLAIR: He would not deal with New Zealand, our own sister dominion. Why?—too much butter. Trade with New Zealand was four times to our advantage, but the Conservative party would not trade with her. They did not want to go to war with New Zealand. I wish the Conservative parry would withdraw that statement, that trade is war.

But I would suggest that the minister who is in charge might help Toronto, just the same. I see the threat of this folly but I also see the loan sharks of Toronto bleeding the heart and soul out of the people of that city. I have many friends there, because I lived there for some years. I should like the ministry, by some method, to put the harpoon into every loan shark in Toronto. I hope the government will pass a law or do something to put into the present law teeth which will take hold of the fellow who is running the small loan company and operating as a loan shark. Those people would sell a man a piano this year and come back in four or five years and take his home.

Mr. STEWART: And the piano too.

NOT DIGNIFIED!

Mr. LAWSON: In 1937 I had occasion to rise in my place in this house and to protest against a Protestant minister being put off the air because of sermons which he was preaching, and in some parts of the country I was accused of bigotry and prejudice. Well, by a strange turn of the wheel of fortune I rise on this ocassion in defence of a Roman Catholic priest, because the same principle applies. Father Lanphier in Toronto was recently banned from the air because he delivered a sermon against communism on a Sunday when a communist candidate was running for election on the following day, Monday.

Mr. MARTIN: That was not the reason.

Mr. LAWSON: That was the reason set out by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Mr. MARTIN: Read the reason.

An hon. MEMBER: Oh, no; it was not the reason.

Mr. LAWSON: I raise no objection to that. I wish I had time—

Mr. HOWE: Go right along.

An hon. MEMBER: Take all the time you want.

Mr. MICHAUD: Take your time.

Mr. LAWSON: The constant interruption of my hon. friends puts me very much in mind of a small boy who sat beside me in school in the days when we sat two at a desk.

Mr. MICHAUD: You are wasting your time now.

Mr. LAWSON: I am surprised at the back of dignity on the part of the Minister of Fisheries (Mr. Michaud).

Mr. MICHAUD: Well!

Mr. LAWSON: This boy had a boil on a part of his anatomy which I need not mention, and I noticed that any time I touched that boil he set up a terrible howl. I think my hon. friends are very much in the same position today in view of their action with respect to the radio. But to come to what I was saying.

Mr. MICHAUD: Very dignified, for an ex-minister.

THE HOLLYWOOD.

A dark night and a raw wind. But the coal barge Hollywood lay quietly in the Gowanus canal, snugly tied to a pier in Brooklyn. Captain John Roberts, young six-foot captain, sat toasting his shins before a coal fire in the cabin and aware of nothing sinster in the shadows on the wall.

Suddenly a man appeared in the doorway, pistol in hand, and demanded money. Roberts stalled a minute, then threw a lumberjacket over the visitor's gun and they fell struggling to the floor. Finally the captain wrestled his man to the edge of the boat and shoved him over the side.

"Help! Help!" came a chastened and frightened voice from the water. "I can't swim." With a rope ladder Captain Roberts helped the would-be hold-up man out of the canal and turned him over to the police.

• Would Begin Another League

To The Christian Science Monitor:

Which are the world's democracies? With their populations, and by my definition of democracy, they are as follows, says B. L. McCullough of Seattle in Christian Science Monitor:

United States of America	144,000,000
British Commonwealth of Nations	72,000,000
Republic of France	42,000,000
Kingdom of Belgium	8,000,000
Kingdom of the Netherlands	8,000,000
Kingdom of Sweden	6,000,000
Kingdom of Denmark	4,000,000
Republic of Switzerland	4,000,000
Republic of Finland	3,000,000
Kingdom of Norway	3,000,000
Total	294,000,000

Besides these there are the so-called "Republics" of Latin America, but few, if any, of those are real democracies. Most of them, like Brazil, Cuba, and Peru, are by usual tests dictatorships; and it is the height of absurdity for the Administration to denounce Hitler and Mussolini and then rally to the support of Vargas, Batista, and Benavides!

The only possible way to stop the steady march of Fascist militarism is to form a League of Democratic Nations, to replace the premature and ill-advised League of Nations at Geneva: and the following outline shows how this may easily be done.

Since the total population of the world's democracies, as listed above, is nearly 300,000,000, let us create a Grand Council of Democratic Nations consisting of 300 members. Of these 300 let the United States furnish 130, and the Philippine Commonwealth 12. Let the British Commonwealth of Nations appoint 80 members of the Grand Council (56 from Great Britain, 10 from Canada, 6 from Australia, 3 each from Eire and South Africa, and 2 from New Zealand). Let France suply 42 members, Belgium and Holland 8 each, Sweden 6, Denmark and Switzerland 4 each, and Finland and Norway 3 each.

Let the delegates from the world's democracies assemble in Washington, D.C., to outline measures which should be adopted by the Grand Councils.

B. L. McCULLOUGH.

• Like An Editorial From The Dock

TWO YOUNG MEN appeared in the dock of St. Thomas police court this week charged with stealing small articles from a chain store which they tried to sell because they had no money and nowhere to sleep. No doubt they were cold and hungry and pretty weary of their existence notes the St. Thomas Times-Journal. They were sentenced to 30 days in jail, which was probably a kindness to them in such weather, but the history behind their act was told in most touching and effective words by one of the accused in the dock. What he said might well be an editorial on the situation of innumerable young men all over this Dominion. Said he:

"I'd like you to take into consideration the conditions under which we are living. We belong to the army of forgotten men who wander from place to place because we haven't anything to do, can't get anything to do because they won't let us stay in any one place long enough to find some work, and nobody wants us anyplace. We have to beg along the streets and at back porches for what we live on, and we sleep in cool, dirty jails where you have to be intoxicated before you can sleep."

We could not put the situation better if we tried. Probably we could not do it so well because we have not—by the grace of God—had the experiences and sufferings of these hopeless men. They are victims of an economic condition. They are simply a social problem. What is to happen to them when the month is up? Are they to be turned out to renew the old miserable quest for work and be chased from town to town and out of one jail into another?

Surely there is an opportunity here for some Christian employer to do something for them. Christian people can scarcely sit down in a warm home to three warm meals—probably more—every day and retire to warm beds, without thinking of the hapless men for whom society apparently has, at present, no room. If they are not criminals now they soon will be.

• Leaders Responsible For Debt

CABINET ministers are adopting the practice of blaming the people for the high cost of government. They claim says the Chatham News that the citizens of this country are constantly demanding additional services which necessitate the spending of public money. Undoubtedly this is true. Most people seem to be under the impression that when they get something from the government, they are getting it for nothing. They fail to realize that the only way governments of all kinds can raise money to pay for services, is through taxation of the people. When all the people understand this phase of the situation undoubtedly there will be fewer requests for extra services.

But this is merely one step in placing the blame for excessive taxation and the high cost of government. Cabinet ministers and their government colleagues do know the danger of adding to public debt through granting requests for more liberal spending. What we need in this country are men in public office who will have the courage to say "No" to these constant petitions for more services. In fact it is their duty to curtail services already established, if such action is possible and necessary, in order to make governmental out-go, correspond with income.

One of the great obstacles to strict business management in this country is political patronage. The trouble is that there are too many public men in Canada granting requests for additional services for the people, because it is politically expedient for them to do so. If political patronage were placed in the background—and present political leaders have the power to do it—it would open the way to economy of administration so badly needed in all governments of Canada.

JOBS FOR THE BOYS.

The Liberals know that when the Conservatives were in the Conservatives were getting the jobs, and the Conservatives know that when the Liberals are in the Liberals get the jobs. If the C. C. F. comes in, the C. C. F. crowd will get the "pickings", unless its leaders hold higher views of their opponents than they profess in their public statements.

This is pretty much the practice in Saskatchewan as it is in the other provinces. Most Canadians are aware of the situation. Good Social Crediters are getting the jobs in Alberta and, we imagine that few C. C. F.-ers or Communists are getting jobs from Mr. Duplessis in Quebec.

The Federal situation at Ottawa is on a better basis. After a long and hard fight at Ottawa certain men in all the political groups have been able to get the Federal Civil Service pretty well out of politics. —Regina Leader-Post.

REAPING REWARD.

Great Britain is beginning to feel the benefit of the brains and industrial ability of the 12,000 aliens —scientists and business executives included—who have come to the Old Country since the Jewish pogrom began in Germany.

According to report, the refugees have already been instrumental in giving work to nearly 16,000 unemployed. Many new factories have been started in the distressed areas. Far-seeing German Jews transferred hundreds of thousands of pounds to British banks long ago, and this money is now being used to bring to England industries which have so far been almost exclusively German, Austrian or Czech.— (The London Star)

SHODDY HOUSES.

COMPLAINTS made to the Court of Revision of shoddy work on houses built under the Dominion Housing Loan Plan have been investigated by the mayor, a couple of aldermen and the Dominion director of housing, and all admit there have been shocking abuses.

The responsibility for the situation which has developed appears to come home to two quarters—to the building industry in the city and to the loan companies which are supposed to exercise supervision not only in the interest of the person for whom the house is built, but in their own interest.

The city has a responsibility, too, of course. It has its building inspectors to see that the code is observed.—Vancouver Province.

MOVIES AND MONEY.

The sum of $32,499,300 may seem a great deal of money for Canadians to spend on their motion pictures, as they did last year. This is a per capita expenditure of $2.93, certainly more than many people are prepared to contribute to their churches or to charitable objects, and in Ontario the estimated per capital outlay on motion pictures reached $3.90. It is worth remarking, however, that of this sum $5,627,300 returned in salaries or wages to 6,950 people throughout the Dominion who might have been without employment if 1,047 motion pictures houses had not been in operation.— (Brockville Recorder and Times)

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the reigon around about. And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all. . . .

And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean voice, saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art; the Holy One of God.

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the evil had thrown him in the midst, he came out of him, and hurt him not. And they were all amazed, and spake among themselves, saying, What a word is this! for with authority and power he commandeth the unclean spirits, and they come out.—Luke iv: 14, 15, 33-36.

BEAVERS ARE STUPID.

After 35 years of watching beaver actions, I noticed this fall that they pulled a new one. They built a dam just below a road in Aberdeen township, 40 miles east of this city. This raised the water on the road. Then they started a house on a wooden culvert right in the centre of the road. The cars passing in the daytime ran over their work, but they kept on building in their slow way, not at all bothered by the cars scattering their work. I know of no other animal or bird that would persist in building their home after it had been knocked around every day for more than a month.—(Dan McDonald in the Soo Star)

The folding occasional seats will have special raised cushions for the two Princesses.—London Times.

RUSTIC WARRIORS.

Much is heard from time to time about Chinese guerrillas and how they harass the Japanese armies. Only a small percentage are bandits and even the latter are loyal to China. The fact is that a very large percentage of the guerrillas are Chinese farmers determined to do all they can to save their country from being conquered by the Japanese. They are a sort of militia, and they are both brave and clever. They are largely officered by young Chinese, many of whom were educated in this country.—Duluth Herald.

FACING THE ISSUE.

The reality, in brief, is this: that we are in the Empire today, and can stay in it or get out. If we stay, we must do our part—dance to the Empire tune, in the choosing of which we may share.

If we get out, we must join another group or face the wolves alone.

If we face the wolves alone, our fate is not in the slightest doubt.

If we join another group, our liberties will not be enhanced one jot and may very well be diminished. What, then, are we hesitating about?—Vancouver Province.

Pimples Kill Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but it is the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement of the face which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood of its impurities.

With The Boy Scouts

St. John's.

The cub pack started a monthly six competition Friday night, with points being awarded for the following: Atetndance, 2; inspection, 3; Six dens, 2; tests passed, 5; Six games, 3; behavior, 2; bonus points for extra work carried out, 7.

The winning Six will hold the Good Hunting pennant for one month. The Brown Wolves are leading with 46 points, the balance as follows: Green Wolves, 40; White, 39; Grey, 24; Red, 23, an dthe Black, 21.

All cubs' parents will be notified by mail of a cub parents' meeting which is to be held on Friday, February 17, at 7.30 p.m., in the Parish Hall. We ask all parents to reserve this date and attend this important meeting.

The Port Hope cubs are visiting the St. John's pack next Friday as a return visit of the trip St. John's pack made December 9, so every cub should turn up in full uniform to give them a royal welcome.

The boys in the troop have been fairly active during the past week; R. Roy, R. Rose and Don Metheral passing the 1st class swimming and swimmers' badge; George Duck passed compass; W. Lech, Scout laws, signs, salute flag and scout stave.

On Saturday six boys with the Scouter went on a hike about four miles from town and met at dinner round the camp fire three of the North End troop with Akela Frank Pammett and A.A.L. Jack Collis.

L. Groombridge passed his second class fire-lighting and cooking. The afternoon was spent in snow fighting, etc.; everyone having a real time.

The St. John's Rover crew are planning their annual banquet on Thursday next.

St. George's.

One hundred per cent attendance was recorded in the pack; two of the boys having a fairly long trip to make on skiis. They were Ken and Jerry Hopkins. Jim Curtis received his second star and has been promoted to sixer. Tenderpad and star instruction were carried out.

The scout troop is advancing in food still and we understand are prepared to challenge the Firemen to a hockey game, any where and any time. The boys are sure they can skate rings around the Fire-eaters. If the Firemen care to accept the challenge, just phone Scouter Houghton at 2393-J.

At St. Andrew's.

The next Scout meeting will take the form of chum night. Two new scouts were invested at the last meeting; the Rev. Dr. Young and Bob Baldwin officiating. The new scouts are Don McTavish and Bruce Embury.

Scouter Baldwin also led the troop in sing-song. The Beaver patrol has one month's points to its credit while the Bulldogs lost their grip on things and drew a blank. Could not have been the British Bulldog standing. The cubs and scouts are planning a skating party in the near future.

All Saints on The March.

For two weeks the cub attendance has been good; 34 out of 36. Bobby LeBarr was invested as a tenderfoot into the great brotherhood before the council rock; we are real glad to welcome him and wish him good hunting.

Vern Narrie passed leap frog; Vic Dowdey, book balancing; Bob Adams and Alan Paterson, compass; Stanley Ellis, candy; and Norman Harris, message carrying.

Games of eat and whistle, and train relay were on the program. District Cub Leader Gordon Clegg was a visitor, as was Akela Peter Dominic and his assistant, Miss M. McCarthy of the Sacred Heart pack; also Skipper Groombridge, who gave the boys a short story and talk on the bill Coleman Memorial totem pole.

The sixers met at Baghera's home on Monday for special training. Both Akela and Baghera taking signalling, then planning future programs.

On Saturday, the pack met the Sacred Heart pack in a game of hockey. Claire McDougal scoring three out of four goals; Vic Dowdy getting the other. Score: All Saints 4, Sacred Heart 1.

The rover crew held its last meeting in the form of a birthday party at the home of George Brooks. Every member of the crew was on hand bringing their lady friends along.

Rover Council.

The rover council are meeting at 8 p.m. sharp to-night, and all members are asked to be present.

We understand there are several items of importance to bring forward; one being the possibility of putting on some form of entertainment to send some rover to the world moot in Scotland. Ted Tomkins has been mentioned as another possible delegate. Although now a boy scout he has been extremely active as a rover.

Scouters' Club.

The scouters' club will meet next Thursday in the local association headquarters at 8 p.m. I believe that Bob Baldwin and his Imperial Jitterbugs are responsible for the entertainment end of the program; so let us all get together and see what there new germs can do.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

KNARF AND HANID found their friend, Jack Frost, extremely busy when ... dropped into visit him at ...op behind the garden ...lled his workshop his ice ... there was a sign in front of the door which read: "Jack Frost and Company—Snow and Ice Supplied."

Jack Frost seemed to be working on a big flat piece of ice. It was really a tremendous piece of ice, bigger than three or four dozen houses. He was working on his hands and knees along the edge of it, trimming them down with a huge knife.

"What is it?" the two shadows asked him.

"Don't you recognize it?"

Hanid shook her head and said: "I don't what it is at all."

A Skating Rink

But Knarf didn't want to give up so easily. "I know what it is!" he suddenly exclaimed. "It is a skating rink!"

Jack Frost looked up and smiled. "Well, you're getting warm—I mean, that's almost right." Jack didn't like to use words like warm. They made him feel very uncomfortable. "It will be used as a skating rink," he went on. "But that isn't what it really is. It's a pond-cover."

"A pond-cover! You mean it's the sheet of ice that stays at the top of the pond when it freezes over!"

"That's exactly right. I call it a pond-cover."

The two shadows examined the "pond-cover" very closely.

"Oh! look at the holes here!" Knarf shouted from the other side. "You'll have to fix them up, Jack! All the water will come out!"

Jack didn't seem the least disturbed about the holes. "Those holes are for some rocks that stick up out of the pond. They have to be there."

He placed it on top of the pond.

Jack Did It

"And Jack," said Hanid the next moment, "just look at this!" She pointed to a big broken space near the very edge of the pond cover. "Somebody must have stepped on it!"

Jack laughed. "Somebody did," he said. "And that somebody was I. I broke it my self by falling on it. But I'm not going to repair it."

"Why not!"

"No, I've decided it will serve a useful purpose. I just remembered that the ducks need a little place to swim in. So I'm going to leave it just as it is. Children like to ice skate, but ducks like to swim, so this cover will be good for both of them. Don't you like it?"

And as soon as Knarf and Hanid said they did, Jack slid it out of his workshop and placed it right on top of the pond. I hope your pond has a pond-cover on it, with a little place in it for the ducks to swim in, too.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time, though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds, belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyre, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning. The chief of police continues his interrogation of all those at the Manor when the two deaths occurred.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

TOOTS LEMOINE looked defiant but anxious beneath her hard-boiled exterior. Hers was one past. I was willing to wager, that would not hear investigation.

Young Richard, his eyes fixed glassily upon the ceiling, appeared listless and indifferent, but the nerve at the base of his temple throbbed violently.

Daphne eased her restlessness by running her fingers tiffrough and through her bright hair while she watched Chief Ellis through half-closed lids.

Mr. Horace alone seemed unaffected by Ellis' statement. His expression was absent. I wondered whether he had deeply loved his wife and whether her death had been a great shock and loss to him. It was impossible to tell. Somehow the little man was so detached from life that it was difficult to associate him with any of its joys or sorrows.

"Now you" Ellis pointed at Reginald Ainsworth.

The beautiful young man of the golden curls met the officer's gaze blandly.

"What are you doing at the Manor? How did you get here?"

Ellis frowned: "In case you have forgotten," he said quietly, "I am investigating murder! Now, who invited you here?"

"I came with Miss Craig," replied Ainsworth unabashed. "I am a member of her company."

"Oh, an actor!" The chief shrugged as if this explained the whole crazy business.

"I am Miss Craig's leading man."

The last to be questioned was Henrietta Willoughston. I think the chief purposely saved her until the end. He was more than a little afraid of the half-crazed old maid. He approached her diffidently.

"Do you know anything about this crime?"

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," croaked Miss Henrietta, leaning forward upon her stool. "Take heed! Vengeance is for the Lord!"

"Oh!" Ellis glanced helplessly to Officer Karns.

"Where were you this morning?" he continued hopelessly, seeing that he would get no assistance from that quarter.

"With our Lord!" replied Miss Henrietta startlingly.

"What Well, that is all."

'If you please, sir!" Hawkins glided silently into the room. He addressed Mr. Horace. "Mr. Middlewaite is in the library."

"Thank you." Slowly Mr. Horace returned to this world. "I will come at once."

"One moment!" commanded Chief Ellis. "Who is Mr. Middlewaite?"

"Mr. Middlewaite is an attorney."

"And what is he doing here?"

"He is here, I presume," replied Mr. Horace with as much show of temper as I ever saw him display, "he is here, I presume, to read my mother's will!"

"In my opinion," Phil was saying seriously, "the disappearance of the emeralds has nothing to do with the murder."

'I frowned contemplatively. We were sitting in a huddle upon the divan in my sitting bedroom waiting for Mac McIntyre to show up. I dare say we, or rather he, had no business to be in my room, but somehow murder seems to condone the lack of propriety.

The family had adjourned to the library for the reading of the will and the guests had grumblingly returned to their quarters with orders to unpack their bags and hold themselves in readiness for future questioning.

"Maybe you're right," I said after a moment. "I can't see any connection myself unless Mrs. Horace knew the identity of the thief and she was killed to silence her. Personally, I think Toots Lemoire has the emeralds."

"The blonde doll?"

"Uh-huh!"

"Why so?"

"Well"—and I went on to tell him about the conversation I had overheard on the landing and about Toots' visit to the salon and her unguarded admission that she knew of the loss of the jewels.

"Whew!" Phil appeared impressed. "And you didn't get a peek at the man in the case, eh?"

"No."

"Recognize his voice?"

"No-o."

"You have an idea, eh?"

"Oh, Phil!" I got up and walked to the window. "I don't know what to do! I'm afraid it was Mr. Richard."

"Her fiance, eh?"

I snorted. "Fiance, my eye! She's blackmailing the kid, that's what she's doing. He was as surprised as the rest of us when she came through with her announcement."

"He did seem a mite surprised at that."

"A mite! He was flabbergasted! And he didn't dare deny it, you could tell that!"

"You think he stole the emeralds and gave them to Toots?"

"Oh, I must be mistaken!" I could not understand why I suspected Mr. Richard of theft. "He couldn't, wouldn't have taken them —not with his grandmother there dead!"

"Just the same," Phil said, "I'd like to search that baby's room!"

"Her room!" I was scornful. "You don't think she'd be dumb enough to hide them in her room, I hope!"

"Well!" He wagged his head. "The whole thing is a mess. I hope Didmore crashes through before long. I'll have to get some sort of story to the Old Man in the next hour or so."

We fell silent.

"Phil!" I exclaimed presently. "I don't understand how Mrs. Horace could have been poisoned! She wasn't under that drier over fifteen minutes and she was perfectly all right until then—just as old Mrs. Witherspoon was all right a few minutes before she died."

"Mrs. Witherspoon!" Phil leaped to his feet and slapped his hands against his thighs. "Elsie!" he exclaimed excitedly, "I've got a hunch!"

"You have?"

"Suppose—suppose Mrs. Witherspoon didn't die of a heart attack?"

"What?" I stared at him. Had he suddenly gone crazy? "Why, everyone knows it was a heart attack!"

"Do they?" he demanded, getting more and more excited and dancing about the room like a Hopi Indian chief. "Do they?"

"Dr. Didmore said—"

"Oh, Didmore!" He dismissed the coroner and his verdict with a wave of his hand. "He could have made a mistake, couldn't he? Someone told him the old girl had a bad heart, so what does he do? He takes it for granted she died of a heart seizure!"

I regarded him in growing mismay."Oh, no!"

"See!" He was gleefully exultant. "You're doubting already!"

"But who would want to kill her?" I refused to admit my susceptibility to argument.

"Who wouldn't want to? From all I hear the whole family hated her like poison."

"Like poison?" I began to laugh wildy.

"Say!" He shook me roughly. "Cut it! Don't you go off your rocker, too!"

"I—I can't help it!" I struggled to regain control.

"Stop it!" He hit me hard between my shoulder blades. I stopped it! I gasped for breath.

"All right now," I sputtered and wiped the tears from my eyes.

"Good! Don't take any more of those fits! There's enough nuts arounds here without adding you to the list. Besides, I'll need your help."

"What can I do?"

"Dunno yet. That's what we have to figure out. Now"—he fished a wad of crumpled copy paper from his pocket and spread it out on the bed table— "We'll begin by assuming that the old girl was done in. That leaves us a first-class motive for the daughter-in-law's murder."

"You mean she suspected—"

"Obvious, isn't it?"

"I—I guess so." He was going too fast for me. I did not believe for a minute that Mrs Witherspoon had been murdered. It was too fantastic!

"Well, then," he continued, warming to his theme, "let's have a look at our list of suspects, First, Mr. Horace—"

"Mr. Horace!" Now I knew he was kidding. "Mr. Horace wouldn't hurt a fly!"

"Oh, you can't tell about these meek as Moses guys," he said quickly. "Maybe he has a Dr. Jekyll complex."

"But why should he want to kill his mother?" I demanded. "Men don't go around poisoning people just for the fun of it."

"Dunno yet. Maybe she left him a wad of dough. I'll have to look into that."

"I think you're insane!" I declared. "You haven't the slightest evidence!"

For Tuesday, February 7

ACCORDING to the lunar transits, this may be a day of fair activities as far as business is concerned, with much of a progressive and promising nature transpiring. Yet, the emphasis may be placed upon the domestic, emotional, social and artistic life, where there may be much stirring to bring gratification and happiness. At the same time there may be some sort of disagreeable or inharmonious complication unless great tact be exercised.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a promising year in which definite progress may be made in business. It is especially propitious if such business be connected with domestic, social, artistic or general feminine interests or advancement. Affairs of the opposite sex are paramount, with forecast of much happiness. There also is a menace of inharmonious contact or adventure.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented in all manner of cultural pursuits—musical, artistic and literary. But it may need some assistance in enhancing that versatility by system and application.

China Builds New Nation In Interior With British, U.S. Credits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP) — China is building a new nation in the comparatively undeveloped interior beyond immediate reach of Japanese forces, utilizing credits extended her by Great Britain and the United States.

Well-informed persons, who disclosed today for the first time what China was doing with the credits, said that nation's only chance of defeating the Japanese was to wear them out by creating a virtually new China in what was once the hinterland.

Natives carried machinery with them when they exacuated manufacturing centres, and are setting up new factories in cities virtually unknown to the occident. Now they are buying machinery in Great Britain and the United States with which to equip the factories. Some of the machinery probably will be used in making arms and ammunition.

Between 1,000 and 2,000 freshly-ordered trucks will be used to connect China with the sea over the new 2,000-mile road opened between the provisional capital of Chungking and Rangoon, Burma. American Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson reported recently that the road was completed in eight months solely by native labor directed by Chinese engineers. Johnson made the trip from Chungking to Rangoon in 17 days by automobile.

The export-import bank, in advancing the United States credit, stipulated it was to be used for industrial and agricultural products, since China does not need food, authorities say, its officials are purchasing agricultural machinery to be used in developing arable lands whose return has been small because of primitive cultivation methods.

Looking Back On This Date

Who was the father of the policy of protection for home industries in Canada?

Credit for the National Policy of 1879 goes to Sir John A. Macdonald, but the idea is much older than that. In 1847, Hon. J. M. Johnson, Conservative leader in the Nova Scotia assembly, offered a resolution: "That the policy that Nova Scotia requires is that the duties levied for the purposes of revenue should be regulated by such a tariff as will afford to us a high practical encouragement for the productions and industries of this country."

Nova Scotia, however, would have none of it.

Two years later, on Feb. 6, 1849, the British American League, an organization of Tories to combat the Reform policies of Lafontaine and Baldwin, with the sympathy of Lord Elgin, held its second meeting in Toronto (the first had been at Brockville some weeks before), and there Col. Ogle R. Gowan proposed: "that if the interests of the British people will not admit of protection to colonial products in her markets and if she will not, or cannot, open the markets of foreign countries, and especially of the United States of America, for the admission of colonial products and manufactures, on terms of reciprocity, then will it become the duty of Canada to create at home, or to seek abroad a market for the products of her own industry."

This sentiment was endorsed by the league and a committee was named to draw up a tariff scheme which would protect Canadian industry. The colonel continued hammering away at his idea with the result that in 1858 a strong protectionist organization was formed in Toronto with Hon. Isaac Buchanan as chairman.

It took 20 years, however, before the protectionists could secure a majority in parliament and send Sir John Back to Ottawa to make his National Policy (a realization of the dream of Johnson and Gowan) a legal entity, and since then, more or less, the chief principle of our tariff system.

2 Canadians Win Figure Skating Crowns

By Jack Calder
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (C.P.). — Long, arduous drilling at the intricate detail of mastering the fundamentals still gets results in figure skating, despite all the acrobatics accompanying the trend toward carnival skating.

Mary Rose Thacker of Winnipeg and Montgomery Wilson of Toronto were crowned singles winners at the North American figure skating championships here on Saturday night because of their performances in the compulsory figures, which count for an approximate 60 per cent. in the judging. United States entrants scored higher marks in the more showy part of the program, the free skating, but couldn't catch up with the two Canadian champions.

Sixteen-year-old, dimpled Mary Rose and Wilson, a brokerage house employee who has held the North American title since 1929 when he was 19, piled up points in the school figures while only a few students watched at the Granite Club on Friday. Before crowds that packed the galleries and special bleachers on Saturday, Joan Tozzer of Boston and Robin Lee of St. Paul, Minn., put on thrilling performonces of free skating but finished runners-up.

Fine Showing.

If anything, Miss Tozzer and Lee strove less for a content of complicated whirls and jumps than others farther down in the standings. Just as at the recent United States championships, when she won the women's title, the Boston girl carried out a routine of simple design, but its content was so carefully attuned and its execution so nearly faultless as to be breath-taking. Lee's boeckl and his double salchow provided daring moments, but it was his pacing that brought him up in actuality.

But the margins of the United States champions in the free skating were not nearly so pronounced as those of the Canadians in the compulsory portion. Admitting he had an off night, Wilson still combined the grace and careful selection that go with experience. He fell once on a double salchow, but no one touched his Axel Paulson.

Miss Thacker, competing in the North American meet for the first time, drew the difficult first spot on the program. Yet her temperament was remarkable, and there was confidence and precision to every jump and turn, then a smooth recovery and a delicate approach to her next figure. It was a magnificent showing under pressure by a youngster who wasn't able to do championship skating last winter because of an injury.

Most spectacular performers were Audrey Peppe of New York, who came up from sixth place after the compulsory figures to fourth, and Ollie Haupt of St. Louis, Mo., who was fourth in men's singles. They were runners-up to Miss Tozzer and Lee in the United States championships.

Miss Tozzer changed her pale blue costume for a cerise and white effect before entering the pairs with Bernard Fox of Boston. The harmony of their performance won the judges' vote over the flashing display of Norah McCarthy of Toronto and North Bay and Ralph McCreath of Toronto. But the difference was slight and the two pairs scored the two highest marks of the night.

McCreath and Miss McCarthy were third in their respective singles events and McCreath and Wilson combined with Dorothy and Hazel Caley to capture the fours championship.

The meet was a smashing triumph for the Toronto Skating Club and its instructor, Walter Arlan. Miss McCarthy, Wilson and McCreath all are members of the club, while four youngsters from the Skating Club—Ruth Hall, Gillian Watson, Sandy McKenzie and Donald Gilchirst—were second in the fours. Because the Caley Sisters are members of Toronto Granite Club, the Duke of Connaught Trophy went by reversions to the junior four under stipulation that the entire quartet must be members of one club.

The Granite Club had the fifth and sixth finishers in the women's singles, Eleanor O'Meara and Dorothy Caley.

leaders in deciding to carry on the war, clinging to two slim possibilities that might be of aid: the outbreak of a general war, which might bring the French to oust Italian influence in insurgent Spain; a split among the rival insurgent factions, variously favoring full-fledged fascism, restoration of the monarchy, a moderate rightist government.

Any independent efforts by President Azana and his followers to negotiate a peace would be hampered by the fact that they now are considered exiles and forbidden by the French government to meet or to act as a foreign government on French soil.

General Franco's armies were at Figueras, 16 miles from the border post of Le Perthus, this morning. To the west, they were at Sea De Urgel, 25 miles from the frontier town of Puigcerda.

In both main frontier passes, they were on the main highway to the border. It appeared to be only a matter of hourr before General Franco's red and gold banner, that of the old Spanish monarchy, would fly at the frontier.

Fench Watch Border.

French troops massed along their side of the border, bringing military order to prevail over the defeated government troops and haggard refugees milling from Spain into France.

One source of anxiety over possible border incidents was dispelled when diplomatic authorities reported French officials here receieved assurance from the insurgent command that Italian troops would not approach the frontier.

The Italian division operating with the insurgents in Catalonia, was reported to have been withdrawn to avoid any tension or the danger of a clash with the French army.

The last hours of Catalonia as a self-governing province of Republican Spain ran out dramatically. Its fall started Saturday when insurgent troops occupied Gerona, last provincial capital in the north to remain in government's hands.

The government gave up the northern fight Sunday, when President Manuel Azana escaped to France, followed by all moderate members of the government, President Luis Companys of Catalonai, President Jose Antonio De Aguirre of the Basque provinces, and most of taheir ministers. They decided to stay in France.

After them came the army and the new flood of refugees. More than 75,000 already have fled into France since the fall of Barcelona Jan. 26.

adian ensign and the flag of the Spanish republic. The men, many of them carrying their few personal possessions in paper bags, marched with heads held high.

The crowd resumed cheering when the men tropped into the immigration room for a short reception by officials of the Friends of the Mackenzie Papineau Battalion.

"You have done one of the most gallant things in history," Rev. Salem Bland, Toronto, told the fighters.

Major Cecil-Smith said the Canadians accepted the order to return home becase it had been impressed upon them that by telling their story in Canada, they could best serve the republic.

Not Licked Yet.

"Spain is not licked," he said. "Hitler and Mussolini do not win everything they want, and if there is just one lesson we have learned, it is this—that if you fight against Fascism you can beat it."

Tickets for free steam baths were distributed and the warriors were told that a Toronto barber had offered all free shaves and haircuts to-day.

The veterans gathered in the Church of St. Mary Magdalene last night and participated in a special divine service marking their safe return. Rev. F. R. Thomas conducted the service.

Also scheduled to speak to-night at the mass meeting is Lionel Edwards, Pincher Creek, Alta., who was decorated for heroism during his time in Spain.

From Halifax to Toronto, the men were given rousing receptions. A stop was made at Saint John, N.B., where a couple of the men left the train for a visit with friends. The men split at Montreal, some of them continuing to Western Canada, the remainder coming to Toronto. A reception was held at Montreal Saturday night for veterans from Quebuc province.

First man to leave the train on its Toronto arrival was Edmund Potvin, 38, Edmonton, who is partially paralyzed from wounds. He was assisted from the coach to a stretcher and taken to hospital.

The Spanish flag carried by the battalion was a gift from the residents of Barcelona, the ensign a gift from the crew of the Duchess of Richmond which brought the warriors across the Atlantic.

Pitiful Streams Of Spanish Refugees Pour Over French Border

Arriving in Le Perthus, France, after fleeing from their wrecked homes in Barcelona, these two sombre-eyed children are getting some practical training in looking after even younger children when all four were washed up with the tide of refugees streaming over the French border. A pitiful scene which was reproduced at least five-thousandfold, showing women and children refugees of Catalonia, arriving in the French border town of Le Perthus. It was the first point of safety for these civil war non-combatants, since they fled Barcelona which had been taken by the victorious armies of General Francisco Franco.

Bren Gun Debate Decided Today

OTTAWA, Feb. 6. —(CP)— The commons probably will decide today whether the Bren gun contract issue is to be debated on the floor of the house or sent to the public accounts committee before such a debate is held.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has urged that debate be delayed until after the committee reviews the contract between the government and the John Inglis Company of Toronto for 7,000 Bren machine guns and the report of Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, who probed the contract as a royal commissioner last fall.

The government leader said he felt some members who would be on the committee might commit themselves in debate and prejudice the judicial aspect of the committee.

While most Liberals are expected to endorse the prime minister's suggestion and refrain from debate, there will be several Conservatives who will speak on the question as well as several C.C.F. members.

If the house adopts, without debate, the motion of Grant MacNeil (C.C.F. Vancouver North) to refer the question to the committee, it is likely consideration will then be given to private members' resolutions.

The government will seek ratification of the new Canada-United States trade treaty later in the week and the debate probably will be lengthy. Already several members have voiced opinions on the treaty while they were speaking in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne which concluded last Thursday night.

It was learned yesterday that the entire cabinet will travel to Quebec City Feb. 18 to honor Justice Minister Lapointe on his completion of 35 years in parliament. Mr. Lapointe will be guest of honor at a Liberal banquet.

Farmers Are Urged To Import Bees

HALIFAX, Feb. 6. — (CP). — Through the co-operation of the Nova Scotia Agriculture Department, 161 combless packages of bees were brought into the province this summer, department officials report.

"With very few exceptions, these packages all produced a surplus of honey worth considerably more than the original cost and the purchasers now have full colonies which, if properly prepared for winter, will give a maximum crop of honey next season without further expenditure," a department statement said.

Because of the cold winters in the greater part of Canada, package bees cannot be produced profitably and most are imported, duty-free, into Canada from the southern United States. These are sold by the pound, pound containing between 4,500 and 5,000 bees. Two and three pound packages are the most popular.

The department has offered to pay transportation charges on package bees purchased through the Nova Scotia provincial apiarist.

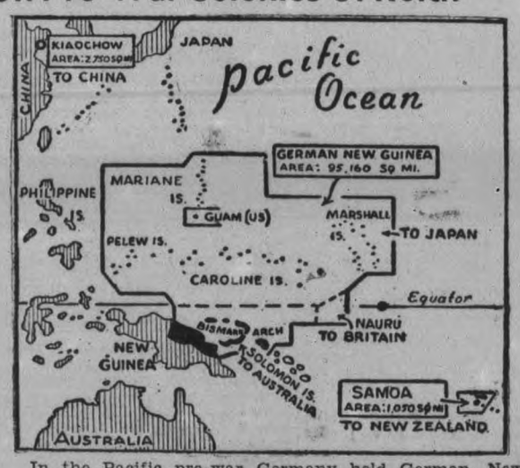
Tremendous Value Being Placed On Pre-War Colonies Of Reich



In the Pacific pre-war Germany held German New Guinea, the Bismarck and Solomon Islands, West Samoa, Nauru and scattered islands of the Marshall, Caroline and Marianne groups. Of these Nauru was the most important. It contains a mine of high-grade phosphate which has been developed under mandate.

LONDON, Feb. 6—Germany wants her pre-war colonies returned.

And over that international dispute revolves a question which in the future may upset the peace of Europe.

What are these mandate colonies? Where are they Do they have value? What gives Germany a right to ask for them? On what ground does Great Britain say no?

Pre-War Colonial Empire.

At the beginning of the World War, Germany had constructed a colonial empire of more than 1,000,000 square miles, five times the area of the Reich, with a population of 14,000,000, or about one-fourth of the population of the German territory on the continent.

In Africa, she had Togoland, the Cameroons, German Southwest Africa, and German East Africa. In the Bismarck Archipelago, the Caroline, Solomon, Marshall, and Samoan islands. In Asia, she had Kiaochow. Invested capital in overseas Germany was estimated at 500,000,000 marks.

The colonies quickly went with the beginning of World War hostilities as the reich was unprepared for colonial warfare. Under the terms of the Versailles treaty, the colonies were put under the protection of the league with allied powers given mandate control.

Division of Colonies

Togoland and the Cameroons were divided between France and England; German East Africa became the British mandate of Tanganyika with a small portion given to Belgium; German South West became a South African mandate; German New Guinea with the Bismarck and Solomon Islands became an Australian mandate; West Samoa went under New Zealand mandate, and the Caroline, Marshall, and the Marianne groups went under Japanese mandate.

Although the British press has sought to minimize the value of the mandated colonies as an argument to show that Germany would gain nothing by their acquisition, it is generaly agreed by impartial observers that they are of tremendous value.

Rich Diamond Territories.

Some of the territories are rich in diamonds, especially in South West Africa where Britain has almost closed down the fields in order to avoid competition with Kimberly. The little tiny island of Nauru is known as the "richest island in the world" because of its large deposits of phosphates. Cocoa, ivory, and the usual tropical crops abound in all the colonies.

It is a prize which could well be in the hands of any nation.

A thorough survey of the British press, as exemplified by London newspapers, clearly shows that the government is preparing the nation for the advent of the problem.

It is the next great issue which will have to be settled between Germany and the British Empire.

Dominion Office For Bennett?

LONDON, Feb. 6—(CP Cable).—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett arrived in London today and went to a west end hotel, where he is expected to remain some time pending completion of alterations to his newly-bought estate at Mickleham, Surrey.

The former Canadian prime minister arrived at Liverpool yesterday in the liner Montclare and motored to London.

A report is current Mr. Bennett will contest a seat in the House of Commons at an early by-election and will be taken into the British cabinet, possibly as head of a revamped Dominions office. The report could not be confirmed.

Mr. Bennett's secretary, Alice Miller, said they had a smooth crossing and arrived in the best of health. She added she is returning to Canada shortly but expects to be back in England later.

"Mr. Bennett is just moseying around like anyone else who has just arrived in England," she said.

The Times, in an editorial, said "it is not every day that the former prime minister of a great dominion comes to this country, as Mr. Bennett did yesterday, to take up his permanent residence among us."

"The compliment will be all the more appreciated," the Times added, "because he is not returning to the land of his birth, as would be the case of some dominion statesmen who has gone out as immigrants and have risen to eminence in the country of their adoption."

Read Man Injured At Marysville

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 6. — Hurled backwards out of his seat, Edward Meagher, 26-year-old resident of Read, was rendered unconscious and sustained severe lacerations during a motor accident at Marysville late on Friday night. Meagher was rushed to Belleville General Hospital in an unconscious condition. The injured man regained consciousness early on Saturday. He is suffering from loss of blood.

Meagher was sitting in a motor car driven by Percy Callaghan, of Corbyville, in the village of Marysville shortly before midnight on Friday, when the automobile was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Gerald Courneyea of Tamworth Both vehicles were headed easterly. Upon subsequent investigations by Motorcycle Patrolmen Sam Ervine and H. Jillings, Courneyea informed the authorities that no lights were displayed on the Callaghan vehicle at the time of the accident.

Meagher was sitting in the front seat at the time of the crash, the force of which hurled him backwards into the rear of the vehicle, where he sustained a deep laceration on the back of his neck, when his head struck some glass. Both vehicles were badly damaged during the impact.

Cuts At Roosevelt Purely Political

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Senators Key Pittman (Dem.-Nevada) and George Norris (Ind.-Nebraska) asserted today that President Roosevelts' adversaries are trying to injure him politically by deriding his handling of the United States' foreign policy.

The two men, both administration supporters, expressed this opinion as the senate awaited a thorough airing of Mr. Roosevelt's latest enunciation of his stand on international problems.

Norris said the president's opponents "will do anything to hurt him."

"They are thinking mostly about 1940," the senator said. "They want to keep Roosevelt or anyone favorable to him from being nominated for the presidency. It is a very dangerous thing."

Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, told reporters that controversy over the country's foreign policy is political.

Criticism of Mr. Roosevelt's direction of foreign affairs by Republican legislators, he said, indicated that the Republican party was seeking to build up a case against the president for the next election campaign.

Users Complain Voltage Varies

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 6.—Low voltage in several sections of this village was the topic for lengthy discussion at the monthly meeting of municipal council here last night. On a motion of Charles Lynch and William McEachnie, a request will be made to the Hydro board asking them to give attention to the matter of low voltage and that the necessary steps be taken to have it remedied.

Councillor Iden Bond, Sr. pointed out that when Hydro was originally brought to Hastings the voltage was satisfactory but in the past few years some users have installed heavier motors, are using more appliances and have installed electrical refrigerators and similar electrical equipment. Reeve Lewis Kelly said that a motion picture machine, a firm had tried to operate here last week, did not have sufficient power and was operated under difficult circumstances. He added that a recent check-up with a volt meter revealed a voltage of 118 in the daytime and varied between 90 and 100 volts during the early evening. Mr. Bond said he was much surprised that a delegation of power users had not attended the meeting since their complains had been strong and many.

Raising Bounty Be No Aid To Getting Wolves

Suggestion by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective association that the lunge season be opened 10 days later this year finds favor with Jack Jacobs, Burleigh Falls guide, but he has what he claims is an even better plan to keep the Kawartha lakes stocked with fish.

He wants to see establishment of an association of guides all through the lakes, who will make it part of their guiding duty to prevent any fisherman from taking more than his legal catch. Too many guides in the past have closed one eye to breaches of fishing laws, he charged, and unless some firm action is soon taken all guides are going to be out of work. He admitted that the operation of such a plan as his would be extremely difficult, because many guides do not seem to realize that their very living depends on the maintenance of good fishing. Last summer, he said, he had lost one job because he refused to let a tourist catch more than his legal limit. "He just found himself another guide who was willing to close his eyes," he claimed.

Some idea of the immensity of fishing as a "big business' in the Kawartha lakes can be gleaned from a statement made by the veteran guide. He said that last year he had taken a census of all the hotels and camps between Young's Point and Buckhorn, and that a conservative estimate showed that 2,000 bass were being taken from the water every single day. And that number did not include fish taken by cottagers, nor any over the legal limit.

When the government places several thousand fry in the lakes, it sounds like a large quantity until one learns the number that are taken out every day, and then the importance of the fry dwindles into insignificance, he claimed.

Wolf Bounty

He had something to say about the association's resolution asking for an increased wolf bounty, too. According to him it would make no difference whether the bounty was increased to $100—no trapper could make a living catching the wily wolf. "Any man who gets a wolf in his trap is fortunate indeed," he said. "The wolf is the cleverest of all our animals."

The entire wolf question, so far as it concerned deer in this country is of no importance, in his mind. "Sure, we hear about a man going into the bush to shoot deer and seeing carcasses that had been dragged down by wolves, but they're only a few. Do you realize that last year there were 35,000 hunting licenses issued in this country?" He estimated that at least 20,000 deer had been shot down as a result. 'We are the wolves, not those animals in the bush." The number of deer destroyed by wolves is negligible, he claimed.

TEN PESETAS A DAY.

Canadians and other foreigners who fought in the International Brigade in the Loyalist Army were paid ten pesetas a day, the wages of the Spanish regular soldiers. This money has no value outside of Loyal-Spain, banks in this city would not even quote a par value, and the dictionary says a peseta is about 19 cents.

RETURN 1935 ROLL.

Return of the 1935 tax roll has been ordered by the finance committee of the council. Unpaid taxes for that year will now be charged against the land, but sale of property for arrears cannot take place for three years. S. A. MAINTAINING RECORD

Their grant of $200 last year is being increased to $250, but it was said they were hoping to get $1,000 to enable them to keep Peterboro in Senior O.R.F.U. company. Meanwhile the grant of $100 to the Lacrosse Club is not being renewed.

COUNCIL ON SCHEDULE

The city council will start a new furrow tonight if the tax rate by-law is adopted. It will be a month earlier than ever before. The council has usually passed the estimates and struck the rate at the regular meeting in March, and occasionally a special meeting during the month had to be called for that purpose. Such budgeting was begun earlier to provide time to prepare the tax bills for delivery before the first instalment of taxes is due in June, a month ahead of last year. The new schedule was planned for this year, and the council is right on time.

TORONTO SOLOIST HERE

George Lambert, baritone soloist of Bloor Street United Church, Toronto, sang at morning and evening services of Trinity United Church on Sunday. In the evening he sang 'O God Have Mercy," from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," and "Crossing the Bar." Mr. Lambert sings with ease and without affectation; he has that fine quality of resonance without which a baritone voice loses its charm. His declamative passages were especially well poised and his diction was delightful. He earned the right to consider himself a welcome visitor in this city on any occasion.

WILL PLOW ROAD

Members of the Peterborough Ski Club report that a large snow plow will be used next Saturday morning to plow a double track road from the bridge at Nassau up to the ski jump. On Saturday one venturesome motorist started across the road and many followed the first car over a rather bumpy road.

CAR RECOVERED

After three days work which included cutting an ice channel upwards of 200 feet long, mechanics were finally able to recover the sedan car which broke through the ice in Stoney Lake a week ago Sunday. It is being dried out in a local garage and appears to be in good shape. The radio is damaged considerably.

START CUTTING ICE.

From sixty to seventy men will be hired next week when the Allin Ice Company starts ice-cutting operations for the year. The ice is a little light in the place where the company wishes to start cutting, but it is believed will be thick enough enough after another week of winter weather.

DEER CLOSE TO CITY.

A herd of five deer are reported by the farmers in the Mount Pleasant district to be wintering in the Cavan swamp. Several farmers have noticed the deer on the edge of the swamp feeding and say that four are quite large and one is a fawn. For the past two years deer have been seen in the two-mile long stretch of swamp.

A NOVEL STUNT

The ingenuity of Reg Turner and Ted Chalmers has produced plans for an arch at the entrance to the ski field at Nassau for the big meet that should bring many expressions of appreciation from visitors. They hope to build an arch of ice blocks which will be tinted blue, red, green and with the ordinary white blocks should produce an arch of unusual beauty. Plans are proceeding apace for the accommodation of a huge crowd.

FORD CAMPBELL ILL

Many sportsmen in the city and district will regret to learn that Ford Campbell, Lansdowne street, had his leg amputated below the knee last week, following an infection that made the operation necessary He is reported to be making good progress in the hospital. Ford ranks in the top bracket as a fisherman and a few years ago was lauded for his fine work in rescuing two people below the lower locks when their boat upset. His many friends wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

Elwood Northey, a truck driver, moved the dead animal off the road, but it was later reported by a farmer that a man drove up, tossed the carcass into the back seat of his car and drove away. The fawn is believed to be one of the herd which is wintering in the Cavan swamp.

City Council Meets Tonight To Pass Budget

The city council will pass their budget bylaw tonight authorizing the expenditure this year of $868,668.31.

That is the full significance of the 35 mill rate, and seven-tenths of a mill for the collection of garbage, and it represents what the taxpayers of Peterborough are going to spend one way or another on their household.

The education of the younger generation of the city stands out saliently in these estimated expenditures. For public schools and Collegiate Institute, the total payment this year is $311,898. That amount is made up of the $264,850 for current expenses, salaries of teachers and maintenance of property, and $47,048 placed in the City Trust demand as the school debt, money to be used in paying interest and sinking fund of debentures.

The Council's Share

The council's contribution to the grand total is $343,693 for general purposes, including the police department and fire department costs, public library, roads, bridges and so on.

The remainder of the payments goes to the City Trust Commission to meet other debts than the amount for schools mentioned above.

And the council has budget on the expectation of the Hepburn government being in the position to refund to the municipalities amounts equivalent to one mill of taxation.

Surplus $9,451.66

It will be noticed that City Treasurer Shaver in his statement to the council has prepared the estimated down to the very cents, $865,668.31, but ,as a matter of fact, if the council keeps an eye on its pennies this year there is likely to be a surplus when Edward Humpage, the city auditor, makes the final reckoning.

A year ago the council wound up 1937 with a surplus of $21,000 and the surplus for 1938 was $9,451.66.

Some Tax Improvements

Ratepayers should not forget that the property committee turned in their estimates for garbage collection a month ago, showing a decrease of one-tenth of a mill from last year. It was quite evident that Alderman McCannan was decidedly pleased with that accomplishment at the termination of his first year in the council, and especially a first year man with a chairmanship.

It has also been pointed during the compilation of the budget that there is a reduction of $6,940 in the amount charged to the ratepayers for local improvements in the demand of the City Trust Commission. That is a direct aid, and on the indirect side is $4,234 reduction in Utilities Commission interest and sinking fund requirements.

Hum Horning Is Learning To Pilot Plane May Return To China To Fight Japanese

One of the most apt students at the Peterborough Air Service on Lake Chemong these days is Hum Horning, 33, local Chinaman. Hum is taking a keen interest in flying, and is proving an extremely good student, according to Fred Beckett, the instructor.

Hum said today that he is learning chiefly for pleasure, but that in the back of his mind is a plan to return sometime to his native China to aid in the war against Japan.

Winter snow is not halting activities of the Service in the least. Spectators at Saturday's ski meet found the plane hovering above them a good deal of the afternoon. Students and licensed pilots alike are fond of flying a plane equipped with skis, said Instructor Beckett. During the past week George Schwab, Dr. Ralph Clark, and Ivan Miller, were among the licensed pilots to keep their hands in at flying.

Some idea of the popularity of winter flying can be gained from a glance at the Service log book for the past week. It reveals that students from Lakefield, Toronto, Lindsay and Peterborough took lessons. Among them were Ted Wood of Lakefield, Lloyd Levie of Toronto, Les Eveniss and M. Balfour, both of Lindsay, A. Gaudet and Andy Anderson, both of Peterborough.

Instructor Beckett has high hopes for flying in this district. In his near month here he has found an amazing amount of activity going on at the air base, has found that it is a gathering place for many of the more sporting of the city's youth.

A GOOD OMEN

As Gerry Duffus and his dad drove east over the Hunter street bridge last evening a big red moon peaked over the top of Armour Hill, and distinctly etched on the red globe and formed by dark cloud formation was the letter "S." "That S stands for snow," was the immediate reaction that Gerry had, and today he is assuring every member of the Ski club and everybody else too that there will be plenty of snow for the big ski meet scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday. "It looks just like a neon sign and the letter S was as plain as could be," he remarked this morning with a satisfied smile . He is confident that this week will bring a snowfall that will make skiing conditions ideal.—McG.

Making Of Rugs Is Described To Rotary Club

"Canadians are not carpet-conscious I. E. Brock, advertising manager of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet company told members of the Peterborough Rotary Club today in addressing the regular weekly luncheon of the club at the Empress Hotel.

"There are four factories manufacturing carpets in Canada", Mr. Brock said "and working at 75 per cent capacity these plants could produce enough carpets and rugs for twenty millions of people".

In proof of his contention that Canadians were not carpet-conscious the speaker stated that the average per capita expenditure in New Zealand per year on floor coverings was $1.25. In Britain the figure was $1.10 per capita and in the United States, 85 cents while Canada's per capita expenditure on rugs and carpets was under 40 cents a year.

"Without being boastful" Mr. Brock said "the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company turns out a quality of rug no other firm in Canada can equal".

A large attendance including a number of visitors heard Mr. Brock's interesting address. Among the guests was Rotarian L. J. Radermacher of Milwaukee, Wis., president of the Stokerunit Corp, Mr. Brock was introduced by W. L. Ferguson.

Rug Making

In his opening remarks he gave something of the history of rug-making, starting out with the statement that even the cave dwellers covered the floors of their primitive dwellings with leaves and that rugs and carpets were made in Babylon and Ninevah as long ago as 5,000 years. Thousands of years ago, too, the Cossacks wove rugs to be used, not for floor coverings but as saddle bags and to sleep upon. The bringing back to Europe by the Crusaders in the 10th and 11th centuries of many Saracens had resulted in a knowledge of rug-making spreading over Europe and later developments were interestingly traced by Mr. Brock who explained that carpet weaving began at Wilton England in 1745.

Dealing with the materials used in modern carpet making Mr. Brock said the principal items were wool, jute, linens and cottons. The wool used was not produced in Canada or in the United States or Australia, the wool of those countries being too fine for the purpose. It was necessary to secure the wool required in Persia, China and other countries.

As to the dyes used Mr. Brock stated that in the Peterborough plant alone 4,000 standards of colors and shades were maintained. Constant skill and the utmost carefulness were essential factors in the making of rugs and carpets, the speaker pointed out.

$50 For Assault

The three men, employees of the textile company, were sentenced to the fines or two months in jail. They were Emile Simard, Joseph Bouchard, and Arthur Pare. After they pleaded guilty, the case against a fourth accused, Edmond Desgagnes, was withdrawn.

Crown Unwilling To Drop Case

"I don't think this case should be dropped now," declared Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., when it was announced in police court that Mrs. Mary DeCarlo did not wish to press the case against her son, Jack DeCarlo, who was accused of beating her.

"This man has been bullying his mother for some time," the Crown Attorney stated. "He has talked of using a knife and while his mother, like all other mothers, now wishes to drop the matter, I think it would be the wiser course to adjourn the case for some time to see how he behaves."

DeCarlo was arrested after police had been called to the DeCarlo home on Parnell street and the charge had been laid by Chief Constable Newhall.

Magistrate Langley announced that the case, by consent, would be adjourned until Monday, February 20.

Putting One Over

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 6.—(CP).—Owen Sound Marvels, a girls' hockey team, defeated Markdale girls 7-1 though the day before the game they didn't have a goal tender. The day after the game it was revealed the goal tender was Jack Traplin, the mighty mite of the Owen Sound juvenile league, who donned girl's ski pants, lipstick, rouge and other accessories for the occasion.

Manvers Farmers Enjoy Watching Skiers; Hillsides Well Lined With Spectators

Farmers in the Bethany district more than 200 strong watched the skiers in action on the Bethany hills on Sunday and spoke highly of the skiers who, headed by Graham Eastwood, had shouldered snow shovels and removed two large snowdrifts from the crown of a hill on the Manyers Road.

The snow plow operating out of Port Perry smashed an axle on Saturday and the road was not open on Sunday. A farmer expressed regret at this because, he said, there would be a funeral on Monday. Eastwood immediately ordered out the shock troops, and ten members armed with shovels attacked the drifts. They cleaned the road thoroughly, removing the only barrier on the stretch, and the funeral got through today without any trouble.

Skiers report the farmers came in cutters for miles to watch the girls and boys in action. They stable horses at nearby farms and walk out to the hill. Every time a skier spills there is a roar of laughter and the farmers evidently enjoy it because every Sunday there is a large gallery, farmers, their wives and children all lining the hillside. Interest is very keen, but as one farmer remarked, "You people can enjoy yourselves skiing, we'll get our fun watching," and this apparently sums up the attitude of the rural folk who regard the sport as a trifle too hazardous to come under the head of recreation.

Six Nations Control 85 Per Cent. Vital Raw Materials Causing World Unrest, M.P. Says

The "have" countries have a glorious opportunity to play the role of the Good Samaritan to the "have not" nations, P. J. Rowe, Federal member for Athabasca, Alta., declared in an address before the Men's Forum in George St. United Church on Sunday afternoon, speaking on the subject "Why Not Try Christianity?" Mr. Rowe pointed out that six nations controlled 85 per cent. of the vital raw materials of the world and 68 per cent. had to content themselves with 15 per cent. and he suggested that as Christians it was the duty of Canadians and Britishers to examine the situation and try to find a remedy. Incidentally he asserted his belief that if the people of the British Empire found themselves in the same predicament as the Germans, their actions would not be a great deal different.

R. J. Goring, vice-president of the Forum, presided, and the speaker was introduced by J. E. Smith.

Mr. Rowe said that the things he wanted in this modern world were freedom, security, peace and contentment, and he had no reason to believe that the people of other nations did not want what he wanted. If everybody wanted these things, then there was a challenge to the mind, intellect, and heart of the peoples of the world to endeavor to attain them.

World Interdependent.

The speaker drew attention to the fact that there was a spiritual interdependence of mankind and out of that cultural interdependence followed in natural sequence. Finally there was an economic interdependence and in this connection Mr. Rowe declared that there was not and never had been a shortage of anything necessary to administer to the physical and moral necessities of man. What was needed was for men to quit killing each other and to learn to co-operate with each other and with nature. The world, he said, through modern transportation and communication, was being welded into a neighborhood, and that the task was to transform that neighborhood into a brotherhood.

"In our frantic efforts to re-arrange the consequences of something" said the member for Athabasca, "we often forget the causes. It is like trying to control the weather by tinkering with the thermometer."

Causes of Unrest.

In his opinion the chief causes for the present condition of the world were the mal-distribution of the vital resources of the world so that six nations, including Britain and the United States controlled 85 per cent. of them and the faulty method of producing and distributing wealth throughout the world. In addition was the fact that poverty at home was the greatest cause of war abroad.

Mr. Rowe said that 800,000 farm families in Canada had an average yearly income of only $474, while the average income of Canadian workers' families was but $668. As against this there were 4,000 families with an average income of $150,000, and 16,00 more with a yearly income of $39,000. A similar situation existed in the United States.

The speaker, speaking of the Treaty of Versailles, said that the winning nations had sowed dragon's teeth there, the dragon's teeth of Fascism and Communism and the results were being seen in the present situation. Britons, he said, faced with similar conditions, would have reacted just as the Germans did.

In the Treaty of Versailles and in other treaties that followed and in the general attitude toward Germany, the spirit of the Good Samaritan had been absent. In this connection Mr. Rowe quoted Sir Archibald Sinclair's charge that the Ottawa trade pacts had been one of the chief causes of the growth of Hitlerism in Germany.

Bulletin Service Goes Haywire

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 6.—The proprietor of a local business posted the sign inside his door which read "Out of town, back Wednesday, maybe Thursday morning." When he returned from his visit the sign had been covered on the outside of the glass with a second sign which read "Gone to Florida, will be back by the first of May".

It was a disturbed merchant who tore the sign from the door and vowed vengeance on the culprit or culprits who had placed it on the door.

Police Be Required To Direct Traffic At Popular Rink

SO POPULAR has Jackson Park skating rink become on Sundays that police assistance in unravelling traffic jams is becoming imperative, it was seen Sunday.

The largest crowd ever to attend the park was on hand Sunday afternoon. Several thousands of spectators and skaters must have put in an appearance at one time and another. The ice was black with skating figures and all around the edges of the rink were crowded hundreds. In the park were skiers, skaters, even tobogannists.

The roadways leading to the park were jammed with hundreds of cars. Slippery hills did not make less the problem of untangling the jam that took place. It took one car half an hour to travel from the corner of Monaghan Road and Park Hill Road, to the east end of the park.

Defer Sentence In Theft Cases

Sentence was deferred by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., until tomorrow in the case of Bruce Shane and Patrick Jordan, who had previously pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the workshop of L. R. Groombridge, Aylmer street, and the butcher shop of Alex. Watson, Charlotte street, when the two youths appeared in police court this morning.

His Worship was to have given sentence today but after hearing Alex. Elliott, K.C., who appeared for Shane and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that he wished further time to consider the case and would give his decision on Tuesday morning.

Jordan said that he had nothing to say. On behalf of Shane Mr. Elliott pointed out that it was an unfortunate case. His client, he said, had contracted malaria while on a visit to Florida last year and had been taking quinine, and counsel said that he had been advised that a combination of quinine and alcohol would effect Shane's mind temporarily. Mr. Elliott asked for leniency on that account, admitting that his client was already out on suspended sentence.

"No second suspended sentence is possible," Magistrate Langley explained.

Crown Attorney McElderry said that Shane and Jordan had broken into the workshop of L. R. Groombridge and had forced open the till. They did not get any money because Mr. Groombridge had removed the contents before leaving. Afterward they broke into Watson's butcher shop and stole a small sum of money.

Chief Newhall stated that the foot prints of the two men had been traced around half a dozen places.

Shane and Jordan were the two arrested by Constable C. J. McGillen, when they ran out of the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic early on the morning of Sunday, January 29.

THREE TIGHT TILTS RACKED UP IN SENIOR MEN'S CAGE FRAYS

Sands, Getliffe Pace Bears Weekend Split

(By the Canadian Press.)

It shouldn't be difficult for Charlie Sands and Ray Getliffe to get back in big time hockey with Boston Bruins if they keep up the form they have displayed in two games in the minor league with Hershey Bears.

Manager Art Ross of Boston's National Hockey League Bruins surprised the sports world the other day when he sent Getliffe and Sands to the Bears, a Boston farm club in the International-American League, with the announcement that he was dissatisfied with their play. It seemed a startling move to make in view of the fact that it meant making changes in a team way out in front in the N.H.L. race.

The two veterans weren't any too pleased with the change of scenery and vowed that they'd be back in the major loop within a couple of weeks, and they are not losing much time in trying to make good their boast.

The Bears topped Pittsburgh Hornets Saturday night as Getliffe and Sands each produced a goal and an assist. The Hershey team wasn't quite so fortunate last night, dropping a 4-3 overtime decision to Syracuse Stars. But Sands again potted a goal and Getliffe was in there with an assist on the tally.

The week-end split left the Bears in first place by a point in the league's western division as the second-place Cleveland Barons failed to see action.

Ramblers Tumble

New Haven Eagles upset the high-flying Philadelphia Ramblers, leaders of the eastern division, 1-0 Saturday but lost 3-1 Sunday to Springfield Indians. The Indians fared the best of all teams which saw action twice during the week-end by drawing 2-2 Saturday with Providence Reds. The Reds played another tie, 5-5, with Pittsburgh last night.

Besides Getliffe and Sands, Dede Klein scored for Hershey against the Hornets. The Pittsburgh goals went to Syd Abel and Charlie Mason. Murray Armstrong whipped home a backhand shot in overtime to give Stars their victory over the Bears. Other Syracuse scorers were Red Horon, Pete Langelle and Bummer Doran, while Hershey marksmen were Sands, Drouillard and Kalbfleisch.

Allan Shields' first period goal gave Eagles the decision over Ramblers, but in a rough and tumble affair against the Indians the Eagles went down before two goals by Lloyd Jackson and one by Bert Connolly. George Brown scored the sole New Haven marker.

Ron Hudson and Art Giroux scored the Reds goals against the Indians, who were given their draw by tallies by Connolly and Alf Thurrier. Four of the 10 goals in the Providence-Pittsburgh draw came in the overtime period. Giroux and McGoldrick scored for the Reds, while Larry Aurie and Johnny Sherf tallied for the Hornets. In the regular time Aurie, Conny Brown and Don Deacon scored for Pittsburgh, while Wilson, Doggie Kuhn and Hudson got goals for the Reds.

Jack Holland The Winner In Ski Jumps

Jack Holland won the club jumping championship for the year Saturday afternoon at Nassau when the Peterborough Ski Club ran off this event, postponed from a week ago. A fair number of spectators witnessed the jumping in ideal weather conditions, the jump being in first-class shape. Bill Wright finished second, Don Shiner third and Otto Laderach, who had a slightly injured leg, came fourth.

In the long standing jump, Wright led with 95 feet, to 94 feet for Holland, but Wright fell on his first jump—giving Holland an edge in points on style. These same ski jumpers will be competing against the best leapers in Ontario here next week-end when the annual provincial ski meet will be held in Peterborough — the jumping at Nassau, cross-country in the city, and the downhill and slalom events at Bethany.

Big Turnout.

On Sunday, about 300 skiers were at Bethany and enjoyed a most successful outing. The trails were in excellent condition. Three carloads of members of the Toronto Ski Club were on hand to look over the courses, where they will be competing this coming week-end, Saturday and Sunday. Charles Anderson, ace competitor of Toronto, wrenched his knee Sunday and may be out o fcompetition for several weeks. Two of the top-notchers from Toronto, Alf Brenner and Bruce Carnaw, were also present with the party.

Arrangements for the big meet are going ahead rapidly here, with local ski members, prominent business men, civic heads and others taking an active interest. Snow conditions at present are ideal, and there is every confidence locally that this meet will be a huge success.

Judges at Nassau last Saturday were Karl Duffus, Ken Anderson and Jack Richardson.

Hastings Bantams Lose To Campbellford While Midgets Battle To 5-all Tie

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 6.— In a double hockey bill at the local rink on Saturday afternoon, Campbellford defeated Hastings 5-3 in the bantam division, and in the midget group Campbellford and Hastings battled to a 5-all tie.

The first game between the Bantams was loosely played and featured many spills. Dunk and Peloquin looked good for Campbellford, while Murray Fife, Neil McKenty, and Morley Nelson were locals' stars. K. Dunk scored twice for Campbellford in the first and Peloquin counted their third. Paul Petticrew notched Hastings' only counter of the period. Dunk's second goal was a fluke which had bounced off his skate from J. Petticrew's stick. Peloquin counted the only goal for Campbellford in the second on a pass from Bartlett and Dunk. Peloquin again opened the scoring in the third.

The teams:

Campbellford — Goal, McComb; defence, Smith, Coxwell; centre, K. Dunk; wings, Peloquin, Bartley; alternates, Bertrand, Free, L. Dunk, Ayrhart, Nesbitt.

Midget Game.

The midget game was packed with fast and exciting hockey from start to finish. The game, however, was conceded to Campbellford before it started as it was felt Hastings midgets were no match for experienced Campbellford players and some local juveniles were allowed to play by agreement with managers of both teams.

In the first period Hastings scored two by Wilson and Gowans and Campbellford notched three with credits to McGregor, Battman, and Storey to make it 3 to 2 for the visitors. O'Rourke counted twice for Campbellford in the second and Mouncey for Hastings notched one. Edwards and L. Crowley counted twice for Hastings in the third, and Campbellford did not score.

The teams:

Hastings — Goal, West; defence, Coughlan, Mouncey; centre, L. Crowley; wings, Edwards, Wilson; alternates, J. Crowley, A. Scriver, T. Scriver, Turner, Gowans.

Campbellford — Goal, Martin; defence, Battman, Lambert; centre, O'Rourke; wings, Storey, Milne; alternates, Neal, McGregor, Fraser, Little, Wilson.

Referee—Charles Holmes, Campbellford.

Pole Scrappers Give Trail Tough Battle

BASLE, Switzerland, Feb. 6 — (CP).—After two decisive victories, Trail Smoke Eaters, Canadian entry in the world amateur hockey championships, idled today and waited for play Tuesday at Zurich, in the semi-final play of the pool into which the draw placed the Canadians.

On that day the Canadian Allan Cup holders are scheduled to meet the British team for their stiffest test so far in the tourney. In the other semi-final of the same pool at Zurich, Czecho-Slovakia will play the winner between Germany and Italy, who fought to a 4-4 tie yesterday in three extra periods. The Rome-Berlin axis plays off the tie today.

At Basle, in the other pool semi-finals, the United States will play Poland and Switzerland will take on Hungary. The semi-finals will take from Tuesday to Thursday, with the final in each pool and for the world title being played from Friday to Sunday.

Poles Put Up Fight

The Smoke Eaters, defending the championship won for Canada last year by Sudbury Wolves, had no soft touch in their battle yesterday with Poland. The score was 4-0, but the competition was dangerous a large part of the time and the Polish goalie, Maciejko, saved many fine shots.

Bunny Dame opened the scoring and was followed by Johnny McCreedy in the first period. Ben Hayes and Mickey Brennan each rendered an assist. Dick Kowcinak made it 3-0 in the third period and passed to McCreedy, who scored in the final frame.

In other games yesterday the United States defeated Finland 4-0; England vanquished Hungary 1-0; Latvia won from Yugoslavia 6-0, and Switzerland beat Czecho-Slovakia 1-0. Germany and Italy played to a 4-4 tie.

Late Saturday, England defeated Belgium 3-1; Switzerland smothered Yugoslavia 23-0; Italy conquered Finland 5-2; and the United States beat Germany 4-0.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

Playing the first of a series of games for the J. G. Horkness Cup, six mixed rinks from Peterborough motored up to Bobcaygeon Saturday afternoon and evening.

Two games were played at 2.30 p m , two more at 4 30 p m. and the last two after supper. The ice was in excellent condition and all games were 10 ends. C. Giroux started the ball rolling for Peterborough by piling up a lead of 12 points but the rest of our boys and girls could not hang on with the result we were down 16 shots. A return game will be played in Peterborough within a week or co.

The visitors were entertained to dinner at the Rockland Hotel by the members of the Bobcaygeon Curling club. During the short speeches that followed Mrs. Dr. R. L. Scott of Bobcaygeon, president of the Ontario Ladies' Curling Association, made a strong pela for support for lady curling clubs and said more clubs had been represented at the ladies' tankard this year than ever before.

Our big event of the coming week is the open bonspiel on Wednesday, February 8. This will be for the Canada Packers Co. silver trophy. Invitations have beent sent out and already some entries have been received. The committee, with R. F. Downey as chairman, would appreciate entries as soon as possible and name which draw you prefer, 9 a m. or 11 a m.

Fractionals Win Over Cabinets

Fractionals copped a 6-0 win over Cabinets on Saturday in a C.G.E. shop hockey tussle at the Brock Street Rink. They notched three in the first, two in the second, and another in the third. Heal scored four of them, with Pammett and McDougall getting the others. Brown, E. Spencely, Heal and Pammett were outstanding. Lack of players forced the Fractionals to pick up several, and Heal and Pammett proved too much for them. It was a lively tilt. Brown was robbed of several by Gord Clarke in the winners' cage. The teams:

Cabinets — Goal, Fleming; defence, F. Spencely, Walker; centre, E. Spencely; wings, Brown, Heard; subs., Bailey, Griffin, Flint, F. Earle.

Referee—Red Creighton.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

This is ski week here, yep, SKI WEEK! For the next several days, sports-minded folk will be bustling around making final efforts for the provincial ski meet in Peterborough this coming week-end. Ace skiers and jumpers from various parts of Ontario will trek this way, and a big time is anticipated—if the snow stays. Members of the local Ski Club—they held their club jumping Saturday and Jack Holland won it—believe they're due for a decent break in the weather this time, and they sure are. A cross-country race will be run next Saturday, starting at nine in the a.m. at Armour Hill and returning there. Ski jumping championships at Nassau that afternoon, and the downhill and slalom events at Bethany next afternoon. More in on the big affair daily now.

Three lively senior men's cage contests at the "Y" on Saturday e'en. St. Paul's had to fight furiously to garner a 24-20 win over Quakers, C.G.E. dropped a basket in the last minute for a 12-10 nod over St. John's, and the Heclas put on a garrison finish for a 20-10 verdict over the Dominions. One fight and lots of excitement. Jim Thorburn put a coupla more laps betwixt himself and his nearest rival in the scoring race. Standing of the teams is in elsewhere.

C.G.E. Goes To Town

Up at the Brock on Saturday aft, a flock of C.G.E. puck tussles were staged, most of 'em quite keen affairs. Tool Room took a 5-0 daub over Dips and Buffs; Wire Dept. defeated Machine Shop by a 3-2 nod; Fractionals went to town on the Cabinets for a 6-0 chuckle; and Drafting Room grabbed off a 3-2 decision from the Porcelain players. Some smart hockey at times and a fair share of bumping, but none of the games needed much laundering from Referee Red Creighton. Games in this loop every Saturday afternoon at the Brock, free gratis to the fans.

Herb Ralph the other day was showing us some fine pictures he took of the Clarkson Tech rink and puckists a week ago. Herb was there for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Clark, and Al Gratton, to see Al and Grant Clark. The Tech team tied Ace Bailey's Toronto Varsity 2-2, and both Clarks played a fine game. Their coach is quite pleased with their playing—they're just freshmen yet—and looks for them to star on the squad next semester. Being frosh, they can only play for Clarkson against Canuck teams this season, but will be okay against all opposition next year. Both have improved since their junior days here.

An Au Revoir To Al

Al Gratton has gone to Montreal, being transferred there by the C.G.E. Co., where he has a good position. Al hails from Ottawa and attended college at Potsdam ere coming here two seasons ago. He played for the Petes, a winger on the second line. A clean player and hard worker, Al wasn't a prolific scorer but was showing up better this season as a steady veteran player. Though he's not very old. Gratton is a likeable chap — an exceptionally clean-living guy—and was popular with all the players. Had quite a head for organization and was on the executive of the Hockey Club this year. The Clark boys went to Clarkson on his recommend. Good luck to you, Al Gratton! (He'll follow the Petes' progress in this paper.)

Oshawa juniors and our Colts have a game here Tuesday night—we believe the only puck fray here this week till Friday. It's a most important match as far as both squads go seeing as how they're in a four-game series now to see which one hangs up its skates for the year and which ankles into Ontario "B" playdowns. The husky, hard-hitting Motor Citizens—packed to the gunwales this year—won the first, but not by a real impressive count. And the Colts claim they can take 'em here on the morrow to even it up. They'll do their share of bouncing, too, and gees like Foster, Parnell, Craig, Berwick, Curtin et al, aren't afraid to tramp into any junior gang on the ice. This will be one swell game—and don't forget Oshawa has two Memorial Cup finalists on its lineup — and a big crowd of fans is expected. The locals need your support this time, both vocal and financial.

The Spirit Of Youth

There is another shop hockey loop here, down at Nashua Paper Co., games being played Saturday afternoons out at All Saints' rink. Teams include Office, Sealright, Waxing Dept. and Gumming Dept. Apparently there is no age limit in this lively league, as we note one Vic Hamilton (as young as ever) cavorting in most amazing manner on defence for the Office outfit. Not to mention the great goaltending of Earl Ferguson, rivals bitterly complaining that he practically obliterated the cage from view. Nor the speed of George Richmond. Must be a lot of fun in such a hockey league, we think.

Quinte columnist wonders if the Petes tried very hard to beat the Fliers here last Friday, figuring maybe the locals and the Airmen are both afraid to meet the Belleville Redmen. But he breaks down and confesses that the Fliers can come from behind, that they weren't due for three poor games in a row, and finally that they're a hard team to stop when they get a-rollin'. All we know is that it's a decidedly screwy senior "A" season up this way—figuring Fliers' 11-3 win over Belleville one game, their 5-3 loss to 'em next, our early loss to the Redmen and then beating 'em three times, our 7-1 win over the R.C.A.F.-ers and subsequent 8-3 defeat at their hands! Ya dunno how to bet on any game now. Fliers and Belleville clash Tuesday.

Grove School Team Defeats U.C.C. Outfit

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 6 — Lakefield Preparatory School's first hockey team, which is coached by Headmaster K. A. Mackenzie, handed the Upper Canada College juvenile pucksters a 6 to 3 defeat in the third period of a rough and tumble game, played in the Lakefield rink, on Saturday afternoon. The visitors trailed at the end of the first to the tune of 3-1 and then rallied in the second, when Macdonald and Kent, both playing forward for U.C.C., slammed in a goal each in the middle session. The Grove failed to find the net in this period, and the score was a 3-all tie going into the third—and anybody's game.

Lakefield waded right in, in the final canto and by dint of hard work and some luck, managed to ward off several U.C.C. attacks, and break through the visitors defence for three nice counters, to put the game in the bag by a comfortable margin.

Crickmore (2), Frewer (2), Roberts and La Nauze, were responsible for the Lakefield Prep School goals, while Kent (2), and Macdonald, did the scoring for Upper Canada.

The teams:

Lakefield Preparatory School: Goal, Pease; defence, MacLaren and Rose; forwards, Frewer, Harris and Crickmore (captain); alternates, Carson, LeNauze, Langmuir, Roberts, Dobbin.

Tool Room Team Gets A 5-0 Win

Tool Room defeated the Dip and Buff bunch 5-0 on Saturday in a junior C.G.E. shop hockey contest at the Brock. They got a goal each in the first two frames and three in the third. King counted twice with Williams, Self and Dyer each counting one. Play was quite even till the third when lack of subs hurt the loesrs' chances. Fine work by Agnew kept down the score. He was knocked out in a scramble with half a minute to go, and the game chilled. The teams:

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP). — Baseball men are gossiping among themselves that a Sam Breadon-Branch Rickey divorce is coming soon and that Rickey will team up with Larry MacPhail and buy the Dodgers....The tip-off came when Branch, Jr., joined the Brooks to add the Rickey touch to their farm system....Vadim Medveff, Columbia's demon basketeer, arrived on Morning-side Heights via Russia, Syria, Constantinople and Manhattan transfer....The Carnegie Foundation probably would list him as Tramp Athlete No. 1....Keep an eye on the "H" brigade among the younger golf pros—Dutch Harrison, Clayton Heafner and Ben Hogan.

Natie Brown's seconds hollered foul against Tony Galento but they were only referring to the odor.... There hasn't been a window closd in Detroit since the fight . . . And there's Joe Jacobs yelling that if Mike Jacobs don't soon sign Louis for Galento, Tony and Max Schmeling will fight in Philly and draw 500,000 bucks....Yep, that would be nice, comments Jimmy Doyle of Cleveland — Two ton vs. Teuton — with old Yssel Der Mussel managing both.

Nobody got a bigger bang out of the baseball writer's dinner than William Klem, the old arbitrator (who never called one wrong) . . . Mr. Klem made a speech, had a song dedicated to his deeds on the bal lfield and got himself a plaque ....Larry MacPhail was ribbed from here to Flatbush and back and the Messrs. Wire Dept. Wins Over Machinists

Machine Shop of the C.G.E. Shop Hockey League lost a 3-2 decision to Wire Dept. in the Brock on Saturday. It was a fine, fast fixture between well-matched squads. It was clean, with stiff bodychecks, but four penalties passed out. Machine Shop scored twice in the first. Langton and Starr counting. Near the close, Pammett counted in close. In the second, White tied it up on a long drive that caught a corner. In the heated third, Pammett scored on Heal's pass with seconds left to go. Harding couldn't be beaten then. Pammett, Heal, White, Creighton, Langton and A. Jones were outstanding. Teams:

Wire — Goal, Harding; defence, Williams, Hawks; centre, A. Heal; wings, Pammett, Millard; subs., Hatton, White.

Referee—Red Creighton.

Heclas, C.G.E. Are Winners With St. Paul's

St. Paul's fought off a last half Quaker rally to win 24-20 and go into a first place tie; C.G.E. scored in the final minute to beat St. John's 12-10 for their first win, and Heclas came from behind to trounce Dominions 12-10, in Saturday night's renewal of the Senior City Basketball League, before a good crowd at the Y.M.C.A.

"Jumpin' Jimmy" Thorburn added 18 points to his total, to move a full 42 points ahead of his nearest rival in the scoring race, Jack Dougherty, of Heclas. League standing after this week-end's battles:

	W	L	F	A
St. Paul's	3	1	137	99
Quakers	3	1	88	70
Heclas	2	2	90	68
Dominions	2	2	88	115
St. John's	1	3	75	83
C. G. E.	1	3	51	101

After trailing badly at the half, 16-7, Quakers rallied strongly in the last 20 minutes, outscored St. Paul's 13-8, and all but tied it up before the winners again went to the fore in the final minutes to win 24-20.

Starting the second half, Jackafby was expelled for fighting. Quakers began scoring, and with minutes to play the score was 19-18 against them. But, St. Paul's pulled away again in the dying minutes of the game and won out. Thorburn, the winners big scorer, and McIntyre and Marsh, starred for St. Paul's and Kingdon, Thomas and Gunsolus were the pick of the losers. The teams:

Quakers (20) — Centre, Jackafby; forwards, Kingdon (4), Ward (2); guards, Gunsolus (2), Thomas (3); subs, Ash, Patterson (3), Galley (6).

St. Paul's (24)—Centre, McArthur; forwards, Thorburn (18), Pulkinghorn (2); guards McIntyre (2), Marsh (1); subs, Gemmel (1).

C.G.E. Wins

Cliff Cadd took a pass from out of bounds and scored to give C.G.E. their first win, 12-10, after St. John's had rallied in the last half and tied the score at 10-all. The winners took a 5-2 lead in the low-scoring hard first half, out-checking and out-playing St. John's, and though the losers had a slight edge in the play and the scoring in the second half, C.G.E. had enough left to pull ahead again at the last to earn their first victory.

C.G.E. were guilty of only 1 foul against seven for the losers. Cadd and Holmes starred for the winners, and Craig and Ascott were the pick of the losers. The teams:

St. John's (10)—Centre, Craig (6); forwards, Gillespie (2), Taylor; guards, Ascott, Dyer; subs, Amys, Clarke (2).

Referee, G. Gunsolus; umpire, Walter Ferris.

Heclas Cop It

Dominions had an 8-5 lead at the half but Heclas came back strongly to outscore the losers 15-2 in the last period and won 20-10 in the closing struggle of the night.

Both teams missed a lot of shots, but the real margin came in free throws, the winners making 10 of 11 and Dominions missing all 12 of their tries. White, Dougherty, and Sedgewick were the big guns for the winners, with Holmes and Wolstenholme the pick of the losers. The teams:

Dominions (10)—Centre, Hammel (2); forwards, Weese (4), Holmes (2); guards, Rennie, Grose; subs, Wolstenholme, Dundas (2), Csumerick.

Referee, Walter Ferris; umpire, K. Gillespie.

LEAFS HELD TO TIE IN NEW YORK AND DROP GAME 4-2 AT HOME

Black Hawks Blanked By Boston Bruins

By Robert Clarke
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Every day in every way as Boston become better and better, it becomes more apparent that Art Ross threw a perfect strike on the rest of the National Hockey League when he called in Mrs. John Brimsek's little boy Frankie to look after the goal-tending chores.

Undeniably, it's a case of a great Bruin team helping a lot in making a netminder look good for the league-leading Ross rifles have a great offensive and defensive record. But as certain as that is, it is also true that the 24-year-old rookie, Brimsek, in reverse fashion, has helped make the Bruins look good.

The dark-haired net janitor has been good enough, since he took over the job as regular Bruin goalie, Dec. 1, after Ross sold the veteran Cecil (Tiny) Thompson to Detroit Red Wings, to turn in eight shut-outs in the 25 games Bruins have played since then. That means nearly an average of a shutout in every third game.

His eighth blanking, which broke a tie and sent him one up on Walter (Turk) Broda, of Toronto Maple Leafs, came last night when the Bruins walloped Chicago Black Hawks, 3-0, in Chicago. On hand at the game were the mothers of Brimsek and goalie Mike Karakas of the Hawks. Both netmen are natives of Eveleth, Minn.

The doings of the New York Rangers held almost as much attention during the week-end as Boston's feat in whipping the Hawks. The second-place blueshirts of Lester Patrick whipped Maple Leafs 4-2 in Toronto Saturday night and then tied the same team, 5-5, last night in New York. In the only game of the week-end Detroit swamped New York Americans 7-3.

Centreman, Bill Cowley, gave Bruins the tally needed for victory when he scored in the first period on a pass from Eddie Shore. Gordon Pettinger added another in the second period, and in the third little Bobby Bauer ended the scoring with a goal in the second minute of the period. The loss, coupled with Detroit's victory, pushed Hawks down into sixth place in the standing.

Red Horner

There were numerous features in the Rangers-Leafs clashes, among them the fact that Clint Smith of the New Yorkers received his first penalty in the 83 games he has played in big league hockey. It came for a trip in the first period of the game at New York.

But Smith more than made up for that by the fact that he scored one goal in Rangers victory in Toronto and was credited with two tallies in the second game. One of the scores was an awarded goal, because Bucko McDonald threw his stick as Smith was in alone on the goalie.

Neil Colville, Smith, Phil Watson and Bryan Hextall got the goals that meant victory for Rangers Saturday night, as the best Leafs could do was the tallies by Gord Drillon and Syl Apps. Hextall got another two, Smith had two and Watson one in the return game. The Toronto forces were good for singles by Doc Romnes, Apps, and Marker while defenceman Red Horner had two.

Giesebrecht Going

Rookie Gus Giesebrecht bagged three goals in the first period to pace Wings to their decision over the crippled Americans, who were playing their second straight game with regular goalie Earl Robertson replaced by Alfie Moore, the league's spare goalie. Besides Robertson, out with the grippe, the Americans still are minus Red Beattie and defenceman Al Murray.

Carl Liscombe and Charlie Conacher also scored for the Wings in the first period to give them a 5-0 lead. Johnny Sorrell cut that by one with the only score in the middle period, and in the third session Alex Motter and Syd Howe tallied for the Wings, while Roger Jenkins and Sweeney Schriner scored for Americans.

Jimmy Foxx, Dizzy Dean Get Philadelphia Awards

Two of baseball's outstanding figures last season are seen here with their awards, two of the many made by various organizations and societies in United States throughout the winter. These were presented by the Philadelphia Sports Writers' Association, Jimmy Foxx, LEFT, being rewarded as the "outstanding athlete" following his great work in a comeback role at first base for Boston Red Sox, and Dizzy Dean, RIGHT, as the "most courageous athlete" because of his performance for Chicago Cubs against the murderous Yankees in the world series. The year, as a whole, was pretty dismal for the Diz, but his glorious finish has been bringing him accolades ever since.

Drafting Squad Gains Verdict

Drafting Room pulled out a 3-2 nod over Porcelains in a C.G.E. shop hockey encounter at the Brock on Saturday afternoon before a fair crowd of fans. It was a bitterly-fought fray with Dunfield, an opportunist, cashing in with the winning marker in the dying moments of the game, as he picked up a loose puck and gave Maher no chance on it. He scored twice and Rooke once for the winners; while English and Collins tallied for the other side. The work of Cadd, Dunfield, Rooke, English, Collins, and Maher was good throughout. The teams:

Porcelain — Goal, Maher; defence, M. Collins, English; centre, J. Collins; wings, Young, Murphy; subs., Johnston, Bucknell.

Referee—Red Creighton.

Stirling Laces Tweed High To Tune Of 4-3

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 6—In a game which featured close checking and well combined passing, Stirling High School eked out a 4-3 decision over the Tweed High School at the local arena on Saturday evening, in a game which had previously been postponed. This was Stirling's first win of the interscholastic series this season.

Both teams played a close checking game in the first period, which went scoreless, neither team opening up when the other side was short-handed. F. Doyle and Jendran were given penalties in this canto for tripping. Both goalies played a brilliant game.

In the second period Stirling opened the scoring, when the teams opened up and showed clever passing as Morton took a pass from Richardson to sink the first counter of the game. However, the one goal advantage was soon overcome when Wager shot a backhand drive just outside the blue line to knot the count at one all. Morton, on the visiting team, on a brilliant solo rush from one end of the arena to the other drove an ankle high shot past Wager to regain the lead, by F. Doyle on the Tweed defence soon tied up the count at two all when he took a pass out from the corner from Vance to drive a shot in from the side, and G. Wager placed the home team one up on a pass from F. Doyle to end the period with the home forces in the lead three to two. Porritt and Morton went to the penalty bench in this period for putting on a roughing act.

Just before the end of the final period Armstrong took a pass from Morton to win the game, previous to which Morton took a solo trip down the ice to tie the count. Walker went to the pen for tripping when the Tweed team was in a position to increase their lead, however they were unable to cope with the heavier Stirling team, which had a well planned passing, checking and rushing attack all through the game.

The Stirling team was the better of the two, having a better checking, and rushing team and their goalie, McGowan, played a stellar game between the gas pipes. Morton with three goals, and an assist on the last goal, was the standout for the Stirling team. His brilliant rushing and checking was a standout, together with the work of McGowan in the nets, who time and time again prevented the Tweed boys scoring as they closed in on him. For the home forces, Wager with his rushing, and F. Doyle on defence were the standouts, while J. Wager in the nets played a good game, preventing the Stirling team from sure counters as they rushed in on him.

Teams:

Stirling—Goal, McGowan; defence, J. Walker, Brooks; wings, Armstrong, Richardson; centre, Morton; subs, R. Walker, Pyear, J. Andrew, Vandervoort, Bastedo, Jendran.

Widener Threat Wins Handily

Making his first start since he won the rich Belmont Stakes last year, Pasteurized, ABOVE, came down in front in the Grade "A" Handicap at Hialeah to prove that he'll be a threat in the running of the Widener Challenge cup race, big event of the Florida winter racing season, in early March.

Oshawa Juniors Play Colts Here

Oshawa juniors and the local Colts clash here tomorrow (Tuesday) night at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink, in an O.H.A. junior "B" fixture. It is the second game of their double schedule, the Motor Citizens having taken the first by a 5-0 count on home ice last week. The Colts insist the proper score of that game should have been 4-2, and claim they received a bad deal from the referee, as well as finding the large ice surface in Oshawa a handicap. The game was a rough affair, with both teams bumping each other hard and often.

Tomorrow's tilt here will see the Colts on their own ice and the visitors playing on a strange and smaller surface, so the advantage lies with the locals. It will be another exciting and rugged joust, and a highly-important one for the Peterborough team to win. Big as the Colts are physically, the Oshawa outfit outweighs them—and they have an all-star collection of junior "B" players. The Colts are due to hit their real form this time, and cop the duke, but it will be a tight and torried tussle. This game, in the nature of a playoff, deserves a big crowd of fans.

Orillia Team Back From Hollywood

ORILLIA, Ont., Feb. 6.—(CP)—Orillia Terriers lacrosse team returned during the weekend from Hollywood, claiming the Pacific Coast box lacrosse title. Terriers, finalists in the Ontario Lacrosse Association race last summer, won six games in seven starts before the newly-organized coast league wound up. Players said the league would be resumed next winter.

"We were told definitely before leaving the coast that we would be given a chance to return next winter," Captain Vern Steggall said. Commenting upon the threat of two-year suspensions from Canadian lacrosse, Steggall said: "None of us has any regrets; it was a wonderful trip and we are all glad we did not miss it."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAVE THAT DOUBLE IN

YOU REALLY SHOULD take out some business doubles made by your partner. But not, as a rule, if you have a hand which is as good defensively as you have so far shown and he has doubled vulnerable opponents when your side is not vulnerable. In that situation, even if the intervening opponent takes out the double into another suit which you cannot double yourself, it is usually your job to pass and put it up to your partner to double that or else make some bid of his own.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East began the bidding here with 1-Club, South bid 1-Heart and West 1-Spade. That bid would have been all right if South had passed, because then West would have had the responsibility of keeping it open with any hand which might produce game if his partner had almost a two bid. But in this case, South had performed the function of keeping it open, so West should not have made a free bid unless he had something worth while to show.

That 1-Spade call should have been badly penalized. North of course doubled it. When East bid 2-Clubs, South should have passed, to give North a chance to double that. Had he done so, it would have been set much more than a not-vulnerable game was worth.

South erred badly, however. Over the 2-Clubs, he showed his second suit with 2-Diamonds. With the opponents now shaken off the limb onto which they had climbed with West's bad bid, they were pleased to pass thereafter, as North then went to 2-No trump, South 3-Diamonds and North 3-No trump, a cinch contract but sad in comparison to the luscious double that had been in sight.

Tomorrow's Problem

Checking Gambling

DETROIT, Feb. 6—(CP).—Detroit police raided nine alleged handbook establishments during the night, booking 116 men and women. Horse betting, card playing, policy games and crap shooting were stopped by the police.

Raids since Jan. 1 reached 51 yesterday. The drive against gambling establishments re-opened this week after police Supt. Fred W. Frahm, told precinct inspectors that unless gambling stopped in their precincts, they would stop working for the city.

U.F.O. Planning Campaign Of Two Weeks

Plans of a campaign to spread the principles of co-operation throughout the countryside around Peterborough were concluded late Friday afternoon by the executive of the Peterborough U.F.O. Club, with Clarence Mann presiding, and all but one or two of the directors present.

Beginning on February 13, four teams of eight young farmers, two of them girls, are setting out on an educational drive to explain the rudiments of the co-operative movement, to tell what has been accomplished in other countries and also in Canada, and, in effect, to say "This is what other peoples have done, why can't we do the same thing."

During that first week, meetings will be held in community halls, churches, schools, the speakers going out in teams of two for each engagement. In the next week the team members will extend the campaign singly by attending what are called "kitchen" meetings, carrying the gospel of co-operation to the farm firesides, and concluding the intensive effort with a social evening or banquet on Friday, February 24.

The First Meetings

The inceptive meetings on Monday, February 13, will be held at Gilmour Memorial church, to be arranged by Chas. E. Moore; at S. S. No. 8, Otonabee, arranged by Earl Petrie; and S. S. No. 3, Douro, and also at Lakefield.

Tuesday, February 14—At S. S. 1, Smith, arranged by M. Clark; S.S. No. 11, Smith, arranged by Erle Tully; at Bridgenorth United church, arranged by A. Armstrong; at Fowler's Corners Presbyterian church, arranged by R. McAdams, and C. E. Moore ;an dat Bridgenorth United Church.

Wednesday, February 15—Ennismore parish hall, arranged by Rev. V. J. Gillogley; Warsaw Hall, arranged by E. H. Brown; St. James' Anglican church, arranged by M. Clark.

That glimpse of part of the invasion indicates the scope of it, but it gives no impression of the enthusiasm the directors are putting in to it. They have no immediate concrete objective. They quote the slogan of Sweden's co-operative establishments "Education must precede organization."

The eight young farm people who are coming into the area to assist the local executive have been handpicked from among farm co-operative leaders in Ontario. More will be heard about this educational drive next week.

● Is your constipation becoming a burden, not only to you but to those around you? Is it wrecking your disposition as well as your health? Many suffer needlessly, for common constipation is usually due to nothing more than a lack of "bulk" in the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a ready-to-eat cereal which supplies the "bulk" necessary to regular bowel movements. Eat ALL-BRAN every morning with milk, cream or fruit, or in the form of delicious muffins. New York Police Break Up Anti-Italian Demonstration

Oldest Woman In Alderville Observes 89th Birthday

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Feb. 6.—Mrs. William Loukes, one of Alderville's prominent pioneer citizens celebrated on Saturday, Feb. 4, her 89th birthday. This cultured lady relates many interesting stories of pioneer life, of her mother's immigration from Ireland in 1809, and of her period of employment in the home of Elder and Mrs. Case, missionaries to Alderville. After living for three years in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Loukes returned to Alderville where they engaged in farming. Mr. Loukes was the only postmaster on the reserve holding this office for 35 years.

Mrs. Loukes recalls an epidemic of cholera and smallpox which swept Belleville, where she was a small child, where many funerals were held each day. Another recollection of her childhood was watching the first railway line and station built through and in Belleville.

Although in failing health Mrs. Loukes retains her faculties of sight and hearing and attends to her household duties. Mrs. Loukes has been prominent in church and Sunday school activities at Alderville as long an energy permitted. Of a family of nine children four are living, James of Toronto, Mrs. Frank Joblin of Janetville, Mrs. Christopher Marsden and William Loukes of Alderville.

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP).—From spokesmen of all groups in the House of Commons came expressions Friday of willingness to vote whatever money is necessary to rehabilitate Western Nova Scotia lobster fishermen who suffered equipment loss estimated at from $100,000 to $125,000 in a violent gale last December.

Norwood W.I. Plans Valentine Tea

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Feb. 6. —The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Rork Ferguson on Friday afternoon. Mrs. A. Innes, the president, took the chair, and the meeting opened with the Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The roll-call was answered by the members giving the number of sick calls they had made, which was thirty-five and a Valentine verse.

It was decided to have a Valentine tea and baking sale on February 11. Arrangements were made for a euchre party to be held on February 21. A committee was named to procure a play to be put on around Easter. Miss L. Cuthbertson, Reg. N., the school nurse, was present, asking for a pair of glasses for a child going to school. It was decided to buy the glasses. A sewing circle is to be held at Mrs. F. Stewart's and the members are to bring used clothing for a family who had lost their home and contents by fire. Pot luck lunch will be served. The fruit and flower committee reported sending four baskets of fruit to shut-ins.

Mrs. E. Cuthbertson, the convener, took over the program. Mrs. Wright gave an instrumental (Gavotte in D). Mrs. B. Lochead gave a list of the current events. Mrs. G. Baker gave a reading by Nellie McClung. Mrs. R. Ferguson rendered a reading "You have nothing to worry about." Mrs. G. Bitten gave prizes for the best sample of putting a patch on print, which were won by Mrs. Cuthbertson and Mrs. Lochead both receiving pretty lace centres.

Mrs. W. Chamberlain moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Ferguson and those taking part in the program. The meeting closed with "God Save the King," followed by a delicious lunch.

HAVELOCK

Boys' League Plans Movie Programs

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 6. — The Church Boys' League of St. John's Church met on Friday evening in the church basement with a good attendance. A vocational talk was given by their leader, H. W. Roche, on the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," pointing out the various meanings it carried.

It was reported that the hockey team had been successfully organized and equipped under the direction of Noel Lade. They have had several practise sessions, and although not in an organized group are arranging some exhibition games with church teams in nearby towns.

The donation of sixteen books, suitable for boys 12 to 16 years, was made to the club by J. Covert, and Ted Fleming was appointed librarian. The boys intend to build up a small library for their own use.

After considerable discussion it was decided to run some movies in the near future to raise some funds for the organization. Several films were selected from a list of C.P.R. pictures, and the leader was asked to procure these and the projector for the latter part of this month.

Musical numbers were contributed by Ted Fleming, with his guitar, and Meryl Clarke and his mouth organ, after which the class was dismissed early, allowing them to attend the local hockey match.

Dismisses 615

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 6—(CP).—Governor Frank Fitzgerald has ordered 615 welfare department employees discharged during the next six weeks. He said the saving would amount to $900,000 annually. Fitzgerald attacked former Governor Frank Murphy, now United States' Attorney General, for failing to cut personnel earlier.

Beautifying Home Discussed With W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HARWOOD, Feb. 6.—The Women's Institute was honored at their regular meeting on Thursday by having Mr. McLeod, agricultural representative of Brighton as guest speaker. The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Calcutt and due to weather conditions was not as largely attended as usual but about 25 members and visitors listened with interest to the speaker. His address was on beautifying our homes and lawns by planting shrubs and trees. Mr. McLeod plans to hold meetings in various centres in early spring and hopes the farmers will co-operate in this project.

After the usual opening part of the program the roll call, to which members responded "How I make my head save my heels".

Final arrangements were made for the euchre and dance to be held on Feb. 14. The music for the afternoon was piano solos given by Misses Olive Shearer and D. Lawless, also a duet by Mrs. C. Burrison and Miss Marjorie McCullogh.

Miss Lillian McFarland moved a vote of thanks to Mr. McLeod for his address. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Calcutt and committee in charge. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. MacLean. "Grandmother's Day"

Roads At Bailieboro Are Cleared Again

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 6.—The mild weather which has prevailed during the past few days has enabled farmers to get the township roads once again made fit for motor traffic. On Friday cream trucks and bread trucks were able to resume their regular routes over roads which have been snow blocked since Monday night's storm.

Residents of the district are delaying taking out ice from Rice Lake until the weather again settles. The cold weather which has prevailed during the past fortnight has helped to make splendid ice and it is estimated that there is a depth of 16 to 17 inches.

A hydro line is being erected east of the village in the vicinity of the north shore of Rice Lake. About 20 men have been engaged during the past week in digging post holes, erecting poles and wiring. Mr. G. Harrington of the Hydro Electric Commission of Millbrook is in charge of the operations.

Girl's Triple Dream Reveals $3 Lost Six Months

Spring Grove, Pa., Feb. 6 (AP) MISS KATIE BAUBLITZ searched in vain for $3 she lost while buying window shades in a store last September. Nearly six months later, she said, she dreamed — on three different nights—that the bills were lying behind a rack from which the shades were selected. Unable to forget the dreams, she investigated. Behind the rack she found the bills.

Springville W.A. Packs Bale

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Melville Johnston opened her home on Wednesday for a pot luck dinner and sewing bee, held by the Women's Association of the church. This was for the purpose of preparing a bale to be sent to Trewdale, Sask., as a letter had been received telling of the distress in that locality. There were 20 ladies present and much clothing was prepared, as well as three quilts being quilted. One of these was pieced by the Mission Band and given on their behalf by the leader, Miss Schaeffer.

Miss Colon Honored

It was with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that the people of Springville and the community, heard that Miss Murton Colon had been transferred to the maritime provinces. Although Miss Colon has resided on the Port Hope highway for a number of years, her childhood and the early part of her life were spent at Springville. She was always active in both the church and community life and still continues to be interested in our community. Her friends here wish her every success in her new position.

Those from Springville who attended the farewell party in her honor at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club included the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. Cathcart, Mr. and Mrs. O. Pue, Mr. and Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bidgood, Mr. and Mrs. O. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. J. Whitfield, Mrs. H. Bidgood, the Misses A. Brown, D. Cathcart, M. Cathcart, M. Brown, E. Pue and Messrs W. Brown, W. Bowles, D. Cathcart, M. Cathcart.

Jailed In Vienna

VIENNA, Feb. 6—(CP-Reuters).—Aubrey Grant, a Canadian subject, was sentenced yesterday by Supreme Court to 16 months imprisonment and a fine of £5,000 on a charge of breaking the German currency laws.

Grant had appealed a sentence of a Vienna court last October which imposed a fine of £10,000 or two months imprisonment.

Supply Of Eggs Not So Heavy On Farm Market

Excepting a slight shrinkage in the supply of eggs, Saturday's market dropped into the mid-winter groove of average business in the staples of farm produce.

"If February were to get cold for a few weeks we might see eggs back to those good prices we used to get there in the late fall," one woman said.

Prices were generally 22 and 23 cents a dozen, with some at 20 cents, and a few baskets at 18 cents; but after the dinner hour there was hardly an egg left on any of the counters.

Butter was steady at 23 to 25 cents; chickens 20 to 23 cents, and mature fowl 18 cents.

Parkers of Hastings, fairly steady attendants at the market most of the year, and especially in the fine weather months, came up Saturday with a showing of greenhouse plants, cyclamen and azaleas, for the most part, a bank of pink bloom that suggested the winter flowering belt. Possibly most people feel disposed to wish the florists an extra bit of luck for the atmosphere of beauty that accompanies them into a world that more and more seems to be determined to trample the humanities under foot.

Saturday's weather was chillier than usual. Even R. R. Dixon's covered wagon looked about as drafty and frosty as an igloo. A small boy with three fox terrier puppies in a box attracted attention for himself, and also for the shivering little pooches.

Range In Prices.

Potatoes were quoted from $1.30 to $1.50 a bag. The outdoor market was otherwise steady in its offering of meats, fruits and vegetables.

R. H. McArthur of Ida asked $1.30 to $1.50 for White Star potatoes, and Erie Tully had Dooleys at $1.50. The supply seemed light around 11 o'clock.

H. R. Gill's meat prices were 12 and 14 cents a pound for beef, and 14 and 16 cents a pound for pork; and mutton at 12 and 14 cents.

George Mullen's quoted 14 and 16 cents for pork and 11 and 13 cents for beef.

The fruit men must have a steady trade judging by the fact that most of them are in every Saturday with a big stock of the all-vitamin products, and jars of cider on the side. Northern Spies are in their prime, so are Snows and Russets and some other varieties.

Norman Moncrief's prices were: Russets 35c, McIntosh Reds 45c; Delicious 40c; Snows and Talmans 40c the peck. The Peterborough grown McIntoshes seem to be hardier than the fruit grown along the lake front, and are holding their firmness well.

The Orono Fruit Farm prices were 40c for Spies, 25c a peck for Starks and Greenings. In the vegetables section, parsnips, carrots and beets were 15 and 20 cents a six quart basket. Honey was unchanged.

Held In Mystery Deaths Of Four

Herman Petrillo, 40, RIGHT, is being held on a suspicion of homicide by Philadelphia police following a coroner's inquest into the death of four persons reportedly poisoned with arsenic for their insurance. Also under arrest is Mrs. Stella Alfonsi, LEFT, widow of a building contractor's superintendent. Witnesses allege that about $5,500 in insurance was placed on Alfonsi, some of it without his knowledge.

217 Miles Of Major Hastings Roads Clear 3 Days After Blizzard

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 6.— Clearance of snow following the recent severe blizzard from the two hundred and seventeen miles comprising the main travelled parts of the county roads system, was occupied in full on Friday in Hastings county, County Road Superintendent W. L. Langlois stated on Saturday.

Driving on all roads is now comparatively safe as sanding has been done on all hills and dangerous turns, stated the superintendent.

Four snow ploughs and crews worked day and night at the height of the storm, he stated and by doing this, the Madoc road and other main county arteries did not become blocked. The Marmora-Cordova road, blocked by heavy drifts of snow, was opened on Wednesday as was the Stoco-Marlbank road. From OrmsbyoCoe Hill and Purdyville, the road, while open to traffic, requires careful driving. Drifts were so deep in various parts of the county, especially the road between Harold and Ivanhoe, that the heavy ploughs could not "wing" back the snow without the assistance of hand labour.

The decision of the Roads and Bridges committee to keep open by truck-plough roughly 75 per cent of the total road system—a greater mileage than ever attempted before—has proven eminently satisfactory so far this year.

Britain Hints According Franco A Win

Insist No Germans Or Italians In Balearic Isles

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (CP Cable)—A Foreign Office spokesman to-day said the British and French Governments are considering recognition of General Franco's administration as the sole official government of Spain.

Authoritative quarters held, however, that such recognition must await the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the country and that in the meantime the position regarding General Franco's demands for recognition remains unchanged.

The insurgent chieftain is said to have made no new demands for recognition following the apparent collapse of Republican resistance, but it is presumed his previous demand—based on occupation of the major portion of the country—still stands.

The continued recognition by Great Britain of the Spanish Republican Government depends, officials said, on the "questionable" legal position of the Government.

The Balearic Catch.

Great Britain and France are understood to have pointed out to General Franco that the government-held Balearic Island of Minorca in the Mediterranean must be occupied not by Italian or German forces, but solely by Spaniards before London and Paris can recognize the insurgent regime.

Frequent reports that Italian troops control Mallorca, largest of the Balearic Islands, have caused anxiety here since these islands are close to France's line of communications with her African possessions.

Diplomatic quarters in Paris said General Franco had given a promise of friendly relations between the "New Spain" and France. Senator Leon Berard, semi-official French envoy to Burgos, was said to be on his way back to Paris "highly satisfied" with exploratory talks with insurgent leaders.

Jap Appointees Assassinated

SHANGHAI, Feb. 7 (AP)—Assassins today shot and killed two officials of the Japanese-sponsored reformed government, bringing to five the number of political assassinations here in three years.

Chow Chi-Tang, counsellor of the government's ministry of finance, was shot while riding through the streets of the international settlement.

The gunman pinned on his body a note in Chinese characters saying "You are a traitor."

Soo Che-Dong, a tax collector, also was shot while riding in the international settlement.

In Chekiang province, down the coast from Shanghai, Chinese guerrillas tore up several miles of railroad track after a three-day battle near Kashing, interrupting Shanghai-Hangchow rail traffic.

LONDON.—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons to-day he is unable to contemplate a visit to President Roosevelt in Washington. "My visits to other countries," said the Prime Minister, in reply to a question, "in all cases have been in connection with special circumstances."

Negrin Headed For Valencia, Fight To End

By Charles Foltz
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The Spanish Government Embassy announced today that the government of Premier Juan Negrin will proceed to Valencia "before the end of this week' and "continue resistance to the end."

The announcement made no mention of negotiations at the French-Spanish border for peace in the 2½-year-old Spanish civil war but indicated at least a temporary refusal of the insurgent demand that the government surrender unconditionally.

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 7 — (AP). — An end to the Civil War which has paralyzed Spain and endangered the peace of Europe for 30 months appeared imminent today.

Dr. Juan Negrin, Premier of Government Spain, and his last diehard supporters, were reported in diplomatic circles to be swinging around to the view they must yield.

President Manuel Azana abandoned all appearances of clinging to his post as head of the Republic. After coming to France on Sunday and staying a day near the frontier he went to a French retreat at Collonges, close to Geneva.

City Council Requested To Submit Bylaw To Protestant Ratepayers

Mayor Hamilton Is Authorized To Call Special Meeting When Petition Will Be Dealt With

Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital presented a request to the council last night that a by-law be submitted to the Protestant ratepayers to provide for the financing of a new hospital building at a cost of $395,000.

The proposal contemplated the issuing of debentures for a term of 30 years to be retired in annual payments of approximately $21,000, equivalent to slightly more than one mill in the tax rate, and suggested that the vote be taken during Easter week, between April 11 to 14, when the schools would be available, as polling places.

Not a word of dissent from the deputation's summary of the need of a new hospital was raised by members of the council last night, and Mayor Hamilton was authorized to call a special meeting as early as possible next week when the petition will be dealt with.

The members of the deputation were E. F. Mason, Albert Throop, Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch, Vincent Eastwood, J. F. Morrison, E. B. Fowler, Chas. Lacheur, J. J. Turner and J. W. Pierce.

Turning Patients Away.

Mr. Mason, president of the Board of Trustees, supplemented the written request to the council with a review of factors that have created the urgent problem of providing increased accommodation that would enable Nicholls Hospital to receive and take care of all the patients who apply for admission instead of having to turn many away. As an expedient of relief an additional house was obtained on George street for the superintendent and nurses. The rooms they had occupied at the hospital were equipped and were filled at once, leaving the institution still overtaxed, and the necessity of more room as pressing as it had been.

On the basis of a population of 65,000 people in the city and county and adjoining district of which Peterborough is the centre, and allowing 4½ beds for each 1,000 persons, Mr. Mason said the hospital requirements of that community were 293 beds. Assuming that the proposed new Nicholls Hospital could receive approximately 150 patients and St. Joseph's Hospital from 90 to 100 patients, it was apparent that even in those circumstances the total available accommodation would fall short of the requirements which should be anticipated.

"It is quite easy for any man to say "I don't want a hospital", but

Franco Offers France Friendship

By Henry Cassidy
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP).—Insurgent General Franco has given a promise of friendly relations between the "new Spain" and France, diplomatic informants said to-day.

Senator Leon Berard, semi-official French envoy to Burgos, received this assurance from the insurgent administration and was returning to Paris "highy satisfied" with his exploratory talks, it was ascertained here.

His trip to Burgos during the military decline of the Spanish government served as a prelude to possible recognition of General Franco's government by both Great Britain and France.

Senator Berard, who left Burgos yesterday, was expected to reach Paris to-night. He telephoned ahead to report to the Foreign Ministry.

Three principal points of his report were given in diplomatic quarters as:

1. Insurgent Spain has erected no fortifications on its Pyrenees frontier facing France and will raise none.

2. Any military airport placed near the border during the civil war will be removed.

3. No foreign power will be permitted to keep a political or military foothold in Spain.

Asks Recognition.

In return for these assurances, the insurgent administration was said to have asked France soon to recognize Franco's regime as the sole government of Spain and to send an ambassador to Burgos.

This report went far toward quieting French fears that an end to the war would bring a new period of European tension, with Italy using her troops in Spain as a lever to enforce demands for concessions in the French colonial empire.

Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons yesterday, that Britain would be with France against any threats to her vital interest, came as another cheering factor.

It was taken here as support for recent assurances by Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonet to the French chamber that France and Britain would act together if necessary to force Italy out of Spain.

A French overture for peaceful settlement of the problem was read by some observers into the trip to Rome by Paul Baudouin, president of the Bank of Indo-China and a friend of Bonnet.

Some idea of the crowds that skate in Jackson Park rink can be obtained from the picture here. Skaters keep coming and going all day long and it is estimated that more than a thousand were skating at one time or another on Sunday, in addition to the hundreds that lined the banks, and walked, or skiied through the park.

Try Personal Contact Chamberlain Urges Arabs, Jews

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain urged Arab delegates to the Palestine conference today to settle their feud with the Jews "by personal contact"—after the manner of the foreign policy he has pursued in seeking European appeasement.

Opening the conference at St. James's Palace with a welcoming address to the Arabs, Mr. Chamberlain said:—

"My policy is one of peace. You will be aware that my particular method of approach to peace is through understanding and the first essential step to understanding is personal contact."

Addressing the Arabs representing the exiled grand mufti of Jerusalem, who refused to sit in the same room with the Jewish representatives, the prime minister said Great Britain is "seeking a wise settlement of the present difficulties which will safeguard the rights and position of the Arabs (who oppose Jewish immigration) in Palestine."

In a second address, to assembled Jewish delegates, Mr. Chamberlain paid tribute to the "discipline and restraint which was shown generally by the Jewish community during the period of extreme difficulty and danger in Palestine. He also repeated the objects of the conference, as outlined to the Arabs.

The Holy Land itself saw a continuance of Arab-Jewish strife. Two Jews were killed and 55 Arabs arrested. The Jews were slain during attacks on settlements in Haifa and Galilee.

Enter Separate Entrances

The Arabs were ushered into the palace by one entrance. The Jews entered by another for their welcome which followed that to the Arabs. At no time did the two groups meet.

The grand mufti's delegation, in a dispute over representation, prevailed upon the opposition Arab national defence party delegation to withdraw.

Mr. Chamberlain indicated Great Britain's policy is one of compromise by telling the Arabs: 'It is a task of statesmanship when faced by what may appear to be a deadlock between two peoples to achieve compromise on the basis of justice."

He thanked representatives from Egypt, Iraq and other eastern states for attending because "this task is difficult no doubt, but surely not beyond the capacity of our united powers."

875,000 In Canada Begin '39 Leaning On Aid 920 Million Direct Relief Paid Since 1930

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP) — Canada is suffering from a "letdown of spirit and morale" as a result of years of repression and mounting unemployment, according to a report just published by the Canadian Welfare Council.

Entitled "this weary pilgrimage; the dependency outlook in Canada, 1939" the summary is based on returns from 210 public or voluntary welfare agencies throughout the Dominion.

The survey notes that "an abiding weariness, a fatigue seems to be upon the land, a grim acceptance on the part of the taxpayer that 'relief is here to stay'; a terrible, tragic apathy on the part of the people that 'well, we'll never get work again anyway'."

By the end of next month, the summary states, Canada will have spent since 1930 about $920,000,000 on "direct" relief, unemployment relief works and other relief projects. In the last month of 1938 there were 875,000 persons in Canada dependent on jobless or agricultural aid.

Italians To Leave Spain After War Government Assures Britain

ROME, Feb. 7.—(AP).—The Italian government has disclaimed to Great Britain any intention of keeping Italian troops in Spain after a final insurgent victory, it was reported to-day in political circles.

Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano was said to have assured the Earl of Perth, British ambassador, that the usually authoritative editor, Virginio Gayda did not express the government's viewpoint in saying that Italians would remain in Spain until a "complete political victory" had been won by General Franco.

Lord Perth called on Count Ciano late yesterday to ask how Italian leaders reconciled intentions attributed to them by Gayda with the Anglo-Italian friendship agreement which went into effect Nov. 16. The agreement provided that Italian troops would be withdrawn from Spain as soon as the civil war ended, if not earlier.

The British envoy was reported to have accepted Count Ciano's denial that in this matter the Italian press had been inspired by, or reflected, Premier Mussolini's views.

Stay To End.

The Fascist Grand Council Sunday served notice that Italian volunteers "will not abandon" the Spanish war "before it is ended, as it must end, with Franco's victory." To this Gayda added an indication that victory would mean only political domination as well as military control by the insurgents.

Gayda charged that "new pressure and diplomatic intervention" were being planned against the insurgents, and added:

"Therefore, German and Italian assistance to the Nationalists (insurgents) cannot be reduced. To military victory, complete political victory must be added. Experience reminds Franco's friends that between one victory and the other, foreign introgue may intervene. Therefore, Italian legionnaires will not abandon Spanish territory until it shall have been urged completely of Red (government) armies and associated corrosive attempts of their friends."

Gayda Sticks to Guns

ROME, Feb. 7— (AP).—Virginio Gayda insisted today that the Spanish insurgents will continue to get Italian and German support until they win a "political" as well as a military victory, despite reliable re-

Il Duce Issues Call For Extra Fighting Planes

Rome, Feb. 7 (AP)

PREMIER MUSSOLINI today ordered a speedup of work on aviation factories at Faligno and Parasignano, near Perugia.

After a meeting of the supreme commission of defence, Il Duce piloted a tri-motored bombing plane to Perugia, where he inspected new aircraft facilities and the personnel of a bombing school.

Electric Blast Scares London

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP).—An explosion in an electric power station today spread alarm through London's densely populated East End, where it was believed for a time to be one of the series attributed to Irish republican army extremists.

Later, however, the blast was said to have been caused by a transformer failure.

The explosions followed yesterday's police court disclosure of a plan "S" outlining a widespread campaign of outrages in which electric plants were marked for "legitimate sabotage." The plan was said to have been distributed by the outlawed I.R.A.

See Nothing To Stop Royal Trip

European Outlook Not Worrying Premier W. L. M. King

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—(CP)—The government does not believe conditions in Europe or elsewhere are likely to interfere with the visit of the King and Queen to Canada, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said, in a statement issued from his office here to-day.

The report also declared that if the European situation deteriorated in the near future, the British government would advise against the visit of the King and Queen to Canada.

The Canadian government is naturally taking every reasonable precaution to provide for the safety of the King and Queen during Their Majesties visit to Canada. The suggestion that the government is anticipating any disturbances or any such outrage as an attempt on the lives of Their Majesties while in Canada is wholly incorrect. Reports received point exactly in the opposite direction. The King and Queen are far more effectively protected by the unanimous affection of their people than they can ever be by armor plate.

The government does not believe that conditions in Europe or elsewhere are likely to interfere with Their Majesties' visit to Canada.

Fear Heavy Toll, Kentucky Flood

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7 — (AP). — Fearing a belated report of disaster in flood-stricken mountain areas, Kentucky called for assistance today as the crest of the Ohio river moved past this city.

Dr. A. T. McCormack, state health commissioner at Louisville, said a heavy death list might be revealed in the eastern section, where the Ohio's tributaries swept to house top levels Sunday.

"This is the worst flood in the history of the mountains," said Dr. McCormack, asking for an appropriation from the emergency fund of the United States public health service.

Across the river from Cincinnati, residents of Newport and Covington, Ky., retreated as the Ohio reached a crest here of 58 feet. Police chief Leo Livingston of Newport estimated 600 families had been removed from homes. The water inundated 35 city block. Red Cross agencies were prepared to evacuate 1,200 families in the lowlands here.

Harassed by "flash" floods of small streams, Kentucky did not anticipate an emergency from the oncoming crest of the Ohio.

Cobourg Crossing To Lose Watchman

COBOURG, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP). — Cobourg Town Council last night was notified by the Board of Transport Commission that both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. companies had decided that the traffic at those hours didn't warrant a watchman at the level crossing on Ontario Street during the period of 8 p.m. to midnight. The C.P.R. indicated that if anything were done it might be a wig-wag.

Cobourg Town Council passed a by-law to issue debentures for $50,120 to cover cost of a new addition to the Collegiate Institute. In connection with the contemplated location of the Aluminum Company of Canada in Hamilon Township, just outside of Cobourg, the township council yesterday passed a by-law to be placed to a vote of the people for a fixed assessment for the factory. The vote will be taken March 3.

Detroit, Feb. 7 (CP)

PETER DALSTRA of Chicago hurried to Detroit when he received a telegram from his estranged wife reading "If you want to see your youngest child alive, come at once."

When he arrived, a policeman arrested him in his house. His wife said it was a trick to bring him back to Michigan because he was behind in his alimony payments. He was in jail today, pending investigation.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP). — John Cote, 19, who confessed he was th masked bandit who terrorized Windsor during the weekend of January 28, when six hold-ups were staged and two persons were shot, pleaded guilty in police court today to three charges of armed robbery and two of attempted armed robbery. He was remanded until February 13 for sentence.

The first shooting was that of 51-year-old Moses Cohen, shot in the thigh while protecting his money from a bandit. The second was that of Cote himself, who police quoted as saying: "I got worried as hell and tried to divert suspicion by shooting myself and blaming it on the bandit."

Cote was found semi-conscious, lying in a snowdrift early January 27. He said he had been held up and had struggled with a masked bandit who shot him through the shoulder.

Cote pleaded guilty yesterday in police court to a charge of conspiring with Raymond Strickland, 17, to hold up the gas station where Strickland works. The robbery of the station, January 27, netted $79 and started the series of robberies. Cote and Strickland, who pleaded guilty also, were remanded one week for sentence.

Butter At Last

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Feb. 7.—(CP).—Sam Sulo has kept a promise he made to himself before leaving for Canada from Spain, where he fought for the government forces.

He sat in a restaurant here last night, a few hours after arriving from Toronto where Ontario members of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion were welcomed home Saturday night, and happily buttered a piece of bread on both sides.

To friends about him, he said: "I've been promising myself this ever since I left Spain."

Chamberlain Greatest Man, Students Vote Also Mentioning Galento, Charlie McCarthy

EDMONTON, Feb. 7 (CP) — University of Alberta students believe Prime Minister Chamberlain is "the greatest man in the world today," according to results released today of a poll conducted among students. President Roosevelt was runner-up with Premier Aberhart and Anthony Eden tied for third.

"Two-Ton" Tony Galento of Orange, N.Y., and Charlie McCarthy were mentioned in the tabulations.

Students said Jesus Christ was the greatest man in history, and that the greatest woman of all time was Madame Marie Curie, famous scientist whose radium research opened new vistas of medical knowledge. Premier Aberhart received a single vote as the greatest man of all time.

The students chose as the greatest living woman, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's generalissimo. Others receiving votes were Mrs. Oliva Dionne, mother of the quintuplets; and "Mrs. R. B. Bennett," about whom the bachelor statesman made several jocund references during his recent farewell tour of Canada.

Suspect Pilot Making 11 Miles A Minute In 19,000 Foot Dive, Unconsious

SHREVEPORT, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP) — Second Lieutenant Troy Keith of the United States air corps reserve had no ill effects today to show for a plane dive of nearly four miles during which Barksdale Field officers estimated he may have travelled faster than any human ever has.

Flying yesterday at 28,000 feet above Caddo Lake, Lieut. Keith lost consciousness when his oxygen tank failed to function. Before he recovered, his army pursuit plane plunged to a height of 9,000 feet where he manged to get control of it and land safely despite a buckled wing.

Lieut. Keith found his speed indicator had jammed at 500 miles an hour. Although conceding it was a "scientific guess," other officers experienced in aerodynamics figured the plan may have attained a speed of about 670 miles an hour, or more than 11 miles a minute, during the dive.

Manion Calls For Cancelling Bren Gun Contract, Launches Stormy Debate

Gardiner Claims Only Insinuation Made As Conservative Chieftain Brands Deal Shameful Patronage

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—The House of Commons today was in the midst of its second full dress debate of the session, this time on the Bren gun contract.

Conservative Leader Manion, brushing aside a C.C.F. motion to send the contract to the Public Accounts Committee and Prime Minister Mackenzie King's suggestion that debate be delayed until after the committee completed its inquiry, launched the House yesterday into a discussion of the merits of the contract and the procedure followed in awarding it.

Declaring there had been enough investigation into the contract by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis as royal commissioner, Dr. Manion attacked the contract as a shameful piece of patronage and demanded its cancellation.

His motion that the contract be cancelled instead of referred to a committee drew an objection from Justice Minister Lapointe, who argued it was out of order. The Speaker reserved decision. The ruling will probably come today, but in the meantime some Liberal members were of opinion that if the Conservatives took responsibility for stopping a committee inquiry there was no need to proceed with it.

Gardiner Defends.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner entered the debate with a defence of the method followed in awarding the contract and an assertion that not a single definite objection had been raised to it, apart from insinuations. There was no indication, however, that the government itself would drop the plan for a committee review.

Many of the principal figures in the controversy over the contract, for 7,000 Bren machine guns awarded the John Inglis Co., Limited, of Toronto, on a cost plus basis, were present as the debate proceded. In their seats on the Liberal side were Defence Minister Mackenzie and Hugh Plakton (Lib., Toronto-Trinity), who introduced Major James E. Hahn, president of the Inglis Company at the Defence Department.

In the galleries sat Major Hahn with Herbert Plakton, his solicitor, and a large shareholder in the Inglis Company.

Dr. Manion based his demand for cancellation on the report of Justice Davis. That report, he said, was a complete condemnation of the government, the National Defence Department and the contract.

Favoritism to One Union

"My submission," he said, "is that the whole report is one of political patronage in its worst form, favoritism to one man, Major Hahn; injustice to other industrialists far more capable and fully equipped—which Major Hahn was not; deception of the Prime Minister by the member for Trinity (Mr. Plaxton); of the inter-departmental committee by the various statements made to it by officers in authority; of the British government and of the people of Canada.

Treated Shabby By C.P.R. Say Mac-Paps

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Officials of the friends of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion awaited to-day a reply from Canadian Pacific Railway officials as to charges of "shabby treatment" accorded members of the battalion returning from Spain where they fought with Government forces in the civil war.

They disembarked at Halifax Friday from the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond and arrived in Toronto by train Saturday.

Major Cecil-Smith said his warriors were segregated "like cattle

Separate School Rate Set At 10.84 Mills

A difference in local school rates is reflected in the municipal taxes to be paid into the city treasury this year by public and separate school supporters.

The public school rate is 9.27 mills and the separate school rate 10.84 mills.

Taxpayers, whose financial support is directed to public schools will pay 35 mills on their assessment, and the levy on separate school supporters will be 36.57 mills.

There is also the garbage rate of seven-tenths of a mill to be added to both levies. This rate last year was eight-tenths of a mill, a reduction of one-tenth of a mill.

In one of the most extraordinary accidents in the history of the sea, the 9,827-ton tanker Jaguar split in half in mid-Atlantic. This picture, taken from the deck of the rescue ship Duala, shows stern sinking. The forecastle was 10 miles away. Members of the crew were rescued from both halves.

Injured Priests Die After Crash

WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 7 (AP)—Two priests injured in an automobile accident in New Boston, Mass., died today in the Litchfield county hospital here.

Rev. Neal Sheehan of Assumption College, Sandwich, Ont., and Rev. Madigan of St. Thomas parish, Cleveland, injured last night when their automobile skidded on an ice-covered road 1½ miles the other side of the Connecticut-Massachusetts state line, died shortly after being brought here.

Rescuers worked an hour to extricate the two men from their machine which went down an embankment and turned over.

Hunt Armored Cars For King

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP). — In a despatch from its Ottawa correspondent the Globe and Mail says to-day that according to a reliable source "bombing outrages in England may seriously affect the arrangements made for the visit of the King and Queen to Canada next spring."

"It is understood on high authority that the Canadian Government, apprehensive over the situation in England, and fearful of possible attempts by terrorists on the lives of Their Majesties while on Dominion soil, have been seeking designs and information on armored cars for the use of the Royal couple in their tour of Canada," the story says.

"Extraordinary measures will be taken by the Canadian authorities, in co-operation with the United States Government, to prevent undesirables from entering the Dominion during the visit of the King and Queen."

The story says war veterans will be selected to co-operate with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in guarding the Royal visitors, and that "if the danger of a general European conflict becomes greater in the next few weeks, the British Government will certainly take no chances and will strongly advise against the King and Queen visiting the Dominion."

Volt Meter Tests Made In Hastings

HASTINGS, Feb. 7.—A recording volt meter chart in operation for more than two weeks here showed that on the average, the voltage in most sections of the village was well up to standard. Five charts, taken at various points of the village, were placed before the Hydro Commission in session here Monday evening.

One of the charts, recorded at Arthur Nelson's residence, showed a fluctuation of 97 to 120 volts from six o'clock in the evening until midnight.

Dr. W. E. Wilson, chairman, and Howard Fairman, voiced disapproval at the action of the council in passing a resolution urging the commission to look into the matter of possible low voltage. Reeve Lewis Kelley, member of the board, said the council had received many complaints regarding insufficient voltage and that was reason for their action.

The Reeve added he felt ashamed when a motion picture show was held up for half an hour due to what he thought was low volage. "One subscriber threatened to make the council pay for a motor if it persisted in burning out," he declared.

Dr. Wilson admitted Front street voltage was low and said that E. M. Hess, maintenance man, was instructed to add a new transformer but had been busy. Mr. Hess said the change had been held up for lack of equipment and necessary technical advice on the matter. As soon as the equipment arrives, he said, the change will be made.

Italians To Leave

ports of an official repudiation of his earlier statement that Italian troops will remain in Spain even after the end of the war.

The usually authoritative Fascist editor who often reflects Premier Mussolini's views did not, however, repeat specifically his assertion that troops will remain in Spain.

Reliable sources said the British ambassador, the Earl of Perth, had been assured by foreign minister Galeazzo Ciano, that the Sunday statement on troops did not represent Fascist policy.

In his editorial today in Il Giornale D'Italian, Gayda set forth four prerequisites for a complete insurgent victory:—

1. Demobilization of Spanish republican government forces, which have found refuge in France.

2. Resignation and dispersal of the government.

3. Unconditional surrender by the republican army with no armistice negotiations.

4. Return of the Bank of Spain's gold stock, which the government has deposited abroad.

Gayda said Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement yesterday of an "immediately functioning military alliance between Great Britain and France" caused no surprise in Italy. The question in Fascist minds, Gayda said, is whether Great Britain "unconditionally swallows the intransigent and one-sided policy of France against Italy and Germany and their claims."

1935 Unpaid Taxes Amount To $12,777

Morley E. Shaver, city treasurer, informed the Council on Monday night that the unpaid taxes for 1935 amounted to $12,777.18, considerably less than for 1934. The tax roll for 1935 has been ordered to be returned to the City Clerk from the tax collector's office. Members of the Council expressed satisfaction that the delinquency was not more than $12,777.18, and it was felt that the sustained work of S. H. Mitchell, outside collector, was being reflected in the reduction of tax arrears.

Alderman Cotton asked that a special effort be made to return the 1936 roll by September, and Alderman Bradburn, chairman of the Legal Committee, said he intended to resume in the near future the good work begun by Alderman Gordon last year, especially in helping and advising S. A. Couper, tax collector, in regard to overdue tax accounts.

Nine Fishermen Feared Lost In Gale

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A purse seine-fishing boat with nine men aboard was believed today a victim of the storm that smashed against the northwest corner of Canada and the United States yesterday and last night.

The 68-foot Sonny Boy, en route from San Francisco to Seattle with two other purse seiners, the Wandered and Bainbridge, disappeared early Monday in a rain squall off Yaquina Head, a rugged section of Oregon coast. Captain Sam Mirkovich of the Wanderer, a brother-in-law of the Sonny Boy's captain, Martin Mirkovich, said he felt certain the boat had gone down with all hands.

Coastguard cutters searched the heaving Pacific in the vicinity today. Two amphibian planes were ready to aid if weather permitted.

An unidentfied purse seiner, northward bound, was sighted off the mouth of the Columbia river late last night by the Point Adams lookout, who said it was impossible to distinguish the name of the ship.

Given Three Months For Theft Of Coat

Harry Sipes, who said his home was originally in the Fraserville district and who admitted that in the last four years he had been convicted nine times for various offences and that he only had been released from serving a nine-months term at Burwash three or four weeks ago was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court today to three months determinate and three months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory on a charge of stealing an overcoat from O. J. Friskin.

Sipes who was arrested last week by Sergt. W. E. Wigg had pleaded guilty to the offence.

This morning Magistrate Langley perused the prisoner's record, handed to him by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., and shook his head doubtfully as he glanced down the long list of offences.

"How many times was it overcoats," he asked the accused.

"Only one other time," replied Sipes.

"Why, you only got out a short time ago," continued the Magistrate.

"Three or four weeks ago," admitted the prisoner.

"And you started right in stealing again," commented the court.

"Apparently too, you were only out a short time before your last sentence.

"I will have to send you back to the reformatory," he declared, as he imposed a sentence of three months determinate and an indeterminate sentence of the same length.

Gordon Matthews Opens Convention

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—(CP)— Harmonious relationships have been established between the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Gordon Matthews, of Peterborough, O.M.E.A. president, said in an address today at the opening of that body's convention.

"The fact that the commission is willing to account for its stewardship of 1938 to this convention means that they recognize the value of this association," he said.

Mr. Matthews urged the strengthening of the O.M.E.A. in the Niagara power district. It was already well-organized in the eastern and Georgian Bay power districts.

The O.M.E.A. met jointly with the association of Municipal Electric Utilities today in order that Hydro Commission representatives might lay their reports before both bodies.

Market Review

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—(CP)—The Toronto market found the sledding heavy today, due to the absence of buying support. Trading dragged through most of the session and aggregate turnover was little better than a half million shares. All indices turned down at the close with the mining shares showing the main weakness.

Buyers were on the side lines, and prices sagged with the volume of business. All indices were down at noon in sympathy with lower prices in New York. Only 359,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours.

Action was slow in the industrials with steels definitely lower and the utility, senior oil and paper shares irregularly lower.

Action in the mines was heaviest in the cheaper golds. MacLeod-Cockshutt, Macassa, Powell-Rouyn, Sigma, Perron and some of the penny issues, including Broulan, Stadacona, Augite and Lapa-Cadillac, sold off.

Home Oil lost about 15 cents and Calgary-Edmonton and Okalta drifted down a few cents.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP)—While selling in today's stock market was termed "unimportant," there was enough of it to chip down leaders fractions to more than a point.

The ticker tape frequently was at a standstill in the apathetic session. A little support came in now and then, but it had only temporary buoying effect. Transfers were about 600,000 shares.

W.M.S. Meeting Is Well Attended

Mrs. J. Gerard presided at the February meeting of the Ja ox Church W.M.S., which was well attended in spite of unpleasant weather conditions.

Carrying out the theme of the worship service, "Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor," which was conducted by Miss L. Armstrong, several of the members told stories from a chapter of the mission study book, "The World in Canada," which illustrated the great need of showing a Christian love and interest in all people, regardless of race or creed. Among those taking part were Mrs. J. Sargent, Mrs. D. Menzies, Miss M. Scott, Mrs. F. English and Mrs. J. Gerard.

Interesting reports of the Presbyterial held at George Street church on January 24, were given by three delegates who attended, Mrs. J. Sargent, Mrs. D. Menzies and Mrs. J. S. Morrison.

Local Women To Conduct "Y" Training Course

Examinations and certificates in domestic work to place domestic careers on an equality, in the eyes of employees and employers, with work in shops and offices, was among the constructive criticisms advocated by Miss C. A. Kemp, Principal of the City Technical School for Women, Liverpool, England, at a recent North of England Education Conference.

"Work so serious and of such vital importance as running a home and bringing up children should be regarded as a career worthy of specific training," she declared.

It must be recognized that there existed a strange distaste among women for the elementary posts in the home. Modern classes and opportunities to pursue aesthetic interests and subjects, such as psychology, Miss Kemp believed, might prove effectual in overcoming this prevalent aversion.

Such classes the Y.W.C.A. are conducting at present, and public-spirited Peterborough women have shown their practical interest in this important matter by electing to personaly conduct these classes, teaching them the technique of harmonious living and what should be expected by mistress and maid. Surely such personal interest should prove far-reaching and assure the girls attending the classes of their sincere desire to engender a broader and more sympathetic understanding of domestic affairs in general.

The classes, which commence Wednesday afternoon, from two-thirty to four, include: 1, Manners—Dress etiquette, cleanliness. 2, Care of kitchen and bathroom—preparation of meats and vegetables. 3, The dining room—Setting of table and serving; care of glass, silver, china and linen; preparation of salads and desserts. 4, Cleaning—Lessons on cake and sandwiches; afternoon teas. 5, Illness in the home—preprations of light diets. 6, Care of children—child menus; washing of woollens, silks, etc., ironing. 7, Planning day's and week's work. 8, Serving afternoon tea. There is to be a class party on the closing day of the course.

Last year's class, which reports that much pleasure was derived from the course, as well as invaluable aid, has now formed into a Y.W.C.A. "Happy Hour Club," and they are anxious to get in touch with other girls in the city. Business girls or prospective brides would also find courses instructive and helpful. More information about the classes may be obtained by dropping in to see the Y.W.C.A. secretary, Miss Leta H. Brownscombe, or calling her by phone.

....That colors for spring are keeping to that safety-in-numbers campaign they started this past fall. Three or four or the same tone but of entirely different color go to make up the smartest of the chic costumes.

....Others are developed entirely of two contrasting colors, with a third introduced in just one accent position, such as gloves, veil, belt or pocket handkerchief.

....A shade that's destined to show itself a good deal during the coming months is citron—that cool, interesting color that's just a mite more green than chartreuse. You'll like it combined with brown or navy.

Fashions

A free and easy to wear play dress, equally popular with toddlers or older sister. Matching pantees make it a complete outfit. The one-piece flared dress may have a low square neck or a Peter Pan collar. Two patch pockets, that are always a joy to the youngsters, are also optional. The amusing applique embroidery is effective in multi-coloring on the plain chambray dress. Sturdy percale print is a favorite with snowy white ruffling as its only trim for the open square neck dress. Woven striped English cotton in candy stripes, cotton challis print, chambray, etc., are cunning as they are popular.

Style No. 2094 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 8 requires 2¾ yards of 39-inch material with 1⅛ yards of binding for dress and pantees.

St. Luke's Wins Stunt Night

The annual stunt night of the Peterborough district A.Y.P.A. was held last night in the parish hall of All Saints' church, with a fair crowd present.

Fantastic, amusing, and some ludicrous stunts were staged for the audience, with keen competition prevailing. It was a debut, as dramatic convener, for Miss E. Earnshaw and her committee, and high praise was given her for the success with which the performance was met.

All Saints', St. Luke's, St. George's, St. John's of Lakefield, and St. John's of Peterborough, all presented skits and first honors went to St. Luke's, with a take-off on "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" The cast included Miss Florence Tice, B. H. Pammett, Miss E. Biddle, Mrs. Forbes, C. Hope, R. Mason, J. Davies, C. Hamilton, A. Sayers, W. Hepburn, F Curtis, W. Hill and Miss M. Krant. Miss Q. Hope wrote and directed the skit. Mrs. Foster was accompanist.

All Saints' gave a presentation of a mock divorce that proved an hilarious affair. The cast included Miss E. Abraham, Doug Weir, A. Worsencroft, Ken Gibson, L. Barrie, Les Cavalier, who also directed the play.

St. George's was third with a skit that was so humorous even the cast could not control their laughter. Members were Ivan Pearson, Ken Gibson, Harold Porter. Mrs. Rae directed. The skit was tilted, 'Foiled Again." Mrs. King accompanied.

'A Man of Letters," was the title of the unique skit presented by St. John's of Lakefield. Its cast included Cliff Hurl, as a husband who answered all questions put to him with a letter of the alphabet. Mary Dever took the part of his wife and Mrs. Hill directed.

St. John's of Peterborough presented an ironical touch with their skit of "An Executive Planning a Stunt." The cast included Fred Ford, Gordon Clegg, Miss E. Gynane, Miss A. Sisson, Miss F. Lemming, W. Howell, Miss K. Chivas.

Each branch also presented one number between plays. For All Saints' Miss M. Ferguson gave recitations accompanied by music. Tap dancing by Mr. Ramsden was St. George's contribution. St. Luke's had a "farmer's visit to the city," by Miss C. Long and Miss Q. Hope. Irwin Luther played the piano as St. John's contribution.

Judges of the skits were Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Miss C. McCarthy and Dick Lush, and they had difficulty in selecting the winners. Magistrate Langeley congratulated all contestants on their ability and Miss McCarthy presented trophies to the winners.

NEEDS NEW SHOES

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—I am one of those women who are perpetual guests in their children's homes, shunted from one to another, so that none of them may have an overdose of mother. My children are all prosperous. They live in nice houses. Have new cars every two years. Have beautiful clothes. Take expensive trips, etc. They are kind and dutiful to me and they pat themselves on the back because they give me a roof over my head and food and clothes, and on Christmas and Mother's Day send me a few dollars, and they think how lucky Mother is to have some one to care for her. But I have no liberty whatever and no money and I know that none of them really wants me with them because they are absorbed in their own families. In a way I interfere with their lives. There are thousands of other women like me. Why can't our children realize how much better off we would be and they would be if they would club together and give us a little place of our own in which to live? Or if there was only some hotel for old people, such as you described in a recent article, where we could go to live and know that we were wanted and where we would feel free and independent. A MOTHER.

ANSWER:

A sardonic old woman with a funnybone that she had evidently managed to keep intact through all the vicissitudes of a hard life, recently wrote to me that she had read of a savage tribe somewhere who killed off all the old women who had become a charge upon their children. She wanted to know if I knew the address of these people. She said she proposed to emigrate and join them, as she would rather be knocked in the head than to have her heart broken by her children who showed her that they thought her in the way.

Many another old mother has felt the same way about her situation in her children's homes, yet it is rarely the result of their sons and daughters being mean and cruel, or begrudging them a shelter in their old age. It is just because human nature is human nature. No two generations can change its habits and its point of view, and no two generations can live in peace and harmony together. It is easier for the lion and the lamb to lie down together in amity than for Grandma and Granddaughter to agree on the wearing of shorts and how late the boy friends should stay.

There is no problem that we use so little sense in trying to solve as that of what to do with our old fathers and mothers. Tradition has it that when anything happens to break up the old home, Father and Mother must be taken into their children's homes, where they are supposed to live perfectly happy ever afterward, no matter if they are taken thousands of miles away from the environment in which they have spent their lives and from the friends of a lifetime.

That the old people are miserable as strangers in a strange land; that they are humiliated at having lost their identity and being nobody but Bob's or Mamie's mother and father; that they cannot adjust themselves to a new way of living or adopt new ways, goes without saying.

Nor can those who have been the heads of their own houses endure taking a back seat in somebody else's. Nor can those who have been busy all their lives stand enforced idleness. They have to have something to do and, having no business of their own, they inevitably meddle in everybody else's.

The result is, of course, disaster. Miserable Father and Mother make everybody else miserable. Husbands and wives resent their in-laws and homes are broken up by the quarrels over Mary's mother and Tom's father. The grandchildren will not stand Grandmother's and Grandfather's dictation and being told how sinful are all the things they do.

Thousands of families live in stress and turmoil because the old and the young no more mix than oil and water, who might be happy if only they had sense and courage enough to solve their problem by all the children clubbing together and giving Mother and Father enough money to live on in their own way, independent and free, instead of making them unwelcome guests in their houses.

• • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man 23 years of age. Have steady work and the practical assurance of keeping my job for the remainder of my life. The problem confronting me is that I lack interest in my work and in life in general. There is no reason for this apathy, but I sense it all the time, so I am turning to you to give me advice and tell me what is wrong. W. P.

ANSWER:

I think what is wrong with you is that you are either under par physically, or else you have chosen the wrong occupation. Our bodies and our minds are so tied up together that they react continually upon each other, so when we feel lackadaisical and as if nothing mattered and have a general dark brown taste about life in our mouths it is nearly always because something ails us.

A wit once answered the question: "Is life worth living?" by replying: "It all depends on the liver." And he was about right. A good liver pill is probably all you need to turn you from a pessimist into an optimist and put pep into you and change the world from drab to rose. Try it.

At any rate, my advice is to go to a good doctor and have him give you a thorough overhauling and find out why you want to join a sit-down strike instead of being up on your toes.

If you are bored by your work and take no interest in it, give it up. Change into something that keeps you interested and excited and thinking about it all the time. Don't settle down at 23 to any occupation that is nothing but drudgery to you, because if you do you will never get anywhere. No man makes a success of any undertaking into which he does not put his whole heart and which doesn't thrill him to the centre of his being.

Besides, he will lose the chief joy of life, which consists in doing the work we love and which we enjoy doing and in which we find a never-failing interest. To do the work we hate is to be a slave. To do the work we like is to be a creator. Stevenson said: "To do work because of the joy of it and without regard to the profit we find in it, is to be called of the gods." Those are not the exact words, but that's the idea. Get it and profit by it. DOROTHY DIX.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

A Founder's Day meeting was held by Queen Mary Home and School Association on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. W. R. Morris, honorary president of the Association, and for many years an active member of the Federation of Home and Schools, as guest speaker.

Tracing the Home and School movement step by step, she gave a picture of its history from the time it was founded by the late Mrs. A. C. Courtice, of Toronto, up to the present. The three present aims of the Association, she said, were co-operation or partnership of the home and school; parent education, and child welfare. She emphasized to the parents the fact that children are not miniature men and women but children, and should be studied and thought of as children.

A short program included two solos, "Dedication" and "Snowman," by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, accompanied by Mrs. Dobson, and two readings by Miss Roma Williamson, a pupil of the school.

A short report of the skating party held on Friday, February 3rd at the school, was given. The meeting was held in the kindergarten room.

At the Founder's Day meeting held by the Queen Mary Home and School Association on Monday afternoon, tea was served afterwards in the kindergarten room, where a birthday cake, topped with twenty-two red candles, signified the number of years Queen Mary Home and School Association has been organized. It was surrounded by a circle of red cyclamen and white stocks. The ceremony of lighting the candles was carried out by Mrs. W. E. Conway and Mrs. J. E. Johnston. Tea was poured by Mrs. C. R. Banks and Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge. The tea was under the convenership of Mrs. C. Fulford, and members of her committee, assisted in serving.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Stating that the purpose of Founders' Day celebrations was to pay tribute to founders and to all who have since carried on the torch, Mrs. W. R. Morris, past president of the Provincial Home and School Association, who spoke to the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday evening, traced a brief life history of the many interesting women who had been past leaders of the home and school movement, among them being the late Mrs. Medd, a Peterborough woman.

In presenting phases of the work of the associations, Mrs. Morris stressed the importance of parents living up to the ideals put before them by the Home and School organizations, which in itself would be a lasting memorial to the memories of the founders. The ideals, she said, were co-operation; welfare of the child; putting first things first, and creating a better understanding between parent and teacher.

The world moves forward on the feet of little children, Mrs. Morris remarked, and the first six years are the most important. The Home and School associations are formed for the purpose of helping the children along these first years, and for teaching the parents their share in the responsibility, and impressing upon them the important influence they have, particularly during this period.

That entertainments at the meetings, although they had their place, should not be looked upon as the main feature, was also emphasized by the speaker, who concluded her remarks with an outline of the work now being accomplished in other provinces.

At a candle lighting ceremony in memory of past presidents; for the Home and School council; for the original founder, Mrs. A. C. Courtice; for the organization of the Provincial Home and School Association, and for the organization of the National Home and School, and the president of that organization, five candles were lighted by Mrs. Morris and by four of the Queen Alexandra Home and School members.

The president, Mrs. V. R. Henry, was in the chair, and the meeting opened with a hymn followed by The Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Tea was served after the meeting by Mrs. Kingdon and her refreshment committee.

The Chain Store Business

A letter to the Examiner carries the complaint that the chain stores are having things too much their own way. The gist of what the writer has to say is in this part of the letter:

"I have watched the growth of these chain stores for years and have seen them gradually encroaching to the extent that they now are doing most of the business. They have something which is almost a monopoly with the result that the young man who in other years might have considered going into business for himself no longer has a chance."

The official hand-book issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce does not indicate that chain stores have such a share of trade as is indicated by our correspondent. In the last year for which the full returns had been completed—1937—chain stores in the field of food and meats were doing 29.3 of the total business of food distribution, and in that field they were showing their highest trading expansion. Including all fields the percentage of business done by chain stores was 16.9 per cent. of our total trade.

There are in Canada more chain organizations than most people think possible, and the figure has been as high as 506. Statistics show the number of chains, the number of chain stores and the percentage of total sales as follows:

	Chains	Stores	P.C. of Sales
1931	506	8,557	18.7
1932	486	8,398	18.8
1933	461	8,230	18.5
1934	445	8,210	17.9
1935	445	8,024	17.9
1936	457	8,124	17.9
1937	447	7,815	16.9

A short summary of those figures indicates that our correspondent is not correct in his claim that chain stores are taking all the business. There were fewer chains in 1937 than in 1931; they had 742 fewer stores and they were doing less of the total trade. A chain store, we take it, is subject to the same laws of business which regulate the length of days of any other store. It must be able to secure sufficient business to operate at a profit; otherwise it will have to close. But official figures show that the chain store is not securing what our correspondent refers to as a "monopoly."

Nature's Protest

While we are enjoying average winter weather in Ontario the people farther south are seeing their homes washed away by floods. In Kentucky and West Virginia particularly conditions became desperate because it rained too hard. The Ohio river and many of its lesser tributaries are being blamed for the trouble, and there are long stretches where the water is nine feet above flood level. There are towns where water from three to six feet has been running through the streets and probably as many as 30,000 people are homeless.

Instead of blaming the rivers the people ought to be blaming the things which former generations have done to the country. They cut the woods from it; they took the timber off hills and river banks. When the timber was taken away there was nothing to hold the soil when the water started rushing to lower levels; the roots of the trees were gone and so the soil gets washed along and finds its way finally to the bed of the river. That makes it more shallow. When that process keeps on year after year the river cannot possibly contain the volume of water it did originally; its depth has been taken from it. So it overflows its banks and the flood is on in earnest.

The South has spent its millions trying to build artificial river banks which would cause the water to stay in its course, and it has never succeeded and the reason is that for years people have been hacking away and creating an unnatural condition. Now they suffer and the flood is one of nature's methods of protesting that man has done something he never should have done.

40 Cents a Year

I. E. Brock of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., told members of the Rotary Club there were four carpet factories in Canada, and if these plants operated at 75 per cent. capacity they could produce sufficient carpets for 20,000,000 people, and that is not far removed from being twice our present population.

From figures produced by Mr. Brock it seems plain enough that Canadians do not spend much for carpets or rugs. In New Zealand the per capita expenditure for such purposes during a year is $1.25; in Britain $1.10; in United States 85 cents, while in Canada such purchasing calls for an expenditure of but 40 cents.

That figure looks remarkably small, and it is. But if one were to apply it to his own house it might be regarded as being quite true. It must mean that we have not acquired a liking for good floor coverings or for rich looking rugs. We spent a great deal more than an average of 40 cents per year on a good many other things, many of which are of no abiding value, and few of which would add so much to the appearance of the home. Perhaps the facts presented by Mr. Brock may start a number of people thinking about it until they get out of the 40 cent class.

A Dozen Speakers!

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice in the King government, has been for 35 years a member of parliament, and his friends are going to do something about it on February 18. On that date, which is a Saturday, there will be a banquet in Quebec. The occasion is notable and Mr. Lapointe is worth all that may be said of him. Since 1919 he has been member for the riding formerly represented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. A delightful and accomplished master of debate he is, fair in his views and well grounded in a knowledge of constitutional law.

But we fear they are going to overdo things at this banquet. We learn from reading news from Ottawa that the speakers will include: Mr. King, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government Leader in the Senate; Defence Minister Mackenzie, Mines Minister Crerar, Trade Minister Euler, State Secretary Rinfret, Works Minister Cardin, Revenue Minister Ilsley, Finance Minister Dunning, Fisheries Minister Michaud, Hon. J. B. Mackinnon, minister without portfolio; and Hon. Adelard Godbout, provincial Liberal chieftain.

From the nature of his day-to-day occupation Mr. Lapointe has to sit and listen to speeches and debates; it is as much his day's work as many blocks of pavement to the postman. So when his friends decide to do him honor it seems they have selected a way by which they will give him more of much. Twelve gentlemen he knows in advance will rise in turn and make a speech at him and about him. If Mr. Lapointe is able to go through a Quebec dinner and then remain awake—which he should—while a whole dozen of his friends verbally operate upon him he may be ruined by the exuberance of their high praise or amazed at the possession of fine qualities which he was unaware of previously possessing. We can think of several more enjoyable methods of paying honor to a man than by lining up a dozen speakers, to say nothing of what the chairman may do when he rises to announce "We have with us this evening our good friend So and So and we would like to have a few words from him." In all sincerity we wish Mr. Lapointe well.

He Saw It First

Lincoln Ellsworth, who has been exploring in the Antarctic region for months, sends word that he has claimed 80,000 square miles of territory for United States, and he explains that "miles of it have never before been seen by human eye."

So United States has picked up an area almost as large as the British Isles and all that has been necessary is that some one should see it first and do the claiming. Mr. Ellsworth does not say how much is snow and ice and he says not a word about the people he found there, so likely there were none at all.

But now that it has been claimed for United States undoubtedly the Monroe doctrine will be moved to include that new 80,000 square miles, and that means if any European nation comes along and tries to conquer the place there will be trouble enough, and United States will provide the trouble. We are sure President Roosevelt will insist on the "friendly neighbor" idea penetrating into the Antarctic.

Possibly in this age of much armament it will be considered advisable to place guns in the new district and that will mean soldiers will have to go there to shoot them off if necessary. And the government will have to open an office and have a staff there if for no other purpose than trying to collecting some revenue. For according to the theory of this age a territory which is not good for revenue is not worth having, holding or claiming.

Just what good this new territory is or will be we know not, and possibly Lincoln Ellsworth is in the same position. But he has claimed 80,000 square miles which no person has ever seen before, and we take it that must be accomplishment of some kind or other.

Said—Said—Said

From Washington reports we gather there is a group in the Senate ready to support President Roosevelt in the stiffest sort of foreign policy. If the President desires to put the frontier of the country it is all right by them. They would at the moment be ready to give it another shove and land it back in the Balkans.

But this stiff policy is one which the President now says he didn't say. He was said to have said hard things, but later on said he hadn't said what he was said to have said.

Now apparently this courageous group at Washington wish that their President hadn't said he hadn't said what it was said he was reported to have said.

And of course if this group finds that their President had not said what he was reported to have said, but later said he hadn't said there is nothing which can be done for their strong cause.

It might be well for this group and their President to get together so in future when anything is to be said it will not be possible for it to be said that what was said was only said to have been said and thereby made subject to the claim that what was said to have been said was actually not said. We hope we have made this plain.

As It Was On The Tenth

We noticed where a farmer had written to an agricultural paper asking what to do with some of his cows. He explained he was feeding them straw and they didn't seem to care much for it, and when they didn't eat they didn't want to drink either, so he was having trouble enough getting them filled up. He wanted to know what to do about it. This farmer did not say how long he had been at the business, but he seemed to be stuck with an old problem which is actually about as old as farming itself.

It existed even on the Tenth Concession, and it used to come now and then when a cow was not milking. Grandfather came originally from Aberdeen and perhaps it was born in him that when a cow was not milking she could not expect to get the kind of feed she received when she was performing like a cow should. Then it was that he would try and carry her along on a diet in which there was considerable straw. We never did ever hear any one seriously claim there was much nourishment in straw and as a rule stock will leave it alone as long as they can get anything else. Nor could we ever see why they should be much blamed for doing so.

But when a cow turned against her straw and started looking as though she was in for a spell of ailing and thinning and wasn't any too keen for a drink of water, grandfather and the hired man would have another stable debate. The hired man would recall that he had read something in a book about what ought to be done, and he'd be all for having an evening's reading in his bedroom library to see if he could find the chapter and clause telling how to get a cow along on a diet in which straw was playing the leading role.

Grandfather always contended that before the hired man looked in his books of rules the cow would have its bones sticking out through the hide and would have forgotten how to take a drink of water. This method was to make the cow believe the straw was something special in the way of feed, so special that like as not she would eat enough of it to fill her to the roof. Sometimes he used a bit of blackstrap molasses, or a bit of raw sugar and made a sort of thin soup which he used to sprinkle over the straw in the manger. The cow it seems had a sort of sweet tooth and often enough she'd go after that sweetened straw as though she were sitting near the kitchen door at meal times waiting for a second helping. Grandfather always admitted it was just an old way of fooling a cow and carrying her along on straw until it came near the time for her to be milking again.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is $3,000,000 unclaimed in our Canadian banks, but the trouble seems to be in finding an easy and safe way of going to get it.

It hardly takes the services of a war expert to figure out that the Royalist forces in Spain have been beaten. And the women and children have undergone the same treatment.

If business and things in general follow the example of snow we should be in for a good year. In January of this year we had 27.90 inches of snow; in 1938, 10 inches, and in 1937 only 5.80.

A sedan which was at the bottom of Stoney Lake for more than a week has finally been recovered. We can think of a number of more pleasant places to spend a week or so.

Saskatchewan school teachers have asked for a minimum salary of $750 per year, and claim the average now is not over $500. The real trouble has been that the teachers in many sections have received less than the $500 because the ratepayers had so little money with which to pay them.

¶ John Henry got his picture took, was keen to see how it would look, he tried to look his best; he'd shoved his ears well back he thought, his tie was in a gentle knot, no wrinkles in his vest.

¶ He'd worked ten minutes on his hair, to try and cover where 'twas bare, his collar too was clean; he practised holding up his chin, and cultivating half a grin, and looking rather keen.

¶ John Henry had a notion too, of what he wanted when 'twas through, reflecting nerves of steel; like some big shot who'd up and rose, who ere the day drew to a close, swung some important deal.

¶ The picture man worked on in vain, to get John Henry looking sane, held things before his eye; John Henry scowled when he was took, he longed for that impressive look, a million dollar guy.

¶ John Henry looks quite fierce I know, he really put on quite a show, the day he had it took; it shows a man of strength and vim, who sits there sticking out his chin—the way he'd like to look.

Our Statesmen At Their Labor

(From Parliamentary Debates)

Mr. FINN: Would my hon. friend permit a question?

Mr. POTTIER: Go ahead.

Mr. FINN: As a member representing a fishing county which had a loss of $44,000, I should like to ask my hon. friend whether he thinks the spending of $40,000 on the doing of preliminary work for semi-permanent highways is helping the fishermen? If that is what he wants to convey to the fishermen in his constituency, I do not want to do it.

Mr. POTTIER: If the hon. member wants to make another speech he will be given an opportunity.

Mr. FINN: I do not want to make a speech, but I do want fairness.

Mr. POTTIER: All I say to the senior hon. member for Halifax is that there is no intention of spending only $40,000. Apparently he does not understand the situation. I have in my hand a telegram which I received from the Premier of Nova Scotia just this afternoon, from which I quote as follows:

We will spend in storm swept areas amounts of money on highway work at least equal to amount of loss.

Whether that is $40,000, whether it is $150,000 or whether it is $300,000, that is what they are going to do. There is some advantage in providing work equal to the amount of the loss. If we provided materials, that would mean we would provide only the value of the material and the work would have to be done by the fishermen. A trap is worth about $2, whereas the material in the trap is worth a little over $1.

Mr. CAHAN: What was the loss along the Yarmouth-Shelburne coast in the constituency which my hon. friend represents?

Mr. POTTIER: There were 44,000 traps destroyed. If new traps are to be provided they will cost between $70,000 and $80,000, but the material alone will cost between $40,000 and $50,000.

Mr. CAHAN: That is in the hon. member's own constituency?

Mr. POTTIER: In my own constituency.

Mr. CAHAN: I suppose that is not a quarter of the entire loss?

Mr. POTTIER: That is at least two-thirds. I am subject to correction, but I understand the damage from the storm to be as follows: Twelve housand dollars in the county of Halifax; $6,000 in Lunenburg.

Mr. FINN: How much in Halifax?

Mr. POTTIER: Twelve thousand dollars. Apparently the hon. member does not know the loss even in his own county.

Mr. FINN: My hon. friend thinks he knows it all, but I wonder.

Mr. POTTIER: Six thousand dollars in the county of Lunenburg; $12,000 in Queens; $43,000 in Shelburne; $40,600 in Yarmouth; and $9,737, I think, in the county of Digby. That is the loss. The major damage in the county of Digby happens to be in the district of Clare which I have the honour to represent at the present time. So, if you provide just the material, these men are going to have half of what they get if they do road work. I do not know whether I am making myself plain. I do not think, therefore, it is justifiable to say that any person who is willing to help the fishermen to the extent that they are going to get nearly twice the value of material that goes in the trap is throwing a monkey-wrench, or is lacking in heart and mind.

Mr. FINN: Oh, forget the monkey-wrench.

Mr. SPEAKER: Order.

STORMS WERE BAD

Mr. CAHAN: What was the nature of the disaster?

Mr. POTTIER: We had storms, and prices were bad.

Mr. CAHAN: I am not dealing with prices, but what was the storm?

Mr. POTTIER: We had meeting of the board of trade. The fishermen were in a sorry plight on account of weather conditions.

Mr. CAHAN: That may be. That is another question.

Mr. POTTIER: I remember particularly the reference there. At that time it was on property and civil rights; there were no references at all to other sections of the British North America Act.

Mr. CAHAN: Because the issue presented was entirely different.

Mr. POTTIER: I do not think it was, and I am suggesting that that was the attitude of the then government. It is easy when you are out of power to say "do so and so" when you have not done it when you were in power. I called up the supervisor the night before last in order to be sure I was getting the right picture.

Mr. FINN: The hon. member got busy late.

Mr. SPEAKER: Order.

Mr. POTTIER: I object to the remarks of the senior hon. member for Halifax. Apparently I began looking into the matter sooner than he did, and he did not even know the loss in his own county.

Mr. FINN: Yes, I did. I was here last December looking after the matter and conferring with the Minister of Fisheries when the hon. member was in Yarmouth.

Mr. SPEAKER: Order. The hon. member for Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare has the floor.

Mr. FINN: And I did it out of my own pocket.

Mr. POTTIER: I was here twice last fall on this matter. In order to be fair to myself I think I should say that I was here and interviewed the minister in regard to it, and he can substantiate my statement. I have also had several telephone conversations and telegrams and have written a number of letters in regard to the matter.

Mr. FINN: I was here three times.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

WENT BACK TO THE FARM

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I think it may be time for some of the younger farmers to get into print, because some of the older ones have given a rather dismal picture of farm life. I notice reports of meetings where trained men have said that a dairy farmer is securing a labor return of only five cents per hour, and claiming the people in the city are earning from 60 to 70 cents per hour.

I have some regard for people who go around making addresses at gatherings of associations of cheese makers and dairy farmers because these men have studied and mostly know what they're talking about. I have attended several short courses at schools and know how figures are arrived at in a general way.

Perhaps I have a fair idea of what living on the farm means and also living in the city because I have done both. I worked in the city for almost two years, and was sort of off and on, going to work when they sent for me and being laid off when there was nothing to do. It may be there were some in the shop who were making 60 or 70 cents an hour, but the general wage was a long way from that as I used to get 28 cents an hour and working what they used to call full time it came to $11.20, and the most I ever got was $12.60. I guess the reason was that after I had been there three or four days a week I was as good as I was after being there six months as there was nothing more to learn at that job. And if I quit there would have been plenty others who would have been glad enough to start in. My board and washing cost me $7 a week, so I should have had $4.20 left over. But there were weeks when there was no work or perhaps other weeks when I would work only three days and a few weeks like that took all the money I had and I never was able to do what they call get ahead. And mind you I was not the only one, because there were dozens of others in the same class and many of them were getting by because they were paying only a little board at home and some of them were paying nothing at all. So I do not think it is right to try and show that a dairy farmer is getting five cents an hour labor return while people in the cities receive from 60 to 70 cents an hour. I was in it and I know that in two year in the city I was not doing more than breaking even. If people in the country are hard up then it can be said that plenty of people in the city are in the same boat.

That was really why I was glad enough to come back to the farm. We are not making any fancy money just now, neither are we starving. I have better clothes now than when I was in the city and I have the use of the car when I need it while I hoofed it all the time in the city and I have a better time.

I know the price of butter fat is low, but we managed to take in hogs and catch the market at $9.10 and father agreed he could make money at that figure when the price of feed is where it is today. I know as well as any other farmer that hog prices keeps us guessing.

What runs in my mind is that all this talk about being hard up on farms is not doing the price of farms any good because it is telling every person that farming is a poor business. I do not know any other business where every person is always saying the thing is rotten. If they did they would find no buyer when they wanted to sell out. I think a young man is better off on a farm than in a city. I think the young people at any gathering I attend are better dressed out in the country than in the city and that goes for the girls as well as the boys. I've tried it both ways and know something about it. I'm staying on the farm.

RELIEF QUESTION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Would you kindly give me a small space in your valuable paper as I would like to get a little information on the relief question. I think the relief business is getting to be a graft, and needs a lot more investigating done.

There are lots on relief that should be off—if it was investigated. I have been in Peterborough almost 19 years and I have had a hard struggle to get what I have (namely my own home). Now what I want to know is this,—If we were hard up and needed assistance, (which I hope we won't need) could we get relief, or are we debarred from it because we have our own house? If that is the case I think it is time the relief system was altered because the most of those people who are on relief have earned the same amount of money (perhaps more) than my husband has but have not been thrifty enough to get a home of their own. Yet the ones that have denied themselves a lot of things to get a home can't share the same privileges as the other but instead they are taxed to support those on relief. Now where on earth is the fairness?

HE HAS A PLAN

Editor Examiner

Sir,—After having read and listened to all the schemes for the benefit of humanity I send to you a scheme which I have sent to Ottawa for consideration. To my mind it will bring us back to prosperity in 2 years. This is my scheme, as follow's

The government give to all returned soldiers who saw active service a pension of $80 per month, all who are working to quit there jobs and the unemployed and single young men take their places. This would furnish work in government job's alone for about 50,000 people. The soldiers getting a pension at present have the same deducted from the $80 so you see it would leave the rest to be made up by the government. This would be got by doing away with all medical boards: and travelling boards and the the voucher money for soldiers going to hospital for examination. Then if they still need more money you would get what you save from the relief money because by this time there would be over a million employed, because a soldier couldn't live in a large city on $80 so he would have to move to a small centre. This would start transportation moving, and buildings would have to be built for them. This would start the building trades going full blast, and of course there would be a garden with the new house so like a new broom sweeps well so would the garden, and this makes the soldiers producers, so you see, this would mean everything would start to boom.

Then we could take care of all the immigrants who want to come, because there would not be anyone out of work. You see we returned men have nearly all got sons who have never worked and if they don't get work soon will be to old to learn. By this scheme the government will save $300,000,000 of relief money and will pay out the sum of about $100,000,000 for pensions so that in 20 years our national debt would be paid off, and the sacrifice of the returned soldier for giving up his job will have saved the day again as he did in 1914 to 1918.

I know there will be a lot who would loose money by this scheme now but in the long run he will gain. So please if you will be so kind as to print this in your valuable paper you will be assisting the soldier. I remain yours truly.

• Was Driven To Desperation

DESPERATION stalks the streets. No work, no food, ragged clothing, no prospects for the future—this is glorious youth! Cold, hunger, despair, motivating forces for extreme action, says F. Clayton in a letter to the Globe and Mail.

Extreme action. We had an example of it the other day. A 17-year-old boy virtually committing suicide as far as his standing in society and his good name goes. He arrived at the point where he felt that his standing in society was non-existent, where his good name had not been able to fill his stomach, so he tried to rob a bank. Fortunately, he was not successful, but he has a "bad" name now.

An enemy of society and bearing a "bad" name, he is at least sure of something to eat every day, even if it is prison fare.

This is a sad commentary on life today.

Our laws are wise and just. The penalty for the crime, the possibility of death from bullets—this boy must have realized what he was up against, yet he tried to carry out his foolhardy act. Undoubtedly he will be made an example of to discourage any similar act, and rightly so.

A newscast described the attempted holdup as humorous and tragic. The entire absence of humor puts any attempt to inject humor into this tragedy on a par with Nero fiddling while Rome burned, as the legend has it.

The plight of young and old single unemployed becomes more serious with the passing of each day. Something must be done about it. There has been much talk about the proposed Canadian Corps. This seems to be the best idea yet advanced. Why not put the slow-moving machinery that is supposed to deal with this problem into action? Almost anything would be an improvement on present conditions.

MEN, AND THEIR ATTIRE

A recognized authority with regard to the best dressed men says that most married males don quiet attires because their wives would otherwise make sarcastic remarks. Perhaps, and then again the average family purse cannot stand the latest sartorial upkeep for more than one.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine: thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. TOPPERS AND TAILS.

The mayors of Winnipeg and Regina and their aldermanic colleagues are not going to don top hats and morning coats when Their Majesties come to town. They are real democrats, and are probably thinking about next year's votes more than how they would look in a topper and tails.

That reminds us of a story that was told about the late Walter Scott, later Premier of Saskatchewan, when he was a member for Assiniboia in the House of Commons. It was at the time the Duke and Duchess of York, afterwards King George and Queen Mary, visited Canada in the early 1900's.

The story goes that the M. P. was invited to appear at the station platform as a member of the reception committee and that he was advised that he must wear a silk hat and frock coat. He wasn't in possession of either and found it necessary to borrow the outfit. He appeared on the platform in this attire and was said to have spent most of his time looking around to be sure none of his farmer or cowboy constituents were within range for fear they might direct gunfire at his top hat.—(Lethbridge Herald)

UPPERCRUST!

THE palatial new French Legation at Ottawa was, according to a Winnipeg Free Press correspondent, turned into a shambles the other evening when the Comte and Comtesse de Damplerre held open house for the so-called "four hundred" of the Dominion capital. When the festivities ended broken bottles littered the scene and burning cigarette butts had been ruthlessly heeled into hardwood floors and costly Persian rugs "by a number of young sprigs of Ottawa society with the traditions of shirt-sleeve lumberjack aristocracy behind them."

Ottawans who fuss up for vice-regal "drawing-rooms" and parties given by foreign diplomats are regarded in the more uncouth sections of Canada as "snobs." This may be the unkindest cut. But we doubt whether persons who look upon such occasions as displays of snobbery would forget themselves quite so completely as apparently did these scions of the capital's uppercrust.— (R. M. Harrison, in Windsor Star)

LING IN RIDEAU LAKES.

——The task of popularising ling, or "fresh water cod", as a food fish is probably hopeless, but if it could be done an important service would be performed for the tourist industry. In the meantime, fish and game associations that are taking steps to destroy ling are doing good work.

Within the past few days the Smiths Falls Fish and Game Association has removed 2,200 of the ling from the Rideau Lakes and is continuing to net them. Few other fish that have no game or economic value are so destructive of game and food fish.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Diamond Jubilee Of Telephone Marked In City This Year; D. H. C. Burnett First Subscriber

Peterborough, one of the first communities in Canada to realize the value of telephone service, celebrates the completion of 60 years of telephone progres sthis year. Coincident with this anniversary, The Bell Telephone Company of Canada will open its new building on Hunter street and place in operation the most modern exchange service known to the telephone art.

According to records on file in the Historical Collection of The Bell Telephone Company in Montreal, private telephone lines were instilled by four citizens of Peterborough as early as November and December, 1879. D. H. C. Burnett appears to have been the first telephone subscriber here, followed a few weeks later by Wm. Cluxton, R. Fairbairn, and W. H. and J. J. McBain. In this connection, newspaper of December 10, 1879, reported:

"The Dominion Telegraph Company are erecting wires to connect the office of the company with the store house of Messrs. Cluxton and McBain and Mr. Cluxton's office. A new and improved telephone is to be used (Blake transmitter) and will be so arranged that they can communicate with each point by means of a cut-off, without interfering with the other, and all communications are thus made private."

A few months later, On April 29, 1880, The Bell Telephone Company of Canada was incorporated, and the first Bell exchange was opened here —to serve 15 subscribers—during this year. George D. Edwards was the company's first agent in Peterborough.

On December 4, 1883, the long distance line between Port Hope and Lindsay, via Millbrook and Omemee, with a loop to Peterborough, was completed. Connection with Toronto and Belleville was obtained at Port Hope. The number of subscribers in Peterborough grew rapidly after the erection of these long distance lines, although it was far more difficult to telephone from Peterborough to Toronto in those days than to England today.

"September 6, 1882 — Authorized line from Peterborough to Young's Point.

"April 5, 1885 — Authorized line between Peterborough and Lindsay —58 miles.

"May 5, 1885—Authorized line between Peterborough and Lakefield, —four miles.

"July 7, 1890—Peterborough has 173 paying subscribers."

Opposition to Bell

About 1890, an organization, known as the Ontario Telephone Company, was established in Peterborough in opposition to The Bell Telephone Company. Commenting on this chapter in local telephone history, the "Peterborough Times" said some years later:

"This competition lasted about one year. The enterprise was a failure for no other reason than the unmitigated nuisance of the double service without a single compensating advantage."

In 1905, the Canadian Machine Telephone Company opened an automatic exchange here. This company made an assignment on December 28, 1923, and its assets were acquired by The Bell Telephone Company of Canada on August 1, 1925.

Meanwhile, the Bell Company's business in Peterborough was expanding rapidly. Encouraged by the growth in subscribers, the company constructed its own building and improved its plant. This included the installation of a new centray energy switchboard—at that time the largest of its kind in Canada—which was placed in service on November 12, 1905.

During the last 33 years, Peterborough has enjoyed the benefits of the succeeding developments in telephone communication. The present exchange has provided efficient telephone service, but the gradual growth of the city, and the indications or further development, have justified the changes which are now taking place. These include extensive rebuilding of outside plant and the installation of dial instruments in subscribers' premises, in addition to the construction of the new Hunter street building to house the dial switching equipment, the long distance switchboard, and the power and testing mechanism.

15 Managers.

C. B. Shaver, who was appointed Bell Manager here on May 1, 1937, is the 15th representative of the company to hold this responsible position. The names of the other agents and managers, with the year each was appointed, follow:

Agents—George D. Edwards, 1879; F. Prout, 1881; A. T. Smith, 1882; H. W. Kent, 1885. (title changed to manager in 1889).

Are You at Ease Speaking in Public?

Knowing Rules Gives Poise

An unexpected gift from the club for her good committee work! But Peggy doesn't mumble awkwardly, "I don't know what to say—"

Poised and charming as always, she speaks clearly, "Mr. Chairman, fellow members, thank you—"

How it smooths your way in joining a club or any organization to know correct forms, parliamentary rules! In meetings, you win respect and attention with "Mr. Chairman (or Mr. President), I should like to disagree with the last speaker." Merely "I object!" is blundering and incorrect.

Even a few short words will impress your audience if you know how to use your voice. Practice reading aloud at home—standing up. A way to overcome nasal tones is to keep your voice to the front of your mouth.

On the job, too, you get ahead faster when you know how to state your case. Do you apclogize with, "I'm not saying it very well—perhaps, but—"? Learn to put authority, persuasion into your speech.

Our 32-page booklet shows how to speak effectively, overcome voice defects. Gives rules on parliamentary order, what to say on many occasions. Helpful pointers on preparing speeches, radio speaking, how to be toastmaster.

97 Canuck Fighters Try One Last Fling

PERPINGNAN, France, Feb. 7.—(CP).—Ninety seven Canadian members of the Spanish government's international brigade, mysteriously missing for days in chaotic Catalonia, turned up last night at Port Bou, on the French-Spanish border.

The volunteers, members of the Mackenzie-Paineau Battalion formed entirely of Canadians, had suddenly fled back to Spain just as they were about to be evacuated into France with a group of other foreign soldiers.

Members of the International Military Commission for the evacuation of non-Spanish combatants, returned empty-handed Saturday after a 12-hour search through Catalon towns and villages for the Canadians.

It was understood the volunteers from the Dominion were reluctant to leave Catalonia without a last fling at trying to help the Spanish government militia men stem the insurgent advance.

No account was available of their whereabouts or activities during their four day absence.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

Clarence, the little black and white puppy, was very fond of the children. He tagged along at their heels, and romped and bounced and played with them all through the house. And in the afternoons they'd snap a little strap to his collar and then he'd go walking with them. He was proud and happy.

"I'm the luckiest puppy in the world," he would bark as he marched along. "My master and mistress take me everywhere!"

Now Knarf, the shadow, heard Clarence boasting in this way early one morning as the children were having their breakfast. "But Clarence, you're very much mistaken. The children don't take you everywhere at all. They don't take you to school."

Never Been There.

"School?" said the puppy. "What's that?"

"It's where you learn reading, writing, and arithmetic. That's where the children stay all morning."

Clarence looked sad for a moment or two. He had often wondered where the children went in the morning. And now he knew. But he suddenly felt cheerful again. "They'd take me if I wanted to go," he said. "I've never asked them."

"No—they can't take you. It isn't allowed," said Knarf.

Clarence felt sadder than ever. "I would like to go to school," he said in a low voice. "I'd like to learn

"They take me everywhere."

how to read and to write and to do arithmetic."

"I'll tell you what to do," Knarf said. "Here come the children now. You just follow them. And when they open the school door, you run right in."

Happy Clarence—that's just what he did. But the teacher spied him under the desk. And she said: "School isn't for little puppies because they never can learn to read or to write or to do arithmetic. But you must be a very nice puppy and must like your master and mistress very much to come to school with them. So you may stay."

And that's how Clarence went to school.

Find Moira River Frozen To Bottom

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 7.—A survey has shown that in many sections of the Moira river, ice which covers the river has frozen to the bottom, but it is too early as yet to make any prediction as to the probabilities of a spring flood. It is known that at present plenty of snow covers the back country, and a fair depth of ice covers the lakes. Flood conditions depend largely upon a combination of circumstances such as continued spring rains and excessive continued thaws.

Kicked by a frightened horse while at work in W. N. Gilroy's lumber camp at Denbigh, Eric Whitmore susteained a broken arm and fractured ribs. The injured man was conveyed to Bancroft where medical attention was given by Dr. Lumb.

Cars Collide.

Two motor cars were badly damaged when in collision on the old Wellington road, North Allisonville, on Sunday, in an accident attributed to the icy conditions of the road. One vehicle operated by William Harvey, Jr., was damaged about the fenders and running board, while a front wheel was also broken off. The other car was driven by W. G. Adams of Wellington. This automobile was damaged along the left side. The drivers were attempting to pass on a glaring icy roadway when the collision occurred. Provincial Constable Wm. McBrien investigated and stated no charges were necessary, as the prevailing elements of ice covered roads were attributed as the cause of the accident. No injuries were sustained.

Spanish Veterans Not "Transients"

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP). — Returning veterans of the Spanish civil war could hardly be called "transients" within the meaning of relief regulations, said Acting Premier Harry Nixon today.

"Are not these fellows all residents," said Mr. Nixon. "You could hardly call them transients. They have merely been temporarily absent."

When any of the men applied for relief in Toronto, it would be time enough to consider their eligibility for it," he said, commenting on Mayor Ralph Day's publicly-expressed opinion that the men would be ineligible because of the Jan. 23 residential deadline for giving relief to single unemployed men here.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds, belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyre, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning. The chief of police continues his interrogation of all those at the Manor when the two deaths occurred. Elsie, Benson and McIntyre discuss the possible suspects.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

"NOW ABOUT this Daphne girl," Phil was saying, "she looks guilty as hell to me."

"How can you say such a thing!" I objected indignantly. He had touched upon a sore spot. Daphne did look guilty; there was no denying it. "She may be shielding someone," I added contradictively.

"Little brother, eh?"

"Oh, you're horrid! They're both sweet kids! Why can't you let well enough alone?"

He eyed me quizzically. "In case you have forgotten," he reminded me quietly, "we are speaking of murder. Somone in this house has killed! Once—perhaps twice!"

"Oh!" The horror of the situation hit me smack between the eyes. "Maybe," I squeaked, "maybe he isn't through yet!"

"Murder can become a habit." He was not at all reassuring. "And murders, contrary to existing beliefs, do not look like murderers. Any one of the persons in this house may have committed the crime! Any one of them!"

I trembled: "I'll take Toots," I said, trying to smile and making a poor job of it. "She'd poison the whole shebang without twitching a muscle!"

Phil disagreed. "It wasn't Toots. It wasn't any of the guests. It was someone in the family. Someone who hated old Mrs. Witherspoon so badly that he killed her."

"You'd—you'd have to hate someone terribly to—to murder them!" My teeth chattered as on a cold, cold night, and I was cold—cold with fear.

"Sure you would! And that's the key to the whole thing! When we find out who hated the old girl, and why, we'll have the answer."

"It might have been one of the servants," I suggested. "Eliza, or Mrs. Greely—"

"It might have been."

"You don't really know that Mrs. Witherspoon was murdered," I reminded him. "You have no proof."

"I know." He cupped his chin in his hands. "And if I suggest the idea to Hank he'll give the whole show away, or laugh himself sick at any 'reporter's imagination.' I think we'd best say nothing. We'll let the murderer think he's gotten away with his first job. Later we can have the body exhumed—"

"Phil!" His matter-of-factness horrified me.

"Think of it, Elsie!" he exclaimed. "A murder in Lawnville! Why, if I can solve this crime I can get a real job on a real sheet in a real city!"

"Can you?" I asked flatly.

"Huh?" He looked at me in astonishment. "Don't you think that would be swell?"

"Swell." I avoided his look. So he was just like all men, thinking only of getting away!

"Aw, baby!" He came over to me and put his arms about my waist. "Wouldn't you like it—in Chicago, for instance?"

"Darling!" I cried, and for several seconds I forgot all about crimes and murders and stolen emeralds.

"Listen!" He untangled himself and walked to the opposite end of the room. "I'm going downstairs and get the lowdown. Wait for me here, will you?"

I nodded. I would not have moved from my room for anything, not with a killer floating around.

"O. K. I'm off." He stepped out into the hall and as quickly stepped inside again.

"What—what is it?"

"Sh! Daphne and the Todington fellow!"

"Oh!" I peered around his shoulder. Daphne and Jeffrey stood in the corridor. They were speaking in low tones. And as we watched the girl opened a door upon our left and without glancing before or behind, silently drew Jeffrey into the room and closed the door.

"Well?" I bounced from the bed and ran half-way across the room.

"Well, what?" said Phil, and he sounded so gloomy my heart sank.

"Didmore—the report?"

"Report!" He laughed mirthlessly. "Elsie, my lassie, prepare yourself for a shock!

"A shock? You mean someone else has been—? I chocked on the word.

Phil shook his head. "That's the shock! According to Didmore, there's been no murder!"

"No murder!" My senses reeled. "That's it! He couldn't find a trace of poison in the body, not a trace!"

"Then it was heart failure?"

"Evidently. The doctor admits he is puzzled; says the only thing he can figure out is that Mrs. Horace was suffocated. And even that is doubtful."

"Doubtful? Impossible. The drier is punched with air holes."

"I'd give my hat to get into that salon! There must be something. I can't believe that either death was natural."

"Phil!" I had an idea. "Phil, if Didmore pronounces the death natural, then the murder case is closed and Chief Ellis will have to call off his men—"

"Say!" He regarded me with frank admiration. "You have a brain in your head, haven't you?"

"Well"—I lowered my lashes in becoming modesty—"I'm not exactly dumb."

I outlined my plan. "The family and guests will probably retire early after the day's excitement. That means that about midnight the coast should be clear."

"Yes?" Phil was entering into the spirit of the thing.

"I'll pretend to go to bed, too. Then you come into the driveway. I'll be waiting at my window and I'll come down and let you in the back way."

"And we'll give the salon the once over, eh?"

"Uh-huh—that is, if you're certain you want to take the chance. We might be caught, you know."

"Listen, Elsie," he said soberly, "I'm convinced there is more to this affair than the other fellow sees. Somehow I'm going to get to the bottom of it. I don't want to lead you into danger or trouble, but if you're with me—"

"I'm with you," I assured him quickly. "You can't escape me."

"Good! Remind me to tell you, one of these days, how swell I think you are!" He pinched my cheek. "By the way, McIntyre is downstairs."

"McIntyre?" I had completely forgotten the Chicago detective. "But we don't need him now since there is no murder!"

"I suppose not. And he would have accomplished things too! Can't very well bring a detective into a house where there's nothing to detect? Just the same, I'm going to put him on ice. If things go the way I think they're going to, the Witherspoon clan will be glad of his assistance."

"Don't forget that the emeralds are still missing!"

"I haven't forgotten, but until Mr. Horace comes out into the open and accuses you of stealing them, you won't need a defense."

I asked: "Do you intend to take this McIntyre into your confidence?"

"I don't think so, Elsie. I haven't a thing to go on except my own suspicions." He smiled at me. "You and I darling, will have to work together until we've something tangible and definite to offer."

"All right, Phil. You'd better go now."

"O. K., sweet." He kissed me fleetingly. "Until tonight!"

"Until tonight!" I repeated.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, February 8.

Despite some very definite and tenacious obstacle, this should be a day of much progress, with high pressure activities and possibly much excitement. All matters seem to be under unusual stimulus for reaching advanced and profitable goals. Such require well-laid plans, clever manipulation and the subtle power to enlist the hearty support of employers, superiors and others of standing and influence.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great activity and enlarged opportunity for reaching cherished objectives. These should come through individual shrewdness and well-prepared plans for enlisting the support of superiors and those of financial or political standing.

A child born on this day may be clever, shrewd, and ambitious, with much intelligence and business sagacity to attain rather high goals.

Looking Back On This Date

Forty years ago there was a wave, or mania if you like, for the formation of fraternal societies of all sorts and descriptions, many of them with freak names and, in the United States, with quainter insignia and most amazing titles. Whether it was because of this movement in the United States, or for some local reason, a number of people of British Columbia decided it was time they had an organization. So the Colonist, of Victoria, in its issue of Feb. 6, 1899, had an advertisement calling a meeting for the following evening "to form a Society of British Columbians."

That the meeting was a representative one is proven by the names mentioned, such as J. S. Yates, F. Higgins, G. H. Henley, G. C. Pemberton, S. D. Schultz, A. D. Crerar, A. G. Haynes, and H. S. Short, all reminiscent to people who knew the province in those days.

Eventually by-laws and ritual were adopted and the Native Sons of British Columbia came into existence. In course of time a number of branch posts were established, and from their number the officers of the Grand Post were elected. The head of the order was named the Grand Factor while the heads of the branches are Chief Factors, who in turn are assisted by Vice-Factors. Post No. 1 was at Victoria, Post No. 2 at Vancouver, Post No. 3 at Nanaimo and Post No. 4 at New Westminster, with other posts at Duncan, Ladysmith and Bella Coola.

Only qualification for membership was birth within the province of white parents, good moral character, and being over 18 years of age. It aimed to preserve historical relics and documents; to promote the prosperity and unity of British Columbia, Canada and the Empire; to uphold the principles of good government; to foster and maintain a spirit of Imperial Unity; and to "oppose any movement that tends towards weakening the bonds of Empire."

The sons and grandsons of the founders have carried on and, while eastern Canadians do not hear much of their activities, I am assured that the Natives Sons of British Columbia are very much alive and, like the founders of the society, links of what used to be called the dear old empire, but now more generally designated the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Lad Chops Thumb Off Takes It To Police Gets It Sewn Back On Vancouver, Feb. 7 (CP).

SIX-YEAR-OLD Arthur Kudo went to school today and tried to forget how doctors sewed a dismembered thumb back on his hand Saturday after he cut it of with an axe.

With his father, the little Japanese went up to a hospital information desk late Saturday and told the attendant of his plight. The elder Kudo had withdrawn a wax-papered package from his pocket, displayed the dismembered thumb, and asked politely if it could be replaced on the boy's hand.

Doctors were called. The thumb was sterilized and sewn back on its stump. Then the father and son went home.

Palestine Parley A "Separate" Affair

LONDON, Feb. 7—(CP Cable). — The British government prepared to-day for the opening of the Palestine conference in the face of a three-day strike in the Holy Land and the prospect that all delegations will have to be heard separately because of mutual dislike.

On the eve of the conference Palestine Arabs called a three-day protest strike against representation at the parley of the Arab National Defence Party, an organization opposed to the faction headed by the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem.

It is considered almost certain that the Arabs will refuse to sit in the conference with the Jews, that the Jews will refuse to sit with the Arabs, and that the anti-Mufti Arabs will refuse to sit with either of the other groups.

The prospect is that the authorities will hear each delegation separately and pass on to the others what each said. If the government has a plan to end the strife it has kept tight-lipped about it. However, in some quarters it is suggested a solution might be local autonomy.

The question of Jewish immigration likely will bring the discussions to an impasse. Jews maintain even the present limitation of immigration should be abolished (it now is 1,000 a month). Arabs insist Jewish immigration should be stopped.

The government is reported ready to establish a full army base in the Holy Land. Viscount Gort, chief of the Imperial General Staff, now is in the Near East studying the problem.

Cheese Weights Unfair To Producers

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7. — There is a widespread dissatisfaction with the weight shortages indicated from Montreal shippers, ducers' Association said at their annual meeting held here on Saturday. It was stated that factories from all over the county were complaining that Montreal weights were below those of the factory though on other boards cheese was all sold subject to the weights and grades as was done in Campbellford.

'By time we get our invoice and can register a complaint the shipment as half-way down the St. Lawrence," stated one factory president. Continuing the discussion of problems of mutual interest to the cheese producers, W. H. Nelson drew attention to the fact there was no specific ruling on the matter of exchange on cheques. Although certain companies absorb this charge there are others who do not and as a result "we have paid out as much as $185 in a single year in tolls and exchange," claimed the president of the Percy Cheese and Butter Company.

President of the County Association, who presided for the meeting, advised members that the Government would definitely introduce a plan for testing milk. Whether the appointment will be made directly by the Government or through the local association is not clear, declared the speaker, who favored the latter method since it would give the cheese maker a better opportunity of keeping the inspector informed of where the poor milk was coming from. There is also the antagonistic attitude adopted by certain farmers when a paid Government inspector comes along to tell them what they should do. The general feeting of members was that the appointment should be made by the Government on the recommendation of the County Association. "The entire matter is one for the delegates to handle at the annual meeting in Ottawa," declared Mr. VanVolkenburg.

1939 Prospects Bright.

Reviewing conditions in the dairy industry of recent years, J. A. Murray, District Dairy Instructor, intimated that changing conditions pointed to an even more successful outlook for the cheese industry in 1939. "Cheese is one thing we should look after well," he declared, citing the remarks made by the Deputy-Minister of Agriculture at a meeting held in Port Hope at which he was quoted as saying 'It would not do any harm to force people into the cheese and live stock production, both of which are going well, rather than cluttering up the market with things we do not need.'"

The number of factories in this district has dropped from 32 to 21, with some of those which have ceased operations being destroyed by fire. There was formerly a good cheese board at Lindsay and a colored board at Peterborough, but these are also things of the past.

Approximately 2,850,000 pounds of cheese were produced in this country last year, and this means that close to $307,000 in foreign money has been sent into the country. Fifteen years ago the production of milk in Canada was about six billion pounds, but last year the total was well over 10 billion pounds, which is accounted for by the fact that Western farmers are turning to dairying.

Cheese Show Needs Aid.

The annual cheese show held in Belleville may not be able to function another year unless county associations are willing to give some financial assistance, Grant Anderson, president of the Cheese Makers' Association, claimed. Describing the confusion that had existed around the Belleville office during the two weeks of the fair, Mr. Anderson stated the association had received notice from the Government they would no longer be able to house the two offices. As a result of this the association has had to engage a stenographer, and will also be required to rent office space in Belleville. This will cost about $1,000 annually. Mr. Anderson requested the producers to keep this in mind, and suggested that they might care to make a donation, "since the cheese show has been a great help to the cheese in this district."

A heavy carry-over of butter and associated products this year may foster a swing over to the cheese factory, but the fact there is an abundance of cheap feed in the United States would seem to indicate an increase in the production of milk in that country, and this will tend to level down prices here as well. These were the thoughts expressed by Ian McLeod, district agricultural representative.

Marshall West, secretary-treasurer of the association, read the financial statement for the year, disclosing a balance on hand of $397. Receipts for the year were $570, and expenditurs amountd to $163. J. A. Murray presented the auditors' report, and moved its adoption.

Following considerable discussion members decided to give their unanimous support to the resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Cheese Producers' Association for Peterborough County on January 19, "That cheese producers favor the setting up of a county executive, composed of the representatives of the commodity and other organized groups of farmers in every county for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual interest, and on occasion presenting joint views to their respective members of Parliament, and that we authorize our president and secretary to consult with the heads of other farm organizations in Peterborough County, with the object of forming such a committee in this county."

President, George S. VanVolkenburg; vice-president, Alfred Merrill; secretary-treasurer, Marshall West; directors: Hector Arnold, Herbert Nelson, Fred Davidson, Fred Barnum, Peter Brahoney, Horace Way; auditors, John Murray, I. McLeod; delegates to the annual convention being held in Ottawa at the end of February, Messrs. G. VanVolkenburg, Marshall West, Roy Walker, Hector Arnold, Earl McAdam, Alfred Merrill, W. H. Nelson.

with anthrax" throughout France and England, "and even through Canada until we reached Toronto."

"We blame the Daladier Government and the state railways in France, of course, but at Dieppe, Newhaven, London, Liverpool and Montreal, it was the work of the steamship company, apparently under British Government pressure."

Charge Discrimination.

A telegram sent the railway and steamship company at Montreal read in part that the "shabby treatment accorded us by your company" was regarded as "sheer discrimination." The telegram added that "we are seriously disposed to cancel present contract and have remaining men travel by another line."

Speaking at a mass meeting attended by 2,000 in Massey Hall here last night, Major Cecil-Smith, his voice choked with a cold, accused Prime Minister Chamberlain and the British Government of being "willing apparently to do anything for appeasement, even to selling out his friends."

He said that English railway officials, "the only people we were allowed to see on our way through the country in sealed cars," anticipated a war in April.

"They must be counting on more sell-outs by Chamberlain and Daladier," he said.

Referring to Canadians who fought in Spain, the commander said: "I'm glad I'm one of the 1,200 Canadians who didn't agree with Chamberlain. He said that "300 Canadians lying in Spain should be added to those who died for democracy in Flanders Field."

Shunned By Duplessis.

The battalion leader said that when the Mac-Paps were passing through Montreal on their way to Toronto a newspaper reporter told him Premier Duplessis had said the Canadian volunteers were not welcome in Quebec province. Hisses and shouts followed the statement.

Major Cecil-Smith spoke only briefly during the three-hour meeting, presided over by Rev. R. A. Thomas of St. Mary Magdalene church. Several of the veterans were among the speakers, including Sgt. Ray Henderson, Saskatoon; Captain Thomas McCallum, Vancouver, and Captain Lionel Edwards, Pincher Creek, Alta., commander of the first Canadian company to serve in Spain.

In his charges yesterday, Major Cecil-Smith said the train the soldiers took at Halifax "was deliberately made late so that our friends at St. John and Moncton didn't wait, thinking we weren't coming. Everything was done to prevent any demonstrations of enthusiasm, until we reached Toronto."

He said the ship's officers were "pretty good, after they first tried to segregate us from the other third class passengers and give us prunes —as our only fruit. We kicked until we got our rights."

"Someone must have put severe pressure on the company not to treat us like other passengers," he charged.

Negrin Weakens

change in the Spanish political situation became apparent.

Negrin, with the support of army and labor leaders, had been reported over the week-end to be determined to transfer his government to Central Spain and carry on the fight in the one-fourth of the country still in the hands of the government.

Now the leaders of the once powerful U.G.T. and C.N.T. trade unions and many other army officers are among the refugees who have entered France.

The disruption of the popular front organization, practical difficulties in transferring the government to the central zone, and the great odds against a successful stand there were believed to be breaking down the last elements of resistance.

The insurgents gradually were closing in on the cornered government forces. Yesterday they planted their red and gold banners on the border of the little republic of Andorra on their left flank. In the centre they were just south of the French-Spanish border town of Puigcerda. On the right they were at the mouth of the Ter river, still about 25 miles south of the border.

Franco's Victorious Columns March Into Barcelona As Resistance Wanes

Columns of General Franco's insurgent armies, led by Navarrese regiments, are pictured, LEFT, marching into Barcelona after the furious Catalonia offensive had carried them into the last metropolis held by government troops in Eastern Spain. Though bitter fighting had marked early stages of the campaign, the victorious armies met little resistance as they entered the great city, the loyalist armies retreating before the advance. At RIGHT, part of Barcelona's civilian population is pictured greeting the insurgent soldiers. The Loyalist retreat became a rout as Franco's forces pressed beyond Barcelona and the government and a greater part of its Catalonia army crossed the frontier into France.

Manion Calls

seems to me impossible that the prime minister could have read the report and not condemn the whole deal."

It was the prime minister, Dr. Manion said, who made Major Hahn the representative of the Government of Canada in dealing with the British war office in the fall of 1936. This was done by cable to Hon. Vincent Massey, high commissioner in London, after Hahn found it impossible without more authority to obtain the information he desired.

When Mr. Mackenzie King pointed out Hahn was only made representative of the government for one particular matter, Dr. Manion suggested he was showing a disposition "to get from under."

Up To Premier.

"The Prime Minister alone can clean this up," he continued, "and he must clean it up. On this depends the faith of the people of Canada. On this depends national unity and understanding. On this depends confidence in the whole British parliamentary system.

"There is only one way in which he can clean it up, that is by cancelling the Bren gun contract. There need be no injustice done to Major Hahn and the Inglis Company. Out of pocket expenses could be paid and the plant expropriated if the government chooses. The work done need not be lost."

The Conservative leader showed the old debating style of his former years in parliament which won him the name of "fighting Bob" as he assailed the government in his two-hour speech. He challenged Prime Minister Mackenzie King to say he approved of such "pernicious proceedings" and claimed the tenor of the Davis report showed the Judge was convinced the whole procedure in allotting the contract was irregular.

The mere fact he proposed the new defence purchasing board should be responsible to the Prime Minister or the Minister of Finance was a condemnation of the National Defence Department.

Dr. Manion said he did not think it was necessary for Prime Minister Mackenzie King to have mentioned that Mr. Justice Davis was appointed by a Conservative government.

Upholds Judge Davis.

"I think all Judges are beyond partizanship once they get on the bench," he said. He agreed with the Prime Minister as to the fitness of Mr. Justice Davis to conduct the investigation.

The Prime Minister had referred to the Davis report as exonerating the government and quoted Mr. Justice Davis' finding there was no evidence of corruption.

"Far from exonerating the government," Dr. Manion saiad, "this report is a complete condemnation of the government. There was no corruption, it is true, but no one charged corruption. I do not suggest corruption now."

"There are 52 pages in the report and I venture to say that on 40 of those pages there is a devastating condemnation of the government and the minister of national defence for having made this contract at all."

The report, Dr. Manion said, was a "classic, fascinating and interesting but with a touch of subtlety that must be understood to find out what Mr. Justice Davis means."

Last session Defence Minister Mackenzie had declared himself in favor of government ownership of arms factories," Mr. Manion said. General E. C. Ashton, chief of the general staff, favored public ownership. Both South Africa and Australia were making Bren guns in government factories. General Ashton was not called to give evidence.

"His evidence was offered" said Mr. Mackenzie. He added that leading steel manufacturers were also ready to give evidence on the question of tenders.

5 Ready To Make The Guns

"Well, I asked six of the leading manufacturers in this country whether they could make the Bren gun and all but one said 'Yes,'" said Dr. Manion.

Mr. Mackenzie asked for the names and Dr. Manion refused them. He said he was not going to give the names to the government and have the firms forgotten when orders were to be given.

In 1937 the prime minister, speaking in the House of Commons, had said he agreed that the principle should be asserted that no profit should be made out of war. "I agree with him," Dr. Manion said. "It is the same attitude I have always taken.

Dr. Manion referred to the prime minister's statement during the address debate that he was like the captain of a ship in a storm whose place was at the helm and not wandering among passengers.

"We have 11,000,000 passengers on this ship of state with 800,000 on relief and 450,000 unemployed who are not in any docile mood to accept the Bren gun contract.

"In a modern ship the captain does go among the passengers, he inspects his ship and he keeps an eye on his crew.

"Does the prime minister endorse these pernicious proceedings? These unfair methods by which Hahn was selected, a man who knew nothing about making the Bren gun?

Mr. Mackenzie asked Dr. Manion to name one manufacture in Canada familiar with the Bren gun.

Hahn The Only One?

"Does the minister suggest Hahn was the only one in Canada capable of handling this contract!" Dr. Manion asked.

"Certainly not," Mr. Mackenzie replied.

The department of national defence was now one of the largest, if not the largest spending departments of government, said Dr. Manion. This year it was asking $63,000,000 which was a lot of money. The Hudson Bay Railway, considered expensive had cost $60,000,000. The annual deficit of the Canadian National Railways, often criticized, was less than $60,000,000.

"Does he object to the appropriations?" asked Mr. Mackenzie.

"I will tell the minister this," retorted Dr. Manion. "I object to his having anything to do with it after this shameful contract. I say this present department of national defence has no right to spend that $63,000,000.'

All Better Equipped.

There was not a single manufacturer of steel products in Canada who was not better qualified to manufacture Bren guns than Hahn at the time he obtained the contract.

"I defy the leader of the opposition to prove there was any patronage," said Mr. Mackenzie.

"There has never been a more shameful piece of patronage than this," retorted Dr. Manion.

"I object to one man being chosen, ignoring all others, and given a contract running to several million dollars."

There should be a new deal in connection with munitions, it was a question of war, of the lives of young Canadians, of Canada's very freedom as a nation.

The ideals of democracy which the prime minister often preached would have to be practised more faithfully by all governments if democracy was to continue. The people would not stand for the conditions disclosed by the Bren gun investigation.

"The prime minister alone can clean this up," said Dr. Manion. "And he must do it for on his doing depends confidence in his government. The way to clean it up is by cancelling the Bren gun contract."

Mr. Gardiner said it was not easy to develop industries to product munitions and the Canadian government was following the policy adopted in Great Britain where they had more experience. That experience pointed to the need of utilizing factories, re-equipping them and training their staffs.

"Any factory requires first a manager," he said, the man who can see possibilities in things of this kind, who can go out and arrange for production, build up the necessary equipment and machinery.

"I believed that Major Hahn sold himself to the officials of the defence department as a man capable of doing a job of that particular kind."

Probe Sheds Some Light

Hon. Grote Stirling, (Con. Yale), former minister of national defence, said that Mr. Mackenzie last session told the house the selection of Major Hahn was one of the results of a survey made of Canadian industrial establishments but in the light of the Davis report he could not believe that now. From that survey Mr. Mackenzie must have obtained information that there were plants in Canada capable of making Bren guns.

Denton Massey (Con. Toronto-Greenwood) declared there were plenty of shops in the country which could have produced the gun when the government selected Hahn who had no operating plant and no equipment suitable for making the gun.

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, who questioned Mr. Mackenzie about the contract last session, claimed the minister's statements were misleading, did not inspire confidence and gave rise to suspicion. He favored a committee inquiry.

In order to avoid partisanship in future contracts Rene Pelletier (S.C. Peace River) suggested the proposed defence purchasing board should be made responsible not only to the prime minister but also to the leader of the opposition and another member of the house representing the independent groups.

City Council

we are all getting on in years and we never know when we may need hospital care. Beyond that we must be human and provide that care for those who have to be taken care of now," Mr. Mason said. "I would request you to look at this from a favorable standpoint in as much as our hospital has had to turn patients away day by day, more than two hundred during the last year. That is unfortunate especially for those who wish to go to Nicholls Hospital. From our experience I feel that even with a new hospital it would only be a short time until it was filled."

Mr. Fowler recalled that the question of obtaining adequate accommodation was broached 10 or 11 years ago. The by-law of that time was not carried, and since then the hospital problem has become acute. "We reviewed our needs extensively in 1931 and 1932. We asked people from the factories to visit the hospital and see for themselves what was the actual need, and I didn't hear any one say he did not feel that more accommodation was badly needed. You can see that the building constructed 50 years ago is obsolete. True, there was a wing added in 1917, but even it is more or less obsolete today."

If it was suggested that an extension might be made to the present building. Mr. Fowler said that question had been thoroughly considered by the Board. The hospital building did not lend itself to further additions. It is heated with 10 furnaces, consuming a tremendous quantity of coal.

"Our equipment and facilities for taking care of the sick are second to none," Mr. Fowler said, "and could be readily transferred to a new building, going a long way to furnish all the equipment that would be needed. It is just a matter of providing accommodation for people who apply at Nicholls Hospital for that accommodation. St. Joseph's Hospital is well equipped, and their people go there about one hundred per cent, and some Protestant people go there and will continue to go there."

Mr. Fowler mentioned the fact that the Hospital was a local institution spending about $92,000 a year, of which between $70,000 and $75,000 was spent in Peterborough. If Nicholls Hospital could take care of 135 to 150 patients, that would mean so much more revenue to be spent in the city. He also referred to the large blocks of the city's debenture debt maturing within the next two years, leaving at the end of 1941 a net debenture debt of only $600,000 offset by the public utilities of the gas and waterworks, revenue producing assets that would largely cover the remaining liability. Mr. Fowler said that money could be borrowed at approximately 3 per cent, requiring an annual payment of $20,150 for the 30 years period, equivalent to 1.04 mills.

"I think the city can borrow at nearly that rate. The Board has waited until now realizing what we have all had to go through, and we feel that now is the time that something can be done economically, and something must be done to meet the needs of the Hospital."

Other speakers were Dr. McCulloch, Mr. Eastwood and Mr. Pierce.

Dr. McCulloch said that adequate accommodation would include a sufficient number of beds to provide for a proper classification of patients. Surgical cases would have a section entirely to themselves, so that they would not be exposed to infected cases. "A hospital should have enough leeway to take care of patients in any particular department.

Replying to Alderman Bradburn's question, Mr. Fowler said Nicholls Hospital represents a capital outlay of $400,000 and has an endowment of $243,000.

"Putting the cost of the new hospital at $395,000, how do you propose that it be managed? Would it still be by the Nicholls Hospital Trust?" Alderman Bradburn asked.

Mr. Fowler said that in 1931 the city council was given representation on the Board by four alderman and the mayor.

"The needs of the hospital do not allow for any argument," Alderman Dutton stated, "but the basis of management of the hospital should be broadened out."

Alderman Glover asked whether the Board would be better off is financing a new hospital.

"In my judgment we would be better off," Mr. Fowler answered. "It would give us more of the type of patients that are able to pay for private and semi-private wards." Those sections of the hospital had to carry the public ward. Mr. Fowler said the average cost of all patients last year was $3.28.

Mr. Mason replied to Alderman McIntyre that the Hospital Board would assume the cost of taking the vote on the by-law. Nicholls Hospital, he added, was in effect a general hospital. It was open to all classes of people, received Roman Catholic patients, and had Catholic doctors on its staff, and has had some Catholic employees. The patients of that faith received every consideration. Referring to the estimated cost, he said that the first amount arrived at from the plans was $450,000, but only on Monday afternoon assurance had been received from the architects that the building could be erected for $395,000.

Alderman Bradburn said he was personally in favor of the Board's proposition that a new hospital was needed, "but I wonder if it would be wiser to wait a year or two until we get the full benefit of the council's pay-as-you-go policy."

"We have temporized for 11 years," Mr. Fowler observed "and if we put it off another two or three years we would still have to issue debentures."

Alderman Glover said the Board evidently considered that money was cheap now as could be expected. Later when the council reverted to the Board's letter, he remarked that probably all the council could do was to proceed with the arrangements for submitting the proposed by-law to the ratepayers.

Alderman Gordon commented that the council could discuss some of the points that had been brought, as well as others. Two he mentioned was whether the council should have something more to say about the policy of the hospital, and whether it should be put on a broader civic basis.

"It's a repetition of the old rule that the man who pays shall have the say," said Alderman Stocker.

Because the Board wished to avoid delay, Ald. Gordon proposed that the council meet again tonight, but his motion, seconded by Alderman Dutton finally left the date to be determined by Mayor Hamilton.

She Was A Victim Of Headaches

Kruschen Got at the Cause

This woman's headaches were of the gripping kind that reduce the sufferer to something like helplessness. She tried tablets. She tried pills. All without avail. Only Kruschen could help her.

"I used to get very bad headaches," she writes. "No tablets or pills of any kind could relieve them. One morning, casually, I tried Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water. I continued taking it, but I have not had one of those awful headaches since. Kruschen suits me better than anything else. I find it very good."—(Mrs.) L.A.W.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to sluggishness of the kidneys, liver and intestines, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate the internal organs to healthy, regular action so that no clogging waste is allowed to collect. Your inside is kept clean and serene. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings quick and lasting relief from headaches.—Advt.

Mr. Hannam's suggestion was approved by the meeting. Questions regarding marketing and other farm interests were considered at the meeting.

Two Youths Sent To Reformatory

Sentence of six months determinate and three months indeterminate, in the Ontario Reformatory, was passed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on Bruce Shane, 25, who had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the workshop of L. R. Groombridge, Aylmer street, and the butcher shop of Alex Watson, Charlotte street.

Patrick Jordan, 21, who had pleaded guilty to similar charges, was given five months determinate and three months indeterminate, in the reformatory, the difference in the sentence being due to the fact that Shane was on suspended sentence, while Jordan had no previous criminal record.

W. B. Gordon appeared on behalf of Jordan this morning and made a plea for leniency, suggesting that a reformatory sentence might have a bad effect upon the youth. He urged a suspended sentence.

Magistrate Langley, in sentencing the prisoners, said that in view of the seriousness of the offence nothing less than a reformatory sentence would vindicate the strong arm of the law. He pointed out that breaking into stores at night was very prevalent in Peterborough and had to be stopped, but even if it had not been prevalent, it was a very serious offence. He considered that under the circumstances the sentences he proposed to pass were lenient, and warned the accused that if they ever appeared before him again on a similar charge they could expect a long term.

Boy Badly Hurt Sleigh Riding

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Feb. 7. — While sleigh-riding on Monday night, Oral George suffered a painful injury. In company with a group of boys, he was riding on a toboggan which collided with a log. He was injured in the abdomen, and it is feared his condition is serious.

Oral is fifteen years old, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred George of this village.

Lead Canadian Soldiers Home

Hungry and weary and clad in nondescript garments, 122 Canadians who fought for months with Spanish government armies as members of the Mackenzie-Papineau battalion, made up entirely of Canadian volunteers, arrived home in Toronto to be greeted by a cheering crowd of close to 10,000 people. Major Ed. Cecil Smith, of Toronto, the battalion's commanding officer, and his second-in-command, Thomas MacCallum, of Vancouver, led the contingent home. Here the two officers stand to give the Spanish Republican salute as bands played "O, Canada!" Major Smith is on the LEFT.

Mass Participation In Sports On Sunday Strongly Condemned

Mass participation in Sunday sport was roundly condemned by the Peterborough Ministerial Association at the regular monthly meeting held Monday in the Y.M.C.A. and was labelled as being unhealthy and unwise and tends to do harm to the body and soul.

At the January meeting of the Association a committee had been named to draw up a statement on Sunday observance and their report in the form of a resolution was unanimously adopted.

The resolution read as follows: "In view of the increasing and widespread encroachments on the Christian Sabbath, and considering the present discussion of the significance, we, the Peterborough Ministerial Association, would appeal to all Christians, members of our churches, to take a firm stand for the maintenance of this day for the purpose for which it was intended, namely rest and worship.

We believe that rest is desirable for all who toil in stores, factories, and offices from the viewpoint of physical well-being apart from spiritual considerations.

We also believe that rest involves recreation but not in such form as to involve the employment of others in commerical pursuits on Sunday. We believe too that rest means quiet and a quiet day brings refreshment to jaded over-wrought nerves.

We affirm that the massing of people for Sunday spectacles in sport in unhealthy and unwise, tending to do harm to body and soul. Apart from religious considerations we believe it to be in the interest of the individual and for the public well-being to adopt a sane and proper viewpoint on the provision God has made, namely 'The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath".

Passion Week

Considerable discussion centred on the forthcoming Passion Week services, and it was generally felt that while centralized services make for a constructive interdenominational fellowship, still, due to a natural loyalty to the local church, more far reaching results might be achieved if each church was to carry on its individual program or series with the assistance of speakers from other churches or denominations. To this plan the members agreed and empowered the executive to arrange for this type of Passiontide program with two central Communion services on Good Friday morning.

Immediate action was urged on a city canvass to determine denominational allegiance. Rev. Dr. Young, Wright, Floyd and Boyter were named a committee to investigate the possibility of securing from the Assessor's office the names and denominations of people in the district.

Evangelism for 1939.

Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park Street Baptist Church was the speaker and delivered a vigorous straight, from the shoulder talk on evangelism for 1939. He showed an appreciation of the present day difficulties which confront any evangelical movement but also suggested modern remedies which he claimed he would use in his own work this year. The speaker declared that we must heed the call to evangelize as a summons from God Himself and just as each age had been called upon to interpret the Message for its time, so it is ours to find means of enlightening and gathering in those who stand in need today.

Discussion indicated that many lay people today are suspicious of the motives of the Church because of the worldly attitude taken by some of its officials. It was agreed that to work most effectually the Church of God must be thoroughly dedicated to His service, otherwise failures are inevitable.

Those who attended the meeting were Revs. W. McArthur, Dr. E. W. Young, R. D. Wright, Dr. A. T. Barr, J. H. Sutcliffe, F. W. Craik, M. C. Parr, T. H. Floyd, C. C. Boyter, C. L. Brown, H. Wilkinson, F. G. MacTavish, J. M. Young and V. E. R. Zufelt.

Three Red Foxes Shot In Afternoon By Two Local Hunters

THREE RED FOXES bagged in one afternoon is the record boasted by two Peterborough men, Charles Doughty and Karl Sisson. Out a short distance from the city, they shot all three within a few hours.

"We broke the jinx at last," said Charles Doughty, who divides his time between operating a cream separator business and hunting in the woods. "We've had tough luck for months so yesterday we made up for it." One of the foxes, the men claimed, had evaded them for the past two years, was a wily fellow, and they had difficulty stopping him. All three foxes were males, all were bagged within the same area.

Separate School Rate Is Set At 10.84 Mills

The Catholic School Board's requisition to the council for 1939 is $26,261.31, representing the rate of 10.84 mills on an assessment of $2,422,614. Notice of the amount was received by the council Monday night with the request that it be paid in twelve monthly instalments. The levy on Separate School supporters will be 36.57 mills.

Two Engagements

The council accepted two engagements, one to the Kiwanis Club's Dutch Treat luncheon Friday, February 10 to hear the Hon. D. G. McKenzie, former Minister of Agriculture in the government of Manitoba, and the other to attend Knox Church Sunday morning, February 19.

Is Re-appointed

A. A. McIntyre was re-appointed a member of the City Trust Commission for another period of five years He was proposed again by Alderman Stocker, seconded by Alderman Glover. "He's a good man for that job," said Ald. Stocker. "He's the one who looks after all the repairs to city property, and as he is a contractor he knows what should be done"

After all the talk about getting an armful of the Commission's reserve funds, it was jokingly enquired whether any other terms lapsed at the same time.

"You don't need to worry about that," said Alderman Gordon, "we'll have them all out of there some time."

That was the passing moment of jest to which Ald. Gordon gave a scintillant point, possibly with a tiny barb on it, but the council's real appreciation of the Commission was perhaps reflected earlier in the comment of Alderman Glover in proposing an amendment of a clause in the Legal Committee's report. That clause requested that each member of the council be supplied with a statement of sales and purchases of securities made by the City Trust in the years 1925 to 1938 inclusive, giving the names of the securities, rate, yield and names of brokers.

Alderman Glover suggested that the preparation of that information would involve too much work, and incidentally the council should be congratulating the Commission on their successful stewardship of the city's debenture funds, instead of tieing them up in preparing a statement for fourteen years. "I think it should be enough if we were to pick out certain purchases or sales and ask for information about them."

Alderman Gordon repeated some of the reasons which prompted his proposal some time ago. It was finally agreed to apply for the details of deals for the last five years.

"We all feel the Commission has done a splendid job, but there seems to have been more market activities than the circumstances warranted, and I think they are obligated to provide the information which the council is seeking," said Alderman Dutton.

Alderman Bradburn said he agreed with Ald. Glover, but as he had moved the adoption of his own report he voted for that motion with Aldermen Stocker, McCannan and Gordon.

Alderman McCannan urged that the whole question be referred to the finance committee for further discussion. Those who voted for the five-year amendment were Aldermen Wilson, McIntyre, Cotton, Dutton and Glover.

The Rambling REPORTERS

THE WIFE SAID NO

Dame Fortune dealt a knockout blow to a married man in the city yesterday when it teamed up with the man's wife to discourage the hubby from gambling. The man was one of those ordinary creatures who has a weakness for horse race betting, but could not convince his spouse that a little should be set aside for this purpose. After four years of persuasion, his better half finally consented to place two dollars on the horses, each putting up a dollar and the bet is reported to have been made yesterday. At this point Lady Luck enters the picture. The race truck, Gulf Stream, at Hollywood, where the horse bet on was to have run was closed down, supposedly because of financial difficulties, and the race was cancelled. The two dollars was returned but the wife now contends this was an omen and is adamant on the point that in future it's thumbs down on betting.—McG.

Lighting Survey Is Being Made

At the request of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, Henry Rowland of the lighting service section of the Hydro-Electric Power Comsion is spending a few weeks in the city demonstrating efficiency in lighting that should be of interest to the heads of retail and manufacturing business, and those in charge of schools and other public buildings. Mr. Rowland is a specialist in lighting, and his assistance is free to those who wish to avail themselves of it. He may be consulted and called in to survey stores, schools and other buildings for the purpose of promoting better lighting as an aid to all branches of business, including selling. At present he has arranged a demonstration of a number of lighting units in the Trebilcock store on George Street.

Man Collapses Police Station

Manley Turner, employed at the farm of Earl Burns, R.R. 6, Otonabee, had a number of teeth extracted in a local dentist's office on Monday afternoon. On his return home his gums were still bleeding and when there was no cessation throughout the night he came into town to seek medical assistance. Calling in at the police station at 7.30 'oclock this morning to get the aid of the police to locate a doctor, the man collapsed but was revived in a short time and his case was taken care of by the dentist who had performed the extraction. His condition was not regarded as at all serious.

Boy Is Injured Chopping Wood

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 7. — James Throop, newpaper delivery boy here, suffered a painful gash behind his ear on Monday morning from the blow of an axe. He was in the act of chopping some limbs from a tree when the axe glanced and struck the boy on the head, blade first. It inflicted an inch and a half cut, but did not go into the bone.

Offer Is Made To Care For Nursing Service

An invitation to the Victorian Order of Nurses to establish a branch of their nursing service in Peterborough was proposed to the City Council on Monday night by John J. Turner, representing the Peterborough Health Association. He gave a report of the association's work last year, in which $2,025 was received and $2,211.02 expended, leaving a debit balance of $186.46.

Receipts included $1,000 grant from the city, $486 income from securities, $398.50 donations, $109.20 nurses' collections, and $13.90 collected by I.O.D.E. milk bottles.

Expenses in part were $1,311.50 for nurse's salary, milk $338.70, drugs $41.46, eggs $46.15, chest clinic $227.30, and other smaller items.

"Give us $3,000 and we'll take care of three nurses who will give you require, and leave you money in pocket," said Mr. Turner. "You are now giving us $1,000 a year, and you are paying one public health nurse $1,200, and you are going to engage a third nurse for the Well Babies' Clinic at say $1,500. Give us $3,000, and we will have $1,500 the Metropolitan Insurance Company will turn over to us for doing their local nursing work, with another $1,000 we could raise by public subscription. We also have $486 earned for us by legacies, and with those funds we could look after all the public nursing in Peterborough, not only efficiently, but also with economy to the city."

The Council informed Mr. Turner that lack of time did not permit them to take up the nursing question last night, but they would consider the proposal in the near future.

Father Is Happy At Son's Return

A successful ending has been written on the shores of Lake Penage, north of Sudbury to the reunion of a 15-year-old boy and his parents.

When Henry Hutchinson came to Peterborough to take his son home from jail, after the lad had been imprisoner on a charge of vagrancy, and after he had wandered the country for a year and a half, the father said he would not force his youngster to come home. He said if the lad still wanted to be away from home he would supply him with enough money to become an established, useful citizen.

The boy did return home, a letter to the Examiner from Henry Hutchinson revealed today. "I wish to thank you folk for being the means of our locating our son," his letter read. "I am glad as well to tell you that in spite of hunger and cold when he could find no work, David remembered his early training and refrained from stealing.

"We are all so happy to have him home and have enrolled him in the Government Correspondence School where he will take up his High School studies at once.

"I wish to thank the many folk who helped me so much too, while I was in your fine little city. Your Crown Attorney, Mr. McElderry, was particularly helpful. Colonel Johnston was kind and so willing to do all he could and with but one exception all the boys at Police Headquarters were very sympathetic and helpful."

Road Commissions Works Commended

Appreciation of the Suburban Area Commission's improvement of roads radiating from the city, and especially their fine job on the River Road from Peterborough to Lakefield through Douro was recorded by the Council on Monday night in a resolution by Alderman Glover, seconded by Alderman McCannan. They requested that this work be extended along the scenic river drive this year, and also that McKellar Street be given a retread asphaltic surface.

Alderman Glover said the Peterborough Bus Lines would provide a south-end belt line from the foot of Lock Street across to Park Street if McKellar Street was paved, and for the benefit of the residents in that part of the suburban township Ald. Glover urged that the Commission undertake the work this year.

CHEERFULNESS PAYS

VANCOUVER—(CP). — Cheerfulness pays, believes Miss Marietta Stanley, for 18 years telephone operator at St. Paul's Hospital here. In appreciation of her work, hospital doctors gave Miss Stanley a month's vacation and a trip to Honolulu.

Ordered To Attend Telephone Hearing

Mayor Hamilton and W. P. Huycke, city solicitor, were instructed by the council Monday night to attend the hearing before the Dominion Board of Transport of the Bell Telephone Company, for the approval of their proposed increase in their service charges in Peterborough.

"If the company proves that the increases are required and necessary," said Ald. Gordon, "the representation by Mayor Hamilton and Mr. Huycke would be only nominal and not oppositional. Personally I think that for business and professional men the increase in the number of telephones from 4,000 to 6,000 warrants a higher rate, but what about the rest of the people with only home telephones?"

Alderman Wilson said the Company was allowed to pay an 8 per cent dividend, and asked if anybody knew how many employees would be dispensed with.

"I understand the regular staff of girls will be taken care of where dials are not in use, but the spare girls will be let out. We can't do anything to prevent it," said Ald. Gordon.

Canadian Legion Notes

We are able to state definitely that the Legion troupe, the Whiz-Bang Minstrels, will make their first public appearance on the nights of Monday and Tuesday, February 20 and 21, at the Collegiate Auditorium. A great deal of work and enthusiasm has been expended on the production, and we believe that a program will be given that will be appreciated by the audience.

The next monthly meeting of the branch, which is scheduled to take place on Monday, February 20, will be postponed to another date, to be announced later.

The officers of the branch wish to thank the members and friends for their patronage of the social games on Wednesday last. The trouble with the heating system has now been rectified and there is no better heated place in the city than the Legion Hall.

Our social games on Wednesday and our euchre party on Monday, are going along nicely, thank you, and have been a source of pleasure to many people. All goods given as prizes are purchased in and in some cases are manufactured in Peterborough.

As announced last week, a very welcome vistor to our next monthly meeting will be Captain Sidney Lambert of the amputation association, so please watch for the date. On that occasion a Union Jack 18 feet long, will be presented to the branch in memory of a soldier killed in the war.

German refugees are finding homes in Ireland.

St. John's Choir Of 1850 Presented Concert To Raise Money For Restoration Of Church

With reference to the concert to be given on Tuesday, February 8, by the choir of St. John's church, investigation shows that eighty-nine years ago, almost to a day, (as reported in the Weekly Despatch of Thursday, February 7, 1850), a concert was given by the choir of that day and was stated in the local paper to be a "Concert in aid of the funds for the Restoration of St. John's church." The titles of the various number are given but not the names of the performers. It opened with the anthem "Before Jehova's Awful Throne," and closed with the anthem, "Strike the Cymbal"; there were sixteen numbers in all, including eight anthems, four duets and chorus, one trio and chorus, and three solos. The report states that the members of St. John's choir acquitted themselves admirably, plainly showing what able training and good guidance can effect. There followed eulogistic accounts of the various performances, and it wound up by saying: "Altogether we are safe in saying that no such concert was ever given in Peterborough, and those who were unavoidably absent have much cause to regret."

A Miss Forbes was evidently the moving spirit in the organization of the concert and was subsequently presented with a piano-stool, as an appreciation of her efficient service.

This concert was held in association with bazaar held at the time in aid of the church restoration fund, which, with the concert, realized some $550—or, as it is stated in sterling, then current in Canada, £109-1s-6.

Second Battalion Set Sail for France Twenty-four Years Ago On February 7

Today should be a memorable date in the lives of G. C. Winterbottom, Ernest Nicholls, Bruce Mills, John Allen and other Peterborough members of the original 2nd Battalion. It was just twenty-four years ago this morning, February 7, 1915, that the battalion left Salisbury Plains for France, after months of training in England during one of the wettest winters on record. It is recalled that it was still raining when the Iron Seconds set sail for France and when, contrary to usual custom, they were landed at St. Nazaire on west coast instead of at one of the channel ports, the weather turned very cold. It was the beginning of the Great Adventure that for so many of them was to end in little more than two months in that wild night of April 22-23 when the 2nd Battalion with the rest of the Canadian division was thrown in to save the channel ports after French colonial troops, overpowered by poison gas, had left a gap in the line.

High School Attendance Up 117 Per Cent. But Cost Of Education Only 46 Per Cent.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7. — Although the number of pupils attending secondary schools has increased by 117 per cent in the past 15 years the total cost of education in high schools has only increased 46 per cent, E. H. Greig, principal of Campbellford High School said in address before members of the Rotary Club here Monday. Introducing the speaker, H. B. Longmore, M.D., paid a tribute to the work and ability of the principal whose school was among the top ranking institutions of the Province. In his opening remarks, Mr. Greig stated the purpose of National Education Week which began today and was sponsored by the National Teacher's Council for the purpose of "developing a spirit of closer cooperation between the citizen and the school, and to enlighten citizens through the radio and press on the educational problem."

Ontario has been slower in bringing about needed reforms in education that has the province of Quebec which started to revise its system in 1931 while it was not until 1937 that changes were instituted in the Ontario schools.

It is the feeling of the National Teachers' Council that the provincial government should assume a greater share in the cost of secondary education and this view is being shared by a great many citizens. If this is done however it will minimize the control exerted by local school boards and consequently by the municipal council as well.

The cost of education in Canada is approximately $120,000,000.00 a year or 13 per cent of government expenditures. This serves two and a half million pupils in secondary schools and pays approximately 74,000 teachers. Unfortunately this cost is largely born by municipal taxes but on the other hand only 27 per cent of the municipal debt throughout Ontario is due to educational costs.

Education costs throughout Canada only average $10.00 per captia and Ontario is not out of line with the other provinces in this matter since the average cost during 1936-37 was $10.42. In fact we are today spending less per pupil for education than we were 15 years ago. In closing, the speaker drew attention to the fact that it costs no more to raise six children and give them all a good education than to raise seven all completely illiterate. The cost of raising a child is set at $3,750.00 of which only 15 per cent is allowed for education.

CRIPPLED STIRLING TEAM DEFEATS CAMPBELLFORD 2-1 IN T. V. L.

Old Smythe Feud With Ross Is Fading Fast

BOSTON, Feb. 7 (CP)—Hockey's bitterest feud is mellowing with the course of time into something almost approaching a mutual admiration society.

Until recently you could have cut the air with a knife when Conny Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, got within sounding distance of Art Ross, pilot of Boston Bruins. The enmity was built up through years of important, bitterly contested meetings of the two clubs and the rivals didn't hesitate to sound off—in season or out.

Some how reaction started to set in one night last winter in Boston, when Smythe showed up for a game dressed in evening clothes. Ross regarded the monkey-suit as a gesture of willingness to be friendly.

So the Boston boss extended a friendly hand at an N.H.L. meeting last fall in Toronto by giving Smythe $25 to bet for him on one of the Toronto manager's horses, Shoeless Joe. The horse came in and paid handsomely and there hasn't been a harsh word between Smythe and Ross ever since.

Last night Smythe and Ross got together at the Boston gridiron club's hockey dinner and when it was over the boys were betting that the managers would be sending Valentines to one another next week.

Lauds Old Rival

Smythe told of the contributions Ross had made to hockey, among them his patented goal-nets and the new officiating system whereby a referee and a linesman handle games. Then he praised his old rival for the philosophic way in which he always had taken Bruin beatings at the hands of the Leafs.

Ross described Smythe as "the greatest asset of the National Hockey League" and admitted that when he wanted to revamp the Bruins he copied Smythe's tactics of putting the accent on youth.

There are stories behind the remarks of both men. There's the fact the Bruins never have won a playoff series from the Leafs. And in those playoff games have come some of hockey's greatest thrills—like the 104 minutes of overtime the teams played before Toronto won a 2-1 decision in the 1933 playoffs; or the 8-3 victory the Leafs scored to come from behind a Boston three-goal advantage in the series of 1936. Just last season Toronto took three straight falls out of the favored Bruins in the league title series.

The Bailey Care

The feud reached its bitterest stage in the 1933-34 season the night Ace Bailey, of the Leafs, was knocked to the ice in Boston by Eddie Shore. The Boston defenceman was promptly knocked down by Red Horner of Toronto, but he suffered nothing like the after-effects Bailey went through. For days his life hung by a thread and he hasn't played hockey since. It took the teams a long time to get over that incident.

Ross might have gone a little farther when he told of building his club along young lines. He might have told of getting most of his good young stars right from under Smythe's nose. Johnny Crawford, Roy Conacher, and Red Hamil of the Bruins are Toronto boys and Woody Dumart, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer are from Kitchener, only a few miles away.

It has been a strange, fierce rivalry that once seemed without a chance of ending. But it's apparently all over now. When the Bruins and the Leafs play here tonight, Smythe and Ross are almost apt to smile happily and wish one another luck—a far cry from the days when a Boston-Toronto meeting was a minor war.

Fiery Dream Time

WESTON, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—When George Farley dreamed last night "of a light in the corner of my room, going on and off six or seven times," he awakened with a start and saw smoke coming from the wall near the fireplace.

Farley awakened the rest of his family and investigation disclosed a fire in his father's barber shop on the ground floor. Before volunteer firemen extinguished the blaze, the Farley family and six neighbors were forced to leave their dwellings as a precaution.

Foulds Battles For 3-Yard Interference

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—(CP)—Satisfied that three-yard interference produces a type of football more to be desired than 10-yard interference would, W. C. Foulds will continue to exert his choice as chairman of the Canadian Rugby Union's rules committee against more liberal interference for the ball-carrier.

Western Canada's campaign for 10-yard interference is likely to be renewed within the next year, but Foulds indicated in a statement yesterday that he has gained all the evidence he wants for an opinion that the C.R.U. rules allow sufficient interference. The statement was based on the findings of a trip the rules committee chairman made to the west last year, when he saw three games played under the western standard of 10-yard interference.

On the constitution of the C.R.U. —and due to take effect in 1940—is a stipulation that any team challenging for the dominion senior title must have played under C.R.U. rules all season. In recent years western teams have played under their own code during the western season and changed to the C.R.U. code for the Canadian final.

Makes For Best Game

Foulds said he did not claim perfection for the three-yard interference rule "but I do say that that rule produces a game that far more closely approaches what is to be desired than would be the case if the western intereference limits were adopted as standard for competition."

His chief objection to the liberalized interference was the fact that it depends, he said, too greatly on size in a player and makes the game a 'survival of the fittest" test. There was a deficiency of "low" tackling in the western game, he found.

Foulds thought "certain recent developments might prejudice westerners in favor of their game in contrast to the C.R.U. standard. One of these was the importation of United States coaches.

"One is very probably close to correct if one assumes that their (the West's coaches, being familiar with the U.S. code, were unsuccessful in applying their knowledge to the standard Canadian code, with the result that the style of game they were able to produce under the latter code was not particularly attractive," he said.

A Better Code

"Having now, however, acquired a code better suited to their purpose and with which they are thoroughly familiar ,these coaches are undoubtedly producing a style of game that is relatively more attractive than what they were formerly able to produce under an unfamiliar code, and, while the type or style of game now played in the West may be infinitely better in comparison to what it was, in that locality, some years ago, there is no reason to believe that it is any more attractive than, or perhaps attractive as, a game played under the standard Canadian code by teams whose coaches and players are thoroughly familiar with the possibilities of that code."

C.G.E. Gang Wins Over Lock Co. 6-5

In an exhibition puck tilt Saturday morning at tht Brock, the Lock Co. Aces dropped a 6-5 decision to C.G.E. It was a rough, fast hockey fray with Aces losing on penalties, when C.G.E. scored twice. Both goalies looked good, as Ashmore, Leggitt, Heal, Jobe and Burke all went well for the winners; Giardino, Watkins, White, R. Burke and Cockerell shining for the other side. It was 2-1 for Aces in the first but 4-2 for their opponents going into the third. Heal got three, Leggitt two and Jobe one for C.G.E.; as White tallied three, Cockerell one and Wheeler one for the losers. The teams:

Johnny Gottselig Recaptures Lead With 29 Points

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 — CP). — National Hockey League scoring statistics returned to their normal track to-day with Johnny Gottselig of Chicago once more out in front by a nose.

Black-haired Johnny stepped back to fourth place a week ago, after holding the lead most of the season, and, apparently irked when forced off his pace, scored four points in one game against Montreal Canadiens to move right back to the top again.

Official statistics gave the Hawk winger 29 points, putting him just one point ahead of two New York Americans, Tommy Anderson and Sweeney Schriner, and Syl Apps, ace Toronto Maple Leaf centre who improves his position each week.

Barry Well Up.

Marty Barry of Detroit held the next spot alone with 27 points, while Bryan Hextall of New York Rangers and Toe Blake of Canadiens were right behind with 26.

Two Rangers shared goal-getting leadership, Hextall and Alex Shibicky, having 14 apiece. Schriner still paced the playmakers with 19 assists.

Red Horner's claim to penalty leadership went unchallenged another week. The Leaf veteran's record showed 1 hour and 3 minutes in penalties against 54 minutes for Coulter of Rangers, his closest rival.

George St. Wins Over Park St.

George St. Juveniles copped a 7-2 win over Park St. in their Church Hockey League game at All Saints' last night. Hamilton scored the only one in the first. In the next heat, Woodgate got two and E. Routley one for them, as Martin counted for the Park St. pack. Campbell got their second in the last period, while Hamilton, Routley and Woodgate scored for George St. It was a surprise win for George St. as Park St. lost their first. The speed of Hamilton and Routley was a deciding factor. Ainslie had little chance on those that beat him, and heavy ice bothered the losers, Martin going best for them. The teams:

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

There is no use merely saying Oshawa and our Colts have an O.H.A. junior "B" clash here tonight. That would be like saying Hitler was mobilizing his forces to march on France. Or nearly so. This is a real battle looming and cannot be dismissed with a sentence. In the first place it is a highly important number inasmuch as these teams have a double home and home schedule, the winnah to march into Ontario playdowns toward a title, and the loser to take up marbles or skipping for the spring. In other words quit hockey for this year. And, as Oshawa already have one win, the locals simply have to get busy and even up the series. For another thing, both clubs have a flock of classy players aboard, and still another reason is that they roughed each other up scandalously in Oshawa and aren't likely to be little angels on local ice.

* * * * * *

Yeah, fans can bank on a hard, exciting fight with no quarter asked or given—barring those from cash customers coming in. Coach Bill Jackson and Manager Hap Wilgar both claim the Colts will cop tonight's tilt, and all the players say so in loud tones. They feel they can trim Oshawa here with fair refereeing—and they agreed to Peg Hurst, Oshawa goalie, as being fair—while they also maintain they aren't going to let the big Motor Citizens rough 'em up. They did it a bit in Oshawa, afraid to look crooked for fear of a penalty. We like the locals' chances and think they ought to smear the packed Oshawa outfit. This game will be heated and close, and should pack in the real fans.

* * * * * *

And The Warriors

Local lineup will likely be this: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Berwick and Curtin; centre, Parnell; wings, Craig and Pammett; alternates, Williams, Wade, Foster, McDonald and Strickland. The Oshawa lineup, with numbers, is: Phillips (1), Murphy (2), Fraser (3), Morris (4), Peters (5), Reid (6), Wilson (7), McMasters (8), McBrine (9), McMullen (10), Yourth (11). Both Reid and Yourth were Memorial Cup finalists with the "A" team last year, and huge Taylor was here but couldn't get work so went to Oshawa. They have two imports, and the others are '38 Ontario juvenile champs. Two classy teams in action, folks, so don't pass it up.

Secretary Lahring Parsons of the Peterborough Ski Club says they are getting swamped with requests for board and rooms by outside skiers or ski followers who are heading here for the provincial ski meet this Saturday and Sunday. Folks here don't realize, or many of 'em don't, how big an affair this is. Provided the weather is right, it'll be a mighty big thing, with hundreds coming in from many points in Ontario and Quebec, as well as the local ski enthusiasts being out in force. There is a nine-mile cross-country run from and to Armour Hill on Saturday, with the championship jumps at Nassau in the afternoon, and slalom and downhill events at Bethany on Sunday. As well as other entertainments put on by the Ski Club or Winter Sports' Committee here. It'll mean a lot to Peterborough.

From Far And Wide

Here are some of the places which are expected to send entries here: Quebec Laurentian, McGill U., two Montreal clubs, Toronto, Collingwood, Hamilton, Kitchener, Huntsville, North Bay, St. Catharines, Owen Sound, Trenton Airport, Ottawa (three clubs), Queen's U., Oshawa, U. of T., and several more. This is the second biggest ski meet in the Dominion each year, Ontario only giving way to the Canadian event. And it has been held usually in Toronto, Ottawa or North Bay before this city got it for 1939.

Quite a few bets around town on the outcome of the Fliers-Redmen croocial contest this evening in Belleville. Winner will be here Friday to play the Petes, and second of the three-in-five playoff—and pay-off—series will be on Quinte ice next Monday. Personally, we think the Airmen should romp through the boys of Bella Villa, but one never knows next what'll hapen in this screwy senior "B" setup. Anyway, the team which loses tonight is out for the season, whilst the winner steps into group playoffs. The Petes, by finishing on top of the schedule, get the first playoff game at home and also have the choice of ice in case of a fifth and deciding joust.

A Shower Or Rubber

Omemee massaged the men of Millbrook last e'en on the O's ice with an 11-4 rubdown in their District Puck Loop tussle. Not too rough a game, yet Freelove, Weir and Ellis all suffered cuts—results of accidents. The Hawks got an early lead and clung to it like moneyed gees—the rich get goals and the poor get nowhere. Winner of this loop goes into O.H.A. intermediate "B" playdowns, and Peterborough Aces so far have looked the tops. They play Les Patrick's streamlined style of hockey, ganging up throughout the tussle. Omemee and the Aces are slated to tangle on Thursday, and it should be a neat number.

Just three of the four Church Hockey League games last night were played. All Saints and St. John's fought it out to a 2-all bantam draw, George St. copped a 3-1 bantam win over St. Paul's, and George St. Juveniles kept well in the running with a 7-2 smirk over Park St. Young McDougall, centre for All Saints, is celebrating his 11th birthday today and he and Doughty, 11-year-old centre for St. Paul's, are promising young pucksists. Holding their own in their first season with boys two and three years older. McDougall has a style resembling his dad, Mel McDougall. Quite a few sons, in fact, of well-known hockey dads playing in this circuit.

Omemee Beats Millbrook In 11-4 Game

Omemee took an 11-4 District Hockey League victory over Millbrook last night in the Omemee arena. A fair-sized crowd of fans saw a fast, clean contest, with the homesters having too much punch for their battling adversaries. The score was 3-2 for Omemee in the first frame, and 5-2 for them heading into the third.

Three of the players received cuts in accidents., Freelove getting a gash on the lip that required five stitches, Weir receiving a cut that took seven stitches to close, and Ellis getting a minor cut on the head. The game was not rough, eight penalties being drawn.

Gray replaced Freelove in the losers' net in the first period, when the latter was hurt. L. Mercer, Watson and Wainman looked best for the Millbrook gang; while the whole Omemee squad turned in a fine effort. They had plenty of speed, a nice passing attack and they checked effectively. Fisher pulled off some nifty saves in the O's cage.

The teams:

Millbrook: Goal, Freelove, Gray; defence, Elliott, J. Mercer; centre, L. Mercer; wings, Raper, Quantrell; alternates, Watson, Wainman, McCarthy.

Omemee: Goal, Fisher; defence, T. Parsons, Williamson; centre, Gilbert; wings, Weir, Jamieson; alternates, Prete, F. Parsons, Ellis, Brockley, Brooks.

Horning's Track To Reopen Soon, He Hopes

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 7. — (AP).—Gulfstream Park, $1,400,000 horse track which opened with the biggest racing throng in Florida's history and closed after four days, will re-open shortly if its youthful president has his way.

John Horning, 28-year-old contractor who started building the plant for others and took it over as his own project when the original backers dropped it, said the first announcement that the 40-day meeting was cancelled was incorrect.

John Letendre, managing director, made the statement.

"We are arranging to re-open in a few days—as soon as possible," Horning said. "While the first announcement was that the meeting had been cancelled it really was nothing more than a postponement."

Meanwhile the veil of mystery that first surrounded the sudden closing was lifted slightly. An associate of Horning's explained that the "mutuel bankroll," about $60,000 which was hauled to the track in an armored car each day for use in the betting windows, was withdrawn.

"The money wasn't ours; it was arranged for," said Horning. "I knew nothing about the withdrawal until 11 o'clock yesterday. Naturally we couldn't obtain so large an amount of cash on such short notice so our races had to be temporarily postponed."

The Miami Herald said Harry Fink, Miami Beach hotel owner, stated he withdrew $45,000 of the bankroll he posted "to protect my money." He said his arrangement with Letendre gave him the privilege of withdrawing any time he desired.

Joseph Stein, chairman of the State Racing Commission, said a meeting would be called to discuss the closing. He believed the Commission approval was needed for re-opening.

Ski Notes

Cheers, and more cheers. Last night's snowfall just about puts the OK on our Provincial Meet here this weekend.

Everything is in readiness now but there are still a few last-minute jobs to be done so lend a hand and let's make this the best ski meet that was ever held any place.

The regular instruction class will be held at Victoria Park tonight. This class will be taken by Instructress Lahring Parsons as Instructor Jack Holland and his gang will be working on the jump at Nassau. A few more workers are needed at Nassau and volunteers there will certainly be appreciated.

Otto Laderach needs a few long distance men on Wednesday night to help him lay out the cross-country course. So if you feel like a jaunt on your skis let Otto or Lahring Parsons know you are available.

Thursday night the club run will be held at Nassau under floodlights instead of at Jackson Park. If you can come please phone 9147 so we'll know how much food to provide.

Club members eligible to compete in the provincial meet are reminded that their entries must be in the hands of the secretary by Thursday afternoon and that they must also obtain their competitor's card.

Saturday night we're all going to "swing" at the Legion Hall from 8 p.m. to midnight. Last year this ski club dance was the event of the season and it will be even better this year. Jerry Wooll's orchestra will provide the music and the admission will be only 50c per person. Ski clothes will be in order but you'll have to park your ski boots at the entrance—so put your slippers in your pocket and join in the fun. The patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Westbye and Miss Vi Davidson.

More later.

Milltown Boys Second Loss From Stirling

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7—Stirling settled down to a nice brand of defensive hockey after taking an early lead from the local aggregation in a T.V.L. tilt here Monday night. The visitors, who took the lead near the end of the first period, and held it for the evening, won the game 2-1, and they did this with Jones, the only member of their regular defence line, in the game.

Six Penalties

In the cage for the visitors "Lottie" Fox, who has been guarding the Stirling fort ever since Trent Valley hockey was a pup, seemed to show little of the march of time, and continually warded of Blake's rifle like shots. He saved the day for the winners on several occasons by darting out of the net to beat Campbellford's forwards. Of the six penalties handed out by referee E. Wallace, the visitors were awarded three. Charlie Couch and Butler were given the air halfway through the third for staging a little private battle on the ice and with both teams a man short the playing livened up with the locals getting the edge. Ken Oddie, who has been out of locals' defence line with a wrenched shoulder since the second game of the season, was back for the evening's engagement, but coach West wasn't taking any chances on another injury. He stayed on the bench most of the evening. Oddie has plenty of speed and some of the much needed weight which the locals lack.

With less than a minutes of the opening period left. Reid picked up a pass from Jones in front of the net and marked the first goal of the evening down to the visitors tally.

Charlie Couch saved the locals from a shout out when he snapped the puck into the net on a pass from Don Free, after less than a minute of the final period hadelapsed. The losers took desperate chances, playing five men up in an endeavor to get the equalizer but Stirling played an air-tight defence and what they missed Fox didn't.

Summary:

First Period
Stirling—Reid (Jones) 9.10
Penalty—Armstrong.

Second Period
Stirling—Morton 7.35
Penalties—Phillips, Dainard.
Campbellford—Couch (Free) 0.24

Third Period
Penalties—C. Couch, Butler, D. Couch.

The teams:

Stirling: Goal, Fox; defence, Fraser, Jones; centre, Morton; wings, Reid, Dainard; subs, Armstrong, Butler.

Campbellford: Goal, Turner; defence, Wilkes, D. Couch; centre, Phillips; wings, Blake, Atkinson; subs, C. Couch, Robinson, D. Free, F. Free, K. Oddie.

Referee, E. Wallace.

NORWOOD HORNETS BOW TO TWEED 4 TO 3 IN T. V. L. GAME

Smarting Under Recent Shutout Both Teams Battle Hard For Win In Good Clean Game

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 7.—Smarting under a recent 6-0 shutout at the hands of the Doug Brennan aggregation from Norwood the Tweed Red and White Shirts administered a 4-3 count against the Norwod Yellow Hornets on Monday evening at the local arena in one of the fastest game of the season.

With only one point separating both teams, the players went out for victory from the first, and after about ten minutes after the opening Hagerman put the visitors one up on a pass from Brennan. However, the Tweed boys came back and tied the count when J. Tummon took a pass from Courneyea. Checking was close but no penalties resulted in this canto.

With the teams out for a counter in the second period, both teams missed several scoring opportunities, with the visitors having the upper hand during the period. However, Reeves between the home team's gas pipes played a spectacular game and prevented sure goals being scored on several occasions. Orr, Rogers and Ibey took to the box for tripping during the period. Right after the opening of the last period, Baldy Leal took the puck down and passed to Meraw for the counter that put the Tweed boys one up on the Hornets, and the count was soon lengthened to three to one when Meraw took Orr's perfect pass to drop the rubber behind Beavis. J. Tuman taking the pass from Courneyea, put the home forces three up on the Norwood team. Pressing to shorten the lead Brennan drove an ankle high shot past Reeves from the side. Ibey on a solo rush cut the lead to one goal, when he crashed through the Tweed team to sink the third counter for Norwood. Penalties were on the increase during the last period with Leal, Brennan, Huyck with two, and Orr with two.

On the game, Reeves in goal, and Meraw with two, and J. Tummon with two counters, were the standouts of the game, while in killing off the penalties Baldy Leal and Elsbury were the feature.

For the visiting team, Pepper Rogers, with his persistent all around playing, was the best, as he covered practically every player that attempted to take the puck up the ice. Beavis in Norwood's gaol saved a higher count, as the homesters rushed in on him on several occasions during the game.

Lakefield Drops 7-4 Game To King Edward

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7.—King Edward Public School, Peterborough, snatched a 7 to 4 victory from the Lakefield Public School here Monday afternoon. Just ten minutes before closing time the score stood at four-all, but the Peterborough boys clamped down in the last few minutes of play.

Peterborough started the scoring and ended the first period with a three to one lead. One goal each in the second left the count 4 to 2 going into the third, when goals by Kendall and Skelcher (for Lakefield) evened things up for a while. But the King Edward boys turned on the power and registered 3 goals in the last ten minutes.

There were several fights during the game, and seven penalties — three to Lakefield and four to King Edward.

Goals for the winners were made by Close (2), Blackwell, Harris, Riel, Anderson and McGregor. Millage, Kendall (2) and Skelcher did the counting for Lakefield.

The teams:

King Edward Public School — Goal, Welch; defence, Lawson and McGregor; centre, Anderson; wings, Riel and Jamieson; alternates: Close, Blackwell, Harris, Brown; sub-goal, Woodcock.

Lakefield Public School—Goal, George Birch; defence, Joe Kendall and Lloyd Allen; centre, Ralph Millage; wings, Carl Skelcher and Ken. Carveth; alternates: Bernie McFadden, Carl Pearson, Arnold Jackman, Stanley Hart.

Millwaukee—Billy Hodges, 130½, Detroit, knocked out Billy Palmer, 131½, Peoria, Ill., (3).

"Well, Lippy? Are You Gonna Bring Home the Bacon"

Leo (Lippy) Durocher, who will manage his first major league ball team in April, when Brooklyn's justly famed Dodgers open their season of weird and wonderful diamond antics, is given a "you better—or else" demonstration by Larry McPhail, general manager of the club. Larry is applying his stranglehold in Artie McGovern's New York gym where he and Leo the Lip were keeping their avoirdupois at a minimum during the winter months. That's Arthur looking on. Maybe by September Mr. McPhail will want to apply the same grip to Mr. Durocher in a more serious vein.

Canada's stock in Olympic hockey competition took a big jump three years ago tonight at the Garmisch - Partenkirchen Winter Games when the Canadians overwhelmed Latvia 11-0. But the hockey finals saw England score a surprise victory to give the Canucks their first Olympic defeat.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Max Schmeling's visit is puzzling the big town...The German is doing absolutely nothing except go to the movies and play cards in his hotel suite...Confidentially, Red Rolfe of the Yanks isn't sending friends clippings of the scores he is making in the Concord (N.H.) bridge league ...Football coaches: Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian University will tell you how he does it in a big magazine come next October.

The situation being what it is, Prof. Joe Stripp will delay adding a course in holding out to his Orlando baseball school until next year ...The official program of the Bettina-Fox lightheavy "championship" fight the other night featured a picture of John Henry Lewis captioned 'light-heavyweight champion of the world"...Dolls on the Pacific Coast have voted Wes Ferrell the best looking major baseball leaguer ...Van Lear (Ky.) high must have had an off night recently...It was drubbed at basketball 108-2.

A Fort Worth store blocked sidewalk traffic by filling a show window with just 20 of Davey O'Brien's football trophies. . . Already Bucky Harris is having tall troubles down at Orlando...He had the hotel in a dither trying to find a bed long enough to park Bob Garner, six foot, seven inch right-hander... Freddie Miller, the former featherweight champ, has boils on his neck from thinking about the time he refused to buy Henry Armstrong's contract from Wirt Ross for 500 bucks...Lawson Little has had his British and American amateur medals made into attractive money clips.

Zeke Bonura is visiting pals in Texas and they say he looks as sleek and slim as a race hoss...The way Lou Gehrig is adding those grey hairs, he'll succeed Tris Speaker as the "grey eagle" of the majors.

Rayon is giving way to pure silk, according to fashion leaders in France.

Der Mox Uppercuts All Rumors

Here's that man again! It's the old Atlantic commuter, Max Schmelling, seen on this side of the brine for the first time since that unromantic June night when he lasted just two minutes and four seconds with Joe Louis. Max is seen giving reporters the "pooh, pooh!" on practically anything they cared to ask him. Questions about concentration camps, Propaganda Minister Goebbels, Mrs. Schmeling and a wide variety of other subjects were parried with subtle verbal manipulation by Der Mox. Oh, yes...and if suitable bouts could be arranged he might climb into the ring again to strive for honor and victory. And dollars.

Hastings Whips Indian River In 7-4 Fracas

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7.—In one of the roughest matches played at the Norwood arena this season, the first place Indian River squad, dropped their second decision in the East Peterborough Rural League, last evening to Hastings by a 7-4 score. The latter team recalling their defeat on home ice by the Indian Riverites were out for revenge, with plenty of hooking and other rough stuff as a result. Nine penalties were handed out by Referee S. Stevenson of Hastings during the game, five going to Hastings and four to the losers.

Worse than their defeat the Indain River squad also lost a valuable member from their line-up, perhaps for the remainder of the season. This came early in the second, when Gavin Shearer, starry forward, who has been confined to the sidelines for some time with a cracked shoulder bone, was crashed to the ice by the opposing defence re-injuring that member.

Hastings ran up an early lead, scoring thrice in the first half of the initial frame, Crate, G. Scriver and Lemoire being the goal-getters, im Cavanagh retaliated once for Indian River, notching one on Brown's rebounding shot. T. Scriver added another for the winners before the period ended. Hastings had the best of the play in this stanza although Brown threatened on several occasions.

Three goals behind going into the second, Indian River pressed the attack, keeping the play mostly within their rivals' territory. Lemoire and Clarke got the gate at this point for scrapping and while they were off Brown scored unassisted. The game roughened up considerably in this period. Brown scored his second of the night on a beautiful solo rush, stickhandling the length of the ice to deposit the rubber behind Kelly. Continuing his one-man scoring spree Brown notched the tying goal shortly before the end of the period. "Curly" Scriver did some nice backchecking during this frame for Hastings, while his team was playing two men short, Stickles and McKee both going off for tripping.

Scriver Steps Out

Indian River held the Hastings crew fairly well in check during the early part of the last frame, but finally the latter recovered their scoring punch, rammimg home three counters. McKee notched the first with G. Scriver collecting the last two.

Brown was individual star of the game, scoring three of his team's goals and making the play for the other. Doherty was good in goal for Indian River, despite the count, while Green, Tedford and Jim Cavanaugh were most effective among the rest of the lineup.

The line composed of McKee, G. Scriver and Lemoire were best for Hastings with Crate and T. Scriver also good.

The teams:

Indian River: Goal, Doherty; defence, Holmes, H. Walsh; centre, N. Clarke; wings, Shearer, Green; alternates, Brown, Tedford, Hogan, Jim Cavanaugh, R. Walsh, John Cavanaugh, Dewart, Jim Clarke.

Referee—S. Stevenson Hastings.

Promoter Dies

One of sport's most fabulous characters passed from the scene when C.C. (Cash and Carry) Pyle, above, promoter extraordinary, died at his Los Angeles home at the age of 56. This picture of Pyle was taken back in the mid-20's when he was at the height of his career, staging the biggest build-up ever given a football player when he introduced Red Grange to the pro game, and making the first pro tennis tour with Suzanne Lenglen. His most famous venture was the "Bunion Derby," a marathon race from Los Angeles to New York, billed at the time as the "world's greates: single athletic event."

Colts At Home To Oshawa Gang

The chips are down here tonight (Tuesday) for the Peterborough Colts when they tangle with the junior Oshawa outfit at 8.30 o'clock in Brock St. Rink. It is the second game of their home-and-home double series to see which club enters the O.H.A. junior "B" playdowns—the loser dropping out for the year. Oshawa won the first game in a hot, hard-fought fray, but the Colts feel thy can even it up on the smaller local ice surface, and with a fair referee. They plan to show more aggressiveness against the rough-tough Motor City crew and give them a real man-sized fight every minute of the fray. Both teams are big, fast and experienced.

Oshawa has packed a potential championship outfit this year, with two Memorial Cup finalists, two imports and the rest members of the 1938 Ontario juvenile titleholders. But the Colts have been picked for their size, experience and hockey ability and—though they haven't always played their best hockey at home—they are due to hit their stride now with the series well advanced. They have a lot of class and stand an even chance of grabbing this game. It will be a rousing, wild tilt, with a tight score, and should draw a big crowd of fans.

St. Peter's Beat Lakefield 7-6; Overtime

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7.—St. Peter's of Peterborough took a narrow 7 to 6 win from Lakefield here last night in the O.J.H.A. schedule, when they scored the only goal of an overtime period to break a 6-all tie and reverse the results of the St. Peters-Lakefield game of two weeks ago when the local lads carried off the honors in the overtime period by a one-point margin.

Jewell, on the forward line, played a splendid game for the local lads and Mason, among the visitors' forwards showed up well. O'Toole and Morrison in goal, both turned in some nice work.

St. Peter's took the lead in the first canto which finished 2 to 1 for the visitors. Then the local lads scored four goals in the second, to St. Peter's three, to end that round 5-5. In the third, each team managed to wangle a counter to bring the final count to 6-all.

It took Mason's shot in the second five-minute period of overtime to clinch the argument for the city lads.

Goals for St. Peter's were pushed in by Mason 3, O'Brian 2, Henwood and Eason. Jewell 4, Bullock and Stewart did the counting for Lakefield The teams:

St. Peter's, Peterborough—Goal, O'Toole; defence, Scriver and Crary; centre, O'Brian; wings, Mason and Garvey; alternates, Eason, Prete, Henwood and Lewis.

Lakefield O.J.H.A.—Goal, Morrison; defence, Birch and Morris; centre, Bullock; wings, Jewell and Stewart; alternates, Pearson, McFadden, Kendall, Clark and Shearer.

On Wednesday of this week Lakefield High School's hockey squad meets Campbellford in Lakefield in a Campbellford - Norwood high school hockey league game.

Legionnaires Third In Their Group

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7. — A review of the standing of the Lakefield Legionnaires in the O.H.A. intermediate "B" schedule shows Lakefield with six wins and three losses to their credit — a total of twelve points, which places them third in the group. Sutton, in second place, boasts seven wins and one tie—a total of fifteen points (counting 2 points for a win and one for a tie). This places Lakefield 3 points behind Sutton with 3 games to play to Sutton's two.

To tie for first place, Lakefield would have to win the next three games, while Whitby lost two of those she still has to play—including one against Lakefield.

IN MEMORIAM

HENDERSON, James E.—In loving memory of James E. Henderson, who passed away February 7, 1938.
Sunset and evening star, and one clear call for me.
—Ever remembered by his daughter, Mrs. Sandford T. Harris and children.

BUTCHER.—In loving memory of Norbert Butcher, who departed this life one year ago, February 4, 1938.
We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by his Mother, Father and Brothers.

WILSON.—In loving memory of our father, Joseph K. Wilson, who died February 7, 1934.
February brings sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
Who will always be remembered
By those who loved him best.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near us
Though it is five years ago.
—Sadly missed and Daughter and Son.

Australia Piles Up Munition Supplies

MELBOURNE, Feb. 7 (CP-Reuters)—So great has been Australia's development of munitions supply that she is now nearng national self-sufficiency in munitions manufacture. The number of employees in munitions factories has been doubled in the last four years though the actual number employed is not revealed.

The expanded program provides for the production of all types of artillery ammunition, small arms ammuntion, respirators, armored vehicles, depth charges and filling for mines. Factories for the manufacture of naval cordite and cartridge cases have been completed and mobile anti-aircraft guns are in full production.

Manufacture of gun ammunition has been greatly extended and orders for munitions for other dominions have been undertaken.

Sarazen All For Match Play

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 7 — A. P.). — Now that his golf game is tuned for competitive play again, Gene Sarazen stepped to-day into the medal play-match play controversy.

The man-to-man play in the annual Professional Golfers' Association championship is perfectly satisfactory to Gene, taking final workouts here before joining the winter tournament swing.

"A master can win at either match or medal play," he declared. "The fellows in my class—Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and myself— always could win just as many tournaments at match play as medal."

Sarazen had a word of disdain for the pros who frown on match play, claiming it is unfair because an inferior player often can spring an upset in an 18-hole round.

"Any man who thinks he can't win at match play is lacking in the stuff that makes a champion," he said.

Bantam Outfits Battle To Draw

All Saints and St. John's battled to a 2-2 bantam Church Hockey League tie last night at All Saints' rink. Hotrum shot into his own net in the first and Frank scored for St. John's in the middle canto. Carpenter and Lee evened it for All Saints in the third. Carpenter, Hill and Lacey went best for All Saints; while Farrow, Frank and Coones looked good for St. John's. A third goal for St. John's came after a whistle and didn't count. The tie keeps All Saints well in the running close behind St. John's for second place. The teams:

All Saints: Goal, Lacey; defence, Hotrum, Lee; centre, Burns; wings, Carpenter, Hill; subs, McDougall, Wheeler, Reid, Mason, Edgar.

St. John's: Goal, Farrow; defence, Coones, Frank; centre, Clark; wings, Scott, Howard; subs, Bond, Moore.

Thirteen suggestions were received in January and five of these were given an award. The star was awarded the General division.

W. L. Rigg brought in the report of the Inspection committee. C. Nayler was appointed floating member for February. The holding of prone method practices was reported by J. A. Rice.

Burned With Acid

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Apolimary Mycliki, 38, was admitted to hospital early today suffering from acid burns to the faces. Police alleged a woman with whom he had been living threw the acid during a quarrel and they were looking for her. Mycliki closed his eyes and saved his sight as the acid was hurled.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

There were so many "specials" events happened down at the rink last night between the hours of seven and eleven that we doubt very much if we can cover them all with the space we have. However, we'll be brief, so let's see what happened.

1st—Elmer Metcalfe just squeezed out a win over Bill Widdess.

2nd—Max Comstock, after seven straight losses, finally came through with a win.

3rd—After the last shot by Tommy Holyman, if "Chatter" Robertson don't believe in Santa Claus, he never will.

4th—After being down all the way Walter Oke slipped a three over Charlie Westbrook of New York, to win by one shot.

6th—With Jim Harkness skipping Ray Bacon's rink finally scored a win.

7th—It looks as if George Cairns is out after the endurance record—he loses just as often as he curls.

8th—There's no truth about Jack Sedgewick slipping out the side window. He was seen going out the front door.

9th—But the tit-bit of the night was when "R. F." suggested to Dave Grant to make a little less noise.

"The Authority on Authorities"

INTELLIGENT PSYCHICS

"WITH WHAT DO you mix your colors?" was once asked of the famous painter, Opie. He answered: "With brains, sir." That's exactly what should be mixed in with psychic bids, if you have intelligent players at the table with you. Otherwise you may get your head beaten off. The fine player seldom makes a psychic bid unless he sees how he can escape from trouble if his partner is misled into it.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

That great Philadelphia pair of Charles H. Goren and Mrs. Ralph C. Young cut didoes on this deal, giving a demonstration of the acumen that has enabled them to win a flock of national championship tournaments. Mr. Goren began naturally with 1-Spade in the South. West doubled, and Mrs. Young launched the fireworks display with a psychic 1-Heart, her safety, if it led to trouble, being her spade fit.

East passed. Mr. Goren leaped at once to 4-Hearts, knowing his partner would be sure to have either a heart suit or a fit for his spades, as otherwise her bid would be a bad one. West doubled the 4-Hearts, Mrs. Young took out to 4-Spades and West, now insisting on his partner putting him into one of the minor suits, bid 4-No trump. The partner had no trouble reading this, bid 5-Clubs, and Mr. Goren doubled.

The spade K lead was followed by the heart A, the heart 7 to the K and a ruff, return of the club 3 to the A, then the heart Q and the heart 3 ruffed by the now singleton club Q, for a run of the first six tricks and a set of 700 points. The important switch to hearts for ruffs was clearly marked by the psychic bid Mrs. Young had made, since, unless she was short in the suit, there would have been no reason to bid it over the double, in an effort to obstruct possibly very strong opponents. She also had made the right switch doubly sure by playing the spade 9 on the first trick, calling for a lead of the higher ranking of the other two side suits, since a switch was sure.

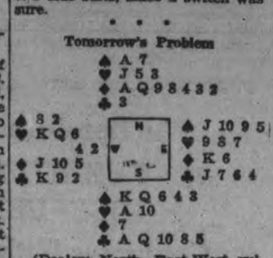
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Against a lead of the heart K, how would you play to make 4-Spades?

Horses Die In Fire

BRAMPTON, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—Six horses with its mane flaming broke from its stall in a burning barn near here, came near the open door of the barn and then rushed back to its stall to perish in a fire on the shore farm, near Palgrave, on Sunday.

Thirty-six head of cattle, five horses and one pig perished. P. E. Downey, a neighbor, said he believed a tramp dropped a match or cigarette butt and thus caused the fire.

Former Tramp, McGill Grad, Now A Minister Offers Tips On Best Of British "Spikes"

READING, England, Feb. 7 (C.P.)—A former tramp who once took a course at McGill University, Montreal, is pastor of Tilehurst Methodist Church, near here.

"Ten years ago," says Rev. Norman Burns, 'I was on the London embankment. There is scarcely a spike (workhouse) in all the big cities of England that I have not been in, and if you want some information about the best of them I will give it."

He told a meeting of London nomeless once: "I have tramped around England twice and have been over to Ireland as well; but don't go there, because they have rotten spikes."

Mr. Burns 10 years ago met a group of businessmen in Newcastle who sent him to a Methodist college. From there he went to fill an emergency ministerial appointment in Newfoundland.

Later, he said, "I attended McGill University and fulfilled a travelling ministry in Canada and Labrador."

He entered the English ministry last year.

Commission Fails To Define Border

TOKYO, Feb. 7—(AP).—The foreign office spokesman said today efforts had failed to form a commission to define the Manchoukuo-Siberia border in the area where Russian-Manchoukuoan clashes occurred last week.

The naming of a commission was a point of an agreement ending a similar clash that reached serious proportions last summer.

The spokesman insisted he did not regard the present incident as serious, although political parties were drafting a resolution urging the government to adopt a more aggressive policy toward Soviet Russia.

(The Manchoukuo government reported on Saturday there had been four days of almost continuous fighting between Russian forces and Manchoukuo guards.))

Guns, 1871 Models To Latest Brens Keep Loyalists Hunting "Ammo"

(Written for the Canadian Press By Major E. Cecil-Smith.)

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—Owing to the difficulties which have been placed in the way of the Spanish government getting the arms it needs to defend itself against the present invasior we have handled at various times pretty nearly every kind of weapon which has been in use during the past 30 years or more.

When we first got to Spain we had pre-revolutionary Russian rifles, 1914 Colt machine guns and well worn Lewis light machine guns as more or less standard equipment in our brigade.

By the time we left we were armed with the most modern, Czech, Spanish or Russian rifles (various brigades having different models); the most modern Maxim machine guns; and the best of all the Bren light machine gun which is now being made the standard arm of the Canadian and British forces.

As a matter of fact, if the Canadian militia wishes to know how its new gun operates in actual combat conditions, they can do no better than to refer to the boys of the Mackenzie-Papineau battalion who were among the very first to give this weapon a real tryout against infantry, tanks and aviation.

Some Of The Old Ross Brand

Among other discarded weapons we have used is the old Ross rifle, well remembered by every Canadian ex-serviceman. Fortunately there weren't many of them in Spain, but I can name at least three men whose faces and eyes were damaged, because of the old fault of this gun—its failure to lock before firing the charge, with the result that the bolt flies back into the rifleman's face.

I recollect one time, during the spring of 1937, while I was attending a brief officer's training school, 50 of the cadets were rushed to the town of a . . . . as a special guard. Franco's "fifth column" had been busy and a number of assassinations had taken place.

We were to be a special guard, at the disposal of the civil governor and were issued with arms from the provincial armory. I drew a single round "Chassepot" rifle made in France in 1871. This was considered to be quite a weapon during the Franco-Prussian war, and I have read of it being issued at that time only to the best riflemen, or the outstanding crack units of the French army.

Didn't Have To Fire It.

But it seemed to me to be a little out of date in a modern war. In fact it wasn't until the next day that I was able to bed three or four rounds of ammunition to fit this antiquated piece from one of the civilian police, who happened to be armed with an equally ancient Italian rifle. The ammo consisted of a huge lead ball two-thirds of an inch in calibre, and I have often congratulated myself that I never had to fire the rifle.

In the early days there were many instances of explosions taking place in these ancient weapons and I have seen men injured by such explosions.

There is hardly a country which makes arms, from which some weapons have not found their way to Spain. A partial list includes: United States, Canada, Britain, Paraguay, Mexico, Argentine, Portugal, France, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Italy, Russia, Rumania and Japan.

Such a confusion of weapons results in some unfortunate confusion with respect to ammunition. Ammunition sometimes arrives at the firing line before it is discovered to be unsuited. For instance, the Czech Mauser at 7.9 millimetres often is forced to use German ammunition slightly too large for its bore, with disastrous results to the rifling, not to mention the shoulders of the men firing the gun, because with oversized ammo, the rifle fires high and kicks like a mule.

The army is well aware that the Spanish government is not to blame for the confusion in weapons and ammunition. The government would much rather have a few standard models than such a variety. In fact it is gradually achieving this aim. But with the arms embargo levelled against the legal government of Spain, it is forced to secure its arms in all sorts of round about ways, as if it were itself the rebels instead of the legitimate force in the country.

Produce Group Held Failure

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Failure of the Canadian Produce Association to keep Canadian markets clear of "burdensome surpluses" of butter, eggs, and poultry meats has resulted in some millions of dollars loss to the industry, W. A. Landreth, president of the association, told delegates to the association's annual convention here to-day.

"There is no doubt in my mind," Landreth said, "that we have, individually and collectively, to a large degree, evaded our responsibilities during 1938."

Cheese production, he said, has declined in the Dominion from 144,000,000 pounds in 1928 to 128,000,000 pounds in 1937, the major part of this decline being in Quebec. Landreth said production might be improved if there were a more economic assembling service in obtaining cream products from the farm. He indicated that Canadian cheese has enjoyed a premium in Great Britain over other countries and there was no reason why exports could not be increased.

On the other hand creamery butter production increased from approximately 168,000,000 pounds in 1928 to 264,000,000 pounds in 1937. Ontario and Quebec increased their production 40,000,000 pounds in that period and the Prairie Provinces 35,000,000 pounds.

The president said that Canada had "definitely reached the stage where we are producing in excess of domestic requirements." Butter exports, however, were not adequate, he claimed, and urged greater standardization of the product in the Dominion if an ample market for the surplus was to be found in the United Kingdom.

"In order to create a demand for Canadian butter on the British market we could well be guided by constructive merchandising policies in New Zealand and Denmark," he asserted. "It is to be regretted that in recent months the large percentage of the butter being exported from Canada to the United Kingdom has been second or third grade, and more recently, no grade.

"We can hardly imagine anything more disastrous to the future of the Canadian industry.'

Egg production, too, is in excess of domestic requirements, he said. He believed there was a market in Great Britain for grade A eggs which could be developed if the producers guarded against exporting inferior quality eggs.

Curious to know the cause of the sudden demise of one of his finely conditioned stock, he called in a veterinary and a post mortem was conducted.

Both men stared in surprise when they discovered a two and one-half inch nail firmly embedded in the heart of the dead animal.

Ice Or Rock

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP). — An international dispute reached across the Falls today, with Canadian and United States opinion lined up uncompromisingly on the opposite banks of the river. The disputed question is whether Luna Island, on the U.S. side, lost a few tons of its face in a rock fall Saturday, of whether it was just a chunk of ice that fell.

2 British Films Among 10 Top Of 1938

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7 — (AP). — Twelve thousand film folks, with the world as a kibitzer, began choosing today the best picture and best actors of 1938.

It's "Oscar Time" in Hollywood — the time when stand-ins, stars, and producers, have equal votes in selecting the winners of gold-plated academy statuettes affectionately referred to as "Oscars" in the movie colony.

The list of nominees, compiled by the Screen Guild, was released last night. While this self-centred city had previous hints of it, the list disclosed an upswing in rival British movie-making that was something of a shock.

Of the 10 pictures named as possibly the best last year, two—"The Citadel" and "Pygmalion" — were British products, and a third, "Grand Illusion," was French.

Two Britons—Robert Donat and Leslie Howard—and Gallic Charles Boyer shared nominations as the five best male players of 1938 with home-grown Spencer Tracy and James Cagney.

A British discovery, Wendy Hiller, broke into the ranks of the five women nominated for the best feminine performance. And George Bernard Shaw was listed as doing one of their five best jobs of screen writing during the year.

The statuettes, or "Oscars," will be presented to the winners at the annual awards banquet the night of Feb. 23.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," biggest money-maker of 1938, got in the list of 10 best pictures, but Walt Disney's feature cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a close rival for the box-office championship, was not voted upon.

'38 Road Accidents Kill 6,595 In Britain

LONDON, Feb. 7—(CP)—Highway accidents took a toll of 6,595 lives in Britain during 1938, Transport Ministry statistics show. The figure was an increase of five over that for 1937 while the number of injured, 236,854, was 490 greater.

December was 1938's worst month. Bad weather, icy roads and snow probably contributed to causes of accidents that killed 682 persons, including 385 pedestrians, and injured 19,107.

Best county record was Lancashire's. There accidents were reduced 11.8 per cent.

Figures for the last 11 years show total casualties in highway accidents were 2,347,173, a figure more than 120,000 greater than the total British casualties during the Great War.

FEELS LIKE NEW MAN SINCE TAKING SYNTONA

Suffered From Stomach Gas, Sourness, Heartburn, Backache and Headache.

Nervousness and Sleeplessness Also Overcome

MR. GEORGE TAKACS

"It is a real pleasure to tell you how much your medicine has done for me, and I hope others who suffer as I did will read this and benefit also," said Mr. George Takacs, 75 Maitland street, London, recently.

"For six months, I felt nervous and run down. I felt tired out all the time and yet I couldn't get to sleep for hours after I went to bed at night. I used to have awful throbbing headaches and pains in my back. My stomach, too, bothered me a lot. My food would sour and give me heartburn and gas pains in the pit of my stomach. Sometimes I felt so bloated with gas I would be short of breath.

"All that has changed since I have taken a few bottles of Syntona. I feel like a new man today. Eat well, without any gas or distress afterwards. The headaches and backaches have left me. I get a good night's sleep and have more energy than I have had in years. Syntona was a wonderful medicine for me."

Syntona is an advanced formula of 12 different herbs and roots; and not one harmful drug. It produces these splendid results by aiding in the assimilation of food for strength and energy; and by elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter. It stimulates the flow of natural digestive juices, and acts as a diuretic to the kidneys.

Syntona is now being introduced in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Ask about the special introductory offer.

Raid Recovers $20,000 Stolen Bonds

Tossed Out Window As Hamilton Home Surrounded

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP). —In a series of raids in which Toronto, Hamilton, and Provincial Police took part, $20,000 of the $60,000 in bonds stolen from the Jordan branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada last October 7 were recovered last night, police her announced to-day. Two men and a woman are held on charges of receiving.

Those under arrest are Bernard Triester, George Tishen, and Kathleen Eluk.

The arrests were made by one of the largest concentrations of police to gather in Hamilton. Yesterday afternoon Inspector A. H. Ward of the C.I.D. arrived in the city accompanied by Allan C. Stagg, operator for the Pinkerton Agency. They came to follow up clues obtained as the result of an attempt made in Toronto recently to dispose of a stolen bond. At four o'clock officers arrested Triester. Then Toronto and Provincial Police returned to Toronto, but later in the evening came back to Hamilton.

A police party was assembled, headed by J. R. Crocker, Deputy-Chief, supported by John Nimmo, Sergeant of Detectives of Toronto, Stagg, Detective Sergeant Thompson, and Detectives Buckett, Speakman, Sharpe, Duffy and two radio cruisers loaded with uniformed men. In addition Provincial Constables Coffee and Taylor joined the party.

Parcel Tossed Out.

Plans were made by which the Tishen and Elm houses were raided simultaneously. When officers entered the Bay Street house of Miss Eluk others were posted outside to watch. When police entered the front door, an upstairs window was raised and a parcel wrapped in newspaper thrown out on to the snow. When this was opened, it was found to contain $20,000 in bonds.

It was announced this morning that the investigation into the Jordan robbery, one of the largest in Ontario's history, would be continued vigorously.

The vault of the fruit growing district bank was blown open with nitro-glycerine on October 7, 1938. At first it was not thought that the loss was very large, but investigation showed that safety deposit boxes had been opened and $80,000 worth of Government securities stolen. These belonged to private individuals who had rented space in the vault. One man lost close to $40,000 in securities.

American Dreyfus Seeks Vindication

Eighty-two years old, but still full of fight, Oberlin M. Carter, sometimes called the "American Dreyfus," will soon open another phase of his long battle to clear his name of the stain placed thereon by the courtmartial that cashiered him from the army in 1898 and sentenced him to five years in prison. He is planning to reopen his fight for vindication and carry the fight to the White House.

Nazis Decide On Madagascar, Guiana For Jews

By Lynn Heinzerling
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, Feb. 8 — (AP).—Alfred Rosenberg, supervisor of the spiritual and philosophical development of Nazi Germany, proposes that "reservations" be allotted to Jews under international control in either British Guiana or French-owned Madagascar.

Room would be made for 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 Jews under the Rosenberg plan which he advanced to diplomats and newspapermen last night with the assertion Germany still was determined to get rid of every Jew.

"The entire problem narrows down to these two territories," Rosenberg said in an exposition of the most specific proposal yet advanced by a high Nazi official. (Great Britain has under consideration the possibility that Guiana might be a home for German refugees and a British-American commission is en route to the territory to determine how many Jewish refugees might be accommodated there.)

Rosenberg, opposing Palestine as a Jewish home, proposed:

That territory be set aside with contributions by "Jewish millionaires and billionaires from all the world" to the International Refugee Committee in London.

Supervision of the "reservation" by a police administration under the command of a governor or a "League of Nations."

Want No Self-Rule.

No self-rule or establishment of a Jewish state.

Palestine, Rosenberg said, was too small and experience had shown that Britain could not come to agreement with the Arabs. An Arab-Jew conference with the British now is going on in London.

Alaska, he added, offered too harsh a climate, was too close to Canada and the United States, and a "reservation" there would be a "racial danger" to the two North American countries.

"Since two other proposals, Guiana and Madagascar, already have been officially discussed, the entire problem, after elimination of impossible programs, narrows itself down to these two territories.

"If the democracies want to prove the truth of their friendship for the Jews now, they must within a reasonable time make clear which of these territories shall be established as a Jewish reservation.

"I stress the word reservation, for there can be no talk either at present or in the future about a Jewish state," Rosenberg said. "The conference at Evian-les-Bains in the summer of 1938 created a mammoth committee which 'works' in London, but up to now has made no really positive proposals."

Peace Breaks, Loyalists Fight Anew

Cream Of North Army Still Intact, France Holds Many

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 8. — (AP).— Unexpected fighting broke out to-day between Spanish insurgent forces and retreating government troops in the Puigcerda region near the French frontier.

The renewed fighting followed the breakdown of peace efforts yesterday and a declaration by Dr. Juan Negrin, premier of government spain, that he would fight to the finish rather than submit to insurgent demands for unconditional surrender.

The action drew artillery and aircraft into battle in the snow-covered Pyrenees from which government militiamen, including cavalry and infantry units, were withdrawing into France.

Reports reaching the border said the fighting started with an exchange of shots between the government rearguard and insurgent field gun units which were approaching Puigcerda. Shortly afterwards insurgent planes joined the fight, strafing the north-bound militiamen, while government artillery poured shells into insurgent positions.

Military observers at the border said the bombardment was louder than any heard during previous artillery engagements high in the mountain passes. Three insurgent planes machine-gunned Puigcerda for eight minutes. It was estimated injured probably would reach more than 100.

Slowing Rebel Advance.

Colonel Jose Joser, Spanish government commander at Puigcerda, who arrived at the border shortly after the hostilities started, said the withdrawal of government troops would continue despite the fighting. He characterized the action as an attempt to "cover" rearguard government troops from too hasty advances by insurgents manoeuvring in the mountains within sight of Puigcerda.

French authorities closed the frontier at Bourg-Madame at 10.30 last night and kept the bars up until 8.30 this morning. They said a temporary halt in the evacuation was necessary to permit preparations for housing refugees and soldiers in the crowded Bourg-Madame area.

Immediately after the frontier was re-opened the Third Cavalry Battalion of the government's eastern army marched into France in an orderly column. The contingent included about 500 men and 175 mules.

Border dispatches said government forces were carrying out an orderly retreat at other points between

More than 30,000 residents of the Ohio Valley were driven from their homes when the Ohio River, swollen by heavy rains and an unseasonable thaw, went on a rampage. Too Late To Woo Franco Says Rome Press

Rome, Feb. 8 (AP)

THE FASCIST PRESS declared today it is "too late" for 11th hour moves to recognize Insurgent General Franco by nations waiting to get on good terms with "new Spain."

The press statements appeared as reports were circulated abroad that Great Britain and France might offer loans to Franco.

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP Cable).—George Andrew McMahon, principal in the "revolver incident" of July 16, 1936, when a loaded pistol was tossed near King Edward VIII, told The Canadian Press to-day that he is going to Toronto in March and will be there during the visit of King George VI.

McMahon, a stockily-built man with sandy hair, said he is going to stay with relatives and expects to be in Canada for five months. He has undertaken not to engage in politics or demonstrations.

The man who served two years imprisonment for the act, which he termed a protest, said he has written a book about King Edward called "He Was My King." He said it will be published in the United States and Canada, but not in Great Britain.

McMahon is seeking "vindication" for an act which he declared was committed to draw attention to a foreign plot against the former king's safety. A leaflet he is circulating draws attention to the Dreyfuss case in France, and asks aid toward a speedy clearing of his name.

The author said the Duke of Windsor has consented to accept a copy of his book, banned in the United Kingdom by the Home Office.

McMahon declared Malcomn MacDonald, when Dominions Secretary, made representations on his behalf to the Canadian authorities, in case they were prepared to bar him from the Dominion.

Bared As Ex-Convict Chief Praised

Glendale, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)

A PARDONED Oklahoma convict kept his job as Chief of Police of Glendale today while townsfolk, undismayed by the exposure of his past, voted confidence in him anew.

With no apologies, white-haired Vernon B. Browne admitted he had served 11 months in prison in 1925 for embezzlement and was pardoned.

Flood Of Royalty For U.S. In 1939

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP).—In addition to the announced visits of King George and Queen Elizabeth and members of the royal families of Norway and Denmark to the United States, the Department of State is receiving hints that at least four more royal groups may cross the Atlantic this summer. They are:

King Zog of Albania and his bride of last year.

King Boris of Bulgaria and Queen Giovanna, one of the daughters of the King of Italy.

Princess Juliana, heir to the throne of the Netherlands, with her husband, Prince Bernard Leopold of Lippe-Biesterfield.

Negrin Runs Show Sitting On Border

LE PERTHUS, France, Feb. 8—(AP).—Spanish government premier Juan Negrin, established in temporary headquarters in "the last house in Spain" whose porch is in France, acknowledged today that his government had given up its functions in Catalonia.

What plans—if any—Dr. Negrin might have for government resistance to insurgent General Franco in the central Madrid-Valencia zone were not clarified immediately.

He told an Associated Press correspondent that his presence on the Spanish side of the border was merely coincidental.

Cabinet Ponders Measures To Block Hitler, Duce Grabbing Strategic Island

Key Mediterranean Spot Last Of Balearics Held By Loyalists Through War, London Asks Franco To Agree On Truce

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP).—A British cruiser arrived today at Minorca, disputed island in the Spanish Balearics, while the Cabinet considered measures to prevent Italy and Germany obtaining control of the island.

At the same time officials acknowledged Great Britain had asked General Franco to agree to a truce in the civil war. But they declined to disclose whether Franco had replied or, if he had, what his answer was.

It was officially announced that the 9,750-ton cruiser Devonshire had dropped anchor in Port Mahon, strategic and well-fortified harbor of Minorca, only island of the Balearics which the Spanish government has held throughout the war.

Neither the Admiralty nor the Foreign Office would discuss the Devonshire's mission at Minorca. However, there have been reports that Great Britain would be willing to co-operate with Franco in measures to occupy the island provided it was taken over exclusively by Spanish soldiers.

Foil Germany, Italy.

The Devonshire's move aroused speculation here as to whether she might not have gone to Minorca to make sure that any insurgent attempt to seize the island is not sponsored by Germany or Italy.

Great Britain and France have been worried for some time over Italys foothold on Mallorca, largest of the Balearic group which lies athwart France's communications with her African possessions. It has been known that Italian planes aiding the insurgents were based on Mallorca, which, together with Ibiza, third principal island of the group, was seized by the insurgents early in the war.

Vaccine Rushed To Flood Area

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 8 — (A. P.). — Health authorities to-day immunized thousands of Eastern Kentucky mountain people against pneumonia, influenza, and typhoid—more feared than the overflowing streams which swept the hill country and flooded lowlands.

Vaccine for 250,000 persons was rushed into the 30 flood-stricken mountain counties yesterday by Red Cross and Kentucky Health Department authorities.

The Ohio dropped at Huntington, W. Va., and Cincinnati and rose slightly here and at down-river points in Kentucky and Indiana. Scores were driven from their Southern Indiana homes.

At Huntington the river was at 48 feet early to-day and dropping .25 feet an hour. The stage at Cincinnati was 58.25 feet and was falling at the rate of .01 foot an hour.

The Kentucky, Licking and Cumberland Rivers were almost normal in Eastern Kentucky, but muddy. slimy roads made certain parts of the section inaccessible.

Authorities said conditions were "not alarming" along the Ohio south of Cincinnati. They added there was no chance for a repetition of the 1937 high mark.

Arranging Tour

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP-Havas).—Lord Chatfield, new minister for the co-ordination of defence, was received in audience by the King to-day.

His Majesty also received Sir Robert Lindsay, British ambassador to the United States, who remained at Buckingham palace for luncheon. They presumably discussed arrangements for the visit to be paid to Washington during the Royal tour of Canada this spring.

Shippers Uneasy As Japs Grab 2 British Craft

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8—(AP).—Detention of two more British vessels at Chefoo caused apprehensions in foreign shipping circles to-day concerning Japanese interference with shipping along the China coast.

The Mingsand and Taisang, two vessels owned by the Indoo-China Steam Navigation Company, were detained at Chefoo, North China port, seven hours but were released when British authorities made diplomatic representations.

The seizure of the vessels follows a series of recent detentions, including the British steamer Panamanian, and two Norweigian vessels—subsequently released—and a Hungarian vessel, still held at Amoy.

Foreign circles also felt increasing concern for 65 foreigners at Kuling, mountain resort 15 miles south of the Yangtse River port of Kiukiang, which the Japanese threaten to attack Friday.

The British gunboat Ladybird is at Kiukiang ready to evacuate British nationals.

The 48th political assassination in Shanghai since the Japanese captured the city occurred to-day when gunmen shot and killed a detective employed by the Japanese-sponsored local government. The shooting occurred in Japanese-occupied territory adjoining the international settlement.

De Valera Moves To Keep Control

LONDON, Feb. 8 — (AP).—Police arrested six Irishmen and confiscated plans of important public buildings in a raid at dawn on a house in Sutton, a town in Southern England, in a continuation of the search for Terrorists.

There continued also a search of buildings in the London Irish quarter where supplies of explosives were found.

Arrests of Republican Extremists in Eire were expected upon passage by the Dail (Parliament) of a special Powers Bill prepared by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's government. Scotland Yard blames the outlawed Irish Republican Army organization for the series of sabotage attempts against public utilities and Government buildings in the United Kingdom.

Mr. De Valera told the Senate in Dublin that the Government of Eire will not allow "any other body to speak for us." He said the Special Powers Bill, details of which were not disclosed, will maintain the "position and authority" of the Government.

"We are the Government of this country," the Prime Minister said. "We are not going to allow a situation to develop as on the Continent and in other countries where people have lost their freedom."

He deprecated a speech by Senator P. T. Kelly, Independent, who, referring to defendants on trial for bombings in London, said "as long as we have young men of that class prepared to make sacrifices and take risks, the ultimate freedom of Ireland is assured."

French-Canadians Are Really Fascists Mayor Houde Says Would Support Italy Rather Than Britain If War Started

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Predominantly French-Canadian Montreal bubbled with comment today about the declaration of Mayor Camillien Houde that if England went to war with Italy the sympathies of French-Canadians in Quebec would lie with the Italians.

Speaking before the Y.M.C.A. supper club last night, the Mayor said the French-Canadians of Quebec are Fascists by blood if not by name...and "if war happens...and Italy is on one side and England on the other, the sympathy of the French-Canadians will be on the side of Italy..."

Decline Comment

Many prominent French-Canadians declined to comment for publication. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, replied curtly: "Anything I have to say will be said in the House of Commons."

One of the most outspoken opponents of Mayor Houde's statement was Mayor Napoleon Courtemanche of Montreal East, who said: "I hold with Sir Pascal Tache, who said the last gun to be fired in defence of Canada for the British Empire would be fired by a French-Canadian..."

The address to the supper club members was much along the lines of one given last December by Mr. Houde prior to his election to the mayoralty after more than two year's absence. At that time the mayor expressed similar views to members of the young men's board of trade, the chairman of which took issue with the mayor's sentiments.

"You appear to be surprised when I say the sympathies of the French-Canadian would be with Italy in the event of a war between that country and England," the mayor said, looking around at the crowd of men jammed into the Y.M.C.A. dining hall. "But I would ask you to remember that the great majority of French-Canadians are Roman Catholics and that the Pope is in Rome...

Don't Want to Go to War

"The French-Canadians don't want to go to war....if war happens—and the possibility it may seems more probable every day—and Italy is on one side and England on the other, the sympathy of the French-Canadians in Quebec will be on the side of Italy.

"We French-Canadians are not Latins but Normans, but we have latinized over a long period of years. The French-Canadians are Fascists by blood but not by name.

"The Latins always have been in favor of dictators. Back in the Roman days when they didn't have an emperor to dictate to them, they elected one..." Then he went on to tell how French-Canadians always had been under a dictator, including Cardinal

Toronto Girl Hailed Modern Venus Of Manhattan Models

New York, Feb. 8 (CP)

NINA MACDOUGALD, 21-year-old Toronto-born model, today was acclaimed the "Modern Venus."

She was recently selected from 24 contestants as the most popular and most beautiful model at the annual illustrators show.

Freighter Founders In Crash—All Saved

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP).—Lloyd's reported today that the United States freighter Meanticut had rescued the crew of the Greek freighter Katina Bulgaris, which sank after the two vessels collided in a fog along the east coast of England.

A message from the Meanticut, bound from New Orleans to Hull, England, said "One boatload from the Katina Bulgaris coming aboard;" indicating the American vessel was not in danger.

The Green freighter said: "Come quickly. Nearly all in boats. Ship sinking. Send assistance."

The 4,567 Katina Bulgaris was outward bound from Hull. Lloyd's said each ship carried between 30 and 40 men in their crews.

Cat Loses Rabbit Pal, Brings Home 150 Live Cottontails

Fisher's Island, N.Y., Feb. 8

"BRING - 'EM - BACK-ALIVE" Hibiscus, a giant cat owned by Henry Ferguson, has captured 150 cottontail rabbits—alive. He carried them in his mouth uninjured to his owner. Ferguson said the cat, which weighs more than 16 pounds, began hunting the cottontails after its comrade, a pet rabbit owned by the Fergusons, died some time ago. "It may be that he is trying to replace the pet rabbit," Ferguson said.

Two Boys Travel 2,000 Miles A Month

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP).— Roy Wilcox, 14, and his 12-year-old brother, Werden, were en route to their Northern Ontario home to-day after making their usual twice-monthly trip to Toronto for music lessons.

They've been making the 1,000-mile round-trip twice a month since early in 1938 and have travelled more than 25,000 miles in obtaining the rudiments of a musical education. The boys told about the trips last night before returning to Agate, a two-family hemlet 200 miles north-west of Sudbury.

Educational facilities are lacking in the settlement, said Roy and Werden. In 1937 the boys came to Toronto and for a few months attended Public school but had to return home when Werden became ill.

Ellsworth's Claim Of Huge Slice In Antarctic Disputed By Australia—Theirs Since 1928

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 8 (AP) Commonwealth officials today sent a report to the Australian cabinet disputing the right of Lincoln Ellsworth to annex 80,000 square miles of new territory in Antarctica on behalf of the United States.

Mr. Ellsworth announced his claims to his territory in a dispatch from the South Pole. Later when his expedition arrived at Hobart, Tasmania, Feb. 4 he announced he was claiming a total of 430,000 square miles.

Today's report was the result of an investigation into the explorer's original claim for 80,000 miles of territory. The report said Australia definitely claimed the region in question when it was explored in 1928 by Sir Douglas Mawson.

It was said, however, that Australia would not take steps to contest the territory unless the United States took the initiative by supporting Mr. Ellsworth's claims.

Australia is planning further exploratory work in the Antarctic following the purchase of the Ellsworth ship, the Wyatt Earp, and two airplanes, which was announced yesterday.

CCF Demands Mackenzie Resign Post

New Move To Cancel Bren Contract Is Led By Stevens

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP).—Defence Minister Mackenzie, object of the concentrated fire of Opposition speakers in the House of Commons for three days on the score of the Bren gun contract, today takes the floor in his own defence.

His long-awaited speech will be his first public utterance on that controversial subject since his evidence before Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, who investigated the contract as a royal commissioner last fall. During the present debate Mr. Mackenzie has listened to declarations he had lost the confidence of the House and the country and should not be entrusted with spending of the $63,000,000 to be appropriated for national defence this session.

A fresh move toward cancellation of the Bren contract was launched yesterday by Hon. H. H. Stevens (Con., Kootenay East), who declared it was "the most unfortunate basis on which Canada could start a huge expenditure for defence."

Mr. Stevens moved an amendment to the motion of Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North) that the Brent gun contract and the report of the Davis commission be referred to the committee on public accounts.

Referred To Committee?

The amendment would order the contract and report referred to a committee of the whole House "with instructions to the committee to consider the advisability of cancelling the said contract."

Earlier Speaker Pierre Casgrain ruled out of order an amendment moved by Conservative Leader Manion that the contract be cancelled, which the Speaker said completely negatived the main motion. Dr. Manion challenged the ruling which was supported by a vote of 141 to 52.

Mr. Stevens objected to the issue going before the Public Accounts Committee because there were no instructions to that body and, in any event, with an overwhelming majority of government supporters on it, "it would be difficult to get an impartial discussion."

At the same time Mr. Stevens assured the C.C.F. member and his associates that if all attempts failed to carry the amendment the Conservative group would vote for Mr. MacNeil's main motion.

In the division on the Speaker's ruling, Mr. MacNeil voted with the Opposition against the ruling.

Good for the Contractor.

"This is a good contract—for the contractor," Mr. Stevens observed. "Is this going to be the practice to be followed in spending the huge sum we are now asked to vote for defence?"

While he was not disposed to attack the good faith of Defence Minister Mackenzie or members of his staff, Mr. Stevens declared "the ob-

Richelieu, and that they always had followed one man—Papineau, Lafontaine, Cartier, Laurier, Patenaude and Lapointe.

Of Different Mentality

This, he contended, proved the English and French-Canadians were of different mentality. And he charged the present Union Nationale government of Premier Maurice Duplessis was "doing everything in its power to widen the gulf between these mentalities to an even greater degree..."

For hours, the mayor could not be reached but when newspapermen finally got through to him on the telephone, he said the newspaper reports of his address were "substantially correct." He might have been misquoted on a few minor details, he said, but facts of the address were accurate. He emphasized the accuracy of his statement about the French-Canadian sympathy against England in event of an Anglo-Itao war.

"At present, however, I have nothing more to say," he told reporters.

Adrian Arcand, Dominion leader of the National Unity Party, which evolved from Fascist groups all over Canada, declined to comment directly on the Mayor's statement, but he thought French-Canadians "certainly would be behind England if she were attacked unjustly by Italy."

The original leader of the Black Shirt group—which claimed more than 15,000 members in Quebec—said fellow French-Canadians "would not move an inch if Jews were behind the war...but with no other considerations involved—with it just a war between Britain and Italy in which the former was attacked—sympathy of French-Canada undoubtedly would be with England..."

Little Use of Discussion.

Lieut.-Col. Wilfrid Bovey of McGill University, whose literary works on French-Canadians have been accepted by their leaders as true interpretation of their life, suggested there was little use discussing such a question.

"England and Italy's interests are parallel rather than opposed," he said. "As for the Fascist problem, there is no Fascism in the Province of Quebec but rather a form of National Socialism, and I don't see how it can ultimately succeed because National Socialism is definitely opposed to the Catholic Church."

Roars of laughter greeted the Mayor's quotations when read over the telephone by a reporter to Monsignor Georges Chartier, in charge of the Archbishop's palace at present.

"That is very funny," the cleric chuckled, "but I have no comment to make." Then he began to laugh again.

German Writer To Tour Canada

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP)—First assignment of Dr. Kurt Von Stutterheim, who became a member of the staff of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung when it recently absorbed his old paper, the Berliner Tageblatt, is to tour Canada and other dominions gathering material for a series of articles on empire problems.

Dr. Von Stutterheim, dean of German correspondents in London and with a reputation for sympathetic interpretation of the British viewpoint, plans to spend May in Canada. He will also visit South Africa, New Zealand and Australia.

He first came to England in 1923 and soon after married a sister of Mrs. Anthony Eden. His latest book is "Two Germanys."

Cosmo Lang Takes Hint

LONDON, Feb. 8 — (CP Cable).—The Church of England Assembly yesterday adopted a resolution urging that every bishop and clergyman should retire at a fixed age, normally 75.

Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, who is 74, remarked "that was very nearly an unanimous vote—a fact of which I'll take notice."

The resolution was moved by Lord Hugh Cecil.

Nye Out To Keep Plane Secrets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP).—Senator Gerald Nye (Rep-North Dakota) disclosed today he was preparing legislation to keep for the United States alone the military secrets involved in producing and equipping war planes by private manufacturers.

Nye said his bill would follow the general outlines of a regulation issued last August by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, and Admiral William Leahy, imposing secrecy on the production of any aircraft in which the army or navy had an interest.

That regulation forbade demonstration of planes to foreign representatives before the army had put them into use and had released them for general sale. It was obviated in the recent case of a French mission, through an order some Senators have asserted, was sponsored by President Roosevelt.

Nye's poposal followed disclosure by Mr. Roosevelt that the United States is permitting the sale of outmoded anti-aircraft gun directors to Great Britain, but has declined to allow a new improvement perfected by the army to be included.

The president took occasion at his press conference yesterday to deny that military secrets were involved in the sales, explaining that the basic patents had been developed by a British firm (Vickers) and had been used by an American firm to make the directors.

Mr. Roosevelt said the United States effected a $250,000 saving in the recent purchase of 93 directors from the Sperry Gyroscope concern. This was possible, he said, because the foreign orders had enabled the Sperry Company to increase its production of directors from one month to one day.

Conant Urges Fair Trials

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Inequalities in the administration of justice exist even today, Attorney-General Gordon Conant said last night in an address to the Ontario Municipal Electric Association. He urged crown attorneys and magistrates to exercise the utmost caution to see even the humblest citizen received fair trial.

"The discrimination and injustice is such that I think it should be brought to public attention in the hope and with the possibility that a solution which is workable may be found," he said. Financial inability of some defendants to employ expert witnesses was instanced as an example.

In the exercise of his discretion, a judge or magistrate might impose a fine with an alternative jail sentence. Although a fine might mean little of a wealthy man, the poor person facing those alternatives was confronted with a loss of his liberty, the Attorney-General said.

In civil law it was hazardous to begin a suit unless the plaintiff either possessed considerable means or else were so poor judgments could not be issued against him. Such situations produced unethical practices, such as lawyers taking cases on the understanding they would receive part of the judgments if they won the cases.

Ex-Cornwall Lawyer Nabbed At Border

CORNWALL, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—Police Chief Fred Seymour said to-day Royal Canadian Mounted Police at St. Johns, Que., are holding Howard O. Hessell, former Cornwall lawyer, wanted here on a charge of converting $1,878

Seymour said Hessel, Conservative candidate in Stormont in the 1937 provincial elections, surrendered at Rouses Point, N.Y., to United State immigration officials who turned him over to the Canadian authorities at Lacolle, Que. He will be brought here to-morrow.

The charge against Hessel was laid by Mrs. Sadie I. Goldberg.

Falling walls and floors trapped them in the fiery tomb where they died before aid could reach them.

Additional forces of the famed Lister Brigade continued to arrive at Le Perthus to join those who crossed into France during the early morning. They were accompanied by about 40 truckloads of miscellaneous munitions, including many artillery shells. In the group were 20 machine-gun cars with their crews and the last few truckloads of art treasures from Spanish museums destined to Geneva for safe-keeping.

Miaja To Fight On.

Spanish government dispatches reaching the border said General Jose Miaja, "Savior of Madrid," considered the defences of the Madrid-Valencia front still strong and that he was determined to carry on the conflict.

Neutral military observers believed, however, that the insurgents' superiority in men and material was certain to win eventually. Insurgent warships and planes were reported already to be tightening their blockade of the Central Mediterranean.

Equal forces of about 250,000 men were estimated to be facing one another across the central barricades at present, but the conquest of Catalonia leaves General Franco free to shift another 300,000 men and additional tanks and guns there.

The cream of the government's northern army was still in good order but, called out of the hopeless fight, had passed over the frontier and gone into French concentration camps.

France's policy has been to permit Spaniards entering France to choose their side and go back into Spain. However, faced with the problem of transporting the men to the central front, France was understood to have decided they must remain in concentration camps until the end of the war.

Court Guarded

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP). — Police guarded a Liverpool courtroom against possible Irish Republican Army terrorism to-day as nine men were charged with implication in recent bombings aimed at forcing British authorities from Ireland. The bombings have caused postponement of a visit to North Ireland by the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

Old Bailey, Bow Street and other courts also were guarded. Officials who feared telephoned threats against the building might be carried out, examined everyone who entered.

Fraser To Head Accounts Body

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—William A. Fraser (Lib. Northumberland) will be chairman of the House of Commons public accounts committee which will investigate the Bren Gun contract if the House decides to refer the matter to it. Mr. Fraser was elected chairman at the meeting today where the various standing committees of the House were organized.

Other committee chairmen elected, all Liberals, were: Privileges and Elections, Sam Factor (Toronto Spadina); Railways and Canals, Thomas Vien (Montreal Outremont); Banking and Commerce, W. H. Moore (Ontario); Agriculture, W. G. Weir (Macdonald); Standing Orders, W. H. Golding (Huron-Perth); Marine and Fisheries, A. E. MacLean (Prince); Private Bills, George McPhee (Yorkton); Mines and Forests, J. A. Bradette (Cochrane); Industrial and International Relations, C. R. McIntosh (North Battleford); Debates, J. F. Pouliot (Temiscouata); Public Printing, E. C. St. Pere (Montreal Hochelaga).

Mr. Bradette protested that the committee on mines and forest had not met "for 100 years." He thought this a pity, since there was a great deal of important work to be done in connection with the natural resources of the country. He proposed to summon a meeting for tomorrow, and if no work was forthcoming, would move to abolish the committee altogether.

The special committee on radio will be named within a few days and it is believed likely Arthur L. Beaubien (Lib. Provencher), chairman last session, again will be named to that post.

Roosevelt Pleads Relief Emergency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP).—President Roosevelt told the United States Congress to-day an "emergency exists in relief and asked "immediate consideration" of an additional appropriation of $150,000,000 to carry on relief work projects for the next five months.

This figure represents the cut Congress made in his request for $875,000,000 to carry the works progress administration from February through June. The White House announced earlier to-day the President had signed the $725,000,000 bill last Saturday.

In asking immediate consideration on what he termed the "simple and alarming facts" in the relief outlook in the United States Mr. Roosevelt said in a message to Congress that with only $725,000,000 available, the W.P.A. either must reduce its rolls abruptly on April 1 by 1,000,000 persons or begin on that date a week-by-week reduction which by June 30 would drop employment from a present 3,000,000 to "a figure well below 1,500,000 persons."

Market Review

TORONTO, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Rallying forces got the upper hand in the last hour of to-day's Toronto Exchange market and prices were lifted considerably in the mining divisions. Industrials and Western oils had registered a moderate advance by noon and the Gains were held through the late trading. All indices closed with gains and trading pick-up in the late afternoon brought the aggregate turnover close to 600,000 shares.

WALL STREET.

Many traders deserted the stock market to-day after a sluggish advance tried their patience.

Some steel, motor and aircraft shares—leading the forenoon rise—retained gains of a point or so near the final hour, but net price changes in most shares were minor.

Transactions were off about 500,000 shares.

Trading was in fair volume in the early hours, especially in the mines but neither group developed any price movement and the indices were unchanged at noon. Trade in the first three hours totalled 341,000 shares.

Bell Telephone advanced 1¾ to its best price since 1937, and other utilities, including Brazilian, were firm to strong.

Noranda was the strongest of the base metals, evidently on dividend news and Nickel added a fraction. Silvers were steady. Home Oil was higher by 10 cents.

FASTED 102 DAYS

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—(CP). — Declaring he had fasted 102 days for benefit of his health and would continue it a little longer, F. W. Popham lost 70 pounds in that period and still weighed 160 pounds.

494 Fire Alarms Were Received During The Past Year With 442 Reported By Telephone

Of the 494 alarms to which the fire department responded last year, 442 were received by telephone, 16 by the medium of the boxes in the fire alarm system, 27 were reported verbally, 9 recorded by automatic sprinklers as tabulated in Chief George Gimblett's annual report.

Although the telephone conveyed most of the bad news, the fire, water and light committee has included in its appropriations the sum of $500 for the maintenance of the alarm system including the purchase of one or more new boxes. The insurance authorities pay special attention to the number and disposal of these boxes, although they recognize the importance the telephone plays in reporting the outbreak of fires, and the city council realizes that no one knows where the next fire is going to break out. For that reason the fire alarm box is regarded as essential to the system, and the more of them that are set up and kept always ready for action the more efficient is the department likely to become.

Chief Gimblett suggests a significant difference in one sentence comparing the alarms of 1938 with those of 1937. "This is a decrease of eight alarms and a decrease of three fires during the year." It can mean only one thing, that all alarms do not indicate fires.

Comparative Loss

"Of the 494 calls for the services of the department, 35 fires were responsible for a fire, water and smoke loss of $21,299.79, an increase of $17,952.76 over the previous year. In addition the Department responded to inhalator calls in seven cases of drowning and 1 of false drowning."

Chief Gimblett expresses appreciation of the co-operation of the council and the citizens "in making our city free from fire hazards and resulting fires."

One of the pieces of apparatus at the fire hall is a Johnson pump, bought for emergencies. It was used twice last year, and singularly enough both calls were from outside the city.

The Apparatus

Recent discussion by the council of proposed purchase of a new 600-gallon combination pumper, lends special interest to Chief Gimblett's review of the Department's apparatus. The machines are:—

Six cylinder Lafrance triple combination pumper 1,000 U.S. gallons bought in 1927.

Six cylinder Lafrance double bank ladder truck, 1927.

Six cylinder Lafrance combination, chemical engine and hose, bought in 1918.

Four cylinder combination, hose and chemical, bought in 1926.

Eight cylinder Ford coupe bought in 1935.

One reserve Waterous steamer 833 imperial gallons a minute bought in 1907, and a prehistoric, horse-drawn ladder truck that was also bought in 1907. The chemical combination machines, carrying a supply of hose and ladders, are used chiefly for chimney and other small fires. The big pumper is the ace machine of the department. It responds to all alarms from the central area of the city and also from factories, and elsewhere as needed. Chief Gimblett has been recommending that the chemical engine bought in 1918, the old steam engine pumper and the virtually useless ladder of 1907 that is left somewhere out in the yard be turned in on a deal for a new combination pumper of smaller capacity than the big Lafrance. That proposal has been left in abeyance by the committee for consideration later in the year.

Chief Gimblett observes that the conduct of his officers and men has been exceptionally good.

Purchases last year were 500 feet of 2½ inch hose, a Phomaire Playpipe for oil fires, a fognozzle and ten tarpaulins.

Recommendations

Chief Gimblett concluded his seventeenth annual report with a list of recommendations, most of which were included in his suggestions to the fire, water and light committee a month ago, applying generally to required equipment. He also asks that a pension fund be set up for the department, that the Utilities Commission be asked to set up more hydrants, that two additional firemen be engaged to increase the force to the desired strength of twenty-four men, one per thousand of population. There are now twenty-two men employed.

A supplemental report by Captain Archie McDonald of the fire prevention bureau reported 5,786 inspections. Dwellings 2,385, stores, factories etc., 2131; special 220, chimneys 106, total 4,842 plus 944 re-inspections.

Chimneys repaired and rebuilt 176; dilapidated sheds and buildings demolished 27; fire prevention bureau served 30; fire prevention bureau orders complied with 27. Orders held over on account of financial difficulty 3.

Fire Marshall's orders served 4; begun but not completed 3; completed 1. Other activities of the inspection staff are also reviewed.

Chimneys Neglected

Captain McDonald suggests that the Fire Prevention Bureau Bylaw be amended to deal more effectually with chimney fires which he says are responsible for 60 per cent of the calls, are due to carelessness and are unnecessary. They tend to weaken the force in the event of serious fires breaking out. He recommends that automatic gongs be installed in all buildings having dwellings over stores. This precaution should also apply to apartment houses. He points out that lights are needed in halls in addition to the alarm gongs. Cellars in the business area should have doors front and rear. It is also proposed that terraces with three or more dwellings in the row be required to instal a sky light in the roof and proper openings to the attic from the inside to be more accessible in case of fire.

Record of Years

Peterborough's fire loss last year was $21,299.29 as compared with $3,347.03 in 1937, the lowest since the department was organized on a permanent basis in 1908. The 1938 loss was the sixth lowest in twenty-five years, the second lowest being four years ago in 1936 when the amount was $6,165.93, as compared with $13,378 in 1914; $15,856.50 in 1921 and $20,882.42 in 1930.

Peterborough's per capita loss in 1938 was 90 1-6 cents. Of the 494 fire alarms last year, 355 were reported during the day and 150 at night.

3 Men Shoot One Dog Split $10 Sheep Killer Bounty

Mesford, Ont., Feb. 8 (CP) A $10 BOUNTY for shooting a sheep-killing dog was claimed by three men before St. Vincent township council yesterday.

D. Johnston and two companions saw the dog in action and all three fired at it. All three hit it but none wounded it fatally. The dog limped home. Johnson followed it and after telling the dog's owner, fired the lethal bullet.

Council settled the matter by giving Johnson $4 and his two companions $3 each.

Easier Winters?

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—Wallace Havelock Robb, naturalist, says Canadian winters are softening. The climate has been made milder by increased timber cuttings over the north and many mild weather birds stay in Ontario the year round, he says.

To Stop Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation's got you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey . . . it's time you did something about it. And something more than taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat only the things most people do, the chances are that a very simple fact causes your constipation . . . you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It means a kind of food that after the digestive process leaves a soft "bulky" mass which helps a bowel movement.

If constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, eat Kellogg's All-Bran, a tasteful ready-to-eat cereal, for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran supplies the "bulk" you need, plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B1. Made by Kellogg in London, Canada. Sold by every grocer.

A Story Of Progress That Must Be Continued!

In the past decade telephone service—local and long distance—has made great advances. In both equipment and operating methods improvement has been continuous.

Of course it's our job to make your service better and better. Our long-standing policy has been expressed in the words, "The best possible service at the lowest cost to the user consistent with financial safety."

Today, regardless of distance, you can hear and be heard more clearly over your telephone than ever before. The time required to complete a call has been reduced; operating errors have decreased. Your telephone and telephone line are more dependable; the interval during which the average subscriber's line and telephone are kept from having a case of trouble has been greatly lengthened—one trouble per telephone in 14 months is the present system average.

And when troubles do occur they are promptly cleared as reported—85 per cent. on business telephones within two hours, and over 92 per cent. on residence telephones within four hours are the system figures.

Long distance service has been vastly extended in scope and greatly speeded up. The average time in 1938 throughout the system, to complete a connection was 79 seconds (ten years ago the average was 3.9 minutes), and 92.6 per cent. of these connections were made while the calling party remained at the telephone.

But such a record of progress cannot be sustained and continued unless, in addition to the highest type of trained personnel, we employ also the last word in mechanical improvement. More particularly in larger centres it became apparent that dial apparatus must replace the manual system if telephone service was to go on getting better and better.

That is the reason for the introduction of dial telephones in Peterborough. It means that nothing is being left undone to assure the city the highest standard of service.

The One Big Question

It is hardly worth while arguing that the royalist forces in Spain can put up any effective degree of opposition to the victory of General Franco. Franco has won because he had the backing of Italy and Germany, but the question remaining to be answered is why he had that backing?

And the next questions is—what sort of rule will there be in Spain when the so-called civil war has ceased?

It is reported Britain has received assurance that Italy will withdraw from Spain at the conclusion of the war in accord with the Anglo-Italian friendship agreement which went into effect on the 16th of November.

The withdrawal of Italian troops may mean much or it may mean little, depending on the intention of Italy. If the future rule of Spain is dominated by Italy and Germany without the aid of troops then the troops might as well stay there because the domination will be present in any event.

Britain and France have more at stake now that the civil war is over and the future method of ruling the country is taking shape than they had when the war was in progress. The Mediterranean remains as Britain's life line to the East and too much antagonistic power bordering on that route can be regarded as nothing short of a continuous menace to Britain. So the question which has been coming toward the front for the last two years or more is now standing in the front line, and it all hinges on what sort of government is going to be formed in Spain, and to what extent Germany and Italy are going to dominate that government. They have made victory possible for Franco, so what price are they going to ask for the victory?

Why Should He Worry?

Controller J. D. McNish of Toronto has found something else to worry about because all cities do not have tax sales to attend to property which is three years in arrears for taxes. Toronto attends to such matters but the Controller says other municipalities have not obeyed the law "and they are getting away with it."

There may be truth enough in that claim. Peterborough attends to its tax sales regularly, but it is not minded to complain if Oshawa or Belleville or Lindsay or any other place does not have tax sales at regular intervals. That is something which is apparently not insisted upon and to a reasonable extent a municipality can be a law unto itself.

It is conceivable that a municipality which was hard pressed for funds in any given year might hesitate about holding a tax sale. It does not improve the financial position of the municipality but generally calls for the expenditure of more money. When the properties are offered for sale it seldom happens that there are buyers present in numbers, and most of the offerings are withdrawn and then offered at an adjourned sale, at which time an official of the city bids them in for the amount of taxes owing. The money with which to do this comes from the general fund, and that fund in turn is contributed to by the taxpayers, so a tax sale is actually one sure way of causing those who pay their own taxes to pay some more and make a present to the city of a number of vacant lots.

Controller McNish contends too that once the city comes into possession of vacant property it cannot sell it for less than the assessed value as such sale would be illegal. That is not at all formidable because assessments can be changed. In Peterborough the city council is getting rid of some of its vacant lots and doing so in a reasonable way. They are not being given away but they are going to people who agree to build a house within a year, and the price of the lot is determined by a process which will not depress the price of adjacent property nor will it hold out for a figure which would spoil a sale and shut off the chance of another home being erected.

Whether other cities have tax sales does not worry Peterborough and it should not worry Controller McNish in Toronto. His city would be in exactly the same position if all communities were observing the law strictly.

He Should Find Out

Daniel Kennedy runs a hardware store in Leamington, and he is also mayor of the town.

Walter Manley also lives in Leamington, and it is claimed he owed some money to the hardware store. Manley worked 35 hours on the streets shovelling snow for which he was to receive 35 cents per hour and that would amount to $12.25.

The report from Leamington says the mayor took $10 out of the pay to settle the account at the hardware store.

Before the mayor collects any more of his store debts in that way it would be well for him to get some sound advice as to the direction in which he is heading. He will find that being mayor and owner of a hardware store are two quite separate things, and he can search a long time before finding anything which enables him to use his elective office as a means for collecting his private debts.

We Haven't Settled This

It was recently stated that the Federal government had today 1,000 more employees than two years ago. Using that as the starting point the Globe and Mail considers some of our problems and expenses of government. It costs $2,400,000 to run a single session of parliament and the administration which radiates from that body costs us $500,000,000 a year and the Toronto paper is certain that should be sufficient for 11 million people without nine provinces proceeding to do more governing for us.

It is estimated that one person in ten is being employed by some form of government in this country, and others who have considered the matter place it as high as one in seven of our population. Expenditure for what is termed general government was multiplied by three and one-half between 1904 and 1935, but provincial expenditure multiplied 20 times in the same period and municipal expenditure by nine.

The most serious part of the problem is that our governments have the right to keep on increasing their various powers, and they all possess the right to force revenue. If they are not getting what they consider necessary then they can go ahead and plan to get more. Provincial governments in turn inform the municipal governments of the amounts which they shall contribute to various forms of social legislation. If any of our provincial governments or our central governments desire to launch a new department there is power to do so; they can name the man in charge, employ the people to assist him and so on. If the people wish to protest they can eventually turn the government out, but they have no guarantee that the next government elected will not in turn do the same thing.

Getting the right amount of government is not as simple as the problem of a man who wants his house painted. He goes to the man he considers can do the work well and he knows in advance what he is going to pay. If he were getting his house painted on the same principle as we apply to our multiplied form of government then he would have ten painters and they would all come and paint the same house and he would in turn have to pay them.

In order that the campaign for decreasing our amount of government might be turned into a practical channel we believe it is necessary in the first place to determine how much government we actually require. Our own idea is that the average man going about his day's business does not require much of it. He requires very little inspection or investigation. At the moment we are governed by townships, by counties, by incorporated municipalities, by provincial and by federal governments. We are also taxed by numbers of boards and commissions.

We are certain the sentiment in favor of diminishing the size and extent and cost of our being governed is already in existence. But to get the idea pointed in some practical direction is the question to consider. We have small hope that our legislatures or our Federal government would consider working together to give us that exact information because they appear to be overshadowed by certain rights contained in the British North America Act. There is nothing sacred in that document. If it is not giving us the results which we require—and we do not believe it is—then we can see no reason why we should not build a newer and a better structure, and one fashioned according to our needs and our ability to pay for it. It may be the people themselves will have to attack the question and not merely decide who is going to govern them but also state the extent of the machinery of government they are willing to support.

Getting Too Scientific

We read in the St. Thomas Times-Journal where the Board of Works had removed 4,000 cubic yards of snow from the streets following a recent blizzard. Which actually does not mean very much apart from showing the tendency of the age toward reckoning things in terms of cubicity.

If the paper had merely stated the drifts were as high as the fence or told us that it was necessary to dig down a bit in order to find the hitching posts in front of the general store then we would have understood there had been quite a fall of snow.

But this cubicity stuff is cold logic which lacks the power of old-time understanding and it cramps the style of the populace. Years ago people used to ram the handle of the broom down into the snow off the back porch and their estimating and their descriptive work subsequently would be based on that premise. All the people would understand then what the folk were talking about because they were all familiar with the length of a broom handle. This business of computing in terms of cubicity is a departure from the old and tried methods. And we don't like it.

Very Rich And Very Poor

From Bombay comes the announcement of the death of the Maharajah of Baroda. We find the tale of his career referred to as something which walks along on all fours like a fairy tale. He began life as a cowherd boy, a slightly different task from that of cowboys in our land, and probably more humble.

He ended at age 75 by being the ruler of his province of 2,500,000 people and 8,000 square miles. He had a number of advanced ideas regarding free and compulsory education, libraries and other means of spreading knowledge.

But the Maharajah lived according to the best known means of impressing his power. When it was time to mark his diamond jubilee he rode about in a coach which was reported to have been made of solid gold.

Since he ascended to power in 1875 his income is said to have been in excess of $10,000,000 a year, so from that small state he drew in his day over $640,000,000. We may look upon parts of India as being benighted—and probably they are—but their ruling princes have their hands of wealth of which we have nothing comparable. And under the same system the mass of the people are desperately poor.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Sir Henry Detering, 72, is dead and he left a personal fortune of $150,000,000. Another illustration of "You can't take it with you."

With so many strange things being on the air in the way of programs it makes one shiver to think we have also to breathe it.

It is reported that Kentucky's fear of floods recedes as the water recedes. Naturally. And by the same process the fears will again rise when the flood waters do.

Young lady from China speaking in Toronto said as long as the democracies kept on selling war goods to Japan they were wasting any money they gave to assist the Chinese.

Thirty years ago the suggestion was made that the Peterborough street railway be extended north as far as Apsley, some 35 miles distant. Probably it was just as well it was never attempted as the railway company itself died a dozen or so years ago.

A lazy worker in a Russian factory who took a poke at the foreman who scolded him has been put to death. We rather prefer our own job where on a lazy day we can get by by just appearing to be tolerably busy.

Suggestion was made that a judicial inquiry be made in Toronto to find to what extent impersonation was present in civic voting. It was found the cost might run as high as $25,000, after which it was considered better to get the information some other way. And that is one way to cure the inquiry habit—find first what it is going to cost.

Statisticians had estimated the average consumption of eggs in Canada was 30 dozen per person, or an egg per day. It has now been stepped down to 21 dozen, and it is explained that the mistake was in taking it for granted that all poultry produced eggs. On the Tenth Concession only pullets and hens attended to that end of the business.

Minister in St. Catharines has been appointed to take charge of a church in Owen Sound as well, preaching there twice a month. A man with his charges as widely separated will have the advantage of being able to use the same sermons, unless the ones at St. Catharines might seem a little deep for the people in Owen Sound.

Magistrate at Bowmanville dismissed a charge against a man who had no license for a radio in his home. The defence was that the radio was there on trial. We consider this worth mentioning as it is the first case of its kind on record. As a rule the man who goes to court for not having a radio paper can consider himself guilty and fined before he puts his hand on the door knob.

FAILURE

(By A.R.K.)

¶ I met my friend the handy man, he showed me careful as one can, how I could save some tin; he's made a new and sturdy crate, in which there was not one mistake, for sifting ashes in.

¶ He saved a lot of coal he said, he used the stuff when going to bed, it kept the fire just so; he said he'd save a half a ton, before the firing season's done, I'm sure he ought to know.

¶ He wrote down all the things to buy, nor was the price so very high, I got the screens he said; I put down everything quite plain, so mine would be made just the same, left nothing to my head.

¶ I got the thing all done last night, and it looked just exactly right, I walked with skilful men; I'd try the thing right off I thought, start saving coal like how I ought, I'd sift some ashes then.

¶ I knew just how the thing should go, and started rocking to and fro, I knew it would not bust; the stuff came out all over me, so thick that I could hardly see, my whiskers filled with dust.

¶ The folk upstairs were scared to death, they said they could not get their breath, their words came fast and strong; just where its bad I can't yet see, but it is plain enough to me — I must somehow be wrong.

President Used Wrong Method

WHILE there is no doubt President Roosevelt represented the feelings of the vast majority of his people in telling the Senate Military Affairs Committee that he would help the democratic countries with all the material resources of the United States in event of war with the Fascist governments, he appeared to have erred in making his statements in camera.

Apart from the fact that he made private declaration of a vital new matter of policy, the imformation says the St. Thomas Times-Journal, was allowed to "leak out" by talkative members of the committee who appear to have differed as to what the President did say. Either they misunderstood his remarks or some of them added bits of their own to them, either through inadvertence or a desire to "make it strong." Perhaps, too, as he alleges, some of the correspondents who interviewed the committee men allowed their imaginations or feelings to run away with them, and so, in passing from one person to another, the story grew like a snowball.

Possibly he intended that the members should "talk" and let his views get around and go abroad, but it is regrettable that he adopted this procedure. He has not only been said to go further than he did say, with the result that he has aroused increased hostility to the United States in Germany and Italy, but he has furnished his political opponents with valuable ammunition which may be used against him when estimates and legislation dealing with these matters come up for discussion. He has got himself in wrong even with some of his stoutest friends who feel he has placed the country in an awkward position.

If he had to make his statement in committee the better way would have been to have drawn up an agreed statement for the press when the meeting was over.

To The Editor

RE: NICHOLLS PARKS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I have had read to me with considerable interest your account of the Nicholls Parks and it seems to be substantially correct, but there is one part of it that might be open to doubt, namely as to the position taken by the executors of Mrs. Nicholl's will as to the purchase of the West Nicholls Park or Jackson Park. I would like to make it clear that the executors at all times during their lifetime took a great interest in the parks and their improvements and this included the West Nicholls Park, but I do not think that before the discussion as to what property should be purchased for the several parks either of them had ever been on the land now the West Nicholls Park, and it was necessary to convince them that it was a property suitable for the expenditure of any part of the money left in trust for the purchase of parks before they realized that it was suitable and on their going over this property they decided that it was very well adopted for the purposes which Mrs. Nicholls had in her mind when the will was made.

At the time it was purchased it was in rather a rough state, and until the improvements were made under the direction of the late Mr. J. E. Belcher it did not look at first view to be very satisfactory. The late Mr. Belcher superintended the laying out of the roads and the construction of the ornamental bridge at the south end of the pond and this was done without any charge against the estate or the fund set aside for parks and I think anyone familiar with the present park will realize that Mr. Belcher exercised a good deal of judgment and good taste in the way this work was initialled and carried on.

Many of the necessary improvements could not be made by the Park Commission owing to the lack of funds but they were largely assisted by the City Council and especially by ex-mayor Roland Denne in carrying out these matters, for which the public using the park should be grateful.

In the matter of the present use of the park for winter sports, this was undertaken by a Committee of citizens known as the Sports Committee and is still under their supervision. The gentlemen forming the Sports Committee should be congratulated on the way their voluntary duties are being carried out and I think that from the number of citizens who enjoy the benefit provided by the Park Trustees and the Sports Committe, the same is appreciated by those who enjoy an outing on the ice or on the hills in the park.

Yours truly,
E. H. D. HALL

HE'S NOT SURE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—From what we can gather from the paper it seems that Britain has assured France that she is ready to go to her assistance in case France is attacked or if what they call her vital interests are in danger. I take that to mean that even if the French colonies are desired by Italy and fighting begins then Britain is ready to get into that fight.

That is well enough were it not for the feeling that when Britain goes to war then Canada goes to war as well. I know there has been a statement of policy at Ottawa which says that the right to declare war and call for troops is something which is in the hands of the Canadian parliament.

It is possible enough that if Britain went to war to aid France for some reason or other then Britain would in turn be subject to attack, and if Britain were attacked for that reason I suppose we in Canada would be expected to go to war.

I had been hoping there would not be such a declaration as it leaves us wide open to become participants in a European war if Italy and France get into a squabble over some colonies in Which we have not the slightest interest and never will have.

Although I am getting on in years I would go myself to the front if our country was in danger and I believe every man up and down the street feels the same way about it, but this business of getting lined up for a war in which we are not directly interested is something which is causing me quite a lot of thinking and I can't get the right answer. I was in one war and have no regrets about it, but I am not at all certain about this new way of lining up nations.

HE'S DOING IT

"I wish these tourists would pick up their rubbish after them."
—The Passing Show.

• Things Go Well In Durham Co.

(From Parliamentary Reports)

Mr. W. F. RICKARD (Durham): Mr. Speaker, being a farmer I am perhaps more interested in trade agreements and their effect upon agriculture than in any other single item. Among the concessions which have been gained for agriculture in Canada one of major importance is a further reduction in the duty on cattle of 700 pounds or more, and an increase in the quota. Under their tariff act of 1930 the United States established a duty of three cents per pound, but under the trade agreement of 1935 this was reduced to two cents, the number of cattle not to exceed 155,799 head. The duty is now further reduced to one and one-half cents per pound, and the quota is raised to 225,000. The new agreement also stipulates that not more than 60,000 heavy cattle can be sold in any one quarter. I believe this is a good clause. Also there will be 100,000 calves up to two hundred pounds allowed into the United States market at a reduced rate of one and one-half cents per pound. Dairy cows are allowed to enter the United States in any quantity at a duty of one and one-half cents per pound.

The new agreement reduces the duty on hogs to one cent per pound, and on pork to one and one-half cents per pound. The duty on milk has been reduced to three and one-quarter cents per gallon, and the duty on cream from thirty-five cents to a little over twenty-eight cents per gallon, but the quota of 1,500,000 gallons remains the same. Cheddar cheese and poultry, potatoes and many other commodities are mentioned. Surely no one will say that the treaty is not to the advantage of the Canadian farmer.

There are other industries in that town such as furniture factories and foundries, all of which are doing very well. Port Hope is the only place in the world where radium is made, and several of the industries in that town did better business than ever before prior to the last half of 1938. They increased he wages of their employees, and many have added to their plants. These industries have not been hurt in any way by the trade agreements. In fact they may have been benefited. This explains why unemployment is not so bad in my constituency. I do not say that we have no one out of work. We have seasonal unemployment the same as in many other places. There are many people who would like steady jobs, but conditions are not nearly so bad as they were from 1930 to 1935.

The transient problem is one of the worst that has to be faced by our municipalities. We do not mind looking after our own to a certain extent, but we do object to having our police stations filled with these people all the time and having them live either from house to house or o the town. I am glad to know that the government is taking action in this regard. I am glad also to know that our different service clubs and our churches and other organizations are trying to co-operate with the government in solving this problem. I believe that if the government, these different organizations and business, be it on the farm or in the factory, would all co-operate, we could go a very long way toward solving many of the problems we have today. Government and business have new opportunities to work hand in hand in solving problems which can be solved only by their working together. As colleagues and not competitors they could get down to brass tacks on a national program for economic stability and social advancement, including greater security for the individual. Political controversy, failure on the part of governments to take business into their confidence and indifference or inaction on the part of business leaders will never provide a positive approach to our national problems.

TRIBUTE TO A DOG.

We have a dog. He came to us as a pup, and so we taught him the rudiments of gentlemanly canine conduct. But the things we have taught him are in small measure indeed to the things we have learned from that small black dog.. He taught us how to play again — to throw off care and worry in the exhilaration of a good romp. He taught us to laugh wholeheartedly, without reservation or cynicism. Much that we know of beauty has come to us because of him — the glory of an early sun, its slanting rays just touching the tops of the tallest elms, and setting them on fire; the magic of a full moon, poised momentarily between twin steeples; the gentle, growing loveliness of soft rain on one's hair and upturned face — these and a thousand other phases of the world about us we have found because there was a little black dog begging for a walk. But most of all we have learned the beauty of loyalty that lies in a pair of worshiping brown eyes.—(Chicago Tribune)

RARE POCKET KNIVES.

IN less than 30 years' time hand-forged Sheffield scissors and pocket-knives will be rare than precious stones

It was stated at a recent meeting of the Society for the Preservation of Old Sheffield Tools that there are no more than 20 craftsmen in the city — the youngest over 30 — capable of making hand-forged scissors, and there are only 50 to 60 pocket-knife forgers — none of them young.

There is still an appreciable demand for hand-forged articles, the secret of their superiority being that the more steel is hammered the better it becomes, the finer and more durable its cutting edge. A hand-forged pocket-knife blade is hammered probably 100 times in forging, whereas a drop-stamped blade is hit only once — a heavy pressing blow.—Industrial Britain.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

An executor's duties start with applying for probate: they continue through advertising for and paying debts, getting in the assets, realizing them, paying Succession Duties, setting up trusts, making distribution to the beneficiaries, up to the final passing of accounts before the Courts. It is a lengthy process, replete with formalities, full of traps for the inexperienced. ¶ When you entrust your estate to a private executor you entrust it to one who, in a great majority of cases, will act in this capacity for the first time, and who will necessarily find it difficult, having his own business and family, to give your affairs his best attention. ¶ By appointing the Toronto General Trusts your executor, you will be employing a Corporation whose business it has been for fifty-six years to administer estates. Its knowledge, gained from wide experience with every type of estate and estate problem, will be concentrated on the efficient fulfilment of your Will. We invite your inquiries.

Old Home Week In Campbellford To Be Discussed

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 8—Whether or not Campbellford is to have an Old Home Week this year will be definitely determined by the response to a public meeting, which is slated for February 22, it has been announced.

Councillor Burgiss, who heads the committee appointed by council to look into the matter of holding a celebration, which will mark the fiftieth anniversary of public ownership of the electric power plant here, told members that he had gone carefully into the proceeds and deficit of the Old Home Week held in 1929 and expressed the feeling that experience of the past could cut down, if not entirely eliminate any expense for the council.

Continuing his report, Councillor Burgiss recommended the affair be staged four days and that a public meeting be called immediately, as it would require at least six months to give it proper publicity.

To Test Bylaw

The town's snow shovelling bylaw will be tested in police court on February 17th, Reeve. C. H. Calver, chairman of the legal committee, reported. A summons had already been issued to one citizen, who persistently refused to remove snow from the sidewalk adjoining his property. "This will be a test case," stated the Reeve, who added the recommendation that the town solicitor be present at the court.

"I am sure you all know that the aims and objects of the society are for the betterment of the town of Campbellford," declared President James Waters, who headed a delegation representing the Seymour Agricultural Society, requesting the town to make its annual grant. On motion of Reeve Calver and Councillor Dorie, council passed a motion authorizing a grant of $100. Members of the delegation included T. J. Horkins, G. G. Stevens, John Locke and the president. On behalf of the society Mr. Horkins offered its whole hearted support to the proposed Old Home Week celebration. "If you want to use our grounds or any of the buildings you are entirely welcome," he declared.

35 Registered for Relief

Reporting on the relief situation, relief officer J. J. Lewis Hay, claimed that costs for the present year were considerably higher than last year. "We have some thirty registrations here, one in Toronto, three pending registation and four chargebacks over which we have no control."

Tax collector, J. C. Birmingham, presented his monthly report, indicating that $979.78 of 1938 taxes had been collected in January. During the same month $629.38 had been collected on arrears prior to 1938. Total 1939 taxes collected to end of January were $10,345.96, or better than $3,000.00 above last year, for the same period.

Mayor Long advised members that the Board of Health had held its first meeting and had been informed that E. A. Bell, who was appointed by the council as a member of the body, would be unable to act. A new bylaw was drawn up and John W. Clarke received the appointment.

Claiming that he had not been able to get estimates from the School Board chairman of the finance committee, N. A. McColl stated the setting of a tax rate would have to be left until the next meeting.

J. C. Birmingham was re-appointed weed inspector for the year 1939.

Correspondence.

Following correspondence was read: From the Salvation Army, requesting a grant for their rescue and receiving homes, no action taken; from the Dominion Rubber Company, re quotations on fire hose, filed; Orillia Board of Trade, re the formation of a Trent Waterways Association, which would press the government for completion of the locks on the Severn River, received and filed; from the Hospital for Sick Children, requesting annual grant of $10,000, which was duly passed.

Mayor Long advised the council that representatives of a shoe firm had visited the plant formerly occupied by the Weston Shoe Company here and were favorably impressed with the situation. All they would require would be the basement and first floor of the building, and if suitable terms can be arranged with the owners of the building regarding rent and heating, it is deemed likely they will take the premises. The mayor pointed out that Campbellford's power rates formed the major attraction to the firm. "The cost of power would be only one-half what they are paying at present," declared the Mayor.

"The owners of the building can rest assured they will receive every consideration from this council, as we are just as interested in renting the property as they are," claimed Councillor McColl.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE NOTES

Behold The Heroes

And so it came to pass, that upon Friday evening of February 3rd in the year 1939 three P.C.I. basketball squads were at home to a like trio of Bowman-villa basketbobbers. And it so happened that said three quintets, proceeded calmly and assuredly to sweep the three visiting companies into the blue waters of the O-ton-o-bee. Or, in more affluent English, in case you haven't heard, the junior and senior boys and Miss Brisbin's senior girls' squad of the old Alma Mater soundly trounced Bowmanville's hopefuls in a trio of games. A fine group of tussles, but only about one quarter the crowd the boys and girls deserve. It's a fine thing when you can only get a hundred or so fans from a school as big as ours out to watch such fine basketball as we saw last week. Our juniors and seniors were hard put for a while but finished plenty far enough in advance to win easily, while our senior (and incidentally our only) girls' squad ran rampant through the out-classed Rubbertown ranks to win their third straight game with ease. It looks more and more as if we have three very serious contenders for C.O.S.S.A. crowns or at least group titles. This weekend the lads and lasses travel back to Bowmanville for a return engagements in what should be three close and mighty important games. Our girls should win going away but we are a wee bit afraid for the junior and senior youth movements. For the seniors, with the addition of two McIlveens (who didn't play here) and in their own gym should be plenty tough. But from here, we'll crawl out on a limb and call a repeat of last week's hook-up.

Now, for the love of sport, before we go on our merry, merry way, may we reprimand you slightly for the poor attendance at last week's entertainment and ask for much better crowds from here in? Next home games are three weeks away or so but let's see the old gym gallery fairly rippling that night.

Second At Home

Last Wednesday, come even-tide, what amounted to the second biggest social function thus far in the school year was run off in the Brock Street Rink. It was the inaugural number in what will probably be a yearly event. The very successful school skating party It was a splendid night, not too cold and a bigger and better crowd than could even be hoped for turned up The mammoth attendance figure came to a mere 670. A new record of people on the ice surface at one time, so said Students' Council President Alex Young, Thursday morning in the assembly. The prizes were distributed to winners afterwards, although Alex made a fine and noble attempt to make himself heard, and announce them at the party, above the noise of the tumult. It was a success in every sense of the word and everyone there had as fine a time as could be. Orchids to all responsible and may there be a repeat next snow-time.

Talkie Topics

Last Wednesday another in the current series of movies was run off in the Auditorium after school. This one being open to anyone at the reduced fee of one half the previous admission price—the twentieth part of one simoleon. Good pictures but not a great crowd, around 150 persons or so. This Wednesday come 4.10, Mr. Henry has another list of promising subjects to present to the student body, this time a group of five films. The first, undoubtedly a comedy entitled Beanstalk Jack. No 2, called Newsreel No 4 The third in the group, and probably one of the best Grey Owl's Strange Guests No. 4, Return of the Buffalo and concluding the bill, Wings Over the Atlantic, a 25-minute subject dealing with the new trans-Atlantic air route to Europe, via Newfoundland.

Echoes Flashes

The year-book is coming along OK now with art competitions closed and ditto literary contests. Right now pictures are being taken of the different groups and a competition of Echoes salesmanship is being run off. The forms have been divided into groups and order forms are being passed around now. The groups are so divided that any one group has as much chance to win as the next Prize is a night's entertainment for the winning group, anything they wish—a dance, skating party, etc. First day's sales, (that's for Monday) showed a total of approximately 460, which isn't bad for a starter, with several forms yet to make a report. Photography contest closed February 6th. Prizes (yet to be awarded) will be one for the best table top picture and ditto for the best snap-shot of school life, one of the more important branches in the art competitions is the Echoes cover design for wheih a prize of $2.00 is promised. One group of school workers who don't get half the publicity and thanks that they deserve is the group of Echoes' workers responsible for typing and advertising. They work hard all year and get no more than their picture in the book and their own satisfaction with a job well done. Oh well, such is life. Only contest that isn't closed as yet is the art contest for the best illustration. And of course this must wait till the literary selections have been made.

School Orchestra

Another of the many organizations which little praise is ascribed is the school orchestra under the baton of Mr. Weems. This group works hard, practising weekly and yet get little chance to show their wares except at Literary Society meetings. But, before long when the school play roles along in March, the orchestra can really go to town as they did last year, being one of the hits of that splendid performance. This year with the Dramatic Club and the Glee Club as supporting artists from which to draw talent, the play should go over bigger than ever and the orchestra should play a bigger and better part in it.

Kaydets

As they say at West Point and incidentally our cadet corps, which will appear before you in not so many weeks should have a good bunch of officers. At least they have been working hard enough, meeting almost weekly and with about 60 men turning out for the corps service. Meet usually on Tuesdays for about half an hour in the Armouries. Signallers are working out regularly after school one night a week, with a large number of both Morse and semaphore students turning out for drill. First Aid corps should be working out now too and probably plans have already been made in that direction. Inspection usually takes place around the first of May and that day is always one of the ones in the school year.

They Say

Basketball teams continue to practice hard for this week's important tussles in Bowmanville...Eifle Saunders of the senior girls is by all odds the leading scorer for her team—with about 65 points for three games...Seniors looked good Friday...But so did the visitors...And the boys of Mr. Bamforth may yet have to look to their laurels... So hang in there Friday...Good movies last week in the morning assembly of telephoning around the world—the second in that series...A new song in asembly any day now would go over alright and wouldn't hurt anyone's feelings...3A got the first day bonus for Echoes sales...Air of gloom pervades the halls with exams gone...But the results begin to appear...Play cast is working hard these days...Camera Club meets Tuesday night this week, too late for this fiasco...Notice that Bowmanville still has a couple of McIlveens left...Even one coming up on their junior team...Orm Weir, star junior centre of a couple-a years back and flashy im Thorburn, lanky forward of not so long ago were in the gallery watching this year's squad go to town...And others...Plenty of announcements in assembly these morns as school activity is at its height.—J. Duck Races Plane For Mile Emerges Victor

Caledonia, Ont., Feb. 8 (CP)

A GRAND RIVER DUCK raced an airplane for a mile yesterday and won. The plane, flying low, frightened the duck into the air just below Caledonia. The bird flew ahead of the plane between the Canadian National Railways and the highway bridges, skaters on the river having a good view of the unusual race.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Ski jumpers may not all be crazy—but it certainly helps when they are. There can be no more thrilling or colorful picture in the world of sports than a jumper taking off into the ozone. They dress colorfully, they wave their arms wildly while soaring through the air and they hit the packed snow runway like a zooming airplane. Despite the many spills in jumps of over a hundred feet, there are few injuries to ski jumpers. They hit on the long wooden slippers first and either keep going, or they slither down on stomach and face, if not on the spinal column. But one seldom hears of a jumper getting a nasty injury. It's a great thrill the jumpers tell us—and we know it is a thrill to watch 'em—but we'll continue in the role of a spectator. The provincial jumping championships will be held Saturday aft at Nassau.

Vice-Prexy Harry Tudhope of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club has called the annual meeting for tonight at eight in the Y.M.C.A. Those interested are invited, main matter of business being the election of officers for 1939. Some discussion, too, on plans for the coming season. The '38 senior "B" champs of Ontario hope to field another good team in a large, strong grouping—but plans are naturally indefinite as yet. However, this gang of hustlers will get busy ere spring and line up something worth while for gutted-stick followers here.

* * * * * *

Poor Jim And Mick

Word comes from Jim Ellis and Mick Magee in Miami, Florida, that the four-team puck circuit there will stick it out till spring. Some talk of busting it up, owing to indifferent financial support, but the players have taken a cut in pay and will continue their schedule. They drew 1,500 at a recent game—which would be oke if expenses weren't so high. Five dog-racing tracks and a flock of other entertainments around Miami for the puckists to buck. It's too bad the local lads have to take a slash in salary, but we know a lot of folks here who would go to Miami and spend the winter for nothing at all!

When the Petes open their O.H.A. senior "B" group playoffs here Friday, both of their 1939 imports will likely be in the lineup again. Only a few frays this season have Lorne Gray and Gord (Doc) Nichol been in the lineup together. As Nichol had to work several times when the Petes were playing and Gray was out for a time with an injury. Both are important factors in the local squad this semester, being heady, effective and clean players. Gray is a good checker on the back fence and few goals are scored around his side. He is a blocker and tougher than a bogus sawbuck to pass! While Doc has played a lot of fine hockey up front ere coming here, and shows it. A tricky stickhandler and brainy forward, Nichol fits in fine with the Petes' shock troops in their current campaign. Both good guys on and off the ice.

So We Have The Fliers

It'll be the Fliers here in the first of the playoffs, the Airmen flying off with a 6-5 verdict over the Redmen last night in Belleville, in the deciding game. So Skipper Thomas and his scrappy charges are through for the season. They were down several goals half-way through but must have made it a rousing finish, Coach Kelly's chaps barely winning by the skin of their teeth. Puck fans here, no doubt, will prefer to see the Trentons and Petes in the money serial, as the Fliers are more colorful and play a more pleasing brand of hockey. The Redmen disorganize their opposition with a grand system of duck-pond puckery, most effective for the boys of Bella Villa but tough on their rivals and even tougher on the cash customers. There'll be quite a rush for reserve seats at the Brock now for Friday eve.

Our Colts came through last e'en here with a 6-2 win over the Oshawa junior "B" team to square their series, and earn the nod. It was a so-so game, with penalties every minute or so—and chippy ice—disorganizing passing plays a lot. But the Colts had a lot of fight against their big, speedy and rough opponents—and Goalie Cournyea was in top form for the Jackson-coached crew. A fair crowd of fans, and they made a lotta noise at this struggle—much of it directed toward Referee Peg Hurst, who proved unpopular with the gals and guys who pay the freight. These same teams tangle here again next Tuesday twilight at the Brock, while the short schedule ends after that on Oshawa ice.

Down Port Hope Way

Down in Port Hope our junior "C" Monarchs kept in the running with a 5-3 victory over the Hopers. A lively joust on sticky ice, with a free-for-all busting loose near the end—Hills, Edwardson, Clarke and DeCarlo drawing majors. Monarchs had an edge the last half of the game, after spotting the homesters a first-frame lead. Rochetta figured in on three tallies and Vitarelli two. All would have been hunky-dory for the locals, if those miserable Midgets of Lindsay hadn't gone and dropped a 4-2 decision in Cobourg. As the Monarchs have to keep ahead of Cobourg, they still have a battle on their hands. Lindsay last eve were short a coupla regulars and the ice was soft as they dropped their only scheduled squabble.

* * * * * *

Local Orfuns captured an L.O.B.A. decision in Belleville yester gloaming with a nice 28-12 chuckle over the classy Quinte gal cagers. A strong "putsch" in the last half sent the home fans away with manys a mumble. Glad Mortimer and Barb Blade paced the Orfuns on the score sheet. Two ladies' Lakeshore League games this Thursday eve at the P.C.I. gym, Cobourg playing C.G.E. at eight, and Belleville back against the Orfuns at nine. No admission charge. Several local lasses' games listed for this Friday earlier than usual, at the P.C.I. gym. Y.W. team plays Quaker Aces at 6.00, C.G.E. meets Quaker Debs at 6.45, and Quaker Maids tangle at 7.15 with St. John's. Three P.C.I. school teams go to Bowmanville on Friday. And there will be men's hoop tilts in the "Y" gym this Saturday night.

Red Birds Whip Chiefs 5-4 In Major Upset

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—Warning flew to-day among the Senior "B" clubs to beware of Brantford Red Birds, who played in the Senior "A" division of the Ontario Hockey Association this season mostly to gain experience. The Birds have a bye into the "B" playoffs and the experienced gathered might well win them the "B" title and a back-door entrance into Canadian Senior playdowns.

The Brants, who have shown improvement every time out of late, pulled a major upset at home in their last scheduled game last night by beating St. Catharines Chiefs 5-4. It was their second win in 19 games, the other coming here December 6, when they edged out Niagara Falls 7-5.

Defeat was duobly bitter for the Chiefs. It prevented them from clinching third place in the league standing and may stop them from reaching the playoffs.

They play their last scheduled game in St. Kitts Friday with the tough Port Colborne Sailors as opponents, while Niagara Falls and Oshawa finish up their schedules at the Falls. All but Oshawa, certain of second place, are fighting for a playoff slot.

Four teams participate in the playoffs which start a week from to-night. The undefeated Toronto Goodyears hold the top position ahead of Oshawa. Right behind in third place are St. Catharines with 18 points. Port Colborne and the Falls are tied for fourth with one point less.

Should Port Colborne and Niagara Falls win on Friday they will vault over the Chiefs into a tie for third place. According to committee ruling, if teams among the first four are tied in points at the end of the season, the team scoring the greatest number of goals during the season will be given preference of position.

Thus, one team would take third place, the other fourth—leaving St. Kitts fifth. If St. Kitts beat the Sailors on Friday they will clinch the third spot.

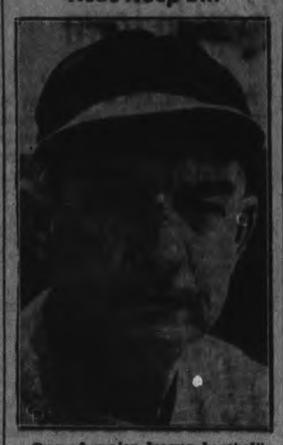
In downing the Chiefs here, the Brant Black and Whites took a 2-1 lead in the first period and led 3-2 at the end of the second. A big factor in the Brant win was the defence pair of tough Tony Tortis and Red Dunne, a Hamilton City Leaguer. They smashed wave after wave of St. Catharines' thrusts.

Ebby Edmison and Jack Webster, each with two, and Conick, another Hamilton performer, were the home team marksmen. Sammy Phillips, with two, Eddie Lister and old Speedy Groh, former professional, scored for the Chiefs.

The winning goal came in the last three minutes of play with the score tied 4-4. Webster was the marksman during a scramble about the St. Kitts' nets. Ray Krieger and Edmison drew assists.

Groh, playing coach of the Chiefs, played one of his best games of the few he has entered this season. He deflected a shot by Eddie Pinder, his teammate, into the Brant nets to tie the score at 3-3, and also earned an assist on the first St. Catharines goal in the opening period.

Reds Keep Bill



One of major league baseball's most popular and efficient managers, Bill McKechnie, ABOVE, boss of Cincinnati Reds, will be at the helm of the "National League club with the American League style of play" for the next three seasons, according to the club management, which extended his contract from this coming campaign through 1940 and '41. Last season, his first with the team, Mild Will raised in from seventh to fourth place, and many favor the Reds for this year's pennant.

Beat Port Hope Juniors Out In O.H.A. Fray

Peterborough Monarchs came through with a neat 5-3 O. H. A. Junior "C" win over the Ontarios in Port Hope last evening. The win kept the locals in the race for a play-off berth, though it was partly nullified by Lindsay's loss to Cobourg the same night.

The visitors were trailing 3-2 in the first period, tied it up in the second and finished strong with a 2-0 third period margin. The game was speedy and close, but play was sloppy at times due to soft ice. Some hard checking was dished up before over 300 fans, and a fist fight broke out two minutes before the bell, with Hills, Edwardson, Clarke and DeCarlo drawing major penalties.

Beggs, Rochetta, Connelly, Vitarelli and Giardino all turned in a good game for the Monarchs; while Edwardson, Edmunds, Wainman and Hills went best for the Hopers. Both goalies had plenty to do and kicked out a good number of hard thrusts. The game was late in starting as one car had a flat tire en route to Port Hope.

The Scorers.

Wainman scored early on a pass from Campbell for Port Hope. P. Anderson was penalized and later Vitarelli notched a neat one alone. DeCarlo counted on a solo effort halfway through, but J. Hills came back to tie it up unassisted. The Hopers kept pressing and took a lead when Campbell scored on Wainman's pass. The only goal in the second came from Vitarelli, ... counted halfway through the heat on Rochetta's pass. Beggs drew a penalty, and play was mostly shinny on sticky ice. Late in the third, Monarchs got two to make it safe, Rochetta tallying twice, once on Vitarelli's pass. Four penalties were drawn after a free-for-all late in the period. Other penalties this chukker went to DeCarlo, Connelly and Bradshaw. The teams:

Monarchs— Goal, Morrison; defence, Beggs and Giardino; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Connelly; alternates, Nicholls, Mortimer, Clarke, DeCarlo and Mackness.

Expect Pollock To Give Storey Battle

KITCHENER, Feb. 8. — (CP). — Badminton, a game that finds more national favor each year, invades this Western Ontario city tonight with the start of the Ontario championships. More than 300 entries, representing approximately 25 provincial clubs, will enter the fray in an attempt to upset last year's titlists, all of whom are here to defend their honors.

The tourney ends Saturday. Most out-of-town entrants take to the courts in their first-round matches tomorrow with Kitchener and district shotmakers firing the first shots tonight.

Jack Storey of Toronto's Granite Club, is defending titlist in the men's singles. Most of his opposition is expected to come from 18-year-old Ted Pollock, Kitchener, who recently repeated as Western Ontario singles champion.

Other defending provincial champions are Pollock and Doug Kennedy, Waterloo, men's doubles; Jack Sibbald, Toronto, and Kay Blette, Oakville, mixed doubles; Mrs. W. R. Walton, Toronto, women's singles, and Ruth and Margaret Robertson, Ottawa, women's doubles.

It will be Mrs. Walton's last Ontario appearance before leaving for England in quest of all-England honors. She is Canadian singles champion.

Paul and Jim Snyder, formerly of Waterloo, now living in Toronto, are expected to provide stout opposition in any class they enter. Between them, they recently accounted for the men's doubles and men's singles titles in the Toronto and district championships.

A strong threat for the mixed doubles crown will be the team of Miss Margaret Robertson, Ottawa, and Jack Nash, London ace, Nash will team with Colin Brown, his London mate, in the men's doubles.

COLTS COP 6-2 JUNIOR "B" PUCK WIN HERE OVER OSHAWA

Locals Even Up Junior Series With A Battling Display In Rough Hockey Encounter

Peterborough Colts battled their way through to a 6-2 O.H.A. junior "B" victory over Oshawa here last night before less than 300 fans in the Brock St. rink. It was the second of their double home-and-home series, and gives each club a win.

The game was a rough and rather disjointed affair with too many stoppages and penalties, disorganizing the squads—the ice also being chippy. Play was lively most of the route, with the Colts looking a bit better than their husky and speedy rivals. They had a 1-0 edge in the first and shaded Oshawa by a 2-0 count going into the third. The visitors nearly tied it up, scoring once on a penalty shot, but a last drive by the locals put the tilt on ice.

A fight broke out in the third between Foster and McMullen, both drawing majors. Referee Peg Hurst —not proving popular with the crowd—handed out 22 penalties, the Colts drawing 12 of them. The team seldom was at full strength and thus played hockey resembling shinny at times. The same applied to the visitors, who looked good at the start but were beaten before the end.

Great in Goal

Cournyea was the individual standout for the victors, playing a bangup game in goal to repeatedly rob his rival snipers. Parnell, Craig and Foster figured in on two goals apiece, and Williams turned in a hard-working game, with effective forechecking up front. McMullen, Reid and Fraser looked most effective for the other side, but they all worked hard throughout.

Oshawa had an edge at the start and, when Wade went off for tripping, they pressed hard till Peters got it for chopping. Fraser followed shortly for slashing. With two off, the Colts turned it on and Wade scored in close, aided by Foster and Craig. Play straightened out and was faster and neater for a time, till Craig got the air for slashing, and McBrien followed when Oshawa had too many players on the ice. Near the close of the hard-fought period, Reid and Craig were gaited for roughing it.

Wade was waved to the cooler to start the second for tripping, and Cournyea had to be good. Fraser got it next for roughing and then Parnell for hooking. Play was rough and disjointed. A bit later the Colts tore in hard when McMaster climbed the wall for hooking. Shortly after, Parnell tallied a nice one on an assist from McDonald. Craig and Yourth roughed it up and got the official finger, with Williams following them in for butt-ending. Oshawa pressed hard but couldn't beat Ceaurnyea. Parnell was the next one penalized for tripping ear the close of the chapter.

Ganged Up

Oshawa ganged up to open the third and had an edge for a time. McMullen and Foster drew majors for fighting, and Parnell skirted defence fast to sink the disc deep in twine. Yourth took a pass from Reid and gave Cournyea no chance on his close-in shot. Wade missed the net on a fast breakaway, and Parnell was aired again for tripping. Oshawa pressed dangerously once more and when Foster went off—to leave the locals shy two—they buzzed like bees around the home cage. Craig fell on the puck and held it, giving Oshawa a penalty shot, McMullen scoring with a bullet drive. The teams returned to full strength for a moment and then Fraser was sent back for tripping. Craig counted on Foster's pass, and a minute later Berwick scored on an assist by Pammett. McMullen went off for hooking and Williams scored alone. Curtin went off for tripping just before the end.

The teams:

Oshawa: Goal, Phillips; defence, Fraser and Murphy; centre, McMaster; wings, McMullen and Peters; alternates, Daniels, Reid. Morris, Yourth and McBrien.

Colts: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Berwick and Parnell; centre, Wade; wings, Foster and McDonald; alternates, Williams, Craig, Pammett, Strickland and Curtin.

Referee, Peg Hurst of Oshawa.

Bruins Down Leafs In 2-0 Shutout Before 16,000 Boston Fans, While Amerks Tie Hawks 2-2

By Jack Calder
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

While Boston Bruins prance farther and farther ahead of the National Hockey League parade, some of the boys back in the ranks are stealing spectator interest in their battle for the league scoring championship.

There is no longer much doubt that the Bruins will win the league title. As Frank Brimsek scored his second shutout in a row and his ninth of the season, the league leaders defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0 at Boston last night. If they defeat the second-place Rangers at New York tomorrow, the Bruins will be 10 points up with only 14 games to play.

The long Boston-Toronto rivalry meant enough to bring out 16,000 fans for the teams' last meeting at the Hub during the schedule.

But general attention elsewhere was centered on New York, where the point-making leaders were in action when the Americans played to a 2-2 tie with Chicago Black Hawks.

The league's pacemaker, lean Johnny Gottselig, scored the Hawks' first goal, to stay a single point ahead of Tommy Anderson and Sweeney Schriner of the Americans, who acquired an assist apiece. All the leaders' points came in the first period and after each club scored once in the second, Gottselig and the two sniping stars of the spangled club tried vainly to do anything about the grim fight for individual honors.

Johnny Gottselig

If there is a leader in individuality in the Bruin lineup—now that the rest of the defence is playing close to the standard of Eddie Shore—that leader is Brimsek. The rookie goaltender scored two sequences of three shutouts earlier in the season and he's got two straight again.

Kraut Line Stars.

Co-starring with him against Toronto were the members of the Sauerkraut line from Kitchener, Ont., Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart, Bauer and Dumart aided Schmidt in bagging Bruins' first goal in the second period and before that chapter ended Dumart closed the scoring with the aid of Flash Hollett.

Milt Schmidt

There was a hint of the old Bruin-Leaf feuding in the first when Schmidt and Murph Chamberlain of the visitors fought and drew major penalties. Other players rushed to the scene but the free-for-all was soon quelled and the game ended peacefully, with a minor to Red Horner of the Leafs the only penalty the rest of the way.

There was only one penalty all night at New York. That, to Coach Paul Thompson of Chicago, paved the way for Schriner and Anderson to grab their points. They sent a relay to Eddie Wiseman for a goal after five minutes of play. Gottselig's score 10 minutes later with the aid of Joffre Desilets and Joe Cooper, playing his second game with Chicago since his purchase from the Rangers.

Hooley Smith sent Americans ahead midway through the second but in a minute Earl Robinson of the Hawks scored on Earl Robertson, back in the nets after a two-game absence through illness. While Robertson was away seven goals were scored against his club in each of its starts.

Britishers Bow To Trail In 4-0 Battle

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 8 — (C.P.). — Unscored upon in three starts in the world amateur hockey championship, Canada's Smoke Eaters from Trail, B.C., to-day awaited the second match in their pool semi-finals.

While the Allan Cup-holding Smoke Eaers were defeating Great Britain 4-0 yesterday in the first semi-final, the Germans and the Czechs played a 1-1 tie in the same round. When the German-Czech situation is cleared up, the Canadians will take on one of these two teams and Britain will play the other.

Canada scored eight goals in its opening game against the Netherlands, four against Poland and four against England, and in each instance has blanked its opponent.

The Smoke Eaters are defending the championship won last year by the Sudbury Wolves and the year before by Kimberley Dynamiters.

There was no scoring during the first two periods of the Canada-Great Britain game. In the last frame, however, Jimmie Morris and Mel Snowden each clicked on solo efforts, while Ab Cronie and Mike Brennan snagged passes and made them count.

In semi-final games in the other pool yesterday, the United States beat Hungary 3-0, and Switzerland trimmed Poland 4-0.

Fort William's Ski Meet Assured Snow

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 8—(CP).—Sufficient fine, sugary snow has fallen here in the past week to assure the major essential for success of the Dominion Men's ski championships Feb. 24, 25 and 26 at the Fort William ski club.

First official entries were filed Monday by Peter Vajda and Lewis Davis of Vancouver, but ski club officials anticipate an entry of more than 100. Winnipeg ski club will send a team of 12 and good representation from Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal is indicated.

Word was received yesterday that Reidar Anderson, Norwegian ace and holder of the world's record jump of 334 feet, will compete in the jumping, downhill and slalom events here. Only other event is the 18-kilometre cross-country.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Pete Winkler, manager-coach of Vancouver Westerns, Canadian champion basketball team, announced today arrangements have been completed for a team to make a playing tour of Japan this summer—first such tour by a Canadian hoop squad.

Winkler said 10 players and a manager and coach will leave sometime in June, under arrangements completed with the Japanese basketball association. They will remain in Japan about two months.

Tony Canzoneri Whips Pacho In Comeback Try

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8—(AP).—Tony Canzoneri fought here last night for the first time in five years. You could tell it was Tony by that funny wide mouth, black hair and a heart bigger than he is. But the resemblance seemed to end there.

The little Italian from New York outpointed Bobby Pacho, who has been fighting almost as long as Tony, in 10 rounds. Seven thousand fans turned out to see the ex-kingpin of the lightweights in his comeback tour.

Canzoneri weighed 140 pounds and Pacho scaled 147½.

Canzoneri's margin of victory by round was wide, but there was more interest and color behind the fight than in it. Tony was a great fighter, but that was in the years gone by.

The fans never used to get impatient when Tony was fighting. They never started reaching for their hats at the eighth round, or edging up the aisle in the ninth' like such inveterate fans as Jack Benny or George Raft did last night. They used to stay to the end.

Tony connected with four straight right smashes to Pacho's jaw in the 10th. His opponents used to drop by the first, second or third belt. Pacho was still around at the final bell.

CCF Demands

servations of the judge (Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada, who investigated the contract) and of the interdepartmental committee (created to pass on munition contracts) arouse grave doubts."

The contract was "improvident" and should be cancelled so that the government could start on a fresh basis its expenditure of the $63,000,000 to be voted this year for defence purposes.

Sharp personal attacks and bitter exchanges featured the debate as Conservatives pressed their demand for cancellation of the contract under which John Inglis Co. Limited of Toronto is to make 7,000 light machine guns for the government on a cost-plus basis.

M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F. Rosetown-Biggar) climaxed an attack on the government in regard to the contract with the declaration that Mr. Mackenzie should "no longer hold the position he now holds."

Other Probes Needed

Stating the C.C.F. position, Mr. Coldwell said many other transactions under the present Minister of National Defence should be investigated by the Public Accounts Committee. The Bren gun contract and the investigation already made threw suspicion on the whole defence administration and that suspicion would not be removed while Mr. Mackenzie and officers immediately under him continued in office.

Arthur Slaght (Lib. Parry Sound) described the whole Bren Gun controversy as a "Tory cabal to destroy the Minister of National Defence" and accused Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, of starting it for purely political, partisan purposes.

Mr. Slaght said the demand for cancellation of the contract originated with Col. Drew and was calculated to slow up the deliveries of guns to the British government at a time when they were badly needed.

Ernest Bertrand (Lib.-Montreal-Laurier) said the promoters of the Inglis Company would be much richer if the cost of the present debate was added to the cost of the Bren contract.

Few high officials enjoyed a better reputation throughout the country than Major General L. R. Lafleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence. It would take more than Col. Drew to break that reputation. General Lafleche had devoted himself to the service of Canada since 1914.

"It seems clear," he said, "that this attempt to discredit General Lafleche is due to the fact that Col. Drew and a certain species of Tories—there are some good Tories—cannot tolerate the fact that General Lafleche is the permanent head of a large spending department and yet of French extraction."

Filthy Stuff

"Oh nonense, nonsense. That is filthy stuff," said Dr. Manion.

Mr. Bertrand added Col. Drew was the same man who had said the French Canadians were a defeated race and enjoyed their rights through the toleration of the English Canadians.

Dr. Manion jumped to his feet and declared: "An attempt is being made to make this appear an attack on French-Canadians. My wife is a French-Canadian. I would be ashamed to make such and attack and I would not tolerate it. I think it is a filthy thing to make the statement the honorable gentleman is making."

In fairness to Col. Drew, Dr. Mannon added, it should be said he had many times denied making the statement attributed to him by Mr. Bertrand and his denial had been accepted.

According to speeches of opposition members, the only crime of Major Hahn and his associates was that they were promoters. It must be remembered, Mr. Bertrand said, that when Hahan's previous business ventures failed it was during the regime of a Conservative government.

"Where is the member of this House who has not sought contracts for his constituents?" Mr. Bertrand asked. He was confident the member for Toronto-Trinity would answer this phase of the argument later in the debate.

Attempts had been made to indicate machinery for making the guns was being given as a gift to the Inglis Company. "Nothing could be more cowardly false. The machinery remains property of the government. Such insinuations would not fool even the village half-wit."

It could be well said that Major Hahn was merely working for the government. There was adequate supervision and control and the government had virtual control and ownership of the plant so far as Bren guns were concerned.

Treason Money?

"Are we not entitled to say the meagre pay Col. Drew received for writing this article was treason money?" Mr. Bertrand read from a pamphlet entitled "Fascism in Canada—an Expose" by Fred Rose which said "The forces of reaction in Canada had supporters in high places" and declared Col. Drew was in alliance with Premier Hepburn of Ontario "to pave the way for Fascism in Canada."

"Is that the Fred Rose who is a Communist writer?" asked J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader.

"I know Fred Rose who wrote this book but I do not know if he is a Communist." Mr. Bertrand replied. "My honorable friend should not be asking—he should be telling me."

Karl Homuth (Con., Waterloo South) said Col. Drew's only motive was to do his part in putting Canadian defence on a business basis.

People Say Yes.

"I say yes; close the factory," he said. "The people of Canada say yes. And there are a lot of Liberal members in this House who wish this thing had never started."

If the defence of the Empire were raised as an argument "I say God help the Empire if it has to depend on some Bren guns that may be delivered in 24 or 36 months."

The Prime Minister was not told the truth about the Inglis contract. He was kept in the dark. Mr. Mackenzie King was one of a long line of Canadian Prime Ministers whose character was above reproach, but their followers were not always as careful of their actions as they should have been.

On the day the Davis report was handed to the press, 15 minutes later a synopsis of the report was given the press which came from the National Liberal office.

"If it came from there what right had they to know anything about the Bren gun report before the people of Canada?" he asked.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the report never got out of his possession until it was released.

The contract should be cancelled because of the financial set-up, said Mr. Homuth, to protect the investing public. Those interested were Major Hahn, a firm of brokers, and the Plaxton Brothers. Two of the Plaxton were practising lawyers in Toronto and received shares in tht Inglis Company. The other (Hugh) was a member of parliament.

"Two Plaxtons for profit and one Plaxton for patronage," he said.

No one had protested more against mergers, combines and watered stock than Liberal members, particularly those from Western Canada. Yet in this matter they were approving of stock watering. Had the Drew article not put a stop to the sale of shares at $7.50 each the purchases of those shares would have nothing for their investment after completion of the contract but the walls of an old factory. The government would own the machinery.

"This group (Hahn and associates) held 70 per cent of the company's treasury stock for nothing and agreed to buy the other 30 per cent in order to put money in the treasury to operate," said Mr. Homuth. "The government was going to buy the machinery. Who wouldn't take a large government contract with that set-up. I wish I could get two or three."

The company was organized to make munitions and there was nothing in the contract to say it could not use government-owned machinery to make munitions for a foreign power which might be a potential enemy of Canada.

Havelock W.I. Plans Peterborough Tour

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8. — "What would you do if you inherited a fortune" proved a stickler to many of the ladies present at the February meeting of the Havelock Branch Women's Institute held Monday afternoon in the council chamber, only a few replying to this roll-call.

There were 27 members present with Mrs. John Armstrong, the president, occupying the chair. Following the routine opening, the treasurer presented her report showing a bank balance of $65.85. The sick committee reported six calls during the past month.

"Current Events" by Mrs. H. W. Roche, was the first item on an interesting program conducted by Mrs. Charles Roberts.

D. F. Miller, B.A., local lawyer, was guest speaker of the afternoon, giving a fine address on the subject, "Legislature so far as it effects women." By request, Mr. Miller also described the proper method of drawing up a will.

A demonstration of needlecraft was given by Miss E. Wright, and Miss E. Roberts contributed a solo, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again."

The secertary was instructed to write the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce to arrange a tour of that city's manufacturing plants, for the local Institute some time during May.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Ross Brown, assisted by Mesdames Weese, Williams, Wright, and a social hour much enjoyed.

Lifeboat Goes Up In Flames As Crew Drowns

As a dramatic finale of a sea tragedy which constitutes an heroic chapter in British maritime history, the lifeboat of the St. Ives station goes up in flames off the rocky English coast after seven of its gallant crew of eight drowned while answering an SOS in a raging storm. The boat was dashed on the rocks after capsizing.

Millbrook's Y.P.A. Discusses Budgets

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Feb. 8.—Miss Jean L. Burnham was hostess for the executive meeting of the local Young Peoples' Union, which met at her home, King street centre, on Friday, at 8 p.m., with the president, Earl Edworthy, in the chair.

Phyllis Kidd led in the devotional period, Dorothy Smith reading the lesson; Mary Burnham, the worship poem; the leader gave the story on "Things to worship out loud," based on the story of Anthony Pue, and B. B. Dawson offering prayer. Gordon Migbt introduced the subject of budgeting, and after discussion it was decided to make each convener of a department a member of the committee. The matter of travelling expenses when other points have to be visited was also discussed, and it was decided that one dollar a car, to be paid in advance, be the charge, to Peterborough or points similarly distant, while for shorter distances the charge will be in proportion.

Each convener will plan the budget for his or her own committee, and the secretary, Leitha Edworthy, was instructed to write Rev. M. C. Parr of Peterborough, asking for his services in giving a lecture locally on February 28, or the following week, if more convenient to the speaker.

The resignation of Mr. Dawson as dramatic convener was regretfully accepted on motion of Jean Burnham and Eleanor Bigelow, and in his place Mary Burnham was appointed with Eleanor as assistant. During the social hour at the close the hostess assisted by her sister, served homemade candy, and the usual votes of thanks were passed before dispersal.

Dairy Cattle Breeders Ray Of Hope In Saving Of Agriculture

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP).—Adjustments in farm practices, which dairy catle breeders' organizations are helping to bring about, present "the one bright ray of hope in rescuing agriculture in Canada from its present deplorable condition," President S. G. Sims told the annual meeting of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada here today.

"To the extent that dairy farming develops and prospers in Canada, to that extent will we succeed in placing farm practice on a sounder basis," said the Stonewall, Man., dairy farmer. "Depletion of soil fertility, impairment of the physical condition of our soil and consequent soil drying, branching out from the one-crop system in the West with its attendant problems of rust, hail and root-rot, are all present-day problems in agriculture."

A change in existing farm practices from "doubtful revenue over a year "to a plan of weekly revenue was needed," said Mr. Sims, in a review of the past year's activities of the association. Trade with the United States had been encouraging, about 6,000 pure-bred Holsteins having passed the necessary tests for that market.

Britain Needs Cows.

Great Britain needed large numbers of cows and heifers for replacement of cattle condemned in the process of wiping out bovine tuberculosis and Bang's disease and the president said Canada is the most accessible source of supply. Shipments already made had proved satisfactory and the outlook for Holstein-Friesian breeders was more cheerful."

The "consistent refusal" of the British Friesian Society to accept the Canadian Association pedigrees, "despite the fact that our standard of registration is higher than theirs," was a factor that has an adverse effect on the price of Canadian cattle, said Mr. Sims, adding:

"In view of the antagonistic attitude of the British Friesian Society, it would appear that the only solution would be the formation of an association in England for the registration of Canadian Holsteins. There are enough breeders and cattle over here now to justify the formation of an organization.

"Some of the leaders have already expressed their desire to make the necessary arrangements at once. I feel that our extension department would be well advised to give early and definite assistance to such a movement."

Record For Tully.

The president congratulated eight breeders whose cattle broke 10 milk records and 10 butterfat records in the Canadian record of performance during the past year. They were Osborne Sager, St. George, Ont.; Douglast Hart, Woodstock, Ont.; Elliott Brothers, Woodstock; T. R. Dent, Woodstock; Alex. McKinney, Jr., Brampton Ont.; J. T. Tuly, Peterborough, Ont.; R. Ray McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont., and Colony Farm, Essondale, B.C.

Secretary-Treasurer George M. Clemons, Brantford, Ont., reported registration of 31,000 animals during the year. Sales showed a slight increase and the total qualifying in R.O.P. reached a new high at 4,204, a gain of six per cent during the year. The Association membership rose from 5,618 to 5,838, of whom 2 741 are in Western Ontario.

Millbrook L.A. Picks New Group Leaders

MILLBROOK, Feb. 8. — Grace Presbyterian Ladies' Aid met for its initial gathering of the year, on Wednesday, Mrs. Z. Seaton being hostess for the occasion, and the president, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, occupying the chair.

An impressive 'In Memoriam' service for the late Mrs. R. J. McKnight, for three years a president of the organization, was the opening feature, the president reading the hymn, "The Saints of God," after mentioning in details the splendid service the recently-deceased member had given the society. All stood for a two-minute silence, and Miss Agnes Johnston offered prayer.

The program committee included the hostess and Mrs. M. Kinsman, Ruth Thorndyke presiding at the piano; Vanita Ingram sang. The matter of a new treasurer was taken up, the former officer, Miss Jean Syer, asking to be relieved of her duties owing to illness in her family. Miss Mina Gibson was elected to this office after a hearty vote of thanks had been tendered Miss Syer for her efficient service.

The new group leaders were named, Miss J. Syer, Mrs. H. A. Kerr, Mrs. L. Ingram, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard; and Miss Mina Gibson. At the next meeting all members' names will be placed in a container and the leaders will draw in turn, until each has her committee complete. The roll was answered with "Some suggestions for raising money in 1939," hostess teas, pot luck suppers, surprise box, a tea kettle in which, through a hole in the lid, members might drop donations in lieu of taking refreshments; holiday cards were some of the ways mentioned.

Property committees were named, Mrs. R. J. McMahon for the church linen; Ruth Thorndyke and Vanita Ingram for the tea spoons; visiting committee for the next three months: Mrs. A. S. Hall for the east of the village, and Mrs. H. C. Lord for the west. The usual St. Patrick's Day supper will be held on March 16, and the program committee for the March meeting, which will be at Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke's, is Mrs. H. A. Kerr, and Miss Vanita Ingram. After the Mizpah benediction, the president announced that the group having the largest attendance during 1938 for which she had promised a box of chocolates, was that headed by the late Mrs. McKnight. Mrs. Kerr received the award for the group, while all stood out of respect for the useful member recently called by death. Mrs. Thompson is offering a similar reward again this year.

No Reno Divorce For Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 8.—(CP Cable).—Chief Justice Sir Orme Rowan of Bermuda gave it as his opinion Monday that English law would not recognize a Reno divorce and such a divorce was void.

Referring in an address at the opening of the Hiliary Assizes to persons domiciled in Bermuda going to the Western United States city for a divorce, he said: "The law of England in my opinion won't recognize such a divorce and the divorce in my opinion is null and void.

"I hope in the near future you will be wise enough to allow a divorce bill to be produced here and to pass through both houses," he continued. "We live in 1939 and not in the days of Luther and Cromwell or any other period. We must move with the times."

While warning divorces here should not be like Reno, he said: "We must look upon marriage as not being entirely insoluble."

MILLBROOK, Feb. 8.—Mrs. J. Russell Smith extended the hospitality of her home, Bank street, for the weekly gathering of the Stitch Craft Club, which met on Saturday at 2 p.m., with the press secretary, Dorothy Smith, in the chair, in the unavoidable absence of the president, Ruby Fallis.

Bedspreads and waste paper baskets were also included in the study.

Double Stabbing In Toronto

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP).—Ernest Larawa, 26, faced to-day one charge of attempted murder and another of occasioning grievous bodily harm as the aftermath of a stabbing affray that sent two persons to hospital, one of them in serious condition.

Lawara was charged after his cousin, Mrs. Violet Rutland, 24, and William Bart, 23, had been stabbed in the Rutland home on Greenwood avenue. Mrs. Rutland was cut about the hands and Bart suffered two wounds, one in the chest above the heart and the other in the stomach.

Mrs Rutland and Bart were rushed to hospital immediately after the stabbing and after emergency operations the condition of Bart was reported as serious while Mrs. Rutland was in "fairly good" condition.

339 Requests Made For Dental Service

Completion of a dental survey in the public schools of the city reveals that in the three last schools to be covered, there were 339 requests for school dental service, and of the lot, 76 were refused. The 263 other applications were approved only after being carefully examined, and where it was found the parents were financially unable to look after the work themselves.

In Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra and Prince of Wales Schools there were a total of 22 parents who refused to take action in accordance with the dental work suggested by the survey. In these three schools the family dentist took care of 245 children and most of the others have promised action.

School Inspector Keith Wightman, in his annual report, sets forth that the situation revealed by the follow-up campaign, has emphasized the inadequacy of our present dental service, if it is intended to include all who need it. In the six public schools a total of 586 requests for free dental service were approved, and at the end of January, King Edward School only had been completed by the school doctor. It will be quite impossible for him to finish before June. Mr. Wightman says if the work is not completed by June, school officials will probably encounter difficulty next year in securing the co-operation of the parents in filling out the cards.

In suggesting a solution to the problem, Mr. Wightman puts forward two plans. One is the appointment of a full time dentist and the other an arrangement with the Dental Association for its members to handle the work at a set rate.

Home Tuition

D. H. G. Melton, chairman of the Supervision Committee, presented a report at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night, dealing with tuition to pupils who are ill and will be away from school for some little time. Inspector Wightman was authorized to arrange for this teaching subject to the the family doctor's approval and the service is not to cost more than $3 a week per pupil. At the present time only two children fall into the category of being eligible.

Dr. McPherson, school doctor, and the two school nurses in their reports, show nothing unusual in the health of the classes, there being no scarlet fever nor other serious ailments.

The driver was unhurt and the car escaped lightly in view of the nature of the mishap. Provincial Constable Gordon E. Broughton investigated the accident.

Bulldozer Pushes Out Rock Of 20 Tons

Approximately 80 men are working at top speed these days on the Buckhorn-Bobcaygeon road, drilling and blasting through solid rock to lay the new highway.

Drillers, mechanics, steam shovel and tractor men, and jack-hammer workers, comprise most of the staff, and as yet no laborers have been hired. That phase of the work will come later, when drilling is more advanced. One difficult piece of work going on is the blasting through a solid wall of rock in the path of the highway. Some idea of the difficulty facing workers can be gained from the fact that one piece of rock pushed out by a "bulldozer." It weighed twenty tons.

Woman Puts Out Fire.

Prompt action on the part of Mrs. Wessell, an aged woman residing at Norland, averted the destriction by fire of Forest Echo Lodge at Moore's Falls. Mrs. Wessells is living at the lodge for the winter and on Monday she dicovered fire between the ceiling of the chimney and upper floor. The upper apartments were full of smoke, and unaided she used an axe and hammer to make a hole sufficient to battle the flames. She also telephoned Norland for help, but by the time car-loads of villagers arrived she had subdued the fire.

Among those coming are Donald Gilchrist, member of the Canadian championship four for 1939, and a runner-up for the Canadian men's singles event, as well as a member of the four-member team that captured the Connaught Cup in the North American championships for this year; Miss Margaret Leslie, former junior Canadian champion; J. Alexander McKechnie, junior Canadian singles champion this year and a member of the current Canadian championship four-man team, as well as a member of the Connaught cup-winning team.

Miss Teresa McCarthy will also be featured. She is the junior Canadian ladies' champion this year. With her will be two outstanding skaters, Ruth Hall and Gillien Watson.

One of Canada's distinguished women skaters, Miss Norah McCarthy, will also be here. She was junior Canadian ladies champion in 1938, senior pair champion with another for this year, runner-up this year for the Canadian ladies' title and for the North American pair title.

Miss Gillien Watson is a member of the Canadian championship fours this year, which team was runner-up for the North American title and won the Connaught Cup.

Ralph McCreathy and Nora McCarthy, pairs champions for all Canada, and runners-up for the North American title, will be here.

Indeed the entire list of skaters is one of exceptional quality. Every man and women who will appear on the ice is widely known throughout the entire continent as an accomplished skater.

Musician Talks On British Isles

With an artistically devised musical travelogue, Harold Eustace Key, conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir of Montreal delighted his audience at St. Andrew's United Church last evening. Mr. Key calls his travelogue "The Dear Homeland" after an old popular song of that name, and has used the melody of the song as a theme for the musical accompaniment which he gives to the natural color motion pictures of old country scenes.

The program opened with views "From Wolfe's Cove to Wolfe's Home" showing Wolfe's Troops storming the heights of Quebec under cover of night, then, in the same spot, now known as Wolfe's Cove, the flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet, the "Empress of Britain" lying at her berth. Other views of the ship and references to the voyage to Cherbourg and Southampton lead up to scenes in the early home of Wolfe at Westerham, Kent, the Statue on the Village Green, the House and room in which he was born, and the Vicar of Westerham digging out 170 lbs. of soil from his garden to be sent to Canada for the base of Wolfe's Monument at Quebec. Other still views included London, and pictures of their Majesties the King and Queen, and up river scenes on the Thames.

Songs representative of England, Scotland and Ireland and Wales were sung by the audience under the leadership of Mr. Key, the final motion picture "Where twines the Path" covering the Trossachs and other Scottish scenes, concluding with an impressive picture of the liner "Duchess of Bedford" heading down the Clyde for the voyage to Canada.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. Dr. Young.

Ken Weldon, Long Distance Jumping Champ Of Cedar Springs Ski Club, Near Guelph

The next time a total stranger shows up at the Cedar Srpings ski club and wants to become a member on the day of their annual jumping competition, skiers there will probably hesitate in view of the lesson they learned last Saturday at the hands of Ken Weldon of Peterborough.

An ardent and accomplished skiler, although he had never taken a jump, Ken was passing through Cedar Springs—between Hamilton and Guelph—when he first noticed the ski jump there. He took his skis from the car, donned suitable clothes and decided to do a little skiing. Then he found out that the club was holding its annual jumping competition, for club championships.

The jump was much smaller than the one at Nassau, is known as a Class "C" jump, whereas Peterborough's is Class "A". Ken had never jumped before, but he thought this was a good opportunity to do so. He took a couple of practice jumps, found the going easy.

Then he decided to enter competition. He found the club secretary and paid his fee to become a member of the club on the spot. Membership entitled him to enter competition. He did so, and won the distance event. So now Ken Weldon, of Peterborough, is long distance jumping champion of Cedar Springs Ski club and this afternoon he's going to try out the jump at Nassau. Who knows? —the Ontario championships are here on Saturday and he's following the same procedure that he did in Cedar Springs.

Apsley Pioneer Henry White Is Laid To Rest

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Feb. 8.—The funeral of the late Henry White was held from his home near Apsley to St. George's Anglican Church on Monday at 2 p.m. The Rev. F. McMulken and Rev. C. A. G. Spence officiated. Two hymns were sung, great favorites of the deceased, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." The Rev. F. McMulken preached the sermon and Rev. C. A. G. Spence paid a few touching words, a tribute to the long and faithful service given to St. George's Church by Mr. White. He had been church warden for more years than was known, being a member of the old church of St. George's before the present church was built, and is the last of the pioneer worshippers at the present time.

Born In Brockville.

Henry White was born in Brockville in 1853, some of his ancestors having come to this country in the "Mayflower." He came to this locality when a young man of 17. He married Miss Evelyn Ayling, daughter of Mrs. Georgina Ayling, 47 years ago. Canon Harding, pioneer missioner of St. George's Mission, performed the marriage service. Their only son, Lionel White, went overseas with the 93rd Battalion and was killed in action in the fall of 1917. Four brothers and two sisters predeceased him. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his sorrowing wife, one sister, Mrs. Bailey of Colorado; Mrs. Joe White, sister-in-law, and her daughter, Violet; Miss Alma Toms, niece, and G. Brenton, nephew, all of Toronto.

The bearers were all friends and neighbors of the deceased: Wellington Lean, Norman Lean, James Downing, Stanley Windsor, Norman James and Hubert James.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received and many friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to one so well-known and highly respected.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mrs. Joe White and daughter, Miss Violet White, Miss Alma Toms, and G. Brenton, all of Toronto.

CAMPBELLFORD

Box Social Planned By Church Y.P.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 8 — St. Andrew's Young People's Society will hold an open meeting, which will take the form of a box social and program, in place of their regular meeting next Monday, it was arranged at their weekly gathering on Monday. The president, Mrs. P. H. McMillan, presided for the meeting.

Arrangements were also made concerning the portion of the program which the organization would contribute at the conference being held in Peterborough on February 25 and 26. Miss Helen Meiklejohn was appointed to head the program committee.

St. John's Y.P.U.

Following a sleigh ride, members of St. John's Young People's Union, held a social evening and program in the Sunday School parlors of the church on Monday evening. Miss Mae Stotts took charge of the program, which opened with a brief worship service, which was designed to emphasize the value of prayer. Rev. Harld B. Neal dealt with the subject in an interesting manner, stressing the helpful part that prayer plays in daily life. Emphasizing the necessity of prayer, Mr. Neal left members with the question: "Where is the person's mind during prayer?"

During the business period it was decided to extend an invitation to members of the English Line Group to be present at a joint meeting and program during the latter part of February. Other items on the program included a reading by Miss Mary Murphy; vocal solo, Marguerite McComb and a quiz contest conducted by Miss Dorothy Henson.

Historic Link Cut

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—A link with the historic past was severed by the week-end death of Mrs. Lidia Brant at her home on the Six Nations reservation near Hagersville. Mrs. Brant was the widow of Robert D. Brant, direct descendant of Capt. Joseph Brant, famous Indian warrior and administrator.

She was also the mother of Lieut. Cameron Brant, first Brant county soldier to be killed in the Great War, and Mrs. Wiblur Montour, well-known lecturer on Indian history and lore.

Child Welfare Clinic

A Child Welfare Clinic, previously known as The Well Babies' Clinic, will meet on Friday, February 10th, 1939, from 2.00 to 5.00 p.m., in the Department of Health offices, 137 Simcoe Street, and thereafter each Friday afternoon. This service will be temporary until further arrangements for the Clinic program are completed. It is requested that only infants under one year of age be brought at present.

Tax Rate Got Lost In News Shuffle Of Monday's Meeting

"DID THE TAX RATE get lost in the news shuffle of Monday night's meeting of the council?" some one asked today, and that was just about what happened. The estimates had all been so thoroughly discussed and prepared that the formal adoption of the 35 mill rate by bylaw became a mere parting gesture, an afterthought, an official sealing of the documents that had been written.

And so the major item of business at least for the first period of the council's year was overshadowed by the Nicholls Hospital deputation and other business that was new. As for the tax rate nothing more could be done with it unless to bring it back and upset everything to effect a reduction. Having made up its collective mind that the 35 mill rate would snugly provide for the year's municipal requirements the council simply went through the customary motions of delivering the bylaw into the hands of the city's tax collector, S. A. Couper, with the tacit order to go ahead and do his stuff. And that is what Mr. Couper will proceed to do, graciously and pleasantly smiling as usual, and willing to meet folks half way, if necessary.

Driver's License Suspended For Two Months

Pleading guilty in police court this morning to a charge of reckless driving on George Street on February 1, John Carey was fined $25 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley. In addition, Carey's driving license was suspended by the magistrate for two months.

When the case was called this morning Carey, after pleading guilty, asked for an adjournment and was remanded until Friday morning in order to give his counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair, an opportunity to speak in his behalf. Later, however, the accused asked that the case be disposed of this morning and, accordingly, after hearing Carey and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., Magistrate Langley imposed sentence.

The Crown Attorney informed the court that Carey had been driving down George Street at a fast rate of speed and had crashed into the rear of another car at Lake Street. The girl who was with him had been injured when her head shattered the windshield. Carey, Mr. McElderry said, had left the scene of the accident and had not reported to the police until 3 o'clock the following morning.

There was some evidence of liquor in the car.

Carey said that the road was slippery and that when the car in front of him had turned suddenly he had been unable to avoid hitting it.

"Well, you've pleaded guilty to recklessness," Magistrate Langley pointed out, before imposing sentence.

Masons Are Planning Mid-Winter Picnic

A Masonic mid-winter picnic that that will be bigger than ever before is being planned for Thursday, March 2. Bowling, billiards, bridge, volleyball, and other games, in addition to swimming, will be among the activities that will crowd the evening.

A committee has been appointed to prepare for the monster entertainment, and it has been decided to extend invitations to members of Masonic lodges outside the city. Executive members are anticipating one of the largest crowds ever to attend the popular event.

Chairman of committees were appointed as follows: D. Grant, bowling; R. G. Maniece, billiards; Charles H. Elliott, bridge; S. G. Payne, volleyball; A. B. Rhodes, games; J. G. Wharry, prizes; G. H. Roper, swimming.

The entire facilities of the Y.M.-C.A. have been placed at the disposal of the Masonic order for the occasion.

Business Men Planning Aquatic Meet

A nineteen mile canoe marathon for teams of two men or women from Rice Lake up the Otonabee River to the George street wharf is among the events being discussed by the Peterborough Business Men's Association as part of a mammoth aquatic meet suggested for July 1st of this year.

At a meeting of the association held in the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening it was suggested that a Canadian Canoe Meet might be arranged for the first public holiday in the summer season, and enlarged to include all forms of water sports, including canoe sailing over a three cornered course on Little Lake, swimming, tilting, and war canoe racing. The canoe marathon upstream over a nineteen mile stretch would attract the best paddlers from all parts of Ontario, and would bring the Indian guides and paddlers from every section of Eastern Ontario.

Canoe championships which are believed could be arranged for under the supervision of the Canadian Canoe Association in the city which make canoes famous the world over, would be run off directly opposite the curving shore of Crescent street which has accommodation for close to 8,000 people.

Ray Bacon, Herb. Jamison and T. L. Ashton were named a committee to investigate the possibilities and advisibility of arranging such a program.

Uniform Open Season

Discussion on the open season for bass and lunge resulted in a motion being passed and supported unanimously that the season in this district be the same as that in every section south of the French and Mattawa Rivers regardless of when the open date was. The members felt this uniformity in the open date was essential if the merchants, resort owners and the general public were to get the most benefit from it. A letter will be sent to Alex. L. Elliott, M.P.P. advising him of the resolution.

Closing Wednesdays

After considerable discussion on the point, the members went on record as approving the closing of all stores on Wednesday afternoons for four months this year instead of three months as formerly. This applies only to the stores which formerly followed the rule of closing every Wednesday during June, July and August, but this year September closing will also be observed.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time, though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds, belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyre, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning. The chief of police continues his interrogation of all those at the Manor when the two deaths occurred. Elsie, Benson and McIntyre discuss the possible suspects. No trace of poison is found in the body of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Jr.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

THE EVENING seemed endless. The hours dragged themselves out like so many centuries. But at last the clock on my bed table chimed twelve and I removed my shoes and crept to the window. The silence of the house and of the night sent the cold chills racing up and down my spine. There was no moon in the sky and, so far as I could see, no lights reflected from the windows of the Manor. Every one in the house was sleeping.

Presently I heard a sound below. Someone was coming up the drive. Cautiously I raised my window.

"Pst!"

"Phil?"

"O. K."

"Wait!" I said.

It was a long way from my room to the kitchen. I had to move slowly. My heart was in my mouth. At any moment a door might open and I would be discovered. I thanked Heavens for the thick carpets and the padded stairs.

At last, however, I reached the lower landing. I sighed in relief and leaned heavily against the wall. I was trembling like a leaf.

The thought of Phil waiting for me on the back steps spurred me on. I passed through the pantries and into the kitchen. All was still, utterly still! I turned the key in the lock and unlatched the door. Phil stepped quickly inside.

"Everything all right, baby?"

"I—I guess so," I stuttered, and caught hold of his arm. After a moment I felt better. "Follow me," I whispered, and led the way back upstairs.

"We'll go through the connecting door," I told him. "I'll leave it open in case we have to retreat in a hurry."

"Good girl! I have a pocket flash we can use later."

"Forward march!" I said, trying not to act as frightened as I felt.

In the salon Phil paused in the lobby. "Lead the way to the anteroom, Elsie. I want to have another look at the driers."

"This way." I pushed aside the curtains and closed them tightly behind us. "You can flash your light now."

"There—that's better!" he exclaimed when the tiny circle of light pierced the darkness. "Now for the driers. Hold the flash!"

"Someone has straightened the place," I observed, blinking my eyes. "Everything is in apple pie order."

Phil made no reply. He was bending over the driers.

"Which one was it, Elsie?"

"The second one; the others are out of order."

"The second — what did you say?" He whirled around and regarded me excitedly.

"I said the other driers were out of order!" I repeated.

"Since when?"

"Since the day of the ball."

"They were broken when the old lady died?"

"Yes."

"So!" He whistled beneath his breath. "So, I'm not all wet! The driers have something to do with it!"

"Oh!" I began to understand what he was driving at. "You think someone deliberately jimmied them?"

"Nothing else!" He sounded elated. "Hold the light over here while I take a good look at drier number two!" He raised the hood and I moved closer to him. At first glance drier number two differed in no wise from its companions on the pole. Just a crocklike contraption with air holes punched into it and a strip attached.

Phil, however, was not satisfied with a first glance or a second. He went over that drier like with a fine-tooth comb.

"Damn!" After a long time he straightened and stretched himself wearily. "I can't find a thing—not one thing!"

"I'm sorry," I began — "why, what's that bit of white there inside the hood?"

"Bit of white! Where?"

"There at the crown!" I flashed the light inside. "See! It looks like adhesive—"

"By Jove, Elsie!" He ran his fingers over the spot. "I believe you're right! It is adhesive and there was another piece, too! It's all gummy here a couple of inches further over, the way it is when you pull off tape and it leaves a sticky mark!"

"I see," I said and I did. And I felt, too, but did not understand why he was so excited. You can not kill a person with adhesive.

"Think a minute, girl! You use adhesive to paste with, don't you? Now a strip here, and a strip there a few inches apart, shows that each piece was fastened on to hold something to the crown of the drier."

"Some sort of poison you mean?"

"Sure! Get it?"

"I get it. But what do you suppose it was?"

He grinned. "Poisons aren't my specialty, honey, but you can be darned sure it was something deadly and something deadly quick!"

"Oh! And Phil, if you can prove the murder was done this way Didmore will have to change his verdict, won't he?"

"He will that!"

"But how will you prove it?"

He frowned momentarily. "Search me, gal! Looks like I'll have to include Chief Ellis or McIntyre in our detective twosome. What I know about poisons you could put in your hat!"

"Then—" I was about to continue when something, a sort of sixth sense, flashed a danger signal to my brain. Quickly I shut off the light and slipped it into my apron pocket. Someone was entering the salon by the main entrance. To his everlasting credit Phil remained silent.

"Quick!" I whisked him through the curtains into the adjoining compartment.

For an eternity we stood scarce-daring to breathe. There was no sound from the lobby and yet—yet I knew I had not been mistaken. We were not alone!

Now a sound like silk rubbed against silk reached our ears. Then a scratching noise. A tiny flame lighted the darkness. I saw the glow dimly through the drawn curtains.

Cautiously I parted the curtains ever so little. Daphne Witherspoon, in flowing negligee, stood starkly revealed in the flickering flare of the match light.

The match burned to her fingertips and went out. She did not light another, but moved like a cat in the night's blackness toward the second anteroom. The second anteroom! What did she want in the second anteroom?

For a long time we heard nothing. What the girl was doing she did quietly. Then as suddenly as she came she departed. When the door had closed behind her I exhaled loudly.

"Sh!" Phil clapped his hand to my mouth. "She may come back."

I sought his hand and clung to it. The palm was hot and moist, my own cold and clammy.

"O. K.," he said finally. "You can talk now."

I opened my mouth and closed it again. There was strangely nothing to say.

"Give me the light, Elsie!"

I pulled it from my pocket. He pressed the button and I saw that his forehead was bathed in perspiration.

"Why, what's that?" he said, and I followed his gaze downward. A tiny crumpled piece of white paper fluttered through the air and dropped to the floor at my feet.

"It's nothing." I stooped and picked it up. "A piece of paper I found in the booth and put in my pocket, I must have pulled it out with the flash." I rolled it between my fingers.

"Paper?" Some of the eagerness returned to his voice. "Where did you say you found it?"

"In the next booth on the floor."

"In the next booth!" His fingers prying at mine hurt. "My God, girl!" he exploded. "Don't you realize this is what we've been looking for?"

I protested: "You didn't tell me it was paper you wanted. Besides, I found that the other day when I was looking for the emeralds."

"Never mind!" he said curtly. "come along!" He parted the curtains. "Get busy! If I'm as right as I think I am there should be another of these tissues around somewhere!"

"Very well," I said coldly. I got down on my hands and knees. He need not act as if I had committed a major offense. I was no mind reader. How was I to know a crumpled cigaret tissue was of any value?

"Where, exactly, did you find this?" he demanded, unaware of my injured feelings.

"There—by the chair—the one with the fringe."

"Humph! Blown there when you raised the hood, I'll warrant." He overturned the chair and searched beneath it. "Nothing here! Guess we're too late." He scrambled to his feet and smoothed the tissue I had found.

"Look! Look at the corner! A shred of adhesive!" He held it to the light and I saw clinging to it a minute thread of something that might have been adhesive. "Elsie, who had access to the salon immediately following the old lady's death?"

I thought for a moment. "Eliza and Mrs. Greely and Mr. Horace."

"So—" he muttered abstractedly, and held the bit of paper to his nose. "Smell anything peculiar?" He thrust it at me.

My nostrils quivered. "Bitter almond," I said instantly. "It makes me sneeze."

Many Married People Declare They Would Never Rush To The Altar a Second Time, Yet Statistics Show That They Lose Little Time In Getting New Mates

IF YOU had to do it over again, would you marry? If you were free and untrammeled to kick up your heels and roam wheresoe'er you pleased, would you stick your neck again in the domestic yolk?

All of the disgruntled husbands and wives would answer with a loud and emphatic NO, and even the happily married would look a little doubtful. For the Holy Estate never comes up to what it was press-agented to be, and even the most devoted Darby and Joan have their moments of wondering what made them do it and wishing they hadn't.

Probably there isn't a married man alive who hasn't sighed for the good old times when he had no ball and chain about his feet; when he could come and go as he pleased without having to furnish an ironclad alibi for every moment he was away from his keeper; when he could stay downtown of an evening to play poker without having to perjure his soul by telling lies about a buyer from Oshkosh; when he didn't have a critic on the hearth who kept him reminded of all his faults and shortcomings, and when he could spend his money on fishing trips and What the Well-Dressed Gentleman is wearing, instead of sterilized milk for the baby and having little Johnny's adenoids out, and permanent waves and chiffon frocks.

And assuredly there isn't a married woman who hasn't at some time cast envious eyes at a bachelor girl who had espoused a career instead of a man; who had her own pocketbook and her latchkey; who didn't have to ask any husband for a new hat, or explain what she did with the quarter he gave her week before last; who was free to roam over the world instead of being tied down at home by babies, and who could keep her good looks and her youth because she didn't have anybody to worry over but herself.

Undoubtedly the majority of married people are sure in their own hearts that they would never marry again if they were free. But they would, as is proved by the fact that nearly all widows and widowers marry again as soon as they decently can after they lose the former incumbents of their hearts and homes. Even the divorced rush back into matrimony, though you would think they would be the burnt children who would forever afterward be afraid of the fire.

For with all of its drawbacks, marriage does something to people that seems to make it impossible for them to live alone and like it. Maybe it is because they find that the lost freedom for which they pined means nothing but lonesomeness. They can come and go as they please because nobody cares what they do, or whether they ever come back. Maybe it is because the men who have resented their wives' nagging have forgotten how to take care of themselves and are as bewildered as a lost dog without its master.

Maybe it is because women find when they lose their husbands they have lost their card of admission to good times and are relegated to the outer zones with the other superfluous women with whom no one wants to bother themselves. Maybe it is because a house without a man in it isn't a home, no matter how many tidies you hang on the chair, and there is no sense in getting up a good dinner that you've got to eat alone. Maybe both men and women miss somebody to quarrel with when they lose their mates and so they rush back into marriage. Anyway, they do it, no matter how much they think that wild horses couldn't drag them again to the altar.

Furthermore, most married people think that if they had a second choice of picking out a wife or husband they would choose some one very different from the one they have. The man who has been married to a sloppy housekeeper is certain he would pick out a good cook. The one who has been united to a doctor's bill is sure he would look out for a healthy, husky girl. The henpecked man just knows he would seek Patient Griselda.

The wife of the Tired Business Man would look for a poet who was all soul instead of all stock market. The wife of the poet who would choose a man who could feed her on caviar instead of sonnets. And so on and so on. But this isn't true. Statistics show that the qualities that attracted men and women to each other in their first marriages still attract them and that their second husbands and wives are more or less replicas of their first.

So there you are, and why and how we marry is one of the questions to which no one knows the answer. It seems to be one of the things that we are likely to regret if we do and still more likely to regret if we don't.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, February 9.

The planetary configurations for this day denote some rather conflicting situations. There should be a great deal in the way of social, domestic, or affectional gratification but at the same time there may be a sudden visitation that will prove disagreeable and upsetting to plans and desires. This disturbance might be due to a critical, captious and erratic state of mind. Wise counsel of an influential friend may be recommended to adjust difficulties.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and eventful year. Although the private affairs—domestic, social, and sentimental—may bring happy adventures, there also is a hint of a sudden upset or disturbance that will interrupt the smooth running of a joyous state of affairs. This might be due to a rather critical, eccentric or singular state of mind and might be restored to peace and harmony by the advice of a faithful and influential friend or a trustworthy elder.

A child born on this day may be energetic, adventurous, and ambitious, with unusual mentality and critical faculties. It should be kindly, sympathetic, and affectionate, and have much cultural grace.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

Hanid and Knarf were quite surprised the other morning to hear their friend, Sparrow, chirping on the window-still in the children's room. They hadn't seen sight or sign of him for several days.

"Good-morning, Sparrow!" they said to him. "Where have you been all these days? Why haven't you come for your crumbs on the window sill?"

"Chirp," answered the sparrow brightly. "I've found a very good place to get fed every day. It's in the park. A very nice old lady comes with more than any of us can eat."

The two shadow-children wanted to know more about the park that Sparrow had found, and more about the very nice old lady.

"Well," said Sparrow, as he hopped to a comfortable place on the edge of the window-sill, "it all came about in this way: I was flying about two or three mornings ago, when all at once I saw a large field with trees and bushes and flowerbeds. Of course, nothing was green or growing, for it was much too cold. But it looked like the country just the same."

"Where have you been?"

"And was that the park?"

Sparrow nodded. "That's exactly what it was. So I flew down. And there, under one of the trees, I came upon a whole family of pigeons were And with the family of pigeons were two or three squirrels. But everybody looked very sad. 'What's the matter?' I asked. 'Matter?' they replied. 'Can't you see? We're all hungry.'"

"What a shame!" the two shadows exclaimed.

"Yes, it was really a shame. And to make it more of a shame, I was just as hungry as they were. 'And isn't there any food to find in this big park?' I asked them. 'No,' they said. "But once a day a little old lady comes to see us. She takes something out of her pocket and tosses it at us. But we pigeons just fly away. And the squirrels dash up a tree. We all get very frightened."

"My goodness! What a silly thing to do! That little old lady didn't mean to frighten them!"

He Was Brave.

"Of course not," said Sparrow. "Well, just at that moment she came along. And, sure enough, she tossed something at us. The others all rushed away. But not me. I hopped right up to the little old lady. And what do you think? She had a whole handful of crumbs, the nicest, freshest, sweetest crumbs in the world. And when the others saw me eating, they came over, too. And—oh! how happy and full we all were after that! And—and this is the best part of the story. The little old lady was happy, too. She smiled at us and said: "Now I know you're not afraid of me an more. And it's all because of that dear little sparrow. Now was that nice of her to call me dear?"

"It certainly was!" the shadows agreed.

And with that the sparrow flew off again. "She's coming back today. I must be there to say hello to her," he chirped as he flew off. "Good-bye....good-bye...."

Looking Back
On This Date

Sixty years ago this evening old Quebec saw a dream of long years realized, a railway on the north shore of the St. Lawrence from Quebec to Montreal completed. It had been a long wait, but the event had come at last, so the citizens turned out in their thousands, with torchlight processions, and bands and multi-colored snowshoers to welcome the first train from Montreal over the Quebec, Montreal and Occidental Railway.

The high sounding name was a bequest from Sir George Simpson, the great governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who lived at Lachine, and who had been put at the head of a "paper company" to build a railway in opposition to the Grand Trunk's line on the south shore. That desire of Quebec had been manifested from 1852 in many public meetings, at which, to quote a Quebec historian: "There was much talk, but no practical aid." Simpson died in 1860. All that remained was the grand name, a charter and an empty treasury.

Years dragged on, federal and provincial subsidies were offered, but no new company would take the risk of antagonizing the Grand Trunk, then all powerful, with George Cartier as its Quebec apostle. There things remained until Cartier launched the C.P.R. bill in Parliament. Then new fields of rich political plundering opened up. And so it was that the provincial government decided to undertake the railway, Quebec to Montreal, as a governmental enterprise, to be honestly built and honestly managed. On July 18, 1872, the first sod on the railway was turned at Quebec by Madame Joly, and Bishop Taschereau (afterward Cardinal Archbishop) in an elaborate ceremony, gave the enterprise his episcopal blessing. Construction was slow; it took over five years before the first train was run to Three Rivers; and not until Feb. 8, 1879, that trains were run from Montreal to Quebec and vice versa.

Eventually, the O.M. and O. railway was sold to the C.P.R. as part of a political deal.

A Help To Those Past Middle Age

When men and women get past middle age their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and, here and there, evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Now is the time when those who wish to maintain their health and vigor, and retain their energy unimpaired should take a course of Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

They brace up and invigorate the system, and help stall off the decrepitude of advancing years.

St. John's Choir Is Heard In Fine Concert

A completely choral program was heard by an enthusiastic audience Tuesday night when Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus., organist and choirmaster of St. John's church, conducted his choir in a concert in the parish hall.

The first performance by the choir as a whole since the boys' choir was formed, the program, although a heavy load, perhaps, for some of the younger choristers, demonstrated admirably the fine training which is being received, and the pleasure and ease with which the boy choristers took their parts was a constant delight to the audience.

The performance was relieved from monotony by its arrangemnt of light and shade—heavier numbers alternating with simpler, lighter ones kept interest constantly alive. The opening number, "Hail Smiling Morn," was sung by the entire choir and was followed by an amusing and popular arrangement of "Old King Cole" by Rev. F. A. Jarvis, and a wistful lullaby "O Hush Thee" written by Sir A. Sullivan.

A quartette composed of J. J. Luther, V. Coleman, L. F. Dyer and G. Young was well received in the favorite "Mighty Lak' a Rose" and a "Travesty on Coming Thru' the Rye," an amusing bit of comedy which was applauded again and again.

The most outstanding number was J. C. Tirbutt's "The Phantom Ship," in which the entire choir blended voices in delicate and subtle effects to bring the tragic story of Longfellow's poem, in which a party of fishermen put out to seat in a ship that was not seaworthy, and never returned. The village folk were visited with visions of a phantom ship, and in the vision they saw the masts falling, and the ship slowly breaking apart. Being of a deeply religious nature, they believed the vision was sent to them that they might know the fate of the fishermen, and the song ends, unexpectedly, in a sudden burst of praise that this fate should be revealed to them.

Excellent balance and blending of tones was evident in an unaccompanied number, "Come Again Sweet Days," which was composed about 1595 by the famous English Madrigal, J. Dowland. Another madrigal, a lighter type of music reflecting a note of lilting gladness, was T. Morley's "Now Is the Month Of Maying."

A charming, humorous number, "The Violet and the Bee" was contained in the last group sung by the choir as a whole. Written by A. J. Caldicott, it is the story of bees coming out of the hive to soon. Finding no flowers from which to gather honey, two of them are attracted through an open window by the alluring shades of artificial flowers, the windows were afterwards closed, and the song ends doiefully of the buzz, buzz, buzz of the dying bees.

Two duets, "Flow Gently Sweet Deva" (Parry), and "Come to the Fair" from Mozart's opera, "Figaro," were sung. The first number by V. Coleman, tenor, and G. Young, baritone the second by two boy choristers, Joey McMahon and Leslie Groombridge.

Mr. Mann conducted the choir in most of the numbers, and appeared at the piano himself for several selections Miss Lily Bacon, A.T.C.M., was a sympathetic accompanist.

Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson spoke a few words of welcome to the audience, and paid warm tribute to the interest Mr. Mann is taking in the choir, and the fine work he is accomplishing, particularly with the boy choristers, for whose organization he is responsible.

Taking part in the program were Mrs. H. Burrows, Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Miss D. Allen, Miss L. Bacon, and Miss R. Quartermaine; altos: Messrs. A. Barnes, V. Coleman, F. Hooper, J. Hooper, W. Howell, I. J. Luther, E. May and A. Winslow; tenors: A. Bacon, H. Chate, L. F. Dyer, T. Hooper, R. Pitchford, T. W. Turbill, W. Wheeler and G Young, bass; Masters J. Clarke, D. Davis, J. Franks, H. Glenn, L. Groombridge, R. Groombridge, A. Hooper, W. Holland, J. McMahon, P. Moore, L. Moore, D. Pearse, D. Payne C. Selkirk, S. Sage, W. Smith, R. Thompson, J. Thompson and R. Willis, trebles.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Peterborough Orfuns, of the L.O.B.A. Lakeshore Group, took a 28-12 girls' basketball win over Belleville "Y" in Belleville last night. Orfuns led all the way in a fast, rather rough encounter. The homesters were thrown off balance by the hard, fast checking of the visitors, who rushed all evening. G. Mortimer, B. Blade and L. Magee up front, with A. Livingstone on defence went best for the winners. The others also teamed up to turn in a bang-up performance. M. Maclean and A. Cruji up front, and L. Melchoir defensively were best. These teams clash again here Thursday at nine in the P.C.I. gym. Orfuns had a 12-4 lead at half-time last night, and scored four free tosses against none. Teams:

Orfuns—A. Livingstone, R. Ellis, S. Levine, J. Dawson, L. Magee, J. Weir, G. Mortimer, B. Blade, F. Bestard, D. Ackford.

Belleville—M. Hitchon, M. Miller, M. Maclean, B. Shorey, M. Storms, A. Cruji, J. Sherry, I. Corby, L. Melchior.

SPORT SPICE

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP).—Hollywood wants the Yanks to train out there next year 'but it's no deal because the Yanks are committed to St. Petersburg for four years.... Charley Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, says the horse with the best chance to beat the Biscuit in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap is Kayak II—also owned by Charley Howard....Claude Passeau and Hugh Mulcahy of the Phils may get a chance to pitch for a "pro" team yet....The Giants are interested if the price is right.

The Carr Creek (Ky.) basketball team is composed of Combs and Combs, forwards; Combs, centre; Combs and Combs, guards, and Combs coach....To which the Cincinnati Times-Star says: "They'll be combing around the mountain when they comb."

The Washington Senators appear to have the rail position in the race to sign Eric Tipton, Duke's great football back and baseball player....Even the New Jersey papers are weakening on Tony Galento... His four-round "knockout" of Natie Mann rated only four paragraphs in some of the sheets....Local sports spielers are low because they've just heard the broadcasting jobs at the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium will go to guys now working in Minneapolis and St. Louis.

Add to Larry MacPhail's "pocket full of schemes": He has seven ex-Yankees on the Dodger roster now and probably figures they'll scare the Brooks into a place in the National League, just like they say the Yanks do in the American.

Our Bill Terry has got the boys trained....When Clydell Castleman writes headquarters he addresses his letters: "Mr. William Terry," continues with "dear sir" and winds up "respectfully yours."

St. Peter's Win Southend Game

Juvenile Southend League standing:

St. Peter's	4	0	0	8
Canucks	2	1	0	4
King Edward	2	1	0	4
Y's Men's	0	4	0	0

Friday the schedule ends at seven, King Edward playing Y's Men's at the Sacred Heart rink.

St. Peter's last night took a 6-3 juvenile win over Canucks, in a fast, clean contest. Brioux and Mason scored in the first to tie it. O'Donnell got one for Canucks in the second, while Crary and Eason counted for the Saints. Mason got two and Eason one for them in the third, while Hallihan tallied for Canucks. He, O'Donnell and Jones went best for Canucks; as Eason, Henwood, Mason, Crary and O'Herron all looked good for the winners. Teams:

Curlers Compete For Packers Cup

At 9.30 this morning the annual bonspiel for the Canada Packers Trophy got under way.

Rinks from Lindsay, Woodville, Bobcaygeon, Lakefield, Campbellford and Peterborough entered and were sent away promptly in the first round.

Three ten-end games will be played throughout the day and evening, by each rink and along about midnight the lucky winners will be then known.

Probably the most interesting game of the first flight was the game between two local rinks, Walter Oke and Ray Bacon. It was nip and tuck all the way through, with Bacon making a real shot to tie it up on the 10th end. However, in the extra end, it was all Oke.

Hastings Downs Warsaw 8 To 1

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 8—Hastings defeated Warsaw Tuesday night in one of the fastest hockey games to be seen on local ice this winter. Although the score was 8 to 1, it was no indication that Warsaw lads did not apply the pressure. Montgomery, in the Hastings nets turned in his usual good performance, assisted by a strong defence. Hastings system of back checking looked good and they proved dangerous around Warsaw nets.

For Warsaw, the Watts brothers, Ivan, Alin and Joe looked best especially Ivan who is small but smart skater and stick handler. The three brothers formed Warsaw's starting front line. McCarthy, Edwards and Scriver looked like Hastings' stars, but every player seemed effective.

The teams:

Warsaw: Goal, Digweed; defence, Drain, Cooper; centre, D. Watts; wings, A. Watts, J. Watts; alternates, Clements, W. Payne, P. Payne, Sharpe.

Hastings: Goal, Montgomery; defence, McCoy, Boyle; centre, Edwards; wings, McCarthy, Puffer; alternates, Radford, Phillips, Petticrew, Scriver.

Puck Blow May Cost Spectator His Eye

ORILLIA, Ont., Feb. 8.—(CP)—Walter Gordon, 23, Orillia, suffered a serious injury last night when struck by a flying puck while watching the Midland-Orillia junior hockey game here last night.

The puck broke Gordon's glasses and pieces of glass were lodged in an eye. Dr. A. G. Rogers removed the splinters and said Gordon's sight might be permanently affected.

There was a series of mishaps at the rink last night. A Midland player, struck across the face by a hockey stick, suffered a gash over the eye that needed four stitches to close it.

In the Orillia-Barie midget game, preceding the junior fixture, the Barrie goalie was carried off with injuries in the first period and never returned to the game.

Dorothy Chappel, 23, skating after the games, tripped over another skater and received leg cuts.

Orillia won the junior game 5-3 and the midget game 5-1.

Church Puck Loop Schedule Revised

Two changes have been made in the Church Hockey League schedule for this week. Instead of All Saints and George St. playing, it will be George St. and Murray St. Seniors at nine Thursday night. This change was made to permit these two teams to tangle, their other games being postponed four times. Each has played All Saints twice. Any further delays in the senior section will force the executive to cancel the third series of contests, and play the finals as soon as the second series is over. Thursday's schedule is: St. John's vs Knox Bantams at six, Mark St. Juveniles vs George St. at seven, All Saints vs St. Paul's Juniors at eight, and Murray St. Seniors vs George St. at nine. The George St.-All Saints' bantam game of next Friday has been moved to this coming Saturday at seven p.m. —owing to a church activity keeping George St. from playing. It is the first schedule church game on Saturday in over 10 years.

Trent Girl Skier Breaks Ankle

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8.—A bad fall while skiing on a hill just north of this village resulted in a broken ankle for Miss Helen Brown of Trent River, about four-thirty o'clock Monday afternoon. Miss Brown had accompanied Miss Edythe Russell, Grey Kemp and Jack Grant, all of Havelock, on a skiing party and was just about to return to town with them when the misfortune occurred.

Twisting her ankle while going down one of the hills on their homeward trip, she overbalanced and fell, and in doing so struck her ankle sharply on a rock hidden beneath the snow. Only a short distance from town, the men carried her to their car and rushed her at once to the office of Dr. D. J. Holdcroft. She was later removed to Cummings Hospital and it is expected that she will return home today, where she will be confined to her bed for the next six weeks.

Cleanse BIG BOWEL when Constipated!

DON'T UPSET ALL 25 FEET OF INTESTINES

Most constipation occurs in the lower colon or big bowel (marked X), right where body waste has travelled almost to the point where bowels should m-o-v-e.

Yet many people unknowingly take laxatives which affect other parts of the bowels first, often upsetting the whole tract. Does like calomel do most of their work on the other end of the bowels, more than 20 feet away! Salts flush from end to end! May leave you weak and worn-out. Oils act chiefly on the small intestine.

To relieve constipation fast, a laxative should work where the waste has jammed!

That's the action you get from Chocolate Flavor Cascarets. They work on the big bowel where body waste commonly piles-up. Move it those last few inches, bringing blessed relief overnight. Chocolate Cascarets can do this because they contain cascara, said to give nearest to natural action of any cathartic, which acts to cleanse the big bowel in 10 to 12 hours!

If you've never enjoyed this sensible kind of relief, get Chocolate Cascarets now. Each foil-wrapped tablet is a gentle, effective dose, and pleasant to take because the taste is that of fine milk chocolate. All druggists, or write Dept. P-1, "Cascarets," Windsor, Ont., for free sample.

C.G.E. Soccer Club Is Reorganized

A sure sign of the approach of spring is the reorganizing meeting of the soccer clubs in the city. Canadian General has appointed the following officers for the season:

Honorary presidents, C. A. Salmonsen, I. P. McRae, J. F. Reed, H. A. Cranfield, N. E. Crowe, and E. G. Hardie; president, Alexander McKinley; vice-president, J. Adams; secretary-treasurer, W. Rickard; assistant secretary-treasurer, J. Roberts; executive, T. Stewart, A. Burgess, and W. McCracken.

Annual Meeting.

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association will be held on the first Monday in March in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, when the old executive desires all fans and those interested in the code to be present. In all probability the question of associate affiliation will be settled and the Ontario Football Association will be notified of the action of the Peterborough Association. The clubs and members must realize that all forms signed must be the O.F.A. documents and the charge will be 25 cents apiece. This signing qualifies the player as fully registered with the official body, and all players are recognized as associated with organized soccer in the Dominion.

At the end of last season, Brinton Carpet soccer club held a banquet and presented the players with windbreakers as a souvenir for their successful league championship. No official notice has been received as to their reorganizing plans. Perhaps there may be the return of the Canada Packers.

The winners of the C.G.E. prizes were: 1st, R. Buchanan, 85 Lock Street; 2nd, T. Heffernan, Grand Hotel.

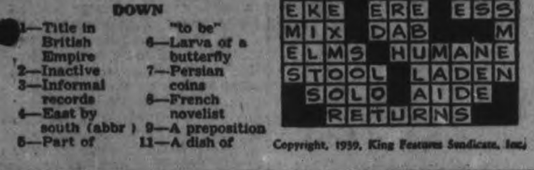
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

PLACE MISSING HONORS

IF NEITHER OPPONENT has made any bid and one of them shows honors in a particular suit, it generally pays to count his partner for the high cards in other suits. The reason is that, if the outstanding honor strength were all in one hand, there probably would have been a bid from its holder. By making such a natural deduction, and selecting your finesse tactics accordingly, you will make many a contract which would be beaten if you disregarded it.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Burr Wilson, former winner of the Westchester County championship, New York's leading suburban event, won a neat top score for his pair on this deal in a recent duplicate tournament of the Knickerbocker Whist Club. The bidding was about as at most tables — North 1-Diamond, South 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds, South 3-Clubs, North 3-Diamonds, South 4-Clubs and North 4-Spades. The same contract was reached at nearly all of the tables.

Where the heart K was led to the A, most declarers then lost the diamond finesse, next a heart trick to the Q, and eventually two club tricks and a spade, going down two tricks. Mr. Wilson, however, made the contract. Noting from the lead that West held the heart honors that were out, he decided to place the others with East.

After winning with the heart A, he played to the diamond A and finessed the club 10 to the K. West took his heart Q, then led a trump to dummy's A. A heart ruff put South in to lead a club and ruff it, then a diamond was ruffed and the spade K cashed. Followed three clubs, the last of which East had to ruff, and the final trick was the spade Q, making the contract with the loss of one club, one heart and one ruffed club.

Producers Urge Licensing Of Egg Buyers

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Licensing of egg buyers in Ontario was sought last night at a meeting of managers of the Eastern Ontario Egg and Poultry Producers' Association.

The managers, representing 28 groups of producers, authorized their secretary to write the Ontario Minister of Agriculture and the chairman of the co-operative marketing board to ask that the proposed regulation be effected. Speakers said it had been in operation in Western Canada for some time.

In another resolution, the association went on record as being ready to take the initiative in sending the year's first shipment of fresh eggs to Great Britain as soon as prices in the Old Country warranted the move. Last year, several carload shipments were made, but association officials said that at present the market was not favorable.

When prices are satisfactory, the association decided, it will provide enough cases to make up a carload for Britain along with other producers.

Setting up of a central sales distribution agency in Montreal for both eggs and poultry, in conjunction with Quebec Province Producers' Associations, was discussed at the meeting. A committee was set up to investigate the possibilities of the proposal.

At present, it was explained, each association markets its products here individually. Last year Eastern Ontario farmers received in the Montreal market $301,000 for eggs, $66,000 for dressed poultry and $10,000 for live poultry.

Committee Named.

Irwin Anderson of Kemptville, secretary of the central board of the Eastern Ontario Association, was named chairman of the committee. Others on it are E. Philippe of Kinburn, E. R. Hooey of Ottawa and M. Raymond, Dominion Department of Agriculture field man in Quebec.

The meeting also authorized the central board, headed by Col. R. J. Patterson of Kemptville, to assess producers one-half cent for each case of eggs handled during the coming year, the money to go into the funds of the central board.

Speakers at the meeting included E. J. Smith, packing company head from Stratford, who spoke on marketing, and W. A. Brown, chief of the egg and poultry marketing section of the Department of Agriculture, who discussed the responsibilities of local association managers to their farmer members.

C. H. Jack, secretary-treasurer of the Stormount producers' association at Finch, presided at the meeting, which was held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Canadian Produce Association.

Tomorrow the managers will visit a warehouse to see a display of dressed poultry from the other provinces of the Dominion. Later, they will be taken to some of the city's largest retailers of eggs and poultry to observe retailing methods at first hand.

Ohio Valley Flood Waters Leave 30,000 Homeless

Almost 30,000 are homeless in the states of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and Pennsylvania, and six persons are reported dead, as rains and melting snows sent rivers on a flood rampage and brought grim reminder of the disastrous floods of 1937 in the Ohio River valleys. Red Cross and other relief agencies are working with government bureaux to evacuate threatened homes and to care for flood refugees. These lowlands at Point Pleasant, near Huntington, West Virginia, have already succumbed to the advancing flood water. Threat of further heavy rains makes the outlook serious.

Havelock School Trustees To Split Expenditures

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8—The public school board assembled for their February meeting, with Trustees Nobes, Brisbin, Price, Iles and Roche present, and Chairman Bernard Smith presiding.

Principal Duncan reported that the attendance had declined during the past month, being down to 170.

Miss E. Roberts, of the teaching staff, addressed the board in regard to the poor condition of the desks in her classroom, pointing out that the seats were too small to comfortably accommodate the bigger pupils. The matter of the seating in this classroom was referred to the attention of the property committee.

Gordon Ames was temporarily appointed to look after the duties of truant officer, in the absence of John Evans, who is at present confined to the hospital.

On motion of Trustees Roche and Brisbin, the secretary was instructed to advise the Employers Liability Assurance Company of the recent accident in the school. This occurred recently when one of the girls received a cut on the neck, from flying glass, when another of the pupils threw a snowball through one of the windows. Dr. Holdcroft attended the injured pupil.

The board decided to register again as a member of the School Trustees and Ratepayers Association and subscribe for seven copies of the School Journal.

The secretary reported that the High School board were in favor of adopting the same procedure as was used during the past two years, in sharing the expenditures common to both boards, the High School Board to assume five-eighths of the expenditures. The High School Board would prefer, however, to submit to them a cheque covering three-eighths of the total expenditures each month, to avoid the issuing of two separate cheques for each item. On motion of Trustees Roche and Iles the above proposal was accepted.

The following accounts were passed and ordered paid, with the exception of an item on H. Kranz' for th sum of $5.65, and the account of Dr. Holdcroft, on motion of Trustees Nobes and Price:

Teachers, caretaker, and secretary's salaries, January, $558.45; London Guarantee and Accident Co., treasurer's bond, $5.00; secretary-treasurer, money order for statutes, amendments and regulations Public School Act, $1.61; H. W. Krantz, account, $1.88; A. C. Denike, equipment, $36.75; Hydro Electric Commission, $22.10; teachers, caretaker, and secretary's salaries, February, $558.45; village treasurer, debenture 392, $341.07; secretary-treasurer, postage, excise, December, January, 82 cents; A. Spencer and Son, account, $2.83; Snowdon Co., oils, 1938 bill, $69.53.

Rebates from insurance companies on premiums paid during last year on the school building were received from their agents as follows: H. B. Puffer, $7.06; Robert Scott, $6.10; Gordon Ames, $7.20; Edward Pennell, $20.39.

The meeting was adjourned to Wednesday, March 1st.

Montrealer Fights Eviction Action

MONTREAL, Feb. 8. — (CP). — Mun! Taub, recently threatened with eviction under Quebec's anti-communist "padlock law," charged in Superior Court to-day that the law encroaches on authority of the Parliament of Canada and violates the fundamental rights of British subjects to trial before being penalized.

Defending himself against an action taken by his father-in-law, Louis Fineberg, Taub contended that the "padlock law," in dealing with criminal matters, infringed on Federal authority.

Fineberg is seeking to break his son-in-law's lease and collect $285 for loss of rent. Action was taken after the landlord received a letter from Provincial Police Commissioner P. A. Pluze ordering him to expel Taub, identified with the Communist party, and threatening to padlock the house if this was not done.

Taub refused to vacate the premises, contending it would leave him, his wife, and their infant, homeless.

In his argument Taub argued the demand to vacate the premises was illegal as well as the demand contained in Commissioner Pluze's letter, because it was based on a law he contended was ultra vires the Province of Quebec Legislature, namely the "padlock law."

Pulp Magazines

WOLFVILE, N.S., Feb. 8—(CP). —Flooding of newsstands with "woodpulp magazines," and biographies which were "veritable explosions in cesspools" is one of the major obstacles facing youth in its development, President F. W. Patterson of Acadia University told a service club here yesterday.

Speaking on "youth in the contemporary world," Dr. Patterson said many middle-aged writers, whose prestige was being deliberately exploited for monetary gain without regard to the evil moral effect, placed a difficult barrier in the way of developing youth into clean-living and clean-thinking men and women.

Fleeing before the rebel advance which swept beyond Barcelona and drove the government forces out of Catalonia province, Premier Juan Negrin and President Manuel Azana of Spain were reported split on the question of continuing the civil war or suing for an immediate peace. Dr. Negrin, who crossed the frontier into France at Le Perthus, is reported determined to make a final stand against Franco in central Spain where Madrid is still unconquered. President Azana, who also has sought refuge in France, is said to favor peace negotiations.

Motorist Is Held Up, Robbed By Two Gunmen, Left Tied 6 Hours In Barn

Victim Is Saved By Police After Pair Confess When Grabbed In Galt Acting Suspiciously In Stolen Car

GALT, Ont., Feb. 9 (CP).—Galt police detained today two men they said had confessed holding up a motorist whom they trussed and dumped into an isolated barn near Thamesford. The motorist, Louis Fortis, of Corinth, was relieved of $8.50.

The prisoners, William Shannon, 19, and Kenneth Hooper, 19, of Komoka, were arrested early this morning when Sergeant F. Cronin and Constable Joe Byrnes became suspicious of a strange car. The officers halted the machine and brought the two men to headquarters for questioning.

Police said Hooper was carrying a revolver and that he and his companion admitted the car was stolen after the officers found the owner's license and driving permit in the toe of one of Shannon's shoes.

Shannon and Hooper, according to police, said they had been to London and had obtained a ride to St. Thomas, where they picked up another "lift." On the outskirts of Aylmer, they allegedly held up the driver, Fortis, relieved him of his money and bound him hand and foot. They drove four miles west of Thamesford and left Fortis in an old cattle barn. Galt police communicated immediately with Provincial police, who found Fortis in the barn.

Shannon and Hooper are charged with possession of firearms.

Left Tied Six Hours

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Feb. 9.—(CP)—Louis Foris, 30-year-old Corinth tobacco grower, told today from a London hotel room how he had been trussed and left in a barn near Thamesford after two men held him up and stole his automobile while he was returning home from a theatre at Aylmer.

Foris, showing no ill effects after lying on the cold floor of the barn for six hours, said he picked up two youths who "thumbed" a ride about one mile east of Aylmer. One of them sat in front with him and the other remained in the back seat.

After they had driven two miles, Foris said, the man in the back leaned over and poked a gun in Foris' ribs, ordering him to stop the car. While the man in the rear seat covered him with the revolver the other produced a piece of rope and tied his hands behind his back. Then they drove the car through Tillsonburg and Ingersoll to the eighth concession of East Nissouri where Foris was forced to march into the isolated cattle barn on the Elliott farm. His feet were bound and $8.50 was removed from his pockets.

Foris said his cries atracted no attention and that he was beginning to feel the effects of the cold when provincial police found him at five o'clock this morning. The officers said they had been directed to the barn by the men who held up Foris.

Ottawa To Form National Film Board

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—(CP)—A national film board will be established by the dominion government. The commons votes and proceedings today contain notice of a resolution by Trade Minister Euler to create such a board.

Co-ordination of all the motion picture activities of the government is contemplated in the proposal to set up the film board. The plan contemplates appointment of a commissioner who, in collaboration with an inter-departmental committee, will centralize government film distribution.

The minister's resolution crystallizes the results of a lengthy examination of the dominion government's motion picture activities by John Grierson, London, Eng. For years various department of government have been making pictures without any co-ordinating body to control or direct their programs.

The technical work has been accomplished by the government motion picture bureau, a branch of the trade and commerce department. But pictures have been taken at the direction of the national parks, the tourist, the mines, national defence, Northwest Territories and other branches.

The pictures have been distributed mainly abroad, their object being to stimulate interest in Canada for the benefit of Canadians at large.

The national film board will be advisory, its functions being principally to counsel the various departments on what features of Canadian life are best adapted to picturization, how the pictures thus made may be distributed to the best general advantage and where the most substantial results might be attained.

Canadian government pictures have been growing in popularity abroad and creation of the film board is understood to be a step necessitated by the prospects of greater expansion of this activity in the future.

Drew Nominated In East Simcoe

ORILLIA, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP)—Col. George A. Drew, declaring he was the "democratic choice" of Simcoe East Conservatives, was nominated unanimously at a convention here yesterday as the Conservative party's candidate in a provincial by-election in the constituency Feb. 27.

In accepting the nomination, the Ontario party leader said there is no "magic way" of relieving Canadians of existing heavy taxation burdens but "there is a way of re-applying taxation whereby people will desire to own property again." Revision of taxation was the first duty of governments today.

Capt. W. J. Osborne Dempster of Toronto, who describes himself as a Conservative, will oppose Col. Drew in the by-election, necessitated by the resignation of William Finlayson, who vacated his seat to make way for the party leader. Mayor James Mackie of Midland has said he may be an independent candidate. The Liberal party will not contest the by-election.

The Meanticutt rescued the Katina Bulgaris' crew and the Finnish steamer Rhea rescued the Gluckauf's crew, Lloyd's reported.

Judge Reverses New Deal For Duplessis

MONTREAL, Feb. 9—(CP).—Mr. Justice G. F. Gibsone, in a sweeping judgment marking the first reversal of Premier Maurice Duplessis' so-called "New Deal" legislation, today ruled Quebec price-fixing laws affecting shoe repairmen were unconstitutional and ultra vires of the province.

In the specific case he found the provincial statute which fixed a common price for shoe repairs was in conflict with this federal law.

The statute, his judgment stated, was designed to regulate the relations of workman and employee with respect to the internal workings of the industry. This clause tended, however, to restrain the shoe repairmen in their dealings with their customers, and did not follow either from the spirit or text of any law.

From the evidence presented, Justice Gibsone observed, it was obvious that the scale of prices fixed under the statute was much higher than those those previously charged. The previous prices were established in open market by free competition and were satisfactory to repair shops reasonably equipped and managed.

Jap Boats Bombed

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Chinese said today their planes resumed an offensive off the south China coast, damaging two gunboats at the Japanese Waichow Island base off Pakhoi.

New Empire Party To Save Canada Is Belleville Mayor's Proposal

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—Creation of a new political party in Canada, a United Empire party "that will include the real thinking rank and file of this great but despoiled country," was advocated to-day by Mayor Jamieson Bone of Belleville, stormy petrel of municipal politics.

"To such a party, with a real, honest hard-boiled policy of common sense and common decency, I heartily subscribe," he told the third annual convention of the Ontario Property Owners' Association. "I suggest that the first plank in their platform should be the trial of all political crooks, as well as all politicians, who have brought this country to the verge of disaster, either by intention or by neglect of their duty.

"From there they should proceed to clean up the whole mess—railways, cefence, provincial dictatorships civil service, defaults, overlapping services, excess governments, excess import duties and unemployment—and take a stand for Canada as a full red-blooded nation, a co-partner in the greatest and best managed Empire the world has ever seen."

Start Now.

Mayor Bone, vice-president of the Association, urged that the "proposed clean-up" be begun immediately. Unless something is done soon to stop clowning and seriously govern this beautful country" he promised "to vote and use my influence for the first honest leader that present himself, white, black, red or yellow."

No Dominion or Provincial government, no Liberal or Conservative organization is "seriously interested" in the welfare of Canada, he declared. Governments were in office "for themselves personally, and for their party, and force of one kind or another is the only thing that is going to move them."

Mounties Take Trail As Dozen Dogs Found Slaughtered

Case Of Menigitis Quarantines Camp

TIMAGAMI, Ont., Feb. 9.—(CP).—A case of spinal meningitis has led to a general quarantine of the L. T. Martin Construction Company highways work camp, eight miles south of here. A hundred men are confined to camp limits.

In the Timagami Red Cross Hospital is a Polish worker suffering from meningitis. Following his removal to hospital, provincial health authorities, notified by Dr. Cyril McGowan, instructed the camp quarantine.

Three other patients from the four-bed hospital here have been taken to North Bay Isolation Hospital because of contact with the meningitis sufferer. The move was a precautionary measure.

Only Wreckage Dots Waves Where Freighter Called

3 Rescue Ships Lose Race In Atlantic Gale, Hunt Lifeboats As Storm Mounts

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Apparently convinced the British freighter Maria de Larrinaga had foundered, rescue vessels today searched the stormy North Atlantic for life boats in the hope of finding her crew of 37 alive.

Late messages received by the radiomarine station here advised that two of the rescue ships were steaming through wreckage-strewn waters, about 1,200 miles east of New York, from which position the de Larrinaga yesterday reported she was sinking.

The Cunard-White Star liner Aurania, after describing wreckage, added she "still had hope we will sight life boats."

The Holland American liner Veendam reported she had come upon floating ladders and a table top, but had seen no boats.

Both messages were relayed to the radiomarine station by the American steamship Scanmail, which was participating in the search.

The master of the S.S. Clintonia next reported she had reached the spot but had caught "no sign of steamer or wreckage."

Signs Of Tragedy

A previous message from the Aurania read:

"Sighted wreckage, hatch covers and oars. Now steering course 130, speed 9 knots."

The vessel gave the position as latitude 42.27 north and longitude 45.49 west. In sending her distress call the freighter yesterday gave her position as 42.15 north, 46.50 west, about 1,200 miles east of New York.

Officials at the station here said: "That seems to indicate the freighter has gone down."

Previously the Holland-American vessel Veendam reported it had reached the scene but could find no trace of the freighter or its crew of 37. The de Larrinaga's radio had been silent almost 15 hours since reporting its No. 1 bulkhead which had been stove in, was holding and the sea decreasing.

It appeared from the Aurania's message it had begun cruising the vicinity, possibly accounting for the difference of approximately 70 miles between the position reported in its message and that given in distress call from the freighter.

Also at the scene was the American Scantic liner, Scanmail, which reported a northwest gale and mountainous seas in the vicinity. That vessel said it was snowing and visibility was cut to half a mile.

Windsor Police Running 'Books'

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP).—City police constables stepped into Windsor bookmaking establishments again to-day and stayed—determined to stand guard so long as there was a chance someone might come in to register a bet.

On the determination of Police Chief Claude Renaud to stamp out handbooks by constant vigilance, the force began its new methods of combat yesterday. Officers invaded known gambling places and stayed, unable to pick up evidence of bookmaking, but confident they eventually could freeze out the operators.

Renaud's action was in direct reply to charges of Mayor David A. Croll and Controller Olive Jane Whyte, who criticized police methods at a board of control meeting, in opposing a proposed salary increase for the chief constable.

Croll charged that Renaud was "just an office boy for the magistrates." He contended that Inspector William Neale was running the police department and "might as well draw the salary." Miss Whyte, a former missionary, charged "the chief doesn't know what it is all about."

Renaud said last night that police were under orders to eliminate handbook operators, bootleggers, pinball machines and punchboards, and crime in general.

Gambling charges were laid against three men Tuesday after Alf Walters, Renaud's secretary, was sent into establishments ahead of police officers to gether evidence. It was explained that "lookouts" did not know Walters, but were proficient in detecting constables.

Herridge Plans Shaping Fast

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—(CP).—A recent speech by Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to Washington, in which he declared that all over Canada a movement had already sprung up demanding new methods of dealing with the economic ills of the country has given rise to much conjecture in political circles here as to whether Mr. Herridge plans heading a new party.

Following the speech delivered in Ottawa last Jan. 26, a letter signed by J. S. MacFarlane, active in labor circles in this city, was published on the editorial page of the Ottawa Citizen. The letter, addressed to Mr. Herridge, agreed with him as to the need for reform and suggested the time had come for him to state what he proposed to do about it.

Mr. MacFarlane offered to arrange a meeting at which Mr. Herridge might state in a more definite manner than he has so far done his plans for lifting Canada into a more prosperous position. Mr. Herridge accepted the invitation.

Men who are in Mr. Herridge's confidence said last night this meeting was being organized and would be held before the end of February in Ottawa. They do not expect him to announce a new party but said he will make definite proposals to relieve unemployment and scarcity and they predicted this will result in a widespread demand that the policies proposed should be carried out.

This may or may not result in a new party being formed. If a new party is brought into existence it would arise from the rank and file of the people and not be launched by any man or organization from the top, it was stated.

Badgett Quads All Thriving

GALVESTON, Feb. 9—(AP).—A long and full life lies ahead of the Badgett quadruplets, the stork's latest sensational achievement, Dr. Francis Garbade believes.

The doctor, who will look after the medical upbringing of the four girls, said today the health of the nine-day-old quads was perfect.

The Badgett quads' chance of reaching maturity, Dr. Garbade said, are as good if not better than the Dionne quintuplets of Callander, Ont., had at birth. The quads outstripped the quints in aggregate weight at birth.

Doctors, nurses and the Badgett family have found it impossible to distinguish Jeraldine, Joyce, Jeanette and Joan apart.

Their father, W. E. Badgett, 35, a construction foreman, who earns $16 a day, said he had declined offers totalling $1,000,000 to exhibit his babies.

Many communities in England are limiting dance hours to midnight.

KINGSTON.—Radium worth $300, swallowed by Dennis Hotts, 77, farmer from the Tweed district, was recovered to-day after it had been in his system 60 hours. Hotts came to hospital for treatment Monday. Radium tubes were strapped to his lower lip with adhesive. In some way the strapping was loosened and Hotts swallowed one of the tubes.

KINGSTON.—With his leg badly fractured, caused by a falling log, Neil McGeathy, 44, was brought from north of Denbigh to the Hotel Dieu Hospital by Dr. Hunt of Denbigh. McGeathy, whose home is in Actinolite, was working in a lumber camp when injured. Dr. Hunt brought him by motor car almost 90 miles to Kingston for hospital attention and the injured man was in severe pain as most of the trip was over rough, snow bound roads.

Duce's Answer To Britain Is More Arms

ROME, Feb. 9—(AP).—More fuel for Europe's already huge rearmament race was promised today as the Italian answer to continued British solidarity with France.

The blunt declaration was made in the foreign office bulletin, informazione Diplomatica, that Italy would "speed up and perfect" armament preparatons to balance a "real French-English military alliance."

Foreign observers speculated on how Italian production could be speeded further and assumed this was under discussion by members of the supreme defence council meeting at the Palazzo Venezia for the fourth day.

Just before Christmas the government announced it would spend $500,000,000 on new armaments. An intensive social and economic campaign is directed toward making the country self-sufficient. Premier Mussolini on Tuesday ordered work schedules doubled on two aviation factories.

Italy's Reaction.

A Foreign Office bulletin, Informazione Diplomatica, last night appraised the nation's and the government's reaction to Prime Minister Chamberlain's recent statement of Anglo-French solidarity.

The bulletin accepted as "axiomatic" the existence of a "real and true and regularly signed English-French military alliance."

(On Monday Mr. Chamberlain told the House of Commons that "any threat to vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate

Insurgents Seize Minorca; Negrin Offers Terms To Franco Via Britain

No Reprisals Is Rebel Chief's Only Pledge; Island Heads Flee On British Ship; Rebel Troops Reach Frontier Of France

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP).—Great Britain was reported reliably today to have transmitted new peace terms from the Spanish government to the insurgents after the latter landed forces on the Balearic Island of Minorca.

The insurgent landing occurred after the departure of the British cruiser Devonshire from the island, where she was sent to help negotiate a surrender.

The new peace terms reported offered by Dr. Juan Negrin, Spanish government Premier now in France, centred mainly on clemency for his followers.

From Burgos, insurgent capital, word came that General Franco, while still demanding an unconditional surrender, promised there would be no reprisals and that only those accused of crimes would be tried.

The Devonshire sailed for a neutral port after having anchored for several hours off Minorca until instructions from the British Foreign Office reached her. While she was anchored negotiations for surrender of Minorca went on aboard.

British officials did not disclose her destination but said "she will be going to some French port." (Havas News Agency said she would land her refugees from Minorca at Marseilles).

Rebels Grab Minorca.

BURGOS, Spain, Feb. 9 — (CP-Havas). — Insurgent troops to-day landed on Minorca, insurgent headquarters here officially announced.

The communique said insurgent troops clashed with detachments of government militia around Port Mahon.

It said the landing force was "aided by the greater part of the population."

(The British cruiser Devonshire took 450 government refugees out of Port Mahon last night.)

The official announcement here said that the government garrison in Minorca revolted at the same time the insurgents landed.

Officials loyal to the government hastily boarded ships for Tangier while the insurgent occupation, now almost complete, was under way, the communique said.

The landing force was composed of two battalions of infantry, two batteries of artillery, one section of chasseus, with accompanying communications, supply, and health units. They were commanded by Colonel Rovira.

The garrison which assertedly rose in revolt under the command of Colonel Rodriguez was already mas-

Quilts Save Lad, Slide Kills Mother, Sister

BINGHAM, Utah, Feb. 9 (AP)—Rescuers digging into the debris of a snow avalanche today brought out a youth wrapped in his bed blankets and alive after being buried all night.

The body of a girl was found, making two known fatalities in the slide that roared down narrow Bingham Canyon last night. One man is still missing.

Physicians said the youth, Duchin Tomas, 19, May not live. The snow slide that carried away the top of his home and killed his mother and sister swept him along securely wrapped in his bed clothes, accounting for his survival until reached at 9 a.m. today by copper miners who had dug all night.

The body of his mother, Mrs. Stana Tomas, 41, was found last night. His sister, Helen, 11, was found dead at the same time Duchin was rescued.

Missing is Sam Narich, 42, a board in the Tomas home. Searching parties also found the cabin of John Bizjack, 56, half a mile above the Tomas home, was carried away in the terrific slide. No trace of Bizjack was found and fears were felt that he, too, had been killed.

The slide occurred at Highland Boy, community adjoining the upper end of this town 20 miles south of Salt Lake City and overlooking the huge Bingham open-strip copper mine.

A furious blizzard, blocking Utah's main highways and causing derailment of a branch-line passenger train 60 miles south of here, deposited an eight-inch blanket of soggy snow on the percipitous walls of Bingham canyon.

Far above Highland Boy one damp snowbank gave way in the darkness and, cutting a 100-foot swathe dow nthe mountainside, tore into two two-storey houses, shearing off the tops and hurling the occupants across the road against a retaining wall.

Neighbors who heard the roaring slide hurried to the rescue. Some of the victims were buried for more than an hour before being found.

Hunter Bags Den Of 8 Wolf Cubs While Pack Trails His Dogs

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP).—Discovered in an old porcupine den, in a woods near Wyman's Bridge, five miles east of this city, eight wolf cubs were killed yesterday by Delbert Reid, Tyendinaga township hunter.

Reid discovered four grown wolves prowling at the rear of his property and dispersed them with a shot from his rifle.

Returning to his home by another trail through the woods, Reid was suddenly startled to hear the weird wolf howl behind him.

Looking around he stared in surprise as he discovered the wolves had returned and were now trailing his dogs. He fired two more shots at them and again they disappeared.

A few minutes later, attracted by plaintive whimperings that came from a hole below a rotting log, where his dogs were pawing, Reid discovered the nine balls of fur that bore all the earmarks of being offspring of brer wolf. He killed eight of them and took the remaining one to his home where it is now thriving on bread and milk.

Dempster Withdraws From Simcoe, Another To Run

Toronto, Feb. 9 (CP)

CAPT. W. J. OSBORNE DEMPSTER today said he had withdrawn from the Simcoe East provincial by-election. Previously he had announced his intention to oppose Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, yesterday.

Capt. Dempster, who had said he would run as a Conservative, said he has given a written undertaking to withdraw on the strength of an assurance that a candidate from within the riding would oppose Col. Drew.

90 Mac-Paps Held In French Camp

TORONTO, Feb. 9—(CP).—Headquarters of the Friends of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion in Spain said today it had been learned 90 Canadian volunteers with the government forces in the Spanish civil war had crossed the international border into France and had been interned.

The men some weeks ago disappeared from the battalion as the Canadians, were about to enter France. Nearly 300 members of the battalion surrendered their arms and were returne dto Canada but the goup of 90 went back into the fighting area for a "last fling" at General Franco's insurgents. The group surrendered to French authorities today.

The Toronto office of the Frends said release of the men, who are being held in a refugee camp with betwen 3,000 and 4,000 other Spanish government volunteeers, was expected within a few days. Transportation for their return to Canada already has been arranged, it was said.

Many industrial plants are being constructed in North Manchuria.

Japs, Russians Enter 2nd Week Of Fighting

TOKYO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Russia and Japan were reported today to be strengthening their garrisons on the western border of Manchoukuo as fighting along the Argun river entered its second week.

A Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Harbin said Russian troops renewed attacks on the Manchoukuoan border garrison at Mengoskill, 60 miles northeast of Manchuli, Monday and Tuesday after a week-end respite.

The dispatch reported Soviet forces were driven back Monday without casualties and were repulsed again Tuesday after a four-hour clash, leaving eight killed and wounded. The Russians were said to have used one battery of artillery and several machine guns in the attack.

Manchoukuo authorities protested to the Soviet consul general at Harbin, Domei said, and Moscow protested to Tokyo.

Toronto Tollgate Gets A Laugh

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—"Laughable" was the term applied today by Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, to the proposal of Alderman Quinn that a toll charge of 25 cents be imposed on all Ontario motor cars entering Toronto.

"I'm afraid you would soon have a deserted city," Mr. McQuesten said, refusing to accept the Quinn suggestion seriously. He doubted furthermore that the City Council has the power to impose such a toll charge.

May Buy Elsewhere?

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 9 (CP).—The Toronto "tollgate" proposal for motorists as expounded by Alderman Percy Quinn was greeted here with mixed feelings of amazement and amusement.

The proposal was variously described as a "joke," a "publicity stunt," a "crackpot idea."

Said Mayor Wes. McKersie, Waterloo: "The last time I was in Toronto they didn't use me right anyway, I don't think I'll ever go back."

Said A. H. Kabel, chairman of the retail section of the Kitchener Board of Trade: "It would be just as easy for we retailers to mail our orders to Montreal instead of Toronto. Tell me, though, how could they distinguish ordinary motorists from retail buyers who flocked into the Queen City in large numbers daily?"

Well-Disguised Brick Pays Barber For "The Works"

Goldsboro, N.C., Feb. 9 (AP)

A CUSTOMER walked into a barber shop, gingerly set down a big box and ordered the works. The bill was $1.50. Explaining he had left his money at a hotel, the stranger told Barber E. A. Thornton to "keep that box there until I get back." When he did not return after several hours, Thornton called a policeman who opened the box. It was filled with newspapers. Wrapped in the centre was a brick.

Franco's Aide Negotiating Deal For Minorca Aboard British Cruiser

Warship Takes 450 Refugees Off Island As Rebels Urge Surrender; France Watches Outcome Uneasily

(By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Feb. 9 (CP Cable).—The British cruiser Devonshire has left Port Mahon in the Spanish government-held island of Minorca with 450 refugees while negotiations for the island's surrender to General Franco are continuing.

Colonel San Luis, General Franco's military governor of Majorca, the largest of the Balearic Islands which has been in insurgent hands since early in the war, was taken on the Devonshire's "mercy voyage" to negotiate with the leaders of Minorca.

The Devonshire arrived off Minorca yesterday and it is understood she left Port Mahon today while negotiations between Colonel San Luis and the republican leaders continued abroad.

The exact position of the Devonshire is not known but it is believed she will remain off Minorca while the negotiations proceed.

The position of the British government is solely that of providing transportation for the negotiators. The Spanish government and France are both acquainted with the developments.

The identity of the 450 refgugees is not known here but it is believed likely that they are republicans.

Minorca has remained loyal to the Spanish government since the civil started 2½ years ago. France considers the island to be of supreme strategical importance and General Franco has agreed he will not garrison it with Italian or German troops if a surrender is arranged.

The reports said that if the envoy's terms were rejected Franco might launch a mass attack in an effort to take the strongly-armed Mediterranean base.

Spanish Guns Confiscated

French troops were busy confiscating the arms of Spanish loyalist troops as they fled across the French border following General Franco's victorious drive in Catalonia. Government troops were reported to be crossing the border at the rate of 6,000 an hour, when this picture was taken at Le Perthus.

Nearing Hospital

MISSION CITY, B.C., Feb. 9. — (CP)—Leonard St. Andressay, 35-year-old trapper who lay injured in a mountain cabin for 11 days, was on the last lap today of a trip to Mission City, in Fraser Valley for hospital treatment.

Brought down the slopes of Cypress mountain by a nine-man rescue party, St. Andressay was being rushed to hospital here for an emergency operation on the tendons of the foot he accidently cut with an axe on Jan. 29.

At midnight last night the party reached a cabin about 16 miles east of here after hauling the injured man, wrapped in blankets, down the mountain in a sled. All were on snowshoes.

Find 2 Men Dead Room Wrecked

CHARLOTTETOWN, Feb. 9 — (CP).—Death of two aged bachelors in a farm house at Harrington, near here, will be investigated by a coroner's inquest today. Peter Stewart, 84, and James Fraser, 69, were found dead in the former's home yesterday by two boys.

Police said many chairs were broken, other furniture was upset and a door was torn off its hinges. They said Stewart was sprawled over a broken chair in one of the bedrooms of the house, and Fraser was found on the kitchen floor with a coat thrown over him. Officers said he was bruised about the head.

The director of an undertaking establishment in Charlottetown, where the bodies were taken, said Stewart was unmarked. He added he believed Fraser's bruises could have been caused by a fall.

Neighbors of the two men, who had lived alone on the farm for a year since the death of Stewart's sister, said they were liked throughout the community, and no one ever heard them in an argument. They worked only part of the farm last summer, being too feeble to tend the entire acreage.

The two boys, MacDonald brothers, discovered the bodies when they went to the farm to cut wood for the aged men. Coroner Dr. I. J. Yeo of Charlottetown was summoned and ordered an inquest.

2 Years, 24 Lashes For Wife Beater

YORETON, Sask., Feb. 9 — (CP). —Wasyl Palamaryk, Rhein district farmer who pleaded guilty to beating his wife from whom he is separated, was sentenced to two years in Prince Albert Penitentiary and 24 lashes by Mr. Justice J. F. L. Embury in Court of King's Bench yesterday. Palamaryk also was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Annie Mataka.

Evidence showed Palamaryk beat the woman with a rifle butt and fired a shot at Mrs. Mataka during a quarrel over farm property last September 13.

"The evidence produced in this case shows the prisoner did his best to murder his wife and, perhaps, her female companion," said Mr. Justice Embury in pronouncing sentence.

"It is a notorious fact there has occurred in this north-easterly part of the province over a period of years, a large number of barbarous and brutal crimes.

"The pronouncement of the sentence of whipping is a most unpleasant duty.... but I can see the Court would be lacking in the performance of its duty if it failed in this case to impose such a sentence that might be expected to act as a deterrent to such wicked and brutal persons as might hereafter be inclined to the doing of similar barbarous acts."

More Cold, Snow Records In West

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A cold wave, brewed in the icy Mackenzie river basin spread over the midwestern plains of the United States today enroute from Pacific northwest to the Atlantic seaboard.

Many communities in the frigid belt reported their lowest temperatures of the winter.

Snow swept some of the mountain states and reached into the southwest. Highways were drifted closed in Arizona. Some section of the state reported the heaviest snow in 40 years.

Strong winds whipped up big snow drifts which clogged Utah highways and marooned passengers on a derailed Denver and Rio Grande Western train 80 miles south of Salt Lake City.

A snowslide down a canyon wall buried two houses at Bingham, Utah. Five persons, including four children, were believed killed in the slide.

West Yellowstone, Mont., was temporarily isolated when snow clogged the principal highways.

Continued cold prevailed in Northern California. An abnormally heavy snowfall was visited upon the California coast, Spokane, Wash., shivered in the coldest weather in two years when the mercury dropped to one above.

B.C. Shivers.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9.—(CP)—British Columbians banked up their fires last night, tucked extra blankets on their beds and prepared for a repetition of Tuesday night's cold weather which sent temperatures dropping in many cases to new lows for the winter.

Vancouver's 20 above zero recording yesterday morning, the lowest since December 1937, apparently was just a promise of chillier hours to come.

Crippling Rheumatism

Rheumatism leaves in its train distorted joints, crooked limbs, crippled hands, and the intense pain is almost unendurable.

In the beginning rheumatism is often due to dyspepsia or indigestion, for if the digestive organs did their duty there would not be any poisonous uric acid in the blood to sow the seeds of rheumatism.

Burdock Blood Bitters invigorates the system, and helps to eradicate the uric acid from the blood which is the cause of the inflammation and pain.

Give B.B.B. a chance to help you rid your system of rheumatism.

Republicans Done?

PARIS, Feb. 9 — (AP). — An informant close to the Foreign Office said to-day that the French Government considers the Republican government of Spain "no longer in existence," since Premier Juan Negrin entered France yesterday.

In Foreign Office circles it was said the reason for the government's new attitude toward the Spanish government was Negrin's "flight" across the border at Le Perthus.

French officials now hold that the Negrin regime has left its own country. To-day it moved farther north into France as insurgent troops occupied the Spanish part of Le Perthus, which straddles the French-Spanish boundary.

Troops Reach Border.

LE PERTHUS, French-Spanish Border, Feb. 9 — (AP). — General Franco's troops, conquerors of Catalonia, reached the French-Spanish border at Le Perthus at 2.05 p.m. (9.05 a.m. EST) to-day and planted their flag at the Spanish side of the boundary.

Just two hours earlier the Spanish Government Premier, Dr. Juan Negrin, had left his house in Le Perthus, a foot from the French border, and entered France.

With yells of warning, Government troops riding on truck jumped down and raced for the frontier. Carabineros and other border guards ran with them. A few scattered shots were fired from the hills at the insurgent column when it first appeared, but they were not returned.

$100,000 Windsor Factory Burns

WINDSOR, Feb. 9—(CP).—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a combined factory and office building in the Walkerville district of Windsor today. When the fire was over, firemen estimated damage at $100,000 in the three-hour blaze. It was the biggest fire here in 20 years.

More than three-quarters of Windsor's fire equipment and fire fighters were engaged in the struggle and six firemen narrowly escaped serious injury.

Only a few office records were saved from the premises of the Dominion Twist Drill Limited, the Frontier Pattern Works, the Dominion Office Supply Company, Limited, and the Border Cities Wire and Iron Works. These firms occupied the 50-year-old, two storey structure.

Hundreds of wooden and paperboard partitions in the building and the floors, soaked with oil and grease from years of manufacturing, provided ample fuel for the three-alarm fire.

Fire Chief Clarence DeFields and assistant chief Hedley Coates were credited with saving the lives of several firemen. They detected a weakening of the wall near the top of the building and quickly ordered men to draw back. Seconds later a large section collapsed outwards, burying the fire hose under a mass of red hot bricks. The hose was burned through immediately and became useless.

Claim Million Made On Bren Deal

Plum For Promoters Without Cost 2 M.P.'s Charge

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP).—Creation of defence purchasing board was suggested by Defence Minister Mackenzie long before the Bren gun inquiry started and was considered in Cabinet, the House of Commons learned yesterday as debate on the contract with John Inglis Co., Limited, for the manufacture of 7,000 machine guns drew to a close.

Dr. O. M. Young (Lib., Saskatoon) stated, and Mr. Mackenzie confirmed him, that the board proposal had been considered with a view to removing the allotting of arms contracts from any possibility of political influence.

The government intends to set up the board this session and such action was recommended by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, who investigated the Bren gun contract as a royal commissioner.

The House today will decide what further action should be taken about the contract. A vote is expected on the C.C.F. proposal to refer the contract to the Public Accounts Committee and the Conservative alternative to refer it to the committee of the whole House with instructions to consider cancellation.

Mr. Mackenzie, who was expected to speak yesterday and did not, may take part in the debate and answer some of the criticism directed at him and his Department.

Government spokesmen were in the majority yesterday. Four Liberals took part in the discussion to two Conservatives. The Liberals included A. G. McAvity of Saint John-Albert who drew on his experience as a member of the Imperial Munitions Board during the Great War to justify his argument in support of the contract.

Sees Little Profit?

He said he had made a thousand contracts for the purchase of munitions and never saw one which tied the contractor down so securely as did the Bren gun contract. He predicted there would be little profit in the work if the contract was strictly enforced.

Canada was now much better

Market Review

TORONTO, Feb. 9 — (CP). — A tendency to take down profits where available gave the Toronto share market a moderately weak tone to-day. All indices closed with losses but the recessions were narrow. Except for weakness in the steels, the industrials were inclined to hold and net losses were light in the base metals. A long list of golds were trimmed 2 to 10 cents. Volume was light at about 500,000 shares.

Trading proceeding at a dull tempo through the early session and the afternoon brought no indications of a pick-up. New York's show of weakness depressed the interlisted issue and traders carried on their limited operations mainly in the junior golds.

Stadacona traded in volume but profit-taking shaded Wednesday's gain. Preston and Kirkland Lake also sold back. Wright-Hargreaves, Teck Hughes, Lake Shore and Dome all held narrowly to the up side. Brazilian lost ⅝.

Commuters Resort To Gas Masks

Wearing their protective gas masks, commuters to New York board their 8.31 a.m. train at the Ardsley station for their protest ride to Gotham. The masks were used to combat fumes from the gasoline motor with which the one-car train is propelled and also to bring to the attention of the New York Central R.R. officials the plight of their passengers. The one car is split in three sections, one for the engineer, one for baggage and the scanty remainder for passengers. Formerly the line was served by a "millionaire's special" which was discontinued for economic reasons.

CAMPBELLFORD

Vestry Meeting Held In Christ Church

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9. — A brief word of thanks to members of the congregation who "have been so kind to me during my brief time in Campbellford," was expressed by Rev. T. S. Gault at the opening of the annual vestry meeting of Christ Church held here on Monday. Mr. Gault spoke of the losses the congregation had suffered through the death of several members during the past few months and a minute of silence during which all present stood was observed in their memory.

The reports of the various church societies showed considerable achievement with the financial report offered by the A.Y.P.A. and Parish Guild being particularly gratifying. Hylton Beatty presented the financial report for the year and a report of the weekly offerings made through the envelopes were presented by J. P. Archer.

Reports of the organizations were presented by officers as follows: Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. J. A. Linton; Junior Auxiliary, Miss Lorna Gillespie; Anglican Young People's Association, Mrs. Art. Tripp; Parish Guild, Miss Ethel Bedford; Sunday School report, Mr. Hylton Beatty; Cemetery Trustees, J. P. Archer; Boy Scouts, Charles Collard.

Hylton Beatty was reappointed as rector's warden and J. R. Belshaw was unanimously chosen as people's warden.

The seven sidesmen appointed by the rector were F. W. Burgess; F. S. Linton; A. Hardy, Ernest Lee, M. T. Thomas, Earl Wood and J. Russell. Those elected sidesmen by the congregation were Archie Hatfield, J. M. Bygott, George Elmhirst, Charles Smith, Francis Beaudoine and Charles Collard.

James P. Archer was returned to the office of cemetery trustee with John Ray, and it was arranged that the parish council for the ensuing year should comprise the rector, the president of each church organization, and Charles Smith, Mathew Sargent, Charles Collard, Mrs. Art Tripp and Miss Ethel Bedford. J. P. Archer was re-elected as envelope secretary.

At the conclusion of the general business period during which several matters of interest to the parish came under discussion a dainty lunch was served by the ladies and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

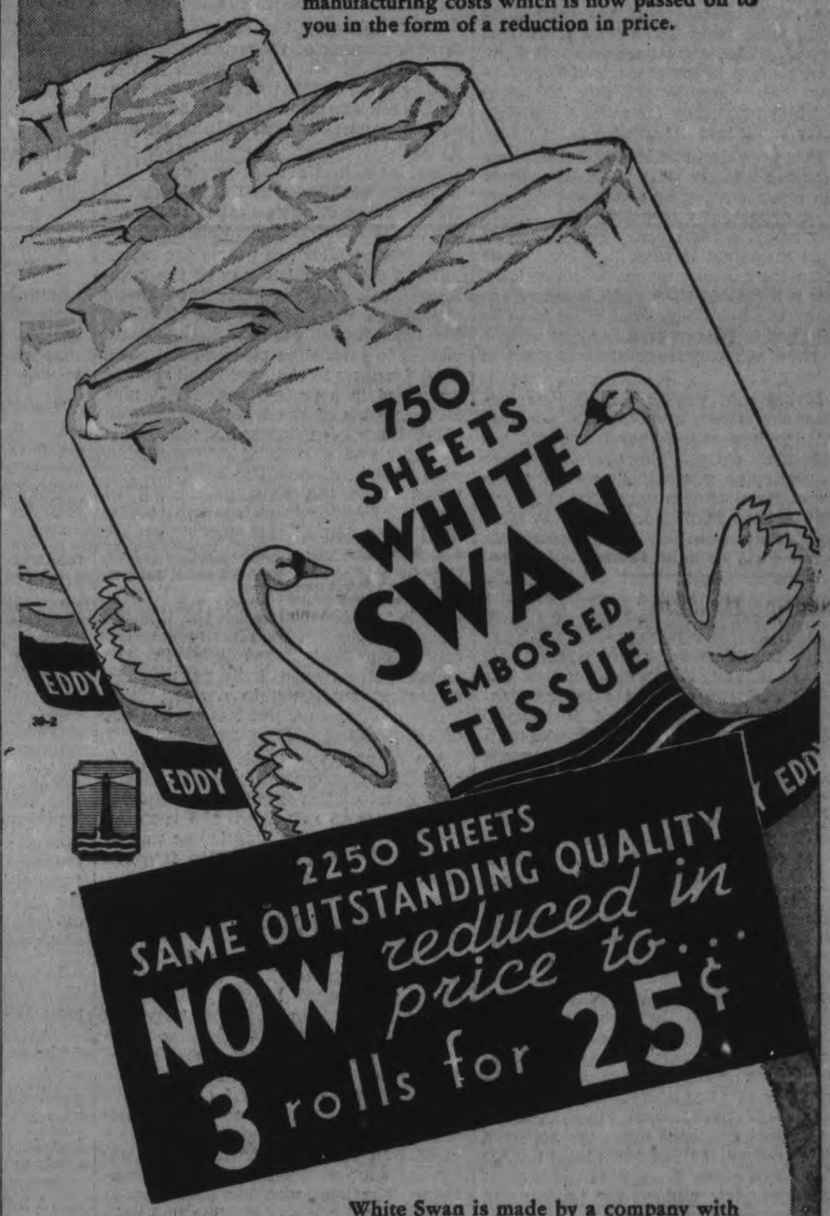
"I find that more and more families are demanding the gentler SOFTNESS and positive SAFETY of WHITE SWAN Toilet Tissue!"

THE TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN DEMAND FOR THIS LUXURY TOILET TISSUE NOW ENABLES US TO REDUCE THE PRICE...

Last year Canadians bought more than 2 million rolls of White Swan Toilet Tissue. This remarkable expression of public preference has enabled us to effect a saving in manufacturing costs which is now passed on to you in the form of a reduction in price.



White Swan is made by a company with over 45 years' experience in the manufacture of toilet tissue. The most scrupulous care is taken at every stage of production to ensure the purity of White Swan. The very water with which the pulp is treated must be thoroughly sterilized before use. The tissue is specially treated to give extra softness, and tightly rolled to give you 750 sheets and yet fit neatly into recess fixtures. Each roll is completely wrapped for greater cleanliness.

Don't endanger the comfort and safety of your family. There is no longer any excuse for using ordinary tissue. The gentler softness and positive safety of White Swan is now yours at no greater cost.

Living Close To Relief

Question of relief was discussed at a meeting in a neighboring community. There has been several applications made for assistance and most of them came from people who had been working in a plant which recently closed one of its departments. The following comment was made:

"It is difficult to understand why there is such a sudden turning toward the relief office. Three of these families, according to the records, had wage-earners in them up to four weeks ago, and now they are seeking assistance from the municipality. We are moving toward a poor place when the municipality is so quickly asked for assistance after employment has ceased."

No doubt that is a common problem. It has happened in Peterborough and in every other community. It might be difficult to establish definitely, but the Examiner does not believe that the average family, sustained by average or lower than average wages, has much in reserve at any time. We have heard it stated that the average family—to use that word again—could not keep going more than from six weeks if income ceased. There are others who will claim that margin is too great, and they fortify their claim by pointing to many families who apply for relief a few days after being laid off work.

It is possible to understand that there are people whose work is neither steady nor remunerative, and they would never have opportunity to gather about them any reserves whatever. Possibly each time they start to work they begin once more from the zero mark financially. Nor is it certain that thrift is encouraged by the knowledge that relief is to be obtained in the community by being able to show a family is qualified to ask and receive it.

Living that way is a long departure from the older system when cities were smaller and when towns and villages were more active. We recall one village in particular where there were a number of families with very little cash, but they always managed. Why? Because they were not entirely cut off from their own efforts to help themselves. They had gardens, they kept chickens, and many of them kept a couple of pigs. When it came time to think of a meal it did not mean always putting the hand in the family purse. The vegetables and the fruit and the pork were in the cellar and the eggs were in the henhouse. Taxes were low and the general cash outlay was the same. Possibly another reason why such families could keep on going was because they knew they had to.

In our cities of today industry works rapidly; it has the equipment to do a great deal in a short time. A market is readily and rapidly supplies with goods to the point of saturation, and after that takes place the demand for workers falls off until the existing goods pass to consumers. For that reason we have so many families in that unsettled condition where they are financially stranded almost as soon as they are out of work. The pay envelope is probably the only prop the home has; there is no foodstuff being supplied on the premises because the city has its own way of cutting people off from much ground. Such method of existence lacks the strength of the old village and town idea, but we have been caught up with the idea of living in cities and we are paying the price for our venture.

Are We Not Stupid?

If one cares to read the full-dress debate on the Bren gun contract it is possible to get away every word of it in Hansard. In the issue covering the debates of February 6 there are 56 pages filled with nothing else. Some weeks ago there was an investigation into the same matter and it ran for 36 days. And yet it has not meant the making of one gun.

It does seem that we insist on doing things in the most muddled way possible. To begin with, the central idea was—and is—the making of Bren machine guns in Canada, some of them for our own country and others for the British government. We have actually gone through enough motions and contortions to have built a factory, but we have nothing to show for all our effort apart from the report of the investigating commission and much wordage in parliament.

Here was a comparatively simple process. There was no designing to do because it had all been done long ago. All the specifications were and are in possession of the British government. What was needed was a suitable plant with proper tooling and the ability of mechanics to work to fine dimensions. And yet we have been more or less in a turmoil ever since about it and we have done everything except turn out a single Bren machine gun. Could any system be more stupid?

Will He Repeat It?

We suffer from having the wrong men make the wrong kind of addresses. Perhaps it comes from the modern craze of having some one address an organization. Of organizations we have many, therefore of addresses we must have the same number.

Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal made an address to a number of young men and his statement as reported was that if war came between Italy and England the sympathy and support of the French-Canadians would be with the Italians. He even injected the religious theme on the ground that French - Canadians were Roman Catholics and the Pope lives in Rome, Italy.

The French-Canadians, Mayor Houde argued, had long been accustomed to living under dictators and they preferred the fascism of Italy to the looser methods of democracies.

In due course of time we anticipate there will be a visit of Their Majesties, our King and Queen, to this country, and Montreal is one of the places they will stop. It seems probable the mayor of the Canadian metropolis will be called upon to appear in his official capacity to greet them. He may even have something to say. Will he repeat the address he gave to the young men the other evening?

Havelock's Load Of Wood

Our correspondent at Havelock in reporting the session of the village council inserted this rather significant clause:

"The clerk was also instructed to order a load of dry wood from George Varty for transients' use at the town hall."

We have heard the complaint registered a number of times that the transients found so many municipalities willing to do nothing at all on their behalf. Their existence and presence seemed to be ignored in total or in major part at least.

But here in Havelock buying a load of good hardwood, and it is recorded from official minutes that it is for the use of the transients who visit Havelock.

In this peculiar age people are rather hard to please, and it may be the transients will misinterpret the kindly thought of the rulers of yon Havelock. The truth probably is that those who are elected to govern the place have decided that strangers in their bailiwick shall be welcomed in a fitting manner. It may be that some of the transients have in other times been handy enough with a bucksaw and a stick of dry wood, but with passing of time the hand has lost its skill and the back its feeling of motion. Perhaps there are others who need education in this particular art and Havelock will gladly supply instruction in a practical way as the price of municipal hospitality.

Or it may be—but perish the thought—that Havelock council has come to the conclusion that wood pile in the vicinity of its civic building may be somewhat analogous to a sign which indicates that smallpox has broken out on the premises.

We suspect the truth of that little clause in the council minutes means that Havelock has found that transients do not care to saw wood, and that the purchase of another load is one way of buying immunity from a too frequent visitation.

The Power Of Money

Attorney-General Gordon D. Conant discussed an interesting topic when he spoke about what he was pleased to term "the injustice of justice." By way of illustration he used the common custom of magisterial courts where a person is convicted and then fined. It may be the old sentence of $10 and costs or ten days in jail. Mr. Conant is of the opinion that there is some lack of justice in this in that the punishment is not the same for all who receive such a sentence. The man who has some money in his pocket can pay his fine and walk out; he can purchase his freedom and he has not been hurt much. Within a few moments he can be about his work as usual.

The man who has no money must go to jail for ten days and is in that way punished to a greater extent than the man who had sufficient money to keep from serving time in jail. When a man is found guilty of an offence and is convicted then he is a debtor to the law and must discharge that debt. In a very practical way it would be better if all such debts could be settled in terms of cash. It is more simple and more profitable than locking people up for ten days and having to care for them during that period. But the claim that one man goes to jail and the other man purchases freedom is substantially correct.

The possession of wealth is more apparent when cases are carried by way of appeal from one court to the next higher. A may win a verdict against B in the lower court, and B may have the means for taking it to a higher court, but A may not be able to follow. It might also be that B with his money could secure the services of experts to handle his case, giving him added advantage over client A.

One does not like the idea of there being one law for the rich and another for the poor, but Mr. Conant has placed his finger on a rather well-known example, where one man pays a fine and goes free while the next man, unable to pay, goes to jail.

Having The Mumps

There are quite a few cases of mumps in the district, and there is some talk of closing the school until the epidemic works itself out. So writes a rural correspondent in an exchange. It is also recorded by way of advice that a doctor ought to be seen as soon as mumps is—or are—suspected.

A good many adults can remember well enough the time when mumps was doctored at home. The method of finding out the suspected case was simple enough. Just give a sour pickle and if the child could chew that without any trouble there was no mumps in sight.

When the mumps came the treatment was generally the same. Few ever went to bed for any length of time. There was always a strip of red flannel long enough to come well over the jaw and allow the knot to be tied firmly and artistically at the top of the head. If the patient then desired to sit beside the kitchen range and keep warm then that was the right place. But no person seemed to get excited over mumps; the school house was never closed on that account and in many homes the doctor was never called or consulted. You just had the mumps, felt miserable for a while, then got over it strong in the belief that you'd never have them again.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We have a surplus of 44,630,000 pounds of butter in Canada, and if one desires to know why the price of butter fat is low and why butter is cheap the answer is right there.

Report from Japan says the war in China is now in its final stages. That can hardly be front page news as a year ago it was reported to be in a similar condition.

Japan announces it is planning on a new naval building program, and is probably taking it for granted it can purchase all the needed materials from the democracies of the world.

The Detroit-Windsor ferry company asked a rebate of $138,000 in taxes, claiming that the bridge and tunnel had taken their business away. The government had done the same thing with their money.

It was estimated that a U.S. army plane which dropped from a great height being before brought under control came down at the rate of 11 miles per minute. We once had a few shares of stock which did exactly the same thing.

Mayor Carney of New Bedford, Mass., has filed suit against a newspaper for libel, and among other parties to it he names the editor as one individual who shall hand over $25,000 damages. WEE ANGUS

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Wee Angus trades a lot of stuff, of dealing never gets enough he sometimes takes in junk; some deals he seems to be right smart, then what he gets will come apart, and he seems rather sunk.

¶ He traded yesterday some more, when he was playing after four, he thought he was in luck; did business with some other lad, and then I found that now he had, a hockey stick and puck.

¶ The stick had seen a lot of wear, and it was battered here and there, the puck was much the same; Wee Angus said the other boy, was taken much with just a toy, the engine from his train.

¶ I told Wee Angus he had lost, I told him what the engine cost, he was not smart or quick; the boy was far too smart for him, the price he paid was far too thin, a puck and hockey stick.

¶ But Angus argued otherwise, his logic caused me some surprise, the stick he knew was old; but he could use the thing each day, when he went out a spell to play, of happy games he told.

¶ The engine from his train was through, nor could it ever run like new, it had a busted spring; there was no fun in having it, for he could only squat and sit—just lookin' at the thing.

Mr. Speaker Was Not Quite Right

(From Parliamentary Reports)

Mr. FINN: I believe the rule says that a motion to adjourn the house for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance shall always be in order, and that no second motion to the same effect shall be made. It goes on to say later that in the motion you must give your preliminary grounds in order to show the reason, the cause, and the necessity of moving the adjournment of the house for the purpose of discussing it.

Mr. SPEAKER: The hon. member should state the matter that he wants to put before the house, and he is then supposed to hand the motion to the Speaker with a statement as to the urgency of the matter. He has not done so yet.

Mr. FINN: Well then, after these few preliminary remarks of mine as to the matter of urgency, I will hand to your honour the Speaker my reasons as set out in the motion, seconded by my honourable and genial deskmate—not classmate—the hon. member for Kamouraska.

Mr. SPEAKER: I have received the statement and have considered the remarks of the hon. member. I do not think the matter is of such urgent public importance that it is necessary to adjourn the house on that account. It may be a matter of urgent local importance, but that is not sufficient to sustain the motion.

Mr. FINN: Mr. Speaker, I did not catch what your ruling is. It is pretty hard for us in this chamber to hear.

Mr. SPEAKER: I said that I did not consider the matter one of urgent public importance and therefore, according to the rules, I was not bound to read the statement.

Mr. FINN: All I say, Mr. Speaker, is that I consider it is of sufficiently urgent importance, although of a local character—

Mr. SPEAKER: I have given my decision.

Mr. FINN: —in one province.

Mr. SPEAKER: I have rendered my decision.

Mr. FINN: I appeal, Mr. Speaker, from your ruling. It is the first time I have ever done so, but I must do it.

Mr. ILSLEY: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I do not know whether your honour has given a decision, but I would support the hon. member for Halifax (Mr. Finn) in the submission that he is making, that it is a matter of urgent public importance. It has affected a large section of an important industry in eastern Canada.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): On the point of order, Mr. Speaker, according to page 72 of the rules, if an hon. member asks for leave of the house, and it is granted, I believe he has the right to proceed. I understand that the hon. member has the leave of the house to proceed, and with all deference I suggest that he be allowed to go on.

Mr. SPEAKER: If twenty hon. members will rise to support the motion it will be considered.

And leave having been granted:

Mr. MANION: On a point of order, while I entirely agree with the decision of the house, and recognize that some of my hon. friends opposite were trying to help the hon. member for Halifax (Mr. Finn) to proceed, I should like to draw attention to the fact that when once a ruling is made by Mr. Speaker it is not, I imagine, in order for three or four hon. members to rise in their places for various reasons and again debate the matter.

Mr. FINN: The rules provide for that.

Mr. MANION: The rules do not provide that after Mr. Speaker has decided a question, that question can be again discussed. I am not objecting to the matter being proceeded with; I am very glad to have the hon. member go on, but I thought I should bring the point to the attention of the house.

Mr. FINN: The remarks of he hon. leader of the opposition are very much like those of the gentleman who, when he was dying, was asked where he wanted to be buried with relation to his two wives. He said, "I want to be buried between the two of them, but with a little cant towards Kitty."

To The Editor

MARRIED WOMEN WORKING

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I was reading in one of the papers from the western part of the province where Mayor Geo. Gordon of Kitchener is going to do something about married women keeping their places in factories and such places. He had a deputation of young women wait on him several weeks ago and they put up their case in a fair way. They could find nothing to do and most of them needed work. They were blocked because so many married women whose husbands were working were holding jobs.

Mayor Gordon has started a campaign and he is backed by his city council. He is writing to all the employers in his city asking that they discharge such married women and give their places to single girls or to men if possible.

I believe the mayor of Kitchener is right and is doing a thing which should be carried into effect in other places, that is if the employers will do as he asks. In these days when there are not enough jobs to go around it is not right for a married woman to be working if her husband has a job and apart from that it is no way to run a home. That is in itself business enough for any woman and it is better for the woman than being out at work.

If so many women keep on crowding into the work field I'd like to know what chance there is for the young men. If a young man can't get a job then he can't get married, and the result of our system which allows so many women, married and single, to go out working means that we are going to have a great crop of old maids in the near future and I suppose they will all in turn be wondering what is wrong with the times. If they were honest they'd be asking what is wrong with themselves.

I have not the least objection to a woman, married or single, working when she has to do it, but for those who keep on horning in when they don't have to and keep others from a job I have no patience at all. It was not by any such system that this country was made in the first place. Now that I've had my say I am not going to sign my name because I'm afraid. I know of one thing—if my name was signed in full I'd have too many women trying to get their hands in my hair.

Debate On The Bren Gun

Excerpts taken from the debate in House of Commons on the Bren gun contract. Taken from the House of Commons Debates:

Mr. CLEAVER: I do not like to interrupt the hon. gentleman, but will he permit a question?

Mr. MANION: This is a serious discussion, and I do not want to be interrupted very much. I will let the hon. member ask his question, but I do not intend to be diverted to all kinds of other issues.

Mr. CLEAVER: Just so that we shall not misunderstand the attitude of the hon. gentleman, I should like to ask him whether he quarrels with the rule of law laid down by section 13 which he is discussing, namely—

Mr. MANION: I am not discussing the section. Let the hon. gentleman take his seat. If he wants to make a speech on the rules of law he can go ahead later and make it.

Mr. CLEAVER: I understood the hon. gentleman was going to permit a question.

Mr. SPEAKER: Order. The leader of the opposition has the floor.

OTHERS GOT LETTERS

I do not question that except to observe that it seems strange that the minister should forget that he had given a letter of introduction to someone whom apparently he had not remembered meeting.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I gave some to your colleagues.

Mr. MANION: Well, that is all right. The hon. gentleman probably knew my colleagues, but apparently he did not know Major Hahn.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I did not know the friends of my friend's colleagues. Ask the hon. member for Davenport (Mr. MacNicol), I gave a similar letter.

Mr. MacNICOL: A letter of what?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): A letter of introduction to friends of yours of exactly the same type.

Mr. MacNICOL: To what purpose?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): John T. Hepburn of Toronto.

Mr. MANION: When this difference is straightened out I will go on.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Let us have fair play.

Mr. MacNICOL: A letter in what connection?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I have a copy of it if my hon. friend requires it.

Mr. MacNICOL: It will be all right to read it.

I DEFY MY. HON. FRIEND

Mr. MANION: There were many firms in Canada which had experience in manufacturing shells and munitions. During the last war a number of large companies were manufacturing shells on a huge scale.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): That has nothing to do with it.

Mr. MANION: They have precision tools. Mr. Justice Davis himself mentioned a number of companies which were capable of doing it.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): He did not.

Mr. MANION: I read the list a few moments ago.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Will my hon. friend please read the evidence correctly?

Mr. MANION: Does the minister suggest that this Major Hahn, who was not a manufacturer, was the only man in Canada who could do this?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Certainly not.

Mr. MANION: That is all the answer I need. There were any number of companies. I make this statement: There is not a manufacturing company in Canada, not a company manufacturing steel products of any kind—and there are many of them—which was not far more capable than Major Hahn of carrying out this contract. I ask the Prime Minister: Does he approve—and I know he does not in his heart—of patronage of this sort, particularly patronage in munitions?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Where is the patronage?

Mr. MANION: Does the minister suggest that he does not know where the patronage is?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I defy my hon. friend to prove it. I defy my hon. friend to prove any patronage.

Mr. MANION: The hon. member for Trinity (Mr. Plaxton), who is in his seat now, brings in a friend of his and he gets the Minister of National Defence to help him out—

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Your friend, the hon. member for Davenport (Mr. MacNicol), brought in a friend who got the same sort of letter.

Mr. MANION: But he did not get a contract for Bren guns.

WHO'S SPEECH IS IT?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: No, my hon. friend is not accurate when he says "as Canada's representative for the Bren gun," because the cable read:

You might request war office to give Major Hahn, as representing Canadian government in this particular—

Just one particular question.

Mr. STIRLING: And that was the Bren gun.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: It continues: —any information which they consider desirable and necessary to enable national defence to reach conclusion on possibility produce Bren gun in Canada.

Not to give Major Hahn any contract.

Mr. MANION: What was the object of the introduction?

Mr. STIRLING: Mr. Speaker, am I making this speech or am I not? The Prime Minister has introduced this interruption four times now, and everything I have said so far has been absolutely accurate.

Mr. EULER: With a wrong inference to be drawn.

COMES A PROTEST

Mr. SPEAKER: I must inform the hon. member that he has exhausted his time.

Mr. MASSEY: I should like a moment or two, Mr. Speaker, to finish if I may, just one more sentence.

An hon. MEMBER: Just one sentence.

Mr. SPEAKER: With the consent of the house.

Mr. YOUNG: Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. All during the debate on the address it became the practice of speakers to say that they would like to continue for just a little while; and the unanimous consent of the house having been obtained o nthe understanding that they would speak only a few sentences more, my observation was that they continued for a long time thereafter, thereby prolonging the debate. In this particular instance, lest I be misunderstood, let me say that I am not going to make any objection to the hon. gentleman continuing. I am rather enjoying the remarks he is making—he is adding nothing to the debate—but I do want to register my objection to the practice that is growing up of a speaker exceeding his forty-minute limit should be observed or we should abrogate the rule.

PERFECT CRITICISM.

A FEW WEEKS ago an elderly English woman who was stricken with deafness by the shock of being informed her son had been killed in the Great War 24 years ago, suddenly recovered her hearing. She took great delight in hearing sounds again, and one of the first things she tried was the radio which did not exist in 1916. It so happened that the first thing that came over the air was a crooner. She listened to him for a few moments and then cried out:

"Stop that terrible noise."

This seems to us the perfect criticism of crooning.—(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for on eye, and a tooth for a tooth: but I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. . . . Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy.

But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven.—Matt. v, 38, 39, 43-45.

IN BEER PARLORS.

Exponents of a spurious democracy may argue that a poor man on relief should not be deprived of the right to patronize beer parlors which are frequented by his more affluent fellows. But when a check-up by Etobicoke township after the payment of relief cheques revealed that one-third of the recipients visited the beverage rooms, it looks as though organized relief were being taken for a ride.

It is absolutely necessary to organize relief for those who are destitute. But when money raised by taxes is invested in beer it is evident that fraudulent advantage is being taken of the opportunity to get ready money without having to work for it. Patrons of beer parlors are either not in need of relief or are getting more relief than they need.—(Toronto Telegram)

A Master Weaver At His Work

The largest hand loom in Canada is being built by William Dawson, 175 Dublin street, unemployed master weaver, who is confident he can support himself and his family once the loom is completed. The machine will weave cloth three yards wide, eight inches wider, than the largest loom now in use in this country. He is shown operating one of the smaller hand looms which he built some time ago.

Unemployed Man Busy Building Largest Hand Loom In Canada

William C. Dawson, 36 year old master weaver of 175 Dublin street, who has been unemployed since last February and who has five children is building the largest hand loom ever made in Canada which he hopes will permit him to earn a living for his family.

It's the old story of a master craftsman striving to turn his hobby of a lifetime into a small business that will bring adequate returns and to this man the future looks comparatively rosy. The loom will weave cloth three yards wide, eight inches wider than the largest hand loom in Canada, which is at present owned by the Guild of Arts at Scarboro Bluffs.

For a month now the man has been building the loom and hopes to have it completed within three weeks The lumber he obtained by trading some cloth woven on a small hand loon, which he built. He nailed two 2 x 4 pieces together and fashioned a wooden roller by hand for the machine and another is almost completed.

Three Yard Strip.

On this large loom it will be possible to weave anything except mohair, and the products possible are blankets, suitings, bedspreads, draperies, scarfs, dresser sets, and almost anything in the market today. Treasured bedspreads with unique designs which appear from time to time at exhibitions, and are the products of hand looms will be made, and a customer can specify practically any design and have it exclusively. On the smaller looms the cloth is woven about 20 inches wide and then each strip is crocheted to the other forming a counterpane or bedspread, but on the large loom a strip three yards wide can be woven in one piece and as long as is wanted.

"An unemployed man can't ask for credit but I intend to keep plugging along and should be able to get enough lumber through my friends to complete this loom soon. I feel confident I can make a living once the loom is made," said Dawson.

He was the first man to make fly shuttle hand looms in Canada, operated by hand and foot, and still sells a few of these when the opportunity arrives.

Weave Yard in 25 Minutes.

"I can weave a yard of cloth in 25 minutes on this big loom and I figure there are enough wealthy people in the city, particularly women, who want distinctive table cloths and bedspreads and I can make them," was Dawson's way of summing the situation up.

He was born in Barnoldswick, Yorkshire and his mother taught him to operate a hand loom when he was seven years of age. He would assist in weaving the cloth used to make the family clothing. At 11 he was attending school and working part time in the cotton mill and when he was 13 he was operating 4 small hand power looms. He worked with T. F. Firth and Sons at Bradford for fifteen years, coming to Canada in 1929, to work with the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Auburn plant. He worked for three years at the Guild of All Arts in Toronto and since last February has been unemployed.

DR. J. GREEN'S RINK WINS PACKERS' TROPHY IN LOCAL 'SPIEL

Lakefield Rink Comes Second As Ice Softens

Commencing around 9.30 a.m. yesterday on a sheet of ice that was fairly keen and hard, and finishing up on a sheet of ice that resembled the "old swimming hole", Dr. J. Green of the local club piloted his rink to take first honors and the Canada Packers' silver trophy. So heavy was the going that many of the boys defaulted their third and last game.

Two years ago in this same contest mild weather came, but it was not quite as bad as yesterday.

The younger curlers were somewhat at a loss on the tough ice, but the older and more experienced ones had been through it many a time and knew what to expect.

Old Campaigner.

D. Charlton, an old campaigner from Lakefield, came a bang-up second, only one shot out, and F. Carew of Lindsay, another old timer in bonspiel warfare, came third. R. F. Downey one point under Carew, and B. Everson, Lindsay, the last prize.

Stray Shots

The Weather Man was just 24 hours with his probabilities.

The Campbellford boys did not do so badly, considering they have no rink.

Walter Oke had a funny day. Won his first game on an extra end, lost his second on an extra end, and—we'll skip the third game.

Gil Putman, who viced for Dr. Green, played lead on the winning rink of last season's bonspiel.

Without taking any credit from all the winners, it was truly a survival of the fittest.

The arena was more like a hothouse than a curling rink.

We don't know how Mr. Downey's cat made out last night.

C. Smith, from Woodville, was a newcomer to our 'spiel.

The one and only place to curl yesterday was on Number 8—it was so nice and quiet there.

Soft ice or hard ice, the boys all seemed to take it in good part, and seemed to enjoy themselves, and that's what counts.

Second Round.

B. Everson 9, R. Bacon 7.
R. Downey 16, C. Giroux 9.
Dr. Green 7, W. Oke 7.
W. Mark 9, P. Kelly, 5.

D. Charlton 11, V. Currie 6.
J. Mackie 9, J. Knox 5.
J. W. McDermid 14, T. McArthur, 5.

Third Round.

B. Everson 14, W. Oke 9.
R. Bacon 8, P. Kelly 6.
Dr. Green 14, R. Downey 10.

Gorman Places Brimsek With Gardiner

By Robert Clarke
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, Feb. 9 — (CP). — Thomas Patrick Gorman, who always has and still does claim that good goal-tending is half the battle when it comes to winning hockey games, put young Frankie Brimsek of Boston Bruins "in the same class" to-day with such all-time goaling greats as the late Charlie (Chuck) Gardiner.

Never a man to quibble about a superlative, as an unbiased observer Tay-Pay obviously meant it when he said that Brimsek looks 'like the best goalie in the National Hockey League to-day." In fact, Gorman claimed it is hard to foresee to just what peak of stardom the 24-year-old Brimsek might reach.

"I've only seen him in a few games this year, but those games and the record he has compiled of nine shutouts so far seems to speak for itself," said Gorman, who managed Chicago Black Hawks to a world championship in 1934, and Montreal Maroons to a world title the succeeding year. Gorman also headed the new-defunct Maroons for part of last season.

"You know," he said, "I heard a lot about Brimsek's play in the Intam (International - American) League last season and tried to get him for Maroons then, but Art Ross (Bruins' manager) wouldn't sell him. It doesn't look as if you could blame him, eh!"

Took Hawks To Victory

Gorman it was who pariayed Gardiner's great back-stopping and persistent backchecking by forwards into a world title for the Hawks in 1934. The next year he took over in Montreal with Maroons, brought Alex Connell out of a year's retirement from a job with the Ottawa fire department and led a Stanley Cup winner again.

Although he thinks Brimsek has the stuff that Gardiner, Connell and other great netmen were made of, Gorman considers that the finest goal-tending he ever saw displayed by Connell in 1935 in the final series for the Stanley Cup against Toronto Maple Leafs. Maroons won in three straight games.

"I've seen Gardiner when he was great; Roy Worters (former New York American goalie) has turned in games that made him one of the best but Connell was just magnificent in that series especially in the second game, which was played in Toronto. But Brimsek is in the same class as those fellows. Maybe he hasn't had the experience yet but he definitely has the stuff."

Gorman is manager now of the Canadian Arena Company, which controls the Forum—home for hockey in Montreal. He hasn't any interest in returning as an N.H.L. manager. Skating carnivals, wrestling and boxing shows and the like occupy too much time. 'Where would I find time to manage a hockey team?" he asks.

Puck Tournament Opens In Omemee

The McNevin Cup annual hockey tournament started last night in Omemee, with the home Black Hawks taking an 8-1 decision over the Lindsay Victorias, while in the other bracket Lindsay Jones Boys defeated Dunsford by a 6-2 count. To-night's tournament calls for the Jones Boys of Lindsay to tangle with Kirkfield, while Omemee Black Hawks play Fenelon Falls. This twin bill will be at the Omemee Arena, and the District Hockey League game between Peterborough Aces and Omemee will therefore be postponed—probably until Monday.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Hard-working members of the Peterborough Ski Club are sitting pat these days and keeping their fingers crossed. The probs of "much colder and snow" last eve gladdened their hearts. Right now conditions at Bethany and Nassau are ideal, the snow packing fine for the jumping Saturday and the slalom and down-hill events the following afternoon. And all should be oke for the cross-country run from and to Armour Hill on Saturday morn. Westclox has kindly offered use of showers, canteen, etc., to the competitors in the nine-mile race (some 20 or so likely competing) and two doctors will examine contestants ere they start. All is under control now and things look bright for a big winter sports week-end. Lots of entries from all over the province—with some from Quebec. Two local guys, Don Shiner and Jack Holland, tried out the ski jump by floodlight the other night.

* * * * * *

Local lacrosse club held its annual meeting last e'en in the "Y", with these 1939 osnifers elected: President, Ken Kingston; vice-prexy, Hugh Campbell; secretary, Frank Randle; treasurer, Alex Fitzgerald; executive, Fred Nelson, Jim Lehane, Doug Miller, Pete King, Frank Buckland, Red Creighton, V. Reynolds, Ira Dundas, Hubert Legros, Harry Tudhope, R. M. Glover, Herb McCannan, Herb Bradburn and Rowan Chute. Reports were read and some plans drafted for the coming season. Meantime, an executive meeting will be called shortly to deal with committees, discuss manager and coach, and so on. The Petes, senior "B" champs of Ontario last year, look for another big season.

A Word From Baldy

Harold (Baldy) Cotton, ex-pro puck star and now on the Toronto Leafs' goodwill roster, spoke recently at a Belleville banquet. He emphasized the fact that the will to win is the big thing, along with clean living and playing, and stated there is no such thing as a good loser—that no one in sports or business likes to lose. He tho ught sports were fine for developing the body, mind and discipline, and pointed out that athletics lead to good business connections for later life. And an important fact was brought out, that sports keep boys occupied and cut down greatly on crime as well as making pals of sons and fathers. He was speaking at a church function, and was roundly applauded.

* * * * * *

A checkup shows how the Petes' scoring was done during the eight scheduled senior "B" hockey games this winter. Honey Tompkins led with 11 points, while Eddie Starr and Red Creighton were tied with 10 apiece. Bun Kingdon came next with nine, as Jack Gardner and Don Coughlin collected six each. So did Doc Nichol—and these seven forwards have all been playing good hockey and ducking penalties. Of the defencemen, Weir and Crowe had two points apiece. Leading scorer of goals was Tompkins with eight, and four had five assists, Kingdon, Starr, Creighton and Coughlin. Some players weren't in as many games as others, but these are the figures. Personally, we lose interest in figures each September when the bathing beaches close—but that's simply a personal feeling!

The Fliers And Petes

The Fliers and Petes tangle here tomorrow in the twilight in the first of their three-in-five group playoffs. Second one is in Belleville Monday. Since Xmas we haven't had more than a few dimes to rub against each other, but we're inclined to bet a bit on the locals to cop the serial. Even after their lousy showing here last Friday 'gainst the Airmen. The Fliers this year have been up and down like the stock market in a war crisis and haven't played three good games in a row all winter. Seldom two, in fact. And the Petes—barring a couple of sour showings—have looked pretty fair. All right, maybe we are wrong on it, but we still have a coupla simoleons to put where our mouth is—and dough talks in any language. It'll be a real scrap here tomorrow, so don't pass it up.

* * * * * *

Some 2,000 fans in Belleville on Tuesday saw a thriller with the Quinte crew having most of the play—but the canny Airmen broke away for several soft ones. Two questionable goals went against the luckless Redmen, one allowing a tally for the Fliers and one not being counted for Belleville. Goal judges were removed in both cases. So it was plenty close, eh? Referee Joe Smith of Kingston didn't show up, so the Holway brothers of Belleville were used—both of 'em. Quinte columnist says it was the wildest and most thrilling tussle played on that ice in years, and we can well believe it. A 6-5 score with one team being eliminated certainly sounds like a hotcha hockey fray.

Down In The Southend

Maroons copped a Southend Puck Loop intermediate win over Canucks last e'en at the Sacred Heart rink in the first of the two-in-three playoff series. Next is Tuesday at seven bells. Meantime, Westenders and King Edward Midgets meet at seven tonight, whilst the Y's Men's and King Edward Juveniles joust at nine. Postponed tilts will be picked up next week and the playoffs in the minor serials staged. Just another indication that winter soon will be on the wane.

One gathers from a Lindsay Post item that the Lakefield Legionnaires had some of Peterborough pucksters' oldtime fun after their recent game in the Scugog centre. "Lakefield must have picked up a portion of Peterborough's aversion to Lindsay on their way through last night," says the scribe, "for some very rabid female fans caused a near riot after the game. Icemaker Charlie Armsden is sporting a beautiful shiner which someone hung on him as he attempted to clear the crowd from the ice. A hurry-up call was sent in for the constabulary, but the crowd had pretty well dispersed when they arrived." Whitby is supposed to play Lakefield on the latter's ice about Saturday, we think.

Hither and yawn: We wish Archie Deyell, former Petes' pitcher, well in his new job in far-off Nicaragua....Buster Whitton says he'll hang up his lacrosse and hockey sticks for good this year....Campbellford juveniles are off for Lindsay this eve....Oshawa's junior "B" team is trying to line up an exhibition tilt in Lindsay for Sat'day....No word on Monarchs' next hockey tussle....Whitby did a 12-2 chore on Oakwood intermediates last e'en; Lindsay plays at Newmarket tonight....Watt's this? Three Watts' brothers play on one line for Warsaw....Still some quiet work going on here on artificial ice plans, we hear—but very quiet....Cobourg gal cagers play C.G.E. at eight tonight in P.C.I. gym, while Belleville and Orfuns clash at nine....Three gals' games there tomorrow p.m., starting at six....Louie Lecompte of the Fliers easily led the senior "B" group schedule in scoring with 22 points as McNeeley got 16; Clayt Jackson topped Belleville with 14....Owing to a puck tourney in Omemee, the Aces' game 'gainst the O's there tonight has been postponed....Fare is two bits return via C.N.R. to Nassau on Sat'day aft for the ski jumps....These postponed C.G.E. games will be run off tonight at the Brock: Switchgear vs. Wire at eight, Machinists vs. Cabinets at nine, Test vs. Fractionals at 10....Cheerio.

George Sprague Given Johnny Evans Trophy

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 9 — (CP). —Doug Annan, husky flying wing of the senior team, was yesterday chosen as 1939 captain of Queen's senior intercollegiate football team.

Annan, who hails from Hamilton, will graduate in science in a year. He has played for the past two seasons on the senior squad, winning the regular osition of flying wing when Art Stollery, captain last fall, was shifted to quarter-back.

The players also awarded the Johnny Evans Trophy to George Sprague, captain of the team in 1937 and one of the hardest plunging middle wings in the college unions. Trophy is given to the most valuable player on the squad. Sprague is a brother of Dave Sprague of the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Ump, Player and Manager Receive Awards

New York's chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association honored three eminent figures in the game recently, when it presented plaques to Umpire Bill Klem, LEFT, First Baseman Jimmy Foxx, CENTRE, and Manager Joe McCarthy, RIGHT. The award to Klem, dean of baseball's men in blue, was for "services to baseball over a period of years," that to the Boston Red Sox slugger for being the "player of the year," and to McCarthy for the "outstanding achievement," the latter being his feat of piloting his team to three consecutive world championships.

Keep Two-Ton Tony Away From Louis, Please!

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Now we really have something to write to congress about. It is reported that Two-Ton Tony Galento is to be placed in the same ring with Joe Louis, June 29, in a big outdoor heavyweight championship bout in one of the local ball parks.

There ought to be a law. If it is within reason to enact a measure to prevent murder, it should be passed at once. This promises to be awful.

We are not altogether on the side of our most skeptical brothers, those crass technicians of boxing, who have been trying to park Tony permanently in the little house with Rover. We'll go halfway with the Galento group and admit the boy is entertaining, even though he can't fight a lick. A championship fight, though, is something else again.

Galento has been harshly criticized recently by the watchdogs of boxing. He has been going around to such places as Philly, St. Louis and Detroit with a low platform diving act, and the excessive splashing of the Thomases and Brescias has been drenching ringside customers, making it very uncomfortable to attend a fight.

Sad Sort of Thing.

This is the same sort of hippodrome and balderash as the chariot race at the end of the circus, it is alleged by the critics, and it hurts boxing to no end. The sinister design has been, of course, to manoeuvre the Tarzan of the taverns into a championship match, and if the mantle of immortal John L. should fall on this coxcomb's unworthy shoulders, we might as well pick up our marbles and go home.

It's our view, however, that the mantle of John L. is not going to fall on Tony's shoulders while Joe is walking the beat. But in the interests of what is sweet and noble, it does seem that the boys are becoming overbold with Galento. While not ready to go quite all the way with Tony's detractors, we're willing to admit the lad can't fight, even if we like him, and his niche in fistian's hall of fame should be something short of the championship.

It appears obvious that Tony Galento doesn't belong in a fight for the title, but that is no reason why he should be chased out of the ring or placed in a pillory on the public square. There ought to be some room in the ring for good clean fun, such as wrestling, and Tony spreads boundless cheer among customers who want their fighters alley type. Surely the good old fan flock, as well as the adjective salesmen in the press rows, understand that this is comedy, and not big, serious gripping stuff.

The stooges should be better, though. And may we suggest that the Galento "fan bunch" be stricken from the repertoire? We mean the punch that pushed Jorge Brescia into the pool over in Newark in a beautiful back jackknife. The idea of that terrible blow, as we get it, is copied from the New England hurricane of last year. The punch doesn't actually land, mind you, but the sheer force of the wind egendered by Tony's sweeping swing blows the man down. We don't care a whole lot for that.

Let Tony stick to his sure-fire stuff. That knee wallop is a peachy. And the heeling, in true, old-fashioned bartender style — that's certainly one of the better Galento bits. If we remember correctly, Tony used a hip-block on several of his opponents, and the gridiron idea brought down the house as well as Galento's man, though Joe Jacobs said after the fight that his gladiator won by virtue of a sharp upperout to the chin. Not everyone can see those sharp uppercuts of Tony's, I guess.

Tony's head-on plunge into empty space and his windmill wallop, ideas reminiscent of Rock 'Em Jawn Risko of beloved memory, must not be cast out of the ring just because certain snooty pugilistic observers can't forget Jim Corbett and Gene Tunney.

Let's have Tony—but let's not make it too good.

Lakefield Loses

PORT HOPE, Feb. 9.—(Special.) —Tallying six goals within ten minutes of the third frame, Trinity College School firsts came from behind to defeat Lakefield by a 10-7 count here Wednesday in a spectacular inter-school game.

W. Duggan with three goals, was outstanding for T.C.S. Cayley, Somerville and Russell each tallied twice and McAvity once. Crickmore starred for Lakefield, scoring four, while Rose chalked up two and Prewer one.

8 Teams Of 162 In O.H.A. Still Unbeaten

TORONTO, Feb. 9 — (C.P.). — With group playoffs already under way in some sections, eight teams of 162 in the seven divisions of the Ontario Hockey Association remained undefeated to-day. Three are Intermediate B clubs, two Junior B, and one each from the Senior A, Intermediate A, and Junior C sections.

Toronto Goodyears, who finished their Senior A schedule last week with 15 wins and five ties, start their playoffs next Wednesday in Toronto in an attempt to retain the league championship they won last season. Most of their opposition is expected to come from the speedy Oshawa club.

Waterloo are unbeaten or untied with eight straight wins in their group of the Intermediate A series, and critics call them the team to beat for Intermediate honors. Last season Waterloo were beaten by the Preston Riversides in the semi-finals. Preston went on to win the Intermediate title.

Port Colborne Incos are setting the pace in the Intermediate B division with 12 straight wins in their nine-team section. In another B group, Arthur are unbeaten and untied with nine victories. Much of the credit for the Arthur success has gone to burly Art Whittaker, former Toronto senior, who is playing coach of the Arthur club.

Sound Still Cockey.

Owen Sound are the undefeated leaders of a three-team B group with five wins and two ties. Port Elgin, their nearest opponents, are six points behind.

Northern Vocational School of the Toronto Prep League and Kingston are the Junior B clubs that have not tasted defeat. Northern have won seven and Kingston four in as many games played. The latest Northern win came last night when they edged out De La Salle Oaklands in Toronto 4-3.

The lone undefeated Junior C team is Parry Sound with six successive wins. Sundridge, who have played one more game than Parry Sound, are four points behind.

Hastings Hands Elgin Team First Loss 5-3

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Feb. 9 — Hastings handed Elgin their first defeat of the season in the East Peterborough Rural Hockey League, when they defeated them 5 to 3, here Wednesday night.

Led by Fred Crate, the locals outplayed Elgin throughout. Crate was a thorn in the side of Elgin, breaking up their passing attack and leading rush after rush into Elgin territory. Hastings led 3 to 2 at the end of the first period. There was no scoring in the second, and Hastings outscored Elgin 2 to 1 in the third period.

Right from the opening faceoff, McKee, for Hastings, tested E. Preston with a low hard shot. He rounded the defence seconds later and again Preston stopped his shot. After four minutes of play Hastings went into the lead, T. Scriver scoring on a pass from Washburn. Crate stickhandled through the entire Elgin team only to lift one over the net. The teams:

Elgin: Goal, E. Preston; defence, Grady and Sheppard; centre, Lumsden; wings, J. Preston and R. Richardson; subs, Lobb, G. Richardson, Metcalfe and J. Richardson.

Mic-Macs Down Campbellford 5-4 In Overtime

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Feb. 9.—The Madoc-Marmora Mic-Macs snatched a 5-4 nod over the fast Campbellford team in a gruelling overtime game here Tuesday night.

Due to the warm weather the ice was in poor condition for the game, and both teams felt the heavy going.

Alexander got the first count for Madoc on a pass through the defence by Hall, to be picked up in front of the net and backhanded past Turner. In a scramble in front of the Campbellford net, after stopping several shots, Turner was hit in the face by the puck when lying on the ice and was carried off. The crowd gave him a big hand when he returned a few minutes later to continue the game.

Near the end of the period Akey picked up a rebound off Heyworth's shot, drew the goalie out passed across to Alexander who rang up the second count for the Combines.

On the very next play Reynolds made it 3-0 on an assist by Loveless to end the period.

D. Couch was chased for tripping and the Madoc crew pressed in on a four man attack. Phillips broke away with two men to beat, pushed the rubber between Hall's feet to coast in on Hollingsworth and chalk up the first count for Campbellford.

Good Man Lost

Oddie, just returned to the Campbellford lineup after being out with an injured shoulder since the first of the season, ran into Loveless in centre ice, and left the game. Examination by a doctor showed his left shoulder fractured in two places. Campbellford will miss his services throughout the rest of the season as he is one of their best players.

Campbellford had by far the best of the play throughout this period. Penalty went to Hallstone for tripping and C. Couch got an easy one on a shot from the blue line.

In a scramble in front of the Madoc net, O'Neil was penalized for kneeling in the net and pushing the puck out with both hands. A penalty shot was awarded to Campbellford, C. Couch taking the try which failed. Period ended 3-2 for Madoc.

In the third period Phillips counted for Campbellford from a scramble in front of the Madoc net. Phillips was chased for using his knee.

Akey and Hall broke away catching four men up and counted for the homesters. Hall getting the tally. With two minutes to go, Blake banged in Phillips' pass to tie the count.

In the overtime both teams missed several tries before Heyworth broke up the game with a backhand shot from close in. Turner's view was blocked by his own team ganging up in front.

The game was handled by Watson of Madoc and Whytock of Madoc for Campbellford. The teams:

Campbellford—Goal, Turner; defence, D. Couch, Wilkes; centre, Robinson; wings, D. Free, C. Couch; alternates, Phillips, Oddie, Blake, Atkinson, F. Free.

Mic-Macs—Goal, Hollinsworth; defence, Hall, Hallstone; centre, Alexander; wings, Akey, Heyworth; alternates, O'Neil, Reynolds, Loveless, Shannon.

Tricky Forward

DOC NICHOL

When the Fliers and Petes open their senior "B" puck playoffs here Friday, Gord (Doc) Nichol will probably be sparking the locals' second front line along. He has been playing good hockey since coming here this season.

Lacrosse Club Names Officers

Ken Kingston was elected president of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club last night for 1939 at the annual meeting in the Y.M.C.A. There was a fair turnout, with little done but the election of officers for the coming year. The senior "B" champions of Ontario hope for another good grouping and another successful season.

The new officers are: President, Ken Kingston; vice-president, Hugh Campbell; secretary, Frank Randle; treasurer, Alex Fitzgerald; executive, Fred Helson, Jim Lehane, Doug Miller, Frank Buckland, Pete King, Red Creighton, V. Reynolds, Ira Dundas, Hubert Legros, Harry Tudhope, R. M. Glover, Herb McCannan, Herb Bradburn, Rowan Chute. The executive may add to its number.

After reports were read, and some general discussion held, Ken Kingston and Pete King were appointed to check up on some matters to be decided upon later. It was agreed that the property committee had to be unanimous in loaning or renting the lacrosse arena, else the executive would decide upon it. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring secretary, Jim Lehane, and also a vote of thanks to the press for past publicity. An executive meeting will be called shortly to deal with other matters.

New Tiger Plan "Play Or Else," To Get Action

DETROIT, Feb. 9—(AP).—Detroit Tigers, one of the most liberal major league baseball clubs when it comes to dishing out wages, have adopted to dishing out wages, have adopted to this year's rewards for their hired hands.

It's strictly an experiment, revealed when the 1939 contracts were sent out, but the idea is that faded contracts may serve to restore the absent "color" to the team's performances. The management decided to take—and give—a few hints from the numerous drab days at Briggs stadium during 1938 and based the pay rates on last year's performances.

So far no holdout has announced himself, but if one does, general manager Jack Zeller has the answer all ready: "If he wants more money, he can go out and show that he's entitled to more."

It's a major move in owner Walter Briggs' strategy for catching New York Yankees and nailing up another American League pennant here. Briggs beat rival bidders for the West Coast pitching sensation, young Freddie Hutchinson; acquired Pinky Higgins from Boston Red Sox, and reportedly has been seeking Eori Averill, slugging Cleveland outfielder.

These newcomers, with Hank Greenberg's home run blasting and Charley Gehringer's blanketing of the second base area, may bring back some of the lost color. Still, home town scribes have complained that the Tigers often lacked dash and played a monotonous game.

"Some of the boys," Zeller observed, "have been so well taken care of in the past that they lost the urge to hustle."

This season's salaries, while lower, were all "extremely fair," he added.

Senior Playoff Here Tomorrow

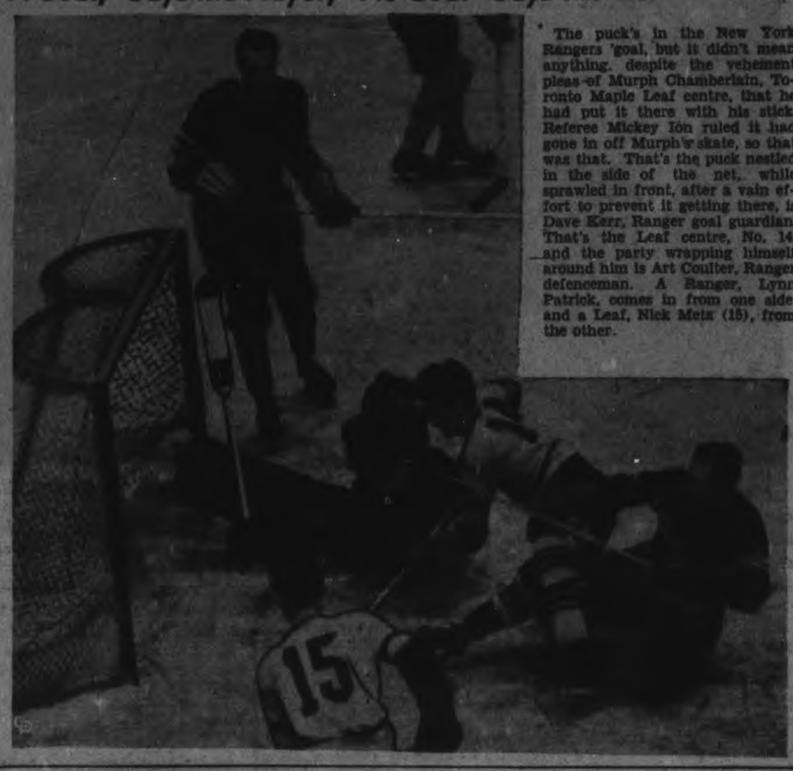
Final senior "B" standing:

Team	P.	W.	L.
Petes	8	5	3
Fliers	8	4	4
Redmen	8	3	5

The O.H.A. senior "B" group playoffs open here tomorrow (Friday) at 8.30 p.m. when Trenton Fliers and the Petes clash at the Brock. Second game of the three-in-five series will be in Belleville on Monday night. Winner of the series enters provincial playdowns.

A record crowd of city and district fans for the year here will witness Friday's playoff fixture. The Petes will be out there battling for the first win, while the Fliers have many supporting them after their 8-3 victory over the Petes here last Friday. It will be a grand game of hockey, with plenty at stake, showing two well-matched and classy crews tearing into each other in high gear all evening. Both clubs will be at full strength, and a good sheet of ice is promised for the important contest.

"A Goal," Says the Player, "No Goal" Says the Ref



The puck's in the New York Rangers' goal, but it didn't mean anything, despite the vehement pleas of Murph Chamberlain, Toronto Maple Leaf centre, that he had put it there with his stick. Referee Mickey Ion ruled it had gone in off Murph's skate, so that was that. That's the puck nestled in the side of the net, while sprawled in front, after a vain effort to prevent it getting there, is Dave Kerr, Ranger goal guardian. That's the Leaf centre, No. 14, and the party wrapping himself around him is Art Coulter, Ranger defenceman. A Ranger, Lynn Patrick, comes in from one side, and a Leaf, Nick Metz (15), from the other.

Rose Kampman Wins Opener

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP)—Defending champions swing into action here to-night in their first appearance of the 1939 Ontario badminton championships. The tourney, which ends Saturday, began last night, with only Kitchener and district shotmakers competing.

In first-round games, Rose Kampman, Kitchener, sister of Bingo Kampman of Toronto's National Hockey League Maple Leafs, stroked to impressive victories in the ladies' singles and the mixed doubles.

Miss Kampman easily defeated Helen McMahon, Galt, 11-1, 11-4, as play began in the singles, and teamed with J. Brown, Kitchener, to take a mixed doubles tilt from Mrs. Bitzer and J. Koehler, Kitchener, 15-10, 15-9. There were no outstanding upsets in the first-round games played.

Jack Storey, defending singles titlist, finds his first opposition tonight in L. Purvis of Kitchener. The men doubles' champions, Ted Pollock, Kitchener, and Doug Kennedy, Waterloo, try shots with A. Kratzky and Cairns, a Port Elgin team.

Walton vs. Connell.

Mrs. W. R. Walton, Canadian Women's singles champion and strong favorite to retain her Ontario title, meets Miss L. Connell, Kitchener, in a first-round match to-day. The Robertson sisters of Ottawa, Ruth and Margaret, open defence of their doubles crown against Misses Mitchell and Boone, Kitchener.

The provincial champion mixed doubles pair of last season, Kay Biette of Oakville and Jack Sibbald, Toronto, face a Kitchener entry in their first match of the tourney to-night.

The Toronto combination of Rod Phelan and Sibbald and the London pair, Jack Nash and Colin Brown, are regarded highly in the men's doubles, as are the Snyder brothers, Paul and Jim, formerly of Waterloo, now living in Toronto.

More than 300 entries make up the tourney with players representing 25 clubs throughout Ontario.

Restrict Vote To Taxpayers Lawyer Urges

KITCHENER Feb. 9—"There is no justification for giving the franchise to people who do not pay taxes in a reasonable amount," said Harold E. Manning, K. C., president of the Property Owners' Association of Toronto to the K-W Rotary club here yesterday. "I would like to see everybody pay taxes enough so that it will hurt when a municipality spends money. The franchise should be for the man who votes and the man who votes should pay taxes.

"The tax load on property should be lightened. Responsibility should be put on the people who wish to spend money."

In these words a very able speech on municipal taxation was summed up by the speaker who pointed out that the present taxation system is out of date, that the burden falls on the land and that it is carrying social service and education costs which it should never bear. He pointed out that land owners comprise ten per cent of the population and yet they pay 33 per cent of taxation and that three out of four voters do not pay taxes.

How To Cure It.

The cure for all these evils, he said, was first that municipal governments should be business corporations and secondly that educational costs should be assumed by the government and those who educate their children and that social services should be contributory as they are in England.

Mr. Manning pointed out that in Canada some people felt that owning their own homes was a mistake now, that it was a burden involving possible loss of savings and they felt it was cheaper to rent homes than own them. In Canada, he said, 36 per cent of all taxation falls on land or occupancy of the land whereas in Great Britain it is but 17.5 per cent and in Australia 12 per cent or in dollars per capita, Canada $33, Great Britain $18.50 and Australia $10 with the figure $51 in Toronto.

Tax sales, he said, could be obviated by an expenditure of from 10 to 15 per cent but many owners evidently do not think enough of their properties to hold them with the result that municipalities are becoming great land owners.

"Thirfty people are becoming discouraged and there is a danger that they will become advocates of repudiation and indifferent to extravagance," said the Toronto lawyer. "I say that capitalism has not failed but I ask do we exist to serve governments or do governments exist to serve us? They say that there is a shortage of houses. In many cases they are selling at half their cost and the large ones are being demolished. There will always be a shortage of anything when anything is selling below cost."

In Wrong Sphere.

The speaker said that such things as airports, harbor improvements, elementary and secondary education, social services and unemployment relief should never have been charged up to property whose owners comprise ten per cent of the population and they pay 33 per cent of the taxes. "Is there anything crazier than that?" he asked.

"The tenant does not pay the taxes and if he does not he has no interest in municipal economy and it is not a long jump to say that he has an interest in municipal spending. There out of four voters do not pay taxes at all."

Mr. Manning declared that municipal bodies should be business corporations. Social work should be contributory and under the government while education should be paid for by the government and those who benefit from it. Incidentally he said that education boards should be unable to dictate to councils as to financing.

The speaker was introduced by

Looking Back
On This Date

On this date (Feb. 9) in 1915 the House of Commons resumed consideration of the reciprocity proposals submitted to Parliament on Jan. 26. The issue was at once joined by F. D. Monk of Montreal, who, although he had differed from Mr. Robert Borden and the English-speaking leaders of his party on the naval issue, moved an amendment which in so many words set forth the difficulty in which the Conservatives found themselves, and asked for more time to reach a definite policy.

Monk, representing Jacques Cartier, complained that the country required more time to consider the proposals his amendment regretting "that the necessary time and occasion to ascertain the opinion of the people of Canada with regard to the proposals had not been given." Monk was an evident stop-gap, and was so styled by Fielding, who made a vigorous reply, taunting the Conservatives with their demands for reciprocity for over 20 years and their hesitation to accept it when procured. Monk's amendment was defeated by 26 majority and the debate went on.

Mr. Borden, who had been strengthened by support from Toronto and Winnipeg, then launched into a long attack upon the agreement. He attacked it both because it weakened the British perference (which he had himself opposed at its inception) and would lead to commerical union with the United States. And then, foreshadowing the campaign which was to follow in the country, said: "I trust that the Canadian people will not lightly relinquish the task to which their energies and the energies of their fathers have been consecrated for so many years. The self-denials, the sacrifices, the patriotism, demanded of us today in order that this nation may maintain and carry out the ideals and the purposes for which it was called into existence are as nothing to those which were required of our fathers who founded this Confederation. Loyalty to their memory and to the ideals which they consecrated demands that we should continue with firm heart and unabated hope upon the path which we entered nearly 50 years ago."

This gave the keynote to the opposition, most of whose members thereafter used the loyalty cry appealing to the anti-American sentiment of certain sections. But not even the most optimistic of them at that time, dreamed that by September they would have defeated Laurier, and that R. L. Borden, who had twice resigned the leadership because of intrigues against him, would become prime minister and one of Canada's greatest statesmen.

Ladybrook Choir Gives Concert In City Tonight

First English Ladies' Choir to ever tour Canada will appear in Peterborough tonight at St. Andrew's United Church. It is the Ladybrook Ladies Choir, under the direction of Miss Elsie Harrop, which was organized in 1927 and since then has taken trophies at musical festivals all over England and was heard regularly on the B.B.C.

M. P. Is President

With the choir will appear Miss Margaret Maddison, brilliant young English pianist, and accompanying the 25 singers are the Hon. M. Clements, English member of Parliament and Mrs. Clements. Mr. Clements is president of the choir and Mrs. Clements is chaperon, while the choir is on a tour of Canada and the United States. From Windsor the singers will cross the river to Detroit to appear in concert there and then go southward, finally arriving at New York for the opening of the World's Fair.

Friday, January 13, started the choir on its way across thte Atlantic to pay a return visit to the several Canadian choirs which have performed in England. All the singers bought fur coats to wear in wintry Canada, their press agent told The Star, but they found no use for them when they arrived in Halifax at the end of January. No snow greeted their eyes and springlike weather greeted them.

Among the numbers to be sung by the choir is a composition of the director's brother, J. Worsley Harrop, of Montreal. It is called "Autumn Leaves of Canada" and the poem for it was written by the Canadian poet, H. H. Bullock. The program also includes "Hear the Sledges with the Bells," by Hugh Robertson, who has called the group of 25 "A splendid choir, magnificently led and inspired."

Varied Program

Miss Maddison's numbers run the gamut from Bach to Debussy, with the impressionistic "Pictures at an Exhibition," of Mousorgsky included in the program. Bach's "Fantasia in C Minor" opens her group, which continues with another Bach composition, the "Largo." Rameau's "Gavotte and Variation" provides variety, and Schumann's "Jardins sous la Pluie" carry the group down the years to the moderns. Poulenc's "Pastourelle" and Dohnanyi's "Capriccio in F Minor" conclude the program.

The story of Ladybrook Choir is the story of a class of girls in a council school who liked to sing together, and when they concluded their school course did not stop singing. Organization of the choir followed and then came performances at festivals all over the north of England.

Alphonse Nault?

Inspector Armand Brodeur said Belleville authorities have been informed Nault's father lives at Lyster Station, Que., and a brother, Henri Nault, at Ile Du Calumet, Que.

Find Needle In Baby In Unusual Case

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Theory that a needle which entered the body of a pregnant mother had been removed from the body of her baby 10 months after its birth, aroused medical interest to-day.

Dr. Edward D'Arata extracted the rusty, 2¼-inch-long needle from the back of the infant, Dolores Tozzo, Saturday, after an X-ray showed it lodged near the spine.

The mother, Mrs. Mary Tozzo, expressed belief the needle had passed through her body into that of the baby before it was born. She said that more than a year ago, during the fourth month of her pregnancy, she had felt a sudden piercing pain as she sat on a couch.

Barring Unusual Growth In City Public School Enrolment To Decrease, Inspector Reports

A forecast that barring any unusual growth in the city the public school enrolment must tend to decrease in the near future is contained in the annual report of Keith S. Wightman, public school inspector. He points out that although Peterborough has not yet experienced that drop in the number of children of public school age which is so marked in the larger cities of Canada and the United States, nevertheless the birth rate in Ontario has shown a steady decline, decreasing from 21.4 per thousand in 1936, to 16.6 per thousand in 1937.

Illness is listed as the outstanding cause of absence during the year, accounting for 78.4 per cent of the whole. The scarlet fever epidemic helped to increased the total and there was also some loss from chickenpox in the Fall. The very small loss through truancy is a gratifying indication that few children find school life so uncongenial that they wish to absent themselves without leave. Most of these cases on investigation showed underlying causes which were not connected with the school.

In other words the glamorous days of playing hockey are fast becoming a thing of the past, either because the new curriculum is more interesting to the pupils or perhaps the truant officer is doing more effective work.

Additions

The new lighting system installed at King George School during the summer, has greatly improved working conditions in that building. At Central School, the painting of the rooms in the west building has added greatly to their attractiveness. The only classrooms which are not bright and cheerful are those in the older building at Central.

While the withdrawal of the suburban pupils relieved the overcrowding at Queen Alexandra School, the movement of new families into the north end of the city has again brought the enrolment of that school close to last year's figure. There is, however, no serious congestion.

Further additions were made during the year to the supplementary furniture of the classrooms. Much of this material has been made necessary by the changed methods of work which require a different type of room equipment.

In last year's report, attention was called to the death of suitable equipment for training in music appreciation. This need has, to a considerable extent, been supplied by the teachers through the expenditure of the proceeds of th annual Spring Festival. Some of the staff have individually provided gramophones fo rtheir classes, and Central school has rescured an additional piano through the aid of the Home and School Association. A few of the records specified in the Course of Studies have been purchased; others should be added during the coming year.

Text-Books

Recent changes in methods and courses have altered very materially the use of text-books. In such subjects as Geography and History, now combined as Social Studies, the text-book has almost disappeared, and has been largely replaced by supplementary material. We no longer find it necessary to provide each pupil with an expensive Geography and several texts in History; instead we provide supplementary material which remains in the room to be used by successive classes.

On the other hand, in some subjects the number of texts has noticeably increased. The former Second, Third, and Fourth Readers, which had a total cost of thirty-nine cents have been replaced by Six Readers at a cost of a dollar and fifty cents. Similarly the former Arithmetic, which served the pupil throughout his school course, has been replaced by four books, with two more to follow, each of which costs as much as the one book did in the past. Again, we have two Spellers where we formerly had one.

Balancing one change against the other, we find that it costs rather more to supply a pupil with texts throughout his school course than it formerly did. At the same time, we are receiving no fees from a considerable number of families. Fortunately it has been possible to effect some economies, and expenditures for the year were well within the total amount of fees received.

Staff

Four teachers retired from the Staff in 1938 and were replaced by Miss Gertrude Cox, Miss Beryl Hart, Mr. Londerville, and Mr. Telford,—all of whom have had successful service elsewhere.

At present the Staff consists of seventy-five grade teachers, one Manual Training, and one Household Science teacher. They are qualified as follows: Men— 15 first-class, 1 second-class, 1 Manual Training; Women,— 19 first-class, 33 second-class, 1 Auxiliary, and 1 Household Science. A number of the teachers have additional professional qualifications. Four are university graduates, and several others have partially completed university courses. Five of the six schools have teachers qualified in Agriculture, two have teachers holding certificates as Supervisors of Music.

Promotions and Reports

As there is no longer a final examination in June, it was possible this year to make promotions on the last day of the school term, instead of leaving them as formerly until the first of September. Each promoted pupil received a card, signed by teacher and principal, and stating the grade to which he had been advanced. Publication of the promotion lists was therefore unnecessary. In the case of those who were required to repeat their grade, a letter explaining why such action was considered advisable, was sent by the teacher to the parents. This system appeared to give satisfaction if one may judge from the fact that protests against non-promotion practically disappeared. The children who were entering a new grade met their new teacher, and were settled in their new classroom before leaving for the holidays. Consequently, there was little of the usual confusion when school re-opened, and work was begun without delay.

The pupils' Report Card for the first seven grades is substantially the same as that introduced last year; with Grade 8, however, a new form is being given a trial, in the hope that it may serve to keep the parents more fully acquainted with the progress of the children in their final school year. In the reports of all grades, less stress is being laid on relative standing in competitive tests, and more on the degree to which the pupil is measuring up to his own capabilities.

In June, 262 pupils gained a High School Entrance certificate, either by recommendation or by examination. This is the largest number for any year for which records are available, and constitutes 10 per cent of the total Public School enrolment, exclusive of the Kindergartens. The average age of the successful candidates was fourteen years, one month.

While the general regulations for the Entrance examination remained unchanged for 1939, there is considerable change in the content of the examination. Written papers are reduced in number to four,—English Literature, Composition and Grammar, Spelling, and Mathematics. Writing will also be marked, though no formal paper is set. As formerly, candidates will be admitted to the examination only on the certificate of the Principal that the other subjects of the course have been successfully completed. The examination will be in future more definitely a test of the pupil's readiness to do more advanced work, and success will depend less than formerly on rote memorization.

Music and Art.

The work in this subject has been carried on efficiently during the year, and considerable progress has been made toward a more complete realization of the requirements of the Course, which asks for "a training which includes rhythmic expression, the correct and pleasing use of the voice in singing, the concerted rendering of music that is in itself worth while, and the appreciation of some of the works of great musicians."

Piano classes for beginners continue to be successfully conducted by Mrs. Brain and Miss McFarlane, At Central School, C. D. Munro has made a promising beginning at building up a school orchestra.

Auxiliary Class.

The removal of this class to the Prince of Wales School in September has brought marked improvements, surroundings are more attractive, discipline is better, and the children have the advantage of a normal school environment outside the classroom. Most noteworthy is the changed attitude of the parents. Where formerly it was exceedingly difficult to secure their consent to the transfer of a child to the Auxiliary Class on account of the supposed stigma involved, it has been possible this year to obtain a ready acquiescence as soon as the advantages of special training have been pointed out.

The class now consists of twelve boys and four girls, the maximum enrolment allowed under the Regulations. All live within easy walking distance of the school with the exception of two boys who have been supplied with bus tickets during the past term. Some of the children are placed in the class for "readjustment" only, and are from time to time returned to the regular classes. There are others, however, whose mentality makes it impossible for them ever to fit into the work of the grades, and who must be retained in the Auxiliary Class until they leave school. In some city school systems provision is made for the later school years of these children by the establishment of special classes which they enter at the age of thirteen. Until we have a sufficient number of this type of pupil to justify such a class, the only special training we are able to offer is that provided by our Manual Training classes. To them a number of the older boys have been admitted each year.

Course of Study.

In September, the change in the Course of Study was completed by the adoption of a new outline for Grades 7-8. This follows the same principles as that issued a year previously for the first six grades, but takes into account the changed attitudes and interests that come with early adolescence. The most notable change in content is the substitution of a Social Studies course on Britain and the Empire for the former courses in Canadian History and World Geography. The course in Arithmetic has been simplified and, at the same time, expanded to include elementary mensuration.

The changes in the senior grades have come into force too recently to permit any estimate of the improvement effected. In the first six grades, however, the new Course has now been followed for a year and a half, long enough to make some conclusions possible. No one in contact with the schools can doubt that the children show a new interest in and liking for their work, a greater initiative, and a growing tendency to discover and think for themselves. They are reading more widely and with greater profit. As the teachers grow more skilled in direction, these benefits should become more marked.

On the other hand, it has become apparent that there are dangers to be guarded against. The reaction against useless effort is sometimes extended to include those drills and repetitions which will always be necessary for the mastery of the tools of learning. The guidance of interest is sometimes misinterpreted as the whim of the individual. The disrepute of mere rote learning may discount the value of knowledge in general.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that these misconceptions are quite foreign to the purpose of the new course. Real work will always be necessary for any worth-while achievement, and the habit of doing his work to the best of his ability will continue to be one of the most valuable things the child can obtain from his schooling. It is possible, however, to increase the value of the effort if we can make it spring from the child's own interests rather than from the imposition of external authority. Hence we try to follow the guidance of interest, not by leaving it to the individual to choose what he shall do, but by adapting our work and methods to his stage of mental maturity. We aim to send the child out from the Public Schools with as much if not more skill and knowledge than formerly; and with the added advantage that he will have some lively interests, the ability to find knowledge for himself, and the continuing attitude of the learner.

These are, of course, ideals aimed at rather than things achieved; but they are the force which shapes our day to day methods in the classroom. Success will become easier when they are more fully understood in the homes, where, owing perhaps to some of the very misleading publicity which attended the introduction of the new Course, some very grave misconceptions of the present aims of education have apparently taken root.

It contains a remarkable new ingredient that enables it to wash white clothes up to 15% whiter than old-fashioned types of soaps tested—yet keeps it SAFE for washable colors, fabrics and hands.

Called High-Test OXYDOL, it combines safety with whiter-washing in a way that's been sought by scientists for years. And, when tested against less efficient bar and package soaps, it does these astonishing things:—

(1) Washes white clothes up to 15% whiter, as shown by standard Tintometer readings. (2) Gives up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water—suds that stand up 2 to 3 times longer.

Otonabee Plans To Spend $11,000 On Roads

Otonabee Township will spend $11,000 on roads this year, it was decided at a meeting of the Township Council held in Keene on Monday. A by-law was passed to provide for the expenditure, to be divided as follows: Construction $2,000, superintendence $1,300, maintenance $7,700.

The overseer will investigate cutting of trees on the highways in the township by persons who have not obtained permission from either the Council or the overseer.

The Council decided to take out insurance on the roads in Otonabee and also a blanket policy on motor vehicles employed by the township.

The overseer was instructed to put up a sign at J. M. Hope's sawmill forbidding any person from dumping logs or any other obstruction on the road allowance opposite the mill, and the clerk to notify Mr. Hope that he will be held responsible for any accidents that may occur in connection with the same.

The clerk was instructed to write Ivan Fletcher in reference to a dance held in the Town Hall which had not been settled for.

co-operation of this country."

Although crediting Great Britain and France with an alliance that is "naturally defensive," the bulletin concluded with a "just-in-case" type of statement, declaring Italy would "speed up and perfect" her own military preparations.

Following closely upon circulation of reports abroad that Britain and France might offer loans to Insurgent General Franco of Spain, the Fascist press declared it was "too late" for 11th-hour moves by nations wanting to strike bargains with "new Spain."

PILES GO QUICK

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription.

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel, and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.

equipped for the production of munitions than at the start of the Great war, said Mr. McAvity, and this was due to the survey of industrial plants made by the defence department. The department now had a plan for the mobilization of industry should war break out and the country had supplies of metals of which there was a shortage in the last war.

Some method should be found, apart from the agency of the high commissioner's office, of keeping British authorities informed of Canada's ability to produce munitions.

"I do hope this Bren gun discussion can be kept from their notice. It is not doing us any good."

It was manufacturers of the type of Major Hahn who had produced the best results in the Great War, Mr. McAvity continued. Old established industrial concerns were too conservative to adapt themselves quickly to the production of new products. During that period Canadian industry without previous experience had produced more than $1,000,000,000 worth of munitions.

Would Oust Mackenzie.

W. A. Walsh (Con. Mount Royal) said the Prime Minister should remove Mr. Mackenzie from office, declared Major James E. Hahn, president of the Inglis Company, had been selected to manufacture Bren guns when he had no previous experience in that type of work and charged the formation of the Inglis Company was accompanied by "stock manipulation of a kind which should never be permitted."

Mr. Walsh discussed the magazine article by Col. George Drew, now Ontario Conservative leader, criticising the Bren contract and bringing on the inquiry by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada.

"The article was sprung two months too soon," Mr. Walsh said. "Had he waited he would have seen where this money that was to be absorbed by the promoters was going.

"This is one of the worst examples of stock manipulation I have ever known. Bear in mind 191,662 shares of this stock, with a par value of $5 a share, were given to these four or five promoters without a cent of money turned over by them."

At par the stock would have been worth $1,149,972 and "just prior to the stock being withdrawn from the market it sold as high as $7.50 a share, while the rumor on the street was that it was going as high as $20 a share," Mr. Walsh continued.

Plum of Million.

"What I want to impress on the government is not the 7.76 per cent they were to make on operations but the scheme of these promoters to extract from the public of Canada a sum of well over $1,000,000 which they propose to divide among themselves.

"I feel I must ask the Prime Minister of this country to remove from office, as he would have been removed if he had held office in England, the Minister of National Defence, on account of inefficiency and incompetency in administration of his department."

J. A. Marsh (Con. Hamilton West) said the issue before the House for "some heart searching" on the part of members of all parties. He was convinced no member of the House, after studying its details, could fail to "condemn the manner in which the contract was handled. Speeches of Liberal members he described as smoke-screens.

The contract had been given to a group whose only plant was "a broken-down boiler factory," at a time when there were many firms in Canada equipped to turn out precision instruments. It was true the plant had made shells during the Great War, but that was 25 years ago.

Departmental Stupidity

"I would not buy a pair of shoes with my own money by those methods. How much more careful should we be with the taxpayers' money. It was a piece of departmental stupidity I am utterly at a loss to understand.

"I am now convinced there has been an attempt by the government to whitewash the department of national defence.

If the Davis report whitewashed the department why is the defence purchases board to be created.

"I am not opposed to the purchase board but would much rather see a munitions board absolutely free frm political patronage."

Mr. Marsh believed "we must do everything to build up throughout Canada a faith in the defence department. The government cannot economically and intelligently compete with private industry in the making of munitions. The government should not go into the munitions business but private industry should be allowed to compete by public tender."

Promoters of the Inglis Company had made a profit of $1,000,000 on a $5,000,000 order, Mr. Marsh said. This was neither economy nor efficiency on the part of the government and was a situation that should not be permitted to arise again.

Just Want Scandal?

Conservatives were not trying to bring a solution to any problem but just to create scandal for political purposes, said J. A. Bradette (Lib. Cochrane. He predicted the Conservative party was doomed if it tried to fight the next election on scandal because the people did not want to hear it.

"Ever since he (Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion) has received the leadership of his party we have heard of scandals," he said. "They have been capitalizing on the depression, the same as the C.C.F. has been doing for the last 10 years—capitalizing on the misery of the Canadian people."

When the democracies were threatened with increasing demands from highly-armed dictators, parliament should not spend so much time discussing how a few machine guns were to be obtained, said W. P. Mulock (Lib. York North).

The Conservatives had left office in 1935 leaving the national defence department in a disorganised and effective condition. Since then they had been demanding more action in regard to defence. They ignored all that had been done in the last few years and were now attempting to undermine one of the most constructive measures yet taken, the equipment of the Canadian forces with the best machine guns to be obtained in the world.

No Word For Hours.

Commercial radio operators the length of the Atlantic seaboard heard no word from the distressed vessel for hours. The Veendam, Scanmail and Aurania radioed that "nine or 10 calls" had gone unanswered.

Once shore operators caught an appeal from another ship believed to be the Irland that all vessels clear the air so communication might be established. There was nothing more.

Humane Society Plans Boycott Of Two Movies

The Peterborough Humane Society constituted itself a vanguard to the army of motion picture critics, at their annual meeting on Wednesday night, when members were asked to boycott theatres showing two pictures that have aroused indignation of similar societies all across the country, "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and "Jesse James" were the two pictures that aroused the ire of the society, both of which allegedly show cruelty to horses. All over the United States and Canada similar action is being, or has been, taken recently in regard to the same pictures. Members of the Peterborough organization will inform theatre proprietors of their reason for refusing to patronize them.

Another boycott will affect gasoline and service stations along the highway, where animals are being exploited. The society offered severe criticism to persons who keep animals and game at such stations in order to attract tourists, and members said they noted with dismay that the practice had arrived in Peterborough. They asked all members to withhold patronage from such stations.

Boys with catapults and airguns, "who shoot at everything they see," roused the wrath of the organization. Members urged that parents "keep their conscience clear" by refraining from making presents of airguns to their youngsters.

Had Busy Year.

Mrs. W. A. Young, in her annual report as secretary of the organization, revealed an extremely busy year, interpreted that fact to mean that people have not yet learned the golden rule means kindness to "God's helpless creatures."

People who mistreat animals, she said, "should be banished to some far away island, taking for granted of course, that no helpless creatures were there." She said that live stock are still being transported in and out of Peterborough without sufficient protection from the cold. The society will obtain names of offending truckers and will send them letters pointing out penalties under the criminal code. Animals are often so numbed with cold that they are unable to move after being unloaded, it was reported.

President Re-elected.

Fred Marshall was re-elected president of the society for a second term. He received congratulations during the meeting on his work during the past year. Honorary patrons were named G. A. Macdonald, G. K. Fraser, and Mayor James Hamilton. Col. C. H. Ackerman and Thomas Sargent were named honorary presidents. Other officers weer as follows: Robert Abbott and E. S. Martin, vice-presidents; Mrs. W. A. Young, secretary; E. S. Martin, treasurer. Members of the executive are: Mrs. S. C. Warne, Mrs. Robert Abbott, Mrs. R. Holmes, Mrs. George Helson, Mrs. W. Howden, Mrs. Morley Powell, Mrs. Mark Burnham, Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Robert Ross, Miss Mabel Collins, Miss E. Wood, Miss Bessie Latimer, Canon W. P. Robertson, G. A. Gillespie, James Dutton, Morley Powell, and George Helson.

Inspector Thomas Johnston gave a lengthy summary of the year's work, revealing that 1,780 animals had come under the care of the organization during 1938. Chief speaker of the evening was G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls.

Wolf Hunters Fail To Bag Single Animal

Four days hunting in the Twin Lake-Blue Lake section of Methuen township failed to yield a single wolf pelt, Fish and Game Overseer I. J. Lyons, who formed one of the party, said yesterday. "We heard the wolves, saw plenty of tracks and some of the fellows sighted the animals and had a few long distance shots at them, but they were too far away for effective shooting," the overseer stated.

The party, which included Fish and Game Overseer L. A. Gibb, Miles of Havelock and several other Havelock and Campbellford sportsmen, went into camp in two hunting lodges last Friday night and came out Monday night. They heard wolves howling the first night in camp, and next day there were plenty of tracks, one pack of five having been travelling on the ice of Twin Lake. The party found no carcases of freshly-killed deer anywhere in the bush but came across several skeletons of deer, and in one place found traces of where the wolves had been killing rabbits.

On their way out they saw tracks in the snow that showed that several small packs of wolves had recently crossed the road

It is likely that another hunt will be organized before the snow goes as the party enjoyed their outing in the weeds, in spite of the fact that they failed to bag a wolf.

Parents Attend School Daily

Education Week at the Sacred Heart School on Lake street has been featured by a daily program which the parents of the children have been invited to attend as a means of bringing them into closer contact with the work of the school. Attention has been directed to each classroom by alloting it an afternoon, mothers of the girls and boys observing the regular work of that room, followed by little programs arranged for diversion and entertainment.

The mothers of the children have been attending every day in quite large numbers, and the whole series of classroom demonstrations has been an agreeable success.

Forty Men Attended Otonabee Meeting

W. W. Dawson was chairman of the meeting of Otonabee farmers at Stewart's Hall Wednesday night. Forty men of the neighborhood attended. The speakers were F. C. Paterson and R. S. McKercher, of Dublin, Ont., who has been conducting part of the short course at Keene. The program became an informal discussion of problems affecting farmers, especially such plain but significant questions as "the things we can sell, beef, hogs, cheese, some poultry, grain." And associated with the selling was the primary work of production. Some of the topics dealt with soils and fertilization, pasturage, and so on.

The Otonabee meeting was one of the best of the series arranged by Mr. Paterson with the assistance of Mr. McKercher.

Sixteen Men Busy Tunnelling Under Hill Preparing For Huge Rock Quarry Blast

(Staff Reporter)

HAVELOOK, Feb. 9. — Sixteen men have been working throughout the winter at the Ontario Rock Quarry near Havelock tunnelling through the hill of rock in preparation for the annual tunnel blast tentatively scheduled for June, when fifteen tons of dynamite will be touched off.

This is the tenth successive blast at the rock company's property and so far no workman nor spectator has been injured, because of the rigid safety rules enforced and the care excercised by the men placing the charges under the direction of Harry L. Scott, superintendent. The tremendous blast annually attracts a host of spectators who are herded on a hill about half a mile east of the spot where the dynamite explodes.

Last year 20 tons of explosives were used and 100,000 tons of trap rock was blown out. The tunnel last spring consisted of a main cross shaft with several lesser drifts on either side and had an overall length of 842 feet, and was 4 feet high and 3½ feet wide. Fifty-three charges of dynamite were used.

So far this winter 450 feet of tunnel has been drilled out and the total distance is not expected to exceed 600 feet. The men are working a little farther away from the plant on the east side and an excellent view of the explosion will be available from the east road this year. The blast in 1938 took place in April but will be two months later this summer.

Wedding In The Nude Atop Mountain Legal In Denver

Denver, Feb. 9 (AP)

LUKE J. KAVANAUGH, deputy attorney general, dug down into his law book and came up blushing with this opinion:—

It will be "perfectly legal" for a young Denver couple to wed in the nude atop a mountain on Easter morning, providing the marriage is "not a public spectacle."

"In fact, he added "it would be more legal than comfortable."

He said the request for an opinion came from Rev. H. P. Feree, who described himself as pastor of the "Church in Common, Incorporated" of Denver.

Lecture Is Given On Canadian Birds

A very interesting and instructive address on Canadian Birds was given under the auspices of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. Wednesday night by Dr. Lewis of the Mines and Resources Department at Ottawa. The talk was illustrated by a large number of fine colored slides.

Dr. Lewis outlined the work of his department in its efforts to protect and conserve the bird life of Canada and dealt briefly with a number of the most familiar Canadian birds, with interesting sidelights on their habits and food.

Correspondence with the department with regard to the bird houses and to bird feeding, so that these things might be properly done, was advised by the speaker.

Dr. Lewis urged strongly observance of the game laws and thought for the conservation of familiar birds, pointing out the good that birds do for trees, crops and for mankind by their presence and habits.

B. H. Pammett, president of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. made the announcements.

Hawks and Owls Reported More Numerous; Taking Heavy Toll Of Rabbits and Partridges

Large hawks and owls are taking a tremendous toll of partridges and cottontails in this section of the province according to Indians and farmers who state there are fewer cottontails in the rural sections this winter than for several years back.

Farmers in Douro township have lost a quantity of fowl some of which have been found partially devoured hanging from the limbs of trees and hawks are blamed for the work. Another factor which has resulted in considerable loss to chicken farmers is the fact that foxes are more numerous this winter and their blood relation the weasels are also plentiful. This week motorists spotted two foxes along the road near Burnham's Woods on highway No. 7 and the pair disappeared into the big woods.

Veteran woodsmen and hunters predict that partridges will be scarce next autumn because of the depredations of the hawks, owls and foxes, all age old enemies of the partridge and rabbits.

The Rambling REPORTERS

NO STOCKINGS ON WINTER DAY

Members of the fair sex are carrying this scanty clothing idea a little too far according to the shivering males who are bundled from head to foot in warm clothing. Today a smart looking young lady was noticed walking from her home to a fruit store three blocks distant wearing no stockings. She had just slipped on a pair of black spike heel shoes and jogged along absolutely oblivious to the fact that a biting east wind was blowing and the temperature was only a few degrees above zero.—McG.

Joseph V. Tully New Director Of Holstein Men

Joseph T. Tully of Otonabee was elected a director of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada at its convention in the Royal York Hotel, Toroto, Wednesday. Mr. Tully is secretary of the Peterborough county branch of the association. A. J. Tamblyn of Orono is another of the directors, and Fred H. Hubbs of Bloomfield who has been occasionally a judge of dairy cattle at Peterborough Exhibition was elected president, succeeding S. G. Sims of Stonewall, Man.

The convention decided to ask the Federal Government to set up a marketing board to control the sale of dairy products with power to levy on the industry for the cost of its maintenance. The association also adopted a new system of registration, recently explained to the local Holstein breeders, requiring registration within a month of an animal's birth, with a penalty fee imposed for each month's delay. No animals will be accepted for registration that are more than two years old. The former regulations allowed animals to be registered during the first year of life without payment of a penalty fee.

In a resolution, the association asked the Dominion government to amend the dairy standards act to permit standardization of milk at the farm, or similar legislation as passed by several states in the United States. Another resolution asked that the milk purchase acts be amended so that milk testing 4.5 per cent or more shall be paid for on its butter fat content and that the same differential apply to milk testing 3.4 per cent to 4.5 per cent butter fat.

G. S. Matthews Is Re-elected Head Of O. M. E. Group

TORONTO, Feb. 9. — Gordon S. Matthews of Peterborough was unanimously re-elected president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association at the annual convention in the Royal York Hotel yesterday.

Vice-presidents named were: W. Ross Strike, Bowmanville, district 1; John Kaite, Hanover, district 2; J. H. Irwin, Port Arthur, district 3; K. A. Christie, Toronto, district 4; Dr. W. J. Chapman, St. Catharines, district 5; E. L. Box, Seaforth, district 6; James Kirby, Strathroy, district 7, and George N. Galloway, Sarnia, district 8. T. J. Hannigan of Guelph is secretary-treasurer.

A resolution from the floor at Tuesday's meeting, that the Federal and Provincial Governments be urged to proceed immediately with the development of St. Lawrence River power was passed without discussion. Mr. Hannigan told the meeting that no action on the resolutions committee as it felt it was not sufficiently informed as to the power situation or the amount of power surplus the commission has on hand. Therefore, the committee thought it would just refer the resolution to the commission as it was in a better position to deal with it.

Despite strenuous objections a resolution urging provincial licensing of electricians was passed. Those opposing it claimed that it would be just an added burden and that the public was already protected by the compulsory inspection of wiring. Those upholding it said it was simply to make sure contractors were qualified.

The convention instructed the executive to confer with Hydro with a view to the formation of a Hydro-Electric acceptance company to finance sales of electrical apparatus by municipalities.

The guest speaker at the luncheon, held in conjunction with the Electric Club, was C. W. Nickerson of the New York World's Fair, who described construction features of the fair.

At the afternoon session M. J. McHenry, director of sales promotion for Hydro, outlined a new sales promotion program.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time, though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyre, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning. The chief of police continues his interrogation of all those at the Manor when the two deaths occurred. Elsie, Benson and McIntyre discuss the possible suspects. No trace of poison is found in the body of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Jr. Making a secret investigation of the beauty salon, Phil and Elsie come upon a bit of cigaret tissue which has a smell of bitter almonds.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

"BITTER almond?" Phil asked when I said that's what I had smelled.

I nodded and yawned. I was getting sleepy. This prowling about in the small hours of the morning was not my idea of fun. "Let's get out of this salon, Phil."

"Wait a minute, baby. Now think! When you raised the hood and Mrs. Witherspoon fell out on you, did you sneeze?"

"Uh-huh."

"And did you sneeze again when you untied Mrs. Horace?"

"Mrs. Horace? Why, yes I did!" I wrinkled my brow. Now what was he driving at? Whatever did my sneezing have to do with murder?

"And both times it was this bitter almond odor that made you sneeze?"

"Yes, it was. It tickles my nose and I have to sneeze. That was one reason I hated to mess with the beauty mask. It smelled like that, too."

"It did, eh?" He rubbed his chin. "But Mrs. Horace didn't have the mask on her face when she died, did she?"

"Oh, no! She never used the mask to my knowledge."

"Good! Baby, I think we have something! As sure as God made little apples this piece of paper is going to send someone to the hot seat!"

"It's a clue?"

"Nothing else! In the morning I'll take it around to Taylor at the drug store and, if he's half the druggist he thinks he is, he'll know what potson smells of bitter almond and is so deadly that it kills instantly and defies detection by autopsy!"

"Oh! I began to feel thrilled myself. Fancy Phil figuring out the whole business! "Won't Didmore be surprised when you tell him the news?"

He laughed: "He will that!" Carefully he stowed the paper in his vest pocket. "Now for a look into the second compartment, and then we'll call it a night."

"That suits me," I said and stifled another yawn. "Phil!" I froze to the wall. "Did you hear anything?"

"Hear anything?"

"I thought I heard a noise in the lobby!"

We listened. Phil said: "All's quiet on the western front, baby."

"Nerves, I guess," I said.

"Sure, nerves!" He patted my arm. We went into the second anteroom.

"Well, I can't discover a thing that's missing!" I said wearily. "Cream, powders, lotions and—oh!" I gave a little cry.

"Eh?" Phil turned to me. "Find something?"

"The bottle of beauty mask is missing!"

"No fooling?"

"Look!" I pointed to the top shelf above the dressing table. "It was there between the powder boxes and that large jar of massage cream! And now it's gone!"

Phil said thoughtfully: "So that's what Daphne was after!"

I was puzzled: "What would she want with that?"

"Heavens only knows, Elsie, but she must have wanted it pretty badly to come sneaking in here in the middle of the night."

"And she arranged the articles on the shelf so that the mask wouldn't be missed!"

He shrugged: "Another mystery to add to our list. Scoot along to your room, honey, before I douse the light. I'll follow."

"All right." I tiptoed across the lobby. "O. K., Phil, I'm here!"

The light in the anteroom went out. Phil started cautiously toward the open door. It was so dark I could not see him. I counted his steps. One, two, three—funny I had not noticed before that his shoes squeaked. I chuckled inwardly. It was just like the big bum to wear squeaky shoes upon a midnight pilgrimage!

Four, five, six—mechanically I counted—seven, eight, nine—why the squeaking had stopped! I was counting steps that weren't Phil's!

"Phil!" I sobbed his name. I was running across the lobby. I was sobbing and running! Suddenly I plunged forward. My feet had tripped upon something large and limp there on the tiles!

"Phil!"

"That you, Elsie?" The something spoke; it groaned. My hand groped on the floor and closed on cold metal. The pocket flash! The light came on like a burst of sun. Phil lay sprawled beside me, his legs doubled under him.

"Phil! Are you all right?"

"Sur-re!" He sat up and rubbed the back of his head. "Where did that ton of bricks come from, baby?"

"Ton of bricks?" I thought he was delirious.

"The one that dropped on my head! Boy, oh, boy, and did it drop! I never knew what hit me."

"Did you stumble and fall?"

He shook his head: "I—" he began and clutched at his heart.

"Phil!" I was so frightened I hardly knew what I was doing. "You are hurt!"

"Elsie, the paper's gone!"

"The paper?"

"The cigaret tissue! I had it in my vest pocket and it's gone!"

"But how?"

"The ton of bricks," he said slowly, "the ton of bricks!"

"Will you kindly explain in words of one syllable?" I demanded, reaction setting in and making me cross.

He smiled ruefully: "I was talking to myself, kid. I don't know exactly what happened. I started for the door, but all of a sudden an arm grabbed me around the neck and the next thing I knew I was stretched out on the tiles."

"Then—then someone was watching us! I did hear a noise!"

"Yes, someone was watching us."

"Oh!" Terror sprang at me from the dark coroners of the salon. It perched on my shoulder. It leaped into my throat. "Let's get out of here!" I quavered.

Back in my bedroom I locked the door and dropped weakly upon the bed.

"Cigaret, Elsie?"

"Yes." He lighted one for me and I puffed gratefully. I took a deep breath. "Phil, you're thinking maybe it was Daphne?"

"I was thinking that, yes."

"But the person who attacked you must have been very tall and strong. I didn't hear a thing from the doorway—not a thing except your squeaking shoes."

"It was someone who knew something of the art of ju-jutsu; some one who knew where to grab me and how to lay me down! But," he added, "I don't get that bit about the shoes. I'm wearing sneakers."

"Sneakers?" I glanced down at his feet. "Then it was the other one who wore the squeaky shoes!"

He laughed: "The man with the squeaky shoes! Sounds like the title of a dime novel, doesn't it? Well, at least I've proved there is something fishy about the set-up out here! Miss or Mister X wanted that tissue badly enough to conk me on the head for it!"

"It must have been a man," I insisted. "A woman couldn't have done it; she wouldn't have the strength."

"I don't know, Elsie. Daphne, remember, is the athletic type. Women can do all sorts of tricks nowadays."

"I can't believe it was Daphne." I stamped out my cigaret. "I simply can't believe it!"

"Better hop into bed, kid," he said gently. "I'll be going along. You aren't afraid to stay alone?"

"No, I lied. "I'm not afraid."

"Lock both doors and keep them locked until morning. I'll be out as soon as I've seen Taylor and Mac McIntyre."

"I'll—I'll be waiting."

"Good girl!" He kissed me. "So long, Toots."

"Sure you can find your way out?"

"Sure! Sleep tight and don't worry!"

"I won't!" I promised and locked the doors behind him.

Be Lovely and Serene on Your Bridal Day

You've set the glorious day! What sort of wedding will you have? Time now to jot down the items required — to see if your taste and purse are in key with a formal church wedding, a very simple home ceremony or one somewhere "in between."

A stately flower-decked church affair? You must wear the lovely traditional bridal gown with train and veil. The groom wears cutaway and dark striped trousers, unless the ceremony's in the evening, then formal evening dress.

Expenses connected with the church, organist's and sexton's fees, floral decorations are paid for by the bride's family. And you will send engraved invitations to all your friends.

An intimate home wedding costs less but can be as lovely. The bride wears a becoming dress or suit, the groom a business suit.

Flowers in jars or bowls, soft music played by a friend give the appropriate atmosphere. Invite friends by note, send engraved announcements to those you don't invite.

An informal church ceremony? A garden wedding? Our 32-page booklet tells you the proper attire, etiquette for the ceremony. Who pays for what, how to budget expenses.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of PLANNING AND BUDGETING YOUR WEDDING to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Wives Need To Guard Against Husbands Becoming Too Familiar With In-Laws, For This Frequently Leads To Tragedy In The Lives Of All Concerned

DEAR MISS DIX—Am I justified in not liking to see my husband holding my sister on his knees and kissing her more than a dozen times a day while she is staying in our house? Every time she comes into a room where he is he pulls her over into his lap and begins kissing her and she responds. I did not say anything about their actions while she was here, but after she left I told my husband I did not think it right, but he says it is just plain old-fashioned jealousy on my part and that she is only a kid—but she is 25 years old. I would like to know what to do about it because this sister is coming to stay with me again soon.

FAN.

ANSWER:

Well, on the principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, you should double lock your door and see to it that sister visits you no more. Otherwise you are in for a large and messy scandal, for it is obvious from their actions that your husband and your sister are falling in love with each other and that bodes no good for any of the parties concerned.

It isn't natural for any man to be so fond of his in-law that he feels called upon to pet and caress her continually; nor is any woman of 25 a little kiddie to be dandled on his knee. So you are fully justified in being suspicious of these amorous scenes and in putting an end to them by drastic means.

The theory that because there is the in-law relationship between a man and woman makes them immune to anything but a platonic feeling toward each other is fantastically absurd. So is the belief that a sister cannot be disloyal to a sister and steal her husband from her. Such things happen every day because human emotions are not controlled by conventions, and no sense of honor or duty motivates that unruly organ—the heart.

Probably most of these brother-in-law and sister-in-law affairs start innocently enough. The man really falls in love with the girl for the things for which he fell in love with his wife. It is a revival of his first love. Only the girl is younger, fresher, gayer, perhaps more attractive and more sympathetic and understanding than the sister was. So the old romance comes to life again and before he knows it he is head over heels in love with the girl that he especially has no right to love.

And the girl, equally guiltless of deliberately intending to break up her sister's home, falls in love with her brother-in-law just because he is so kind, good and affectionate to her and she feels so safe with him. And it is only after it is tragically too late that the husband, the wife and the little sister find out that propinquity can do its deadly work just as effectively among in-laws as among strangers.

• • • • • •

DEAR MISS DIX—Why do some girls bore boys by talking about dates that they have had? I go with a girl whom I like very much, but I don't want to hear about her previous boy friends. Do you think it would do her any good to tell her not to talk about them? BOBBY.

ANSWER:

I think you can work a certain and very instantaneous cure by tipping the girl off to the fact that it makes you very, very tired to have to listen to her reminiscences about what a perfect peach Tom was, and how much Jim is in love with her, and what a grand time Percival shows her when he takes her out.

For, you see, the reason she discourses about the other boys is because she thinks that it enhances her value in your eyes for her to be popular, and perhaps it will fire your jealousy and rouse the spirit of competition in you. That shows that she is both young and dumb because an older and more sophisticated woman never even mentions another man's name to a man. She makes him feel that he is the ONLY ONE and that when she is with him she is having such a good time she forgets that she ever had another date.

Also she knows that no man in the world can endure hearing another man's praises sung, and that he walks far, wide and handsome away from the girl who boasts of her conquests and tells how she gave the air to so-and-so who wanted to marry her, because he doesn't care to have his scalp displayed as Exhibit No. 30 in her collection of MEN I JILTED.

• • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—The other night my husband went out without asking me if I minded his going. I found out afterward that he and a friend went to the funeral of a girl who had been a friend of his before he married me. He did not come home until late and when he did his eyes were swollen from crying and he looked as if he had gone to pieces. What am I to think? That when he got there he found out he had made a mistake in marrying me instead of her? Am I to have it on my mind that a dead woman is first with him? I would like to have some one else's opinion of this situation. S. K.

ANSWER:

Well, if you want mine, I think you are acting like a perfect idiot about this affair and that the sooner you come to your senses and behave like a rational human being instead of a jealous fury, the better it will be for you.

What have you to be green-eyed about, anyway? Your husband evidently preferred you to the other girl, or else he would not have married you, and it is no sign that he was lamenting a lost love because he went to her funeral. All of us have friends whom we never wanted to marry over whose deaths we grieve.

The reason your husband did not tell you where he was going or discuss the girl's death with you is because you are so tyrannical and high-tempered and overbearing that he is afraid of you. You have alienated him by your own conduct and you had better try to get him back before it is too late.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, February 10.

Conflicting planetary operations seem to nullify a most propitious and promising state of affairs. The energies will be at fine tension and the objectives of a very exalted order. But a sudden and surprising occurrence will materialize to block the wheels. It may be a peculiarly sinister episode, possibly coming from an entirely unsuspected source or unscrupulous agency. Fraud, schemes, misrepresentation and hatred of pernicious force menace. These may be successfully met by prudence.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great activity, with opportunity for expansion, increased fortune and fulfilled ambitions. But this pleasant picture is menaced by a sudden and pernicious event which may disrupt the foundations of these prospects. The event has to do with plots, fraud, sinister machinations and unscrupulous attack, which may only be defeated by extreme prudence and good judgment, attended by drastic measures to circumvent duplicity.

A child born on this day may have ambitions in curious or novel directions, which may be pursued by intrigue, collusion, or other methods inciting bitter enmities or unscrupulous measures of reprisal.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

Knarf and Hanid crawled through the magnifying glass the other night and—my! what a curious world they found themselves in! All the things which used to be small were tremendous.

They walked down a little path. On either side of them were great trees, rising high over their heads. The trunks were bright green; instead of being round they were flat and broad.

It was Hanid who discovered what they were. "They're blades of grass," she told her brother.

They found clovers as big as bushes, and Knarf climbed up the stem of a buttercup and stretched himself out inside the yellow blossom. He helped Hanid up, too.

Through the magnifying glass.

Bee Is Monster.

But then a strange thing happened. Along came a bee in search of honey. Knarf and Hanid had never been frightened of bees. But this bee was so large that it looked like all th bees in the world rolled into on.

It buzzed like the propeller of an airplane.

"Honey!" it roared. "I'm looking for honey!"

When it saw the two shadows it thought they were insects.

"Out of my way, bugs," it said angrily. "I'm in a hurry. I have pounds and pounds of honey to bring back to the hive before the sun sets."

"You can have all the honey you want," Knarf said quickly. "We won't stop you." And he and Hanid schambled out of the buttercup. They didn't want to get stung by that bee!

Just then they saw a huge shadow in the sky. It came right down beside them. Do you know what it was?

It was a butterfly!

"How lovely it is!" Hanid exclaimed.

Knarf could hardly believe his own eyes. The butterfly's wings were covered with gold and yellow and red. Its eyes were soft and deep. It was beautiful and gentle.

"Good-morning," it said. "Isn't the world lovely to-day?"

Then it fluttered off again.

You must look through a magnifying glass some day. Then you, too, will be able to see what Knarf and Hanid saw—a big little world.

Just Penetang

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP).—The name of this Georgian Bay town is quite a mouthful. As far as the railways are concerned the name is already Penetang. Now the Board of Trade is considering a proposal to have the name officially changed.

One argument advanced is that local industries suffer because of the inability of outsiders to remember the town's full name.

Ever-Awake Bible Class Holds Valentine Meeting

Mrs. A. Beasley was hostess to members of the Ever-Awake Bible Class for a Valentine meeting on Monday night. Mrs. E. Beavis, class teacher, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Sedore.

During a brief business meeting arrangements were made for an Irish tea to be held on March 17. An interesting program included a reading by Mrs. Beavis, a humorous recitation by Mrs. R. Howarth entitled "Grandma's Radio," a solo by Miss Geneva Sedgwick, and games and contests conducted by the entertainment committee. Mrs. E. Frost and Miss Zetta Wood were contest winners.

Mrs. E. R. Frost, recently appointed assistant teacher, was given a hearty welcome by the class members, and a letter from a former member, Mrs. F. B. Sargent, of Toronto, containing greetings, was read by the secretary. Luncheon was served by the refreshment committee, and thanks to the hostess and committees in charge was voiced by Mrs. S. Watson and Mrs. J. Flynn. The March meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Norma Dunbar.

We Noticed

. . . Approximately tuned to the tempo of impending spring, are the "flower" or bell silhouette frocks. These are draped and moulded rather close to the figure until the skirt is reached. The latter is swung out by the weight of bands which make the hemline.

. . . .We're going to have coats with braid trimming again this spring, and most of them will be pointed at achieving the suit or coat-dress effect.

STEPPING INTO SPRING

By ALICE ALDEN

If you like flower tints and want to carry the lovely hues right through a costume scheme, from top to toe, you can gratify your sartorial longings come spring. Queen Elizabeth, who is addicted to flower shades and pastels, and who goes in for the ankle-length, garden-party type of frock for important afternoon wear, is exerting a profound influence on the mode — and the designer has a nose for news no less than that of the newspaper writer. So here are flower-tinted kidskin shoes, beautifully draped, to complement dainty afternoon dresses. Shoes of this type will be worn with large hats for informal dining, as well as for street wear with pretty prints.

Hospital Alumnae Holds Annual Valentine Dance

An interesting social event of last evening was the annual Valentine dance of St. Joseph's Hospital Alumnae in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Patrons and patronesses receiving with the Alumnae president, Miss Anna Lynch, and Mrs. Miles Rundle, a member of the Alumnae, were Dr. and Mrs. Herbert N. Young, Dr. Agnes K. Moffatt, Dr. R. K. Magee, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. N. Rishor, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fair.

Over one hundred couple danced to the music of Mose Yokom's orchestra, and the ball room, where cupids flew about the lights and aimed their mischievous darts at garlands of red hearts, presented an attractive picture. Streamers of red and white looped from the ceiling and festooning the lights swayed above the dancing couples, and around the walls were hung enormous lace-edged valentines centred by maidens in old-fashioned gowns, and all the sentimental motifs that are linked with the celebration of St. Valentine's day. Decorations were arranged by Miss A. Simmons.

A delightful interlude was provided when Kenneth Simmons and Shirley Garner appeared in Scotch costume for a tap dancing number. The spot dance was won by Miss Mary McGuire and Mr. Frank Shine; birthday dance by Miss Agnes Crough; novelty dance by Miss Eleanor Crowley and Mr. Raymond Fitzgerald.

Tables where midnight lunch was served were laid with covers on which scarlet hearts framing an old fashioned silhouette were designed, and centred with vases of red tulips and cyclamen.

Present were the Misses Hazel Duffy, Rita Leahey, Rita Shannon, Isobel Graham, Peggy Sweet, Stella Sparks, Agnes Scollard, Eleanor Conlin, Rita Torpey, Irene Torpey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Legrow, R. Recital of Songs Presented By Talented Girls

Four remarkably talented girls, gifted with a real instinct for singing, were heard in a recital of songs on Wednesday night in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.. The girls, Olga Westbye, Cora Charlton, Margaret Westbye, and Gwen Bond, are from the studio of Dorothy Allan Park, and were accompanied at the piano by Gwen Craw.

Miss Olga Westbye sang a group of Schubert songs in perfect German, achieving particularly fine effect in the exacting "Mein," sung at a very rapid tempo. She also sang in French and Italian. "The Page's Song," with its florid scale passages, was performed with ease and fluency.

Miss Cora Charlton of Lakefield has made remarkable headway since her last appearance at these recitals. She has a rich voice with excellent carrying power, and sang with fine style and authority. Her flair for languages was also noticeable, the French and Italian songs being outstanding.

Another surprisingly improved young singer is Miss Margaret Westbye. Her Italian group was sung with charming purity of tone, and a real feeling for atmosphere. Miss Gwen Bond made her first appearance as a singer, and created a very favorable impression. Her songs were sung with fine understanding, and her voice shows much promise for the future.

All four girls sang some delightful English songs, where their clear enunciation showed to advantage. Their descriptive remarks added greatly to the interest of the program. Gwen Craw provided sympathetic accompaniments at all times, her fine work being particularly notable in "Love's Philosophy," "O Thou Billowy Harvest Field," and "Mein."

Do You Know?

Aluminum pans should be allowed to cool before cold water is poured into them to soak? The practice of pouring cold water into the hot metal will in time cause the pan to warp.

Cake which has become stale will be greatly improved if it is put into a tin with a tight fitting lid and put near a fire or on top of (not inside) the oven to warm? It must warm very gently, and if the cake is a large one it should be cut into slices before putting into the tin.

Meat, which is to be grilled, should be placed on a hot pan, under a hot grill, and the gas or electric current left full on two minutes? This will seal the surface and keep the juices in. Now turn down the griller to half strength, allowing another two minutes of full heat when the meat is turned. Never pierce with a fork when turning.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Indomitable Vienna Gaiety Is Reflected In Its Cookery

(By Mary Moore)

This urge to write a cook's version of "Inside Europe" was touched off when I finished reading "Gunther's view of it.

Since we are constantly asked for "different" ways of preparing the same thing (preferably inexpensive) we can learn a thrifty and pleasant lesson from the Austrians.

Consider their method of making a cabbage appetising:

KOHL SUPPE (cabage soup)

Using drippings from frying bacon or sausages - saute four cups of finely shredded cabbage in it for about 5 minutes. If you have meat stock on hand use it—if not use hot water or hot liquid in which vegetables were cooked—for the liquid part of the soup. When cabbage has wilted and it is a little golden, sprinkle it with 2 tablespoons flour, stir well, until the flour begins to brown a little, then pour in the boiling hot liquid—about 1 quart, then add at least 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper and stir until it thickens a little, then cover and let simmer very slowly for 1 hour. Stir frequently. In Austria it is customary to serve this soup with a slice of friend or smoked sausage. It is very commonly seasoned with caraway — if you are an Austrian you will know this—if not you will want to try it—not too much at first, though.

The Wiener Schnitzel that is so well known throughout Europe is made as follows but usually has a very elaborate garnish—sliced lemon on each slice of breaded veal, topped with an olive and an anchovy—and capers and chopped hard cooked egg form a border.

The plain wiener Schnitzel is admirably adapted to Canadian cookery.

WIENER SCHNITZEL

(Vienna Schnitzel)

Have the butcher slice veal from the fillet (corresponding to the "round" in beef) very thinly—about ⅛ or ¼ inch thick. Cut the slices in pieces for serving and then dip in flour, then in the beaten egg to which 2 tablespoons cold water have been added, then in fine crumbs — either bread or rolled cracker. Cook in hot butter for a few minutes only as the slices should be very thin and cook quickly—turn as soon as one side is golden. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve on hot plates immediately.

The crumbing of this veal extends it because it prevents the veal from shrinking when cooked—hence makes it a fairly economical dish since there is so little waste from a slice from the fillet—it is great favorite with all Canadians who know it.

What we know as Hungarian "Goulash" is of Hungarian origin, but it is used so much more extensively by Austrians that it is more truly theirs by adoption.

GULASCH (Beef or Veal Stew)

One and one-half pounds of beef (or veal), 3 or 6 onions, 1 or 2 cloves of garlic, (one of these dipped in and then out of the stew would be enough for the average Canadian), a few caraway seeds, 1 tablespoon of paprika (this is not a mistake—1 tablespoon!) salt; about 1 or 1½ teaspoons, ¼ teaspoon black pepper. Melt some drippings in a casserole, and when hot add the sliced onions and cook gently until they begin to brown. Then add the beef cut in 1-inch cubes, the crushed garlic, the paprika and caraway seeds. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cover and cook over low direct heat until the meat begins to brown—turning it over two or three times. Now add enough hot water or hot meat or vegetable stock to cover the meat and simmer for 2 hours. Serve in the casserole in which it was cooked. Dumplings of some kind are eaten with this or home-made noodles or macaroni.

The Paprika Huhn" of Austria is also wel. known in Hungarian kitchens—and has become a favorite in our house because we had a Hungarian maid many years ago who taught me how to make it. It is similar to the Baked Chicken that is such a favorite of this page.

PAPRIKA HUHN (Paprika Chicken)

One young chicken (it may be large but it must be young), five or 6 onions, the yolks of one or two eggs, ½ cup sour cream, 1 tablespoon paprika, salt and pepper.

Slice the onion and cook in hot butter (or other fat) until golden color. Add the chicken cut into pieces for serving (if it is a small chicken it could be quartered), and sprinkle with paprika. When the chickens are slightly colored add the mixed and beaten yolks and sour cream, season with salt and pepper and simmer very slowly until the chickens are quite tender—as you can readily see, if this is well covered it may be finished cooking in the oven. This dish is usually served with fluffy boiled rice.

KARTOFFEL SALT (Potato Salad)

Peel and slice or cube four or five large potatoes, while still warm, put them in a salad bowl, moisten with white wine, 4 tablespoons oil, two tablespoons vinegar and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Sprinkle finely chopped onion and parsley over top and let stand for at least one hour before serving.

While Apfel-Strudel is commonly made in many mid-European countries it seems to be most common in Austria.

APFEL-STRUDEL (Apple Cake)

Scant 2 cups flour, 1 whole egg, 1 tablespoon oil (or butter), pinch of salt, a little water.

Filling—Peeled, cored and sliced apples, currants, raisins, breadcrumbs fried in butter, sugar and melted butter.

Put the flour on a pastry board and make a well in the centre. In this drop the egg, the oil and a pinch of salt. Mix first with a knife, then with the hands, adding water drop by drop—work this dough for 15 minutes—beating it on the board and kneading alternately. When it begins to bubble and no longer sticks to the board, sprinkle flour on the board, lay the dough on it, cover with a bowl and let stand 1 hour. Now a true strudel must be rolled to paper thickness — rolled and stretched and pulled to the size of the kitchen table—which must be floured all over—this is hard to do and takes an experienced baker. Brush the dough all over with butter, sprinkle with crumbs, then spread with remaining filling ingredients. Roll the paste into a long thin sausage. Bend it and place carefuly on a well-greased pan, brush with butter and bake until golden—oven should be about 375 deg. Fahr. When done cut in thick slices and serve hot. There are other strudel fillings but this is the commonest.

Next week watch for recipes from Belgium.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

St. John's entertained All Saints' at the regular meeting on Wednesday night. The program directed by Kay Chivas team was in the nature of a Valentine party. Games, stunts and tricks kept the crowd in high spirits. Prizes were won by Kay Smith, Alvin Lalonde, Al Worsencroft and several others for various events and spot dances. After the refreshments served by Eva Clark and committee, an hour of dancing with Fred Hooper at the piano concluded the program.

"As Woman To Woman, Mrs. Page—"

Valentine Tea Given By W.M.S. Members

Fraser Auxiliary members of St. Paul's W.M.S. were hostesses Wednesday afternoon at a delightfully-arranged Valentine tea and sale of home cooking at the manse, 540 Water street. Receiving with the hostess, Mrs. A. T. Barr, was Miss Amy Bowles, and welcoming the guests in the living room were Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. A. S. Couper, and Mrs. H. E. Stinson.

A low glass bowl of red tulips centred the lace-covered tea table, which was decorated with small valentines, and lighted by four red candles. Tea was poured by Miss L. Esplen, Mrs. A. McKeown in the early afternoon, and later by Miss M. Rannie and Mrs. John Anderson. Assistant tea hostesses included Mrs. W. Burrell, convener, assisted by Mrs. B. B. Gillespie, Mrs. Wilbert Taylor, Mrs. D. W. Clarke, Mrs. John McIntyre.

The home cooking was attractively displayed at a table covered with snow white linen and scattered with tiny scarlet hearts. The table was in charge of Mrs. Walter Jackson and Mrs. H. A. Cranfield. Mrs. F. W. Rowan was general convener of the affair, and Miss B. Ross, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Ferguson, acted as treasurer.

Sweets For Sweethearts Offered In St. Valentine's Day Receipes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

"SWEETS" succeed in touching the hearts of most of us at some time—and doubly so on St. Valentine's Day! If you want the table to say "be my valentine," make the festive dishes "hearty" in name only, for it's light eating that delights most of us on this sentimental day of of the patron saint of true lovers. Heap candies, stuffed dates, cookies and nuts in heart-shaped containers for the table, and in heart-shaped boxes for souvenirs. Shape your cakes and even the ice cream that way, too! No love's labor will be lost!

Grapefruit Cake requires two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three eggs, grated rind one-half grapefruit, one-half cup grapefruit juice, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add rind to butter and cream together. Add sugar gradually, and cream together until soft and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add flour alternately with the grapefruit juice, a little at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased layer cake pans in a moderate oven (375 degree F.) for 20 minutes.

Frosting Recipe

Grapefruit Butter Frosting is spread between layers and on top. To make frosting, combine grated rind of one-half grapefruit, yolk of an egg, three tablespoons butter, juice of one-half grapefruit, three cups of sifted confectioners' sugar, and beat all ingredients until smooth.

An extra rich and delicate ice cream should have pride of place on a Valentine Day menu. So, ladies, we suggest that you serve Coffee Caramel Ice Cream if you want to receive sweet compliments! Recipe requires two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, caramelized, one-half cup double strength coffee, one and one-half teaspoons vanilla and one cup heavy cream. Immerse can of sweetened condensed milk in pan of water and boil for three hours. Cool and measure. Add hot coffee and vanilla. Blend, using rotary beater or electric mixer; chill. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, and freeze quickly until firm. Remove to chilled bowl and beat until light and smooth. Return immediately to refrigerator and finish freezing.

Sweet Souvenir

A heart-shaped box of stuffed dates is a sweet souvenir. When the dates are stuffed, leave a little of the filling visible .Sugar the dates after stuffing by putting three tablespoons of granulated sugar in a paper bag and shaking a few dates at a time in the bag until well coated. A teaspoon of cocoa or a little cinnamon may be added to the sugar.

Orange Fondant makes a nice stuffing. Cream two tablespoons butter; stir in gradually one cup confectioners' sugar, one egg yolk, grated rind of an orange. If the fondant is too thick, add a little orange juice. Marshmallow Cocoanut stuffing is made with four ounces marshmallow cut into quarters with wet scissors. Stuff each date with piece of marshmallow, placing cut side up. Dip the sticky surface of the marshmallow into shredded cocoanut.

PIG'S TRIP COSTLY

LONDON—(CP).—A member of the Farmers' Union, complaining that the pigs' marketing board in allocating pigs to bacon factories caused unnecessary journeys, told of a pig that travelled from Cornwall to London for $12.92. He said it could have gone cheaper as a passenger with a ticket.

DARTS BY FAMILIES

UPHAM, England—(CP).—In a packed hall, seven brothers of the Page family of this Hampshire village played the seven brothers Southwell of Southampton at darts, the latter winning four games to three. The games were broadcast.

Dublin, Ireland, is considering a housing project to cost $37,780,000.

AMAZING Results of "MASKED SOAP" TEST

Here's interesting news—because it affects your home and your budget. 1,000 "neighbors" have made a most unusual test to prove which home laundry soap really offers you the best value. The test was made on leading granulated soaps packed in PLAIN boxes so the women could not tell what brands of soap they were comparing. 3 out of 4 women wrote that the best soap was "Soap No. 1" (really Concentrated Super Suds). We believe you will be enthusiastic about it, too. Read what women wrote:—

"No. 1 SOAP GAVE LOTS OF SUDS that lasted a long time. It softened the water and made my clothes nice and white."

"No. 1 SOAP SOAKS OUT DIRT MUCH FASTER from my clothes and goes FARTHER."

"I LIKED No. 1 BEST IN MY WASHER. It is very EASY on my hands. This soap also leaves DISHES sparkling."

"I RECOMMEND No. 1 SOAP FOR COLORED THINGS—and also for your WOOLLENS. This soap dissolves amazingly fast in warm water and rinses easiest."

You owe it to yourself to try Concentrated Super Suds, next washday. This superior granulated soap contains MORE SOAP, that's why it gives you MORE SUDS. Safe for your clothes and gentle to your hands. Washes your clothes Hospital-clean. Most germs dangerous to health are killed or removed in the washing process. Very economical! Being concentrated a little goes a long way!

Galento Gets Urge To Tackle Farr --Or Nova, Or Baer Then Louis

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Tony Galento has about decided to quit the tank business and get on the big time fight circuit.

The master-minds behind the beer keg that walks like a man got together with Promoter Mike Jacobs and offered the Newark nightstick for a match with either Tommy Farr, Lou Nova, or Maxie Baer. Mike went right to work on it to-day.

Such a bout, said Joe Jacobs, Tony's manager, would hinge on an agreement that should Galento win, he would get a shot at heavyweight champion Joe Louis. Herman Taylor, the Philadelphia promoter who has a lien on Galento's services, agreed to release him for one fight, but would still insist on fitting into the picture financially if Galento and Louis meet.

"We'll fight Farr right now," said Joe, "or we'll wait until he comes back from his scheduled trip to England. If we can't get Farr, we'll take Nova or Baer, provided Mike can break up their scheduled May fight. Or we're even willing to wait and take on the winner of that fight this summer."

It was apparent public reaction to the Galento "Peter Popover Parade" has been too much. Tony knocked over Natie Brown in Detroit last Friday, and the ringsiders are still damp. Many critics likened it to his recent "conquests" of Harry and Otis Thomas and Jorge Brescia, all of which had been billed as "fights."

Tony has another fight slated, for Miami later in the month against the veteran Abe Feldman. Now Joe Jacobs figures it's about time for such things to stop; that Tony should get into the big leagues.

SPORT SPICE

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—(AP).—Joe Louis vs Jack Roper is a laff if there ever was one....Begins to look like Farmer Frank Frisch (who grows it) can have fresh corn for supper every night this summer if he wants it.... In othe words, New York Giants signed Catcher Harry Danning to stop the panning.

Sweet William Terry was getting the berry

For keeping his salaries low.

Said Harry the hoss: "For once I'm the boss"—

And Terry kicked in with the dough.

There were few takers for the 200 shares of Chattanooga baseball stock Joe Engel put on the market after declaring a 1938 dividend in oranges and gum drops.....A cartoon of Gene Sarazen milking a cow from the port side gave the cornfed customers a haw or two....One wants to know if Gene hollered "Fore" instead of "Sookey" when he went into the barn....Old Ty Cobb, who plays 36 holes of golf almost daily, just missed qualifying for the recent San Francisco open....But he bet he'd beat Tony Lazzeri and did.

You won't believe it, but George Cafego, Tennessee's great back, didn't get a single collitch football bid when he finished at Oak Hill High at Charleston, W. Va.....His coach, Russ Parsons, personally asked Major Neyland to give George a tra!.:..The Major gets the chills every time he thinks of how he almost turned the kid down because he weighed only about 150.....If Charlie Kurtsinger can get the winning mount in this year's derby he'll tie Isaac Murphy and Earl Sande in triple-header derby triumphs...The Cincinnati Reds will have 150 farm hands working out on their Greensboro (N.C.) farm this spring.

MUSSING UP THE MAPLES

The Western Clock office girls stole the show at Duffus' Alleys last night when Miss Mary Sisson easily held her own with 37 of the crack pin spillers from the C.G.E., Quaker Oats and Automobile league. On the night's play only five men were good enough to beat her and they had to talk in figures over 700. A three-game string, 288, 196, 203, gave her 687 pins.

Morris O'Neill of the Hudson team, in the Motor League, dangled off 758 (326). Reg. Dyer, Don Church and Fred Earle, of the C.G.E. contributed 744, 731 and 729 each to the 3417 Tool Room No. 2 total, while Jack Ferguson, the ace of the Quaker Oats was the other high flyer with 728. C. A. Lister of the C.G.E. nailed the highest single of the night, 343.

Foley and Wilson's air cooled Nash team realized their objective in the Motor League when they downed the erstwhile leading Buick's for an 8-0 decision. It vaulted the Nash outfit into first place and tumbled the Buicks down into fourth position. Hudson's riding on O'Neill's big score, whitewashed the short-hand Graham team for 8 points. Automotive No. 1 were only 11 pins better than the Ford five, but took 6 points. Chevrolet beat Automotive No. 2 two games and pinnage, while Chrysler's 8 point win over Pontiac boosted them into a first place striking position. The standing of the Automobile League is as follows: Nash, 100 points; Hudson, 99; Automotive No. 1, 95; Buick, 92; Chrysler, 73; Ford, 66; Chevrolet, 48; Pontiac, 44; Graham, 34, and Automotive No. 2, 30.

The C.G.E., Reg Dyer 744; F. Earle 729; Don Church 731; R. Sanderson 693 (323); C. A. Lister 674 (343;) A. Sanderson 651; C. Kearns 650 (337); F. Wood 655; R. Clifford 646; T. Martin 637; F. Cooper 630; K. Whatley 617; H. Taylor 616 and Eddie Johnston 603.

LITTLE REST DAY OR NIGHT

Women With Severe Neuritis

For the benefit of others who may be troubled with the complaint she suffered from, a grateful woman writes:

"Last May I had a very severe attack of neuritis in the leg, which made it impossible for me to rest during the day, or to get regular sleep at nights — to say nothing of the intense pain.

"Various medicines gave me very little relief, and a friend advised me to give Kruschen a trial, as she had derived benefit from it whilst suffering similarly. I am so thankful that I took her advice. From the very first bottle I felt relieved, and now I am quite free from pain, and get a good night's sleep."—(Mrs.) H. C.

Neuritis, like rheumatism, lumbago, and sciatica, is often caused by needle-pointed uric acid crystals, which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen helps to convert those crystals into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channels.—Advt.

Campbellford Beaten 4-3

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9 — Lakefield High School defeated Campbellford High here Wednesday night by the score of 4 to 3, in a hard, fast hockey fixture in the Campbellford-Norwood High School League, which kept the spectators guessing all the way through.

Campbellford started the counting in the first period when they hammered two goals home, and Yale retaliated for the homsters with a single tally in the first. Score at end of first period, Campbellford 2, Lakefield 1.

In the second canto, Lakefield turned on the power to register three tallies to Campbellford's one, and place Lakefield in the lead by a one-point margin. Shearer, Tanner and Arthurs did the scoring. Score at end of second, 4-3, for Lakefield.

The third period produced some fine hockey, with Lakefield out to protect her one goal lead, and taking no chances. Campbellford did her best to break through for a counter, but the Lakefield defence was on the job the whole 20 minutes and the visitors couldn't get near the goal. Windsor, in goal, played a spectacular game for Lakefield in this period. He must have stopped twenty-five labelled shots in the third period alone, turning them back one after another, as fast as they came. Yale and Stewart, on defence, played a good steady game, while Yale's initial goal seemed to spur the local lads to greater efforts. Morris played sub-defence for Lakefield.

The first line, Hurl, Loyst and Tanner, was changed during the game to Hurl, Shearer and Tanner, who seemed to work together well. Arthurs, Clark and McCracken made a strong second forward line, with Arthur showing up splendidly, both on offensive and defensive plays.

The Lakefield High School team has improved tremendously since the beginning of the season, and won last night's game with superior passing and beck-checking, and superb work by the goalie, Windsor.

The win last night places Lakefield High in a tie for second place.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T GUESS—COUNT!

IN MANY A situation, a guess can be avoided if the player will only count up to thirteen and then do whatever subtracting is necessary. That simple procedure can sometimes show you that beyond adventure of a doubt a singleton king or ace is bound to be played on the current trick, so that you may therefore employ your own cards in the way you absolutely know will produce the best result.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

George Reith in the West and S. Garton Churchill in the East, winners of many national events, got a clear top score on this deal in a recent tournament. The same bidding occurred at several tables. East bid 1-Club, South 1-Heart, East 1-Spade, South 2-Hearts, West 2-Spades, South 3-Hearts, and West doubled.

Also the play began the same at two tables, with West leading the spade 2 and the Q being put on from dummy. At one table East covered promptly with the K and the A won. Next the heart Q lured the K, a diamond brought the J, K and A, another diamond to the Q enabled the discard of a third diamond on the spade J, then a diamond lead, ruffed by East's heart 7, was overruffed by the 8. The heart 4 forced the A, then East led the club A and another, West ruffing. South ruffed the return, dropped West's last trump and had the rest of the tricks, making his contract.

Mr. Churchill refused to play his spade K on the dummy's Q, counting his partner for four because of his supporting spades and also knowing he would have led the A if he had it. South therefore had a singleton A. Ensuing tricks were the heart Q to the K, the spade 8 ruffed by South, heart J to the A, a heart to the 10, spade ruff, heart 9, club K to the A, spade 10, club J to the Q, two diamonds, then the club 10, so that it was set two tricks. South was beaten the moment Mr. Churchill refused to cover the spade Q.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

With the diamond 9 led, how should South play for 6-No trump?

The doctor's report included a special word of appreciation of the splendid services rendered by the school nurse, Miss Laura Cuthbertson. Franco Tempted With Loans

PARIS, Feb. 9 (AP).—France and Great Britain were reported in diplomatic circles today to have made an offer of co-operation to General Franco which would be conditional on the withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain after the civil war is ended.

French foreign office quarters left no doubt that they consider an Insurgent victory inevitable within several months. As a consequence, it was indicated by diplomatic sources that France and Great Britain have offered an "understanding" in Burgos.

The reported understanding was said to include:

1. Franco would see that all Italian and German influence is eliminated from Spain as soon as the war is over. If the Italians and Germans — in violation of their promises to get out—refuse to go, France and Great Britain would consider intervention.

2. As a reward for this, France and Great Britain would grant Franco the large loans he must have to rebuild Spain after the devastation of the war and which—it is thought here — Germany and Italy will not be able to give the Insurgent leader.

Senator Leon Berard said he received "an excellent impression" during his visit to Burgos, Spain, where he sounded out Insurgent leaders on possible establishment of diplomatic relations between France and General Franco's regime.

Berard, semi-official French envoy to the Insurgent capital who returned yesterday, was said in diplomatic circles to have told Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet that he is ready to "take over a temporary mission" at Burgos.

R.M.C. Grad Called To Hollywood

TORONTO, Feb. 9—(CP)—Hamilton Palmer, 23-year-old graduate of Royal Military College, Kingston, said here today he has been appointed technical adviser for a motion picture starring Robert Taylor and which will be built around life at R.M.C.

Palmer said he didn't know "what it is all about." He will leave for Hollywood tonight.

A second-lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Artillery, non-permanent militia, Palmer is employed in the traffic department of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

"All I know is that the federal motion picture bureau asked me for M.G.M. if I'd go along, and I said sure — so Wednesday night I'm shuffling off for Buffalo on my way to Hollywood," Palmer said.

"I think Robert Taylor is going to be starred in the picture, which will centre around the annual hockey game between West Point and R.M.C.: I just graduated last June and was captain of the R.M.C. hockey team last year, so I guess that is why I got the call.

"The details of various uniforms worn by the cadets will have to be correct and I can help on that and other matters."

Young Palmer says he does not think he will lose his heart to any Hollywood siren. "You see," he explained, "my mother is coming along with me for the trip, and as we'll be there only about six weeks or two months—oh, I'll be too busy."

Several thousand feet of film have already been shot at Kingston for the picture, Palmer said.

Geologist Bills Toronto $5,000 For Warm Air Would Put Rain-Controller In Casa Loma

TORONTO, Feb. 9—(CP). — Members of the Board of Control laughed today when the following account was presented in a letter from Alexander Roy, geologist and metallurgist, nine Toronto street:

"To keeping the streets of Toronto free from snow by the use of my 'electrostatic vapor discharger' bringing up the warm air currents from Florida and aiding in the building industry—$5,000. Please transmit by return mail."

A postscript reads:

"I wish to build a new machine and I would like to install it in the tower of Casa Loma and use the castle for an office to get my mail from the farmers for regulating the rainfall all over the continent.

"I am going to ask them to remit 10 cents each toward the cost of operating the machine for their benefit. The idea of having Casa Loma as an office is that is is easily remembered by them so that their remittances will not get misdirected.

"If the returns are ample I will buy the castle."

Toronto Italian Consul Jeered By Big Crowd

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 9—(CP). — Cries of "We want no Fascist agitators" and similar remarks were hurled at Guido Colonna di Paliano, Italian Vice-Consul at Toronto, by a small group of demonstrators describing themselves as 'anti-Fascists' as Di Paliano arrived here today to address a meeting of the Canadian Club.

The demonstration took place on the platform of the Canadian Pacific Railway station. Railway police did not pay any attention to the incident.

Di Paliano took little notice of the demonstrators, and walked without comment with Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, president of the University of Western Ontario, who met him on behalf of the Canadian Club.

Two of the demonstrators wore placards which proclaimed: "We want no Fascist agitators; back to Mussolini Di Paliano" and "Mussolini withdraw your butchers from Spain."

Crowds of travellers and other persons on the station platform looked on in astonishment.

One of the demonstrators, about seven or eight in all, shouted at Di Paliano in Italian.

—but I've borrowed from the bank for years

How? By meeting the simple requirements a sound banker asks from any borrower, no matter who he is.

First, he wants to know what the money is to be used for. That's reasonable; and I tell him quite frankly all the details.

He wants to know how I propose to pay the money back. So, I give him a list of all outstanding bills, current expenses and my income. That gives him a clear picture of how I stand.

He wants to know where I work and how long I've held my present position. He asks for security. Naturally. He's lending depositors' money, that must be paid back on demand.

And if I happen to have no security he often lends me money on my own note of hand, with one responsible endorser—because we've done business together for years.

That's all there is to it! I have always kept my side of the bargain, paid back as agreed, and established a line of credit that often proved useful when cash was badly needed.

Sheets Of Ice Roads Impassable

Busses, Trucks Stall Cars Ditched, Power Lines Down

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP).—Road conditions so bad that several cities were out off from highway traffic followed today in the wake of a night that saw rain, sleet and freezing temperatures over Ontario. Provincial highways over long stretches were sheathed in ice.

It was getting gradually warmer today, the ice was melting slowly and the Provincial Highways Department had all its sanding equipment out.

Worst tie-ups were reported near Hamilton. West of that city a line of eastbound transport trucks, more than a mile long, was stalled. Highways into Peterborough and Galt were also impassable.

Off the provincial highways conditions were even worse. The ruts that followed the snowstorms last week were still there with the snow well packed. Ice coated the ruts today.

Toronto streets were uncomfortable for motorists and pedestrians for the first few hours after the big city stirred to life for the day. Street cars were taxed to capacity as hundreds took one look at the streets and decided to leave their autos at home.

Many Tumbles

Galt reported that sleet, followed by rain and strong winds demoralized traffic in and around the city early today. Pedestrians too reported many tumbles on the icy walks. Until after 9.30 or so it was impossible for trucks to get in or out of the city so slippery were the roads.

Stratford said traffic in the district "was almost at a standstill." Temperatures were going up and it was hoped the thin ice would melt before long. Telephone and hydro officials breathed easier as the sleet menace was dissipated by warmth.

Telephone service between London and Stratford was out of order and lines north of Listowel were not working, but it was hoped to have them back to normal before noon.

Hydro service in the Goderich, Clinton and Seaforth area was disrupted for an hour during the night when sleet and wind caused wires to break.

Terrific Wind

Wind velocity reached so high last night that at 11.30 a Toronto-Hamilton bus was blown off the road, half a mile east of Bronte. It struck a pole. No passenger was hurt.

The Detroit bus reached Hamilton today more than three hours late. The driver said he had trouble keeping the huge vehicle on the road.

Heart Of The Pontiff To Be Entombed With His Body

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10 (AP) —The heart of Pope Pius XI will be entombed with his body and not, like the hearts of many earlier pontiffs, have a separate resting place.

The custom of removing the heart and other internal organs of popes on their death and placing them in an urn was discarded with the death of Leo XIII in 1903.

Pius X, Leo's successor, decreed that his heart was not to be removed after death, and the practice has not been revived.

Urns containing the hearts of 29 popes are sealed in the choir walls of a small church in the centre of Rome, that of Sts. Vincent and Anastasius.

Rebels Complete Conquest Of Catalonia

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 10 — (AP). — Spanish insurgent forces completed the conquest of Catalonia to-day as government leaders took up a last stand in Central Spain.

A small column of General Franco's troops reached Puigcerda, on the frontier, at 3.45 p.m. (10.45 a.m. EST) and raised their flag over the government's last border outpost.

Two hours earlier they raised their colors at Port Bou, advancing their easternmost Catalonia, and drove conquest of North-east Spain to remnants of the government army there across the frontier into France. The town was in ruins after having been blown up and set afire by the government forces.

Government Premier Juan Negrin, accompanied by some ministers, flew from Toulouse, France, to Alicante, Spain, avowedly to carry on resistance in Central Spain, still in government possession.

They were en route to Valencia to join General Jose Miaja, commander-in-chief of all government forces in Central Spain. Miaja declared neither he nor his general staff is negotiating peace with Franco.

Picton Hydro Office Is Gutted By Fire

PICTON, Ont., Feb. 10 (CP)—Offices of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission in Picton were gutted by fire last night. Located on the first floor of a large brick house, the offices were ruined by flames which ate their way through the ceiling and spread to unoccupied rooms upstairs. Flames were shooting through the roof when firemen were called and it was with difficulty they confined the blaze to the brick structure. Cause of the blaze is unknown. No one had been in the building for some time before the fire was discovered. The building is owned by Stanley Tripp.

Britain Beats Mussolini At Minorca

Italians To Be Barred; Bombing Nearly Wrecks Surrender

By J. F. Sanderson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(CP Cable)—Spanish Insurgent leaders in the Balearic Island of Mallorca today started an investigation into an air bombardment of Port Mahon yesterday which almost wrecked plans for the peaceful surrender of Minorca.

Splinters from anti-aircraft shells struck Britain's "mercy ship," the 10,000-ton cruiser Devonshire, while the Count of San Luis, an insurgent emissary from Mallorca, conferred aboard the warship with the Republican leaders of Minorca, another of the Balearic Islands which had been in the hands of the Spanish Government since the civil war began.

Reports reaching London indicate there were no casualties aboard the cruiser and that it was damaged only slightly. It left later for Marseille with 450 refugees aboard.

According to government officials here Great Britain agreed to provide transportation for the Count of San Luis to Minorca if the Spanish Insurgents undertook that there should be no raids while the vessel was in port.

Despite this agreement Insurgent planes, which have been identified as Italian machines from the Mallorca base, flew over Port Mahon while the peace negotiations were in progress and dropped bombs on the town.

Probe Promised.

The Devonshire did not fire at the sky raiders, but splinters from republican anti-aircraft guns slightly damaged her. An immediast protest was launched with the Count of San Lius and other insurgent leaders, who promised to start an investigation of the incident.

It is becoming increasingly clear that Great Britain and France won an important diplomatic victory by their part in the surrender of Minorca. There had been rumors that Italian forces from Mallorca intended to attack the island and the net result of the surrender was that it was accomplished by Spanish forces alone.

When Great Britain placed the Devonshire at General Franco's disposal to arrange a conferenec with the republican leaders in Minorca it was stipulated that Italian and German troops must take no part in occupation of the island. This stipulation was made because of the strategical importance of Minorca to France and her North African communications.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons he will make a statement Monday on the visit of the Devonshire to Minorca.

Pope Pius XI.

Pope Pius XI, 261st head of the Roman Catholic Church and the "Pope of Peace," who died shortly before dawn this morning.

261st Head of Roman Church Victim of Asthma After 17 Years On Throne

Master Bell Of St. Peter's Tolls News To Rome End Comes As Pontiff Prepares Special Address For Bishops

By Richard Massock (Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10 (AP). — Scholarly, peace-loving Pope Pius XI. died quietly this morning just before the church bells of old Rome sounded morning Angelus and while the closest of his churchly servants knelt in prayer at his side.

Approaching his 82nd birthday anniversary on May 31, he had been ill since Tuesday of cardiac asthma which caused death, although he had weakened gradually in general health since a severe illness in December, 1936, and another attack November 25, last year.

Dr. Aminta Milani, called from a sick bed, nodded that the end had come at 5.31 a.m., for the "Pope of Peace" on the fifth day of the 18th year since his election as head of the Catholic Church.

During the administration of the last rites witnesses said they saw the Pope's lips move.

Some close to him thought they heard him say:

"Our last rites, like those of all mortals, Sister Therese of the Infant Jesus, art near to us. God is merciful. May His will be done."

Saint Therese, whom Pius canonized, was the saint to whom he had entrusted his health.

Death came while the Holy Father was preparing to embark upon a new task—an extraordinary address tomorrow to all Italian bishops on the 10th anniversary of the Lateran accord with Italy—by which he became the first Pope in 59 years to emerge from the Vatican walls.

He had been expected to deal with the status of the concordat.

Bell Tolls News

The news was given officially to all Rome by the deep-throated "campanone," 11-ton master of the great bell tower on St. Peter's, which started tolling its requiem at 6:38 a.m. The bell sounded for 20 minutes.

At the order of Cardinal Selvaggiania, as the Pope's vicar in the Rome diocese, proclamations of death were nailed to the doors of the city's 400 churches.

His last years were saddened by war between the peoples he loved in Spain, by troubles between the church and state in Germany, and by the racial measures of the Fascist Italian state.

Dominion Sends Sympathy To Vatican

OTTAWA, Feb. 10—(CP).—The Sympathy of the Governmen t of Canada in the death of Pope Pius was expressed in a message sent today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King through the British minister to the Vatican.

The message read:

The government of Canada desires to associate itself with the governments of other countries in expressing its sense of the loss sustained in the death of His Holiness Pope Pius XI. The profound sorrow felt by members of the Roman Catholic Church in all parts of the world will be shared throughout Canada, where the devotion of Pope Pius to the spiritual progress of mankind had gained for His Holiness nation-wide admiration and esteem.

Sorrow in France.

PARIS, Feb. 10—(CP-Havas). — Sorrow at the death of Pope Pius XI was deeply felt in France today.

Prayers were said at al lchurch service. Other arrangements awaited instructions from Jean Cardinal Verdier, Archbishop of Paris, who is now in Rome.

An officer of the household of President Albert LeBrun called on the Papal Nuncio to present condolences.

Grief for Italy

ROME, Feb. 10—(AP).—Premier Mussolini described the death of Pope Pius XI today as "a source of grief for the church and for the Italian nation."

He called the late pontiff "the Pope of the conciliation" in a reference to the negotiation of the lateran accord, healing the breach between the church and state, which was signed 10 years ago tomorrow.

The premier's sentiments were expressed in a telegram to Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli.

King Victor Emmanuel ordered court mourning for eight days.

Schools suspended classes today and will do so again on the day of the funeral. All places of public entertainment were closed.

No Regrets In Bren Contract Defends Ian Mackenzie

Minister Threatens To Knock Tory's Head Off In Wildest Session Of Many a Debate

OTTAWA, Feb. 10—(CP)—After three weeks debate on the Speech from the Throne and one on the Bren Gun contract, Prime Minister Mackenzie King is anxious to steer the House of Commons around to Government business. Last night he asked for the consent of members to take up estimates today but J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, indicated he would object. As unanimous consent is necessary, Mr. Woodsworth's objection would be sufficient to prevent the government's wish being followed.

Defence Minister Mackenzie made his long-awaited speech in the Bren Gun debate last night, hit out sharply at his critics and aroused to House to a storm at times by his sallies against Conservative and C.C.F. members.

"Ian Mackenzie of loyal Highland Scotch ancestry is Minister of National Defence," he said, as he reminded opposition members they had not the responsibility of office.

One Of The Finest

Repeating his last session declaration that the contract with John Inglis Co. Limited of Toronto for production of 7,000 Bren machine guns was one of the finest contracts the government had ever entered, he said he had nothing to retract or regret.

The Inglis Company, he said, would be producing parts for the Bren gun by July, thereby beating all records established in England and Australia for getting into production on the gun. This was the answer to those who charged the company was not capable of producing the gun.

"Possibly more than anyone else in this House I have endured the slings and arrows of outrageous Tories in the last few days," he said, "but personal attacks on myself are of little consequence.

"I do appeal, however, to all parties and to all members to unite their voices and their forces so that the National Defence Department, after these malicious, vicious, meretricious attacks may carry on its real work in preparing the defence of the Dopinion."

Incompetent Says Cahan

From the Conservative side the veteran Hon. C. H. Cahan of Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George entered the battle with a charge that Mr. Mackenzie had proved himself "careless, negligent, incompetent and disqualified to carry out the administration of its high office.

"I suggest that no reflection can be cast upon General L. R. LaFleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence," said Mr. Cahan, "who, loyal as he was in military service, undoubtedly was equally loyal as the Deputy of the present Minister.

"Knowing and appreciating General Lafleche to be a man of honor, I think it is clear that in all he did he believed he was carrying out the policy of the Minister and the instructions which the Minister had given. Therefore any criticisms of the Deputy-Minister must be met by the Minister himself."

Mr. Mackenzie said he had been victim of "the most unfair attack in British parliamentary history. There has never beena more sustained campaign of calculated calumny than that directed against the present Minister of Defence.

"We have seen the most sinister alliance of the peculiar philosophy on your far left which attacked my estimates the past two years with sustained malevolence, and the Tory Party which did more to destroy national defence before 1935 than has ever been done in the history of Canada.

Mackenzie Flares Up.

"Col. George Drew (Leader of the Ontario Conservative Party) is not Minister of Defence," the Minister said. "That dominie from Mount Royal (W. A. Walsh) is not Minister, nor is that quibbling romancer from Weyburn (T. C. Douglas), or that patronymic from Rosetown-Biggar (M. J. Coldwell).

"Ian Mackenzie of loyal Scottish Highland ancestry is Minister of National Defence."

At an interruption from the Conservative benches the Minister shot back: "Not the Prussian mentality of South Waterloo."

Karl Homuth (Con., Waterloo) was at once on his feet. "The Minister called me a Prussian. I am a born Canadian and my people were born Canadians."

"I say the honorable gentleman who only arrived here a week ago, was never loyal to a party or principle in all his life," said the Minister.

There was an uproar and demands for withdrawal were made with several members on their feet at once when Mr. Mackenzie withdrew the reference to principle.

Conservative Leader Manion demanded retraction of the statement that Mr. Homuth "never was loyal to a party or principle in his life."

Minister Withdraws.

Mr. Mackenzie said he had in his possession statements in which Mr.

Jap Forces Grab Hainan, France To Kick

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10—(AP)—Japanese forces landed to-day on Hainan Island, off the South China coast, giving rise to fears of new international friction in the Far East.

The action, announced in Tokyo by the Japanese Admiraly and War Office, extended Japanese-controlled areas far to the south of their mainland territories into the French, British, United States and Dutch spheres.

The island, lying off the coast of French Indo-China and between the British possessions of Hong Kong and Singapore, has been watched with interest by both Great Britain and France since the beginning of the war.

(A Paris dispatch said the landing came as a shock to France, and French observers said it was certain to lead to sharp diplomatic exchanges between Paris and Tokyo. France asked Japan for an "explanation" of a previous attempt to land on Hainan last year.

(The French Government considers its 1907 treaty with Japan pledging each nation not to act in China "at the expense of the other" means Japan should not occupy Hainan. Japanese authorities challenge this interpretation).

K.C. Charges Quebec's Provincials Exercise Religious Censorship

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 10.—(CP)—R. L. Calder, K.C., of Montreal accused provincial police today of exercising religious censorship in the Province of Quebec.

Defending two Montrealers, Gerald Barry and Walter Chrysler, members of a sect known as "witnesses of Jehovah," Mr. Calder told a court of King's bench jury there was nothing blasphemous in literature distributed by the two men.

"These officers, without complains from anyone caused the arrest of the defendants.

"Wherever there is persecution a religion will flourish. The authorities would better serve their own ends by leaving these people alone. If a religion is true nothing can prevent its spread. If it is false it cannot survive."

Mr. Calder claimed that an attack against certain religions and sects did not constitute blasphemy.

"They have stated quite clearly their belief in the fundamentals of christianity, the existence of God, the sacrifice of Christ and the hope of redemption, and their books do not deny these truths. They merely reaffirm them," Calder said.

"I am a Catholic myself," he continued, "and in reading their literature I was irritated at much that I read. But I cannot, nor should any man be able, to prevent these men from expressing their outlook on any subject, especially religion, provided they do not attempt to attack the very basis of Christianity."

Spartanburg, S.C., Feb. 10 (AP)

"No, Sir, Judge."

"But the officers said you had it for sale."

"Well, Judge, I did swap some of it for money but I haven't been selling it. No Sir!"

Windsor Cuts Mill Off Its Tax Rate

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 10 (CP).—Mayor David Croll announced today Windsor's mill rate this year would be set at 39 mills, one mill lower than last year. Mr. Croll said all the city's obligations will be met by the operating budget of $2,900,000.

Provision for a $54,000 expenditure for purchasing a municipal airport site was included in the budget, civic authorities said. Mr. Croll said a special meeting of the City Council would be called early next week to approve the mill rate bylaw.

Windsor, as a defaulting municipality, has been under financial supervision by a committee representing the debenture holders, the city and the province, as well as by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Nicer In Montreal

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Feb. 10 —(CP). — Two women transients, who got a night's lodgings in the jail here, forgot the adage about invidious comparisons. As they left they complained to the jailer about the mattresses.

"Why, in the Montreal Jail they have nice soft mattresses and springs to sleep on," one said.

Thieves Enter Havelock Store Second Time In Three Months

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 10. — For the second time in three months, the main street store of Bernard Smith was broken into and ransacked by thieves last night.

More than a hundred dollars worth of merchandise was taken from the store in shoes, coats, sweaters, socks and underwear. Provincial police from Belleville are investigating.

The thieves are believed by the proprietor to be the same who visited him in November because they attempted to force entry at the same point, a window at the back of the store. On the first occasion Mr. Smith's loss exceeded $600.

Following the first break-in, Mr. Smith had a wooden shutter installed inside the back window, and the thieves were unable to force their way in this time. They went to the front of the store, broke a window adjoining the front door, and pulled open the night latch, entering by the front door.

Included among their loot were three pairs of shoes, a leather coat, sweaters, socks, underwear. A clubbag was found outside the premises, apparently dropped by the thieves in their get-away. The shoes stolen were sizes six and seven, the same sizes as those stolen by the November thieves. He believes they are the same men, and that the break-in occurred about midnight. Randall Woods, a clerk in a nearby store, was first to notice the break-in. Going to work about eight o'clock this morning he saw the broken window.

The thieves apparently knew the town well, for tire marks showed that they approached by way of the highway and through an alleyway to the back of the store. Although there are several dwellings in the immediate vicinity of the store, on the main street, no one heard them at work.

Thief Solves Puzzle Finds Will No One Else Could

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 10 (AP)

WHEN Mrs. Fred Guth died Dec. 21, 1937, her will was accidentally destroyed. Attorney H. L. Taylor thought he had kept a copy but couldn't find it. Nor could he recall its contents. A burglar solved the problem. He broke into Taylor's office, ransacked it and strewed papers all over the floor. Among the cattered documents was the missing copy of Mrs. Guth's will.

List Freighter As 'Lost At Sea'

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP).—Four rescue ships turned back to their courses today and the story of the British freighter Maria de Larrinaga was ended with three simple words: "Lost at sea."

"Certain she foundered," said a terse message from the American Scantic liner Scanmail as the search was abandoned last night.

There remained a thin chance that some of the 37 men aboard still were afloat in lifeboats or clinging to wreckage.

One brief flash of hope was raised by a message to the Holland-American Line that said the S.S. Vendam was "making rescue," but this later was shown to be a misinterpretation of a message from a sister ship.

Midland Mayor Mum On Opposing Drew

MIDLAND, Ont., Feb. 10 (CP).—Although he declared he had received numerous offers of support from Labor, Conservatives, and Liberals alike throughout the riding, Mayor James Mackie of Midland would not commit himself today as to whether he would oppose Conservative Leader Drew, K.C., in the coming by-election in Simcoe East.

Questioned as to whether or not he was the independent in whose favor Capt. W. J. Osborne Dempster had announced his withdrawal, Mayor Mackie stated that he had received a letter from Capt. Dempster but that he had not opened it as yet.

Mr. Mackie had been mentioned as a possible Independent-Conservative candidate.

King Shown Secret Aerial Equipment

LONDON, Feb. 10 (CP-Havas)—The King today inspected some of Great Britain's secret aerial war equipment at the Nash and Thompson Engineering Works at Tolworth, Surrey.

Wearing a bowler hat and a dark overcoat, the King drove from Buckingham Palace to the plant, where he was received by Sir Louis Vaughan and Major Frazer Nash.

The monarch showed keen interest in the power-operated gun turrets for warplanes and many other devices still on the air ministry's secret list.

After inspecting the gun turrets at length the King climbed into one, while the works manager explained its various functions to him. The works manager replied in the affirmative when the King asked whether Great Britain was ahead of all other countries in this type of armament.

Grandparents' Love Tangle Leads To Court As Woman Picks Wrong Poisoner

DETROIT, Feb. 10 (CP)—Testimony that two Detroit grandparents had an illicit love affair that allegedly culminated in a dramatic attempted poison plot was before Judge J. J. Maher today as he continued the trial of Mrs. Anna Warheit and Louis Bellar on charges fo conspiring to kill Bellar's wife.

George McGuire testified Mrs. Warheit tried to hire him to place a liquid in Mrs. Bellar's medicine bottle in the Bellar home refrigerator. He said he told her he knew a man that would do it and went immediately to the police.

Detective Raymond DeSoto said he went with McGuire to Mrs. Warheit and she offered him $25 to put what he said was poison in Mrs. Bellar's medicine bottle, while he posed as a refrigerator repairman.

DeSoto said he arrested Mrs. Bellar soon after she supplied him with the liquid and the payment. Evidence was given Bellar had kept Mrs. Warheit for many years and that they were lovers. Both are grandparents.

Conant, Beatty Drew Team In Tax Attacks

TORONTO, Feb. 10—(CP).—Two Ontario politicians and a national railway leader were agreed today that something should be done to remedy taxation evils they professed to see in Ontario and in Canada generally. The three speakers express their views before th Ontario proprty owners' association convention.

Attorney-General Gordon Conant appeared at last night's gathering as spokesman for the Ontario government, while the recently-chosen Conservative leader, Lieut.-Col. George Drew George A. Drew, also spoke. Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was the third speaker.

Sir Edward enumerated three "unfavorable effects of taxation." These were: unnecessarily high cost of living, especially for those least able to bear it; stagnation of private enterprise; and unemployment.

Declaring the "soak-the-rich" idea of taxation was wrong, he maintained this was a way of merely passing the tax load along. Every argument for redistribution of wealth by taxation fell down because the same factors which caused wealth's uneven distribution led to taxation being passed on to those least able to bear it.

Sir Edward held that indirect taxation was "far worse" than the direct variety and in Canada taxation "is very largely indirect." As owners of real estate, his audience should realize what costs of building and maintining property are affected by taxes other than those for which they are billed directly.

Burden Must Be Eased

Mr. Conant stressed what he said was an urgent necessity of restoring land values to a proper level in Ontario. He expressed his "entire sympathy" with the association's purpose of relieving real estate from its present burden of taxation.

He said all taxes on real estate are imposed by the municipalities and Another freeze-up was predicted by the weatherman for tonight, and strong northwest winds were in the offing.

Many Late for Work.

Traffic in and around Hamilton was completely demoralized when sleet followed rain. Long lines of cars on roads leading into the city were stalled or ditched and hundreds of suburban dwellers were late for work.

The rain and sleet froze into a glassy, shining surface that defied traction in Hamilton. Buses and street cars were stalled even on main streets.

Pedestrians found the navigating tough. One man on James street south fell three times as he attempted to cross the road. He finally finished on his hands and knees.

Worst district traffic tie-up was on No. 6 Highway between St. George and Clappison's Cut. By nine o'clock a line of eastbound transport trucks more than a mile long had formed. To the south of the city as far as Caledonia conditions were bad. Sideroads were impassable even for pedestrians.

Several persons were injured in an accident near Smithville. They were brought to Hamilton in ambulances that had to crawl along.

Cold during the night followed by high winds early to-day cut off power and lighting services in Sault Ste. Marie. The winds caused poles to snap and the city was without power from 7.40 a.m. to 8.40 a.m. District roads were in bad shape.

At Belleville heavy rain froze soon after it fell and drving conditions were "extremely dangerous." Hills and curves were being sanded.

Pope's Death Fills Legend

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP).—Pope Pius, in dying, fulfilled an ancient legend.

This, in Latin, is: "Non Videbis Annos Petri." It means "Thou shalt not see the years of Peter," or "Thou shalt not reign as long as Peter."

St. Peter's Pontificate lasted 25 years. For 19 centuries the legend held good. Pope after Pope reigned and died within the quarter century.

In the latter half of the 19th century and the begining of the 20th the legend was twice shattered.

Pope Pius IX reigned 31 years, seven months. Pope Leo XIII reigned 25 years, 5 months. But Pope Pius XI reigned for only 15 years.

The reign of the Popes is, on the average, much shorter than that of other monarchs owing to the fact that they generally are chosen from among the Cardinals and ordinarily the Red Hat is not conferred on prelates until they have reached at leas a half-century.

Franco Predicts Full Peace In Few Days

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 10.—(AP).—Peace in Spain within a few days was seen to-day by supporters of Insurgent General Franco.

After the insurgents' double victory yesterday in reaching France's eastern Pyrenees frontier and taking the Mediterranean Island of Minorca, the surrender of the Madrid-Valencia zone—the last territory left to the Spanish government—was confidently predicted.

Franco's Minister of the Interior, Ramon Serrano Suner, said in Barcelona: "I hope we shall not be long in announcing new and definite successes which will cause joy for all."

Despite denials from the government side and spirited protests of determination to carry on the war, insurgent sources said General Jose Miaja, dictator of the Madrid-Valencia zone already was negotiating with Franco for a peace agreement.

Feb. 18, when the civil war will be just 31 months old, has been suggested for the surrender of the central zone. The terms appeared to be those demanded by Franco—unconditional surrender.

Franco has long held this was the only way to end the war. Great Britain and France were understood, however, to have been assured by the insurgents that Italian and German forces would be withdrawn and government forces would be treated with all possible leniency.

Dr. Juan Egrin, premier of government Spain who left his crumbling republic's northern frontier at Le Perthus yesterday just before insurgent troops reached the border, travelled last night deeper into France to Toulouse, where he could no longe ract as premier. He left Toulouse later for an undisclosed destination.

On the French frontier the insurgents were installed at two Catalonian border points—Le Perthus and Nuestra Senora De Nuria—leaving three pickets still to be cleaned out around Puigcerda in the west, Prats De Mollo in the centre and Port Bou in the east.

Tons Of Candles For Pope's Bier

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP).—Sacred flames of heavy tapers adorning the Papal catafalque will melt down a ton and a half of the purest wax available during the three days the late Pope's body lies in state.

Hundreds of the most costly tapers will be placed around the bier and the chapel where the devout are permitted to take last leave of their Pontiff.

The holy candles range in weight from about one to ten pounds. A half ton of them will be consumed daily.

Illumination of the catafalque is only a part of the roles the holy candles play in a Papal funeral. A Pope's funeral lasts during a nine day period called the "Novemdiali." Daily High masses are said in Saint Peter's with the costliest of altar and processional candles playing their symbolic parts.

Sister Is Pope's Closest Relative

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP).—Pope Pius XI leaves a small but devited group of relatives to mourn his passing.

His closest relative is a sister, Donna Camilla, 72 years old. Donna Camilla, who never married, followed the career of her older brother with tender devotion.

After he became Pope she came to Rome to live and resided in a pension run by nuns. She visited her brother at least once a week, particularly on Sunday when he set aside an hour for his own relatives.

After Donna Camilla in Pius XI's affections came his niece, the Marquise Maria Luisa Persichetti-Ugolini, daughter of his late brother Fermo, a wealthy silk merchant. She is the wife of the Marquis Persichetti-Ugolini, an aristocrat of the Abruzzi region, Minister of San Domingo to the Holy See.

When they were married in 1926 the Pope ordered the wedding held in the gorgeous Consistory Hall in the Vatican with great ceremony. He delivered the nuptial sermon and was present at the wedding breakfast that followed.

One of His Chief Joys.

Marquise Persichetti-Ugolini's two children, Maria Pia and Franca Maria, have formed one of the chief joys of the Pontiff's declining years. He specifically requested they be brought to see him every Sunday at the hour reserved for his relatives.

His nephew, Count Franco Ratti, a consulting engineer, has been president of the Central Council of Vatican City, a non-salaried post. Count Ratti, too, was married in the Vatican with great ceremony, his bride being Maria Crespi, daughter of Senator Crespi, a wealthy Milan manufacturer, and the celebrant of the ceremony being the Pope.

Pius, however, saw little of them since they made their home in Milan.

Another relative who shared in the Pontiff's affections was his sister-in-law, Donna Ernestina Ratti Caminada, the widow of his brother, Ferom, and mother of Count Franco Ratti and Marquise Persichetti-Ugolini.

Key Of Nazi Respect Is "Strength" Says German Exile

Toronto, Feb. 10 (CP)

KLAUS MANN, editor of a German exile magazine at Amsterdam, told the Empire Club yesterday that all attempts to reach an understanding with Chancellor Hitler of Germany will fail.

"The only thing the Nazis believe in is force and power and there is no way to come to an agreement with them," he said. "The only way to get along with them is to be strong," he said.

Pius Be Buried In Grottoes Beneath Altar

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP).—Pope Pius XI will be buried in the grottoes beneath the main altar of St. Peter's, near the tombs of his immediate predecessors, Benedict XV and Pius X.

In the company of a Monsignor and Giuseppe, the aged uniformed guide, I looked over the chamber where his remains will lie at rest.

His Holiness visited this spot once every year, on the eve of the Feast Day of St. Peter and St. Paul, June 29. On a visit several years ago he remarked, "Some day I also will find sweet repose in this place."

He descended to the grottoes by a narow marble circular staircase hiden beside one of the enormous columns holding up vast St. Peter's dome. The stairs, descending, wind past the tomb of St. Peter.

Giuseppe, who in 40 years, has escorted thousands of Americans and Canadians to the grottoes, took us directly to the little chamber containing the tombs of Benedict XV and Pius X, called the Chapel of the Popes.

The chamber is, in reality, a heavy, low white arch holding up the floor of St. Peter's. The top of my head almost grazed the low ceiling in which gratings open for ventilation. We saw people walking above, seemingly right on our heads.

Chapel Alomt Filled.

The few tombs within the chapel almost fill it. Pius X's is of white marble, huge like a Roman sarophagus, but simple. Two candles burn before it. Benedict XV's is of yellow marble, its top composed of a bronze recument statue of the Pontif.

Said Giuseppe, "the people of Bologna, where Benedict XV had been Archbishop and who loved him, contributed the money to build his tomb."

At one end of the chamber is a little chapel altar. Giuseppe beckoned mysteriously and we followed him to a tomb to the right.

"Queen Christina of Sweden," he whispered. "She gave up her crown of a Protestant country to join the Catholic church. She died 250 years ago."

Giuseppe showed us old Roman pagan sarcophagi in which a few Popes are buried. Throughout the grottoes there are Roman and early Christian stone and marble inscriptions built into the walls.

Nearby Giuseppe showed us the porphyry tomb of Nicholas Breakspear, the only English Pope. And also, nearby, the tombs of the last of the Stuarts, the English exiled Crwown, Prince or "Old Pretender," as he was called; his son, Charles Edward the "Young Pretender," and another son, Henry, Cardinal York

Cardinal Pacelli Takes Over Reins

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP).—A slender, gray-haired Itaian nobleman of youthful bearing, but having the poise that comes from years of diplomatic activity to-day became a kind of temporary Pope until the election of Pius' successor.

Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, no longer Papal Secretary of State, function in his other capacity, that of "Camerlengo" of the Holy Roman Church. As such he is supreme head of the Apostolic Chamber or Temporary Administrator of Vatican Affairs.

In addition, he is the one permanent member of a commission of four Cardinals who act for the Sacred College in the exercise of the Pontiff's spiritual power.

The experience back of the 60-year-old Cardinal has caused some speculation as to the possibility of his becoming the next Pope. The possibility clashes with his confessed longing to lead the contemplaintive life of a monk. First as Nuncio to the young German Republic and later as Papel Secretary of State, Cardinal Pacelli's polished diplomacy has won him a number of great triumphs.

He was most recently in the public eye when he visited America last Fall for a brilliant tour and when he journey to Buenos Aires in 1934 to represent Pope Pius at the Eucharistic Congress in that South American capital.

Perhaps Pacelli's most difficult diplomatic job was that of negotiating a treaty with Protestant Prussia in 1929. His success won him the red hat and appointment as successor to Pietro Cardinal Gasparri when the latter retired.

Like Pope Pius XI, Pacelli has devoted much of his attention to the struggle for world peace.

PURCHASING BOARD

Appointment of a purchasing committee for the city will be considered this afternoon by the special committee recently named by the council, Aldermen Stocker, Cotton, Wilson and Dutton. It is proposed that gasoline be bought for all the city's trucks and cars including those of the Fire and Police Departments and that idea has been expanded to include the buying of all other supplies.

Thor's Bolts Are Now Duds To Engineers

Not to be scoffed at was A. M. Doyle, Associate of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, transformer sales engineer with the Canadian General Electric Company, his subject being "Lightning Protection For Power Transmission Lines," and his treatment of that subject at last night's meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

There is no intention in this random reference to attempt to be facetious about such an extremely important matter as lightning's attraction to copper wires already highly charged with electrical current, and the consequent overplus and surge of electricity that is going somewhere along those wires in an infinite hurry unless something is done about it. Most people have had the experience of their lights going out during a severe thunder storm. Probably the transformer, that black box hung up on a pole out on the street, "blew," and possibly the fuses leading into the house. Those fuses are designed to yield to abnormal conditions, such as surges of current that melt the inserted metal and instantly break the electrical circuit. Otherwise the copper wires with their overload of power might burn insulation and thereby set fire to the house.

However, that's just small stuff. The Utilities Commission send around its repair man, and do things that turn the lights on again. Some time they have to put up a new transformer. When lightning rides wires of those big distribution systems strung on the stee ltowers that stride across farmers' fields and orchards all the way from Gatineau to Lenside, well, any way that was what Mr. Doyle was talking about to a group of local engineers and students last night, but if any reader is keen about what the disciples of Edison have done about it they will have to ask Hubert Sills or some of the other experts down at the C.G.E.

Bark Worse Than Bite.

All that a reporter could decide about it was that electrical engineers have disarmed Thor of his Jovian bolts and have sent him to the doghouse. And when he does break out on sultry summer days with tremendous blasts, the engineers know that his bark is worse than his bite. That surely is tribute enough to pay to A. M. Doyle, who learned a lot about electricity not so many years ago in the test department of Peterboro's C.G.E. It signifies a layman's persistent amazement that nothing more than a momentary jitter is the only visible disturbance of the community's electrical transmission system under the flashing effect of a cosmic shot in the arm of voltage.

If they didn't put in lightning arresters of one type or another, the thunder season would always be harvest time for the electrical industry, including the C.G.E. There would be whole flocks of orders for new transformers, switchgear, generators and so on, if engineers in electrical industry especially during the last fifteen years hadn't made vagrant lightning rambuctioning over copper wires say uncle. Prior to that the provisions against the effects of lightning were arived at by the trial and error system, "twice the normal voltage plus a thousand" when insultation was going into transformers. Now the industry can practically guarantee lightning arresters that can be depended upon to give trouble free service.

Mr. Doyle had a subject that could present an interestingly romantic facet about Jove and his thunderbolts being made to stand in the corner, but instead it was the uncompromisingly scientifc face that was turned esoterically to the E.I.C. group, and two of the uninitiated, Charlie Coleman, the Paragon landlord, stood it as long as he could and took the air for awhile. The reporter felt a fit coming on, but quickly halted it with the realization that he might be tossed out for interrupting the seance, or at least get a cold questioning "what are you doing here, anway?"

So it was al lerudite stuff about overhead ground wires, rod gaps, kilovolts, details about lightning arresters. And there was one word that is worth second thought. It was microsecond; and if that doesn't mean one-millionth of a second, what can it mean? And when you get down to millionths of a second, you are getting into reverse astronomical quantities.

And if lightning is loafing along, a scad of kilovolts of it per microsecond, per something else, it all goes to prove that those engineers and their lightning arresters have to be mighty quick on the trigger. After emerging from the fog of superscience or something leaning that way, a layman might be tempted to consider the points of resemblance between the general principles of the lightning arrester on the one hand and the lightning rod on the barn. And there is actually something to be said about it, but even that suggestion may raise the E.I.C. bar, henceforth against benighted intruders who couldn't tell an ohm from an ampere.

Cowie Home Burned

(Examiner Correspondence.)

KEENE, Feb. 10. — The home of Dan Cowie, well known resident of Hiawatha, was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon last, and Mr. Cowie and his family lost their furniture and all their personal belongings.

The blaze broke out early when the occupants were out and the house was almost at once a mass of flames, burning so fiercely that it was impossible to get inside to save any of the furniture.

Market Review

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—(CP)—Trading energy was at low ebb today on the Toronto stock market and as volume dwindled prices eased down. Losses were general at the close but there were no wide recessions. Steels stood out in the industrial section, showing a strong tone but losses in the mining divisions lacked compensating gains. Margin of losses were narrow in the western oils. Aggregate turnover was below the half million share mark.

The market was a dull affair from the opening and all indices were off moderately at noon. Volume up to the end of the third hour was only 253,000 shares.

Imperial Oil sold down, while other senior oils held to the up side along with the steels. Page-Hersey, Steel of Canada and Canada Wire B were strong spots.

In the golds weakness was mainly in evidence in the secondary and junior groups. Wright-Hargreaves went to a new high for a year or

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(AP).—Minor declines predominated in today's stock market proceedings, which were the slowest of the year so far.

A little buying support came in after noon and extreme set-backs of a point or so were reduced or cancelled in many cases near the final hour. Transfers were about 450,000 shares.

GEORGE W. WILSON

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, Feb. 10. — Funeral of the late George Wilson was held from the family residence on the bondary of Cartwright and Manvers on Tuesday afternoon.

The late Mr. Wilson, who was in his eightieth year, had suffered from heart trouble since the first of January and his passing removes a highly respected friend and neighbor.

He was a charter member of the Royal Black Preceptory since its inception at Blackstock fifty years ago and since the death of Mr. Wilson only two members survive who joined at that time, namely John Henry Devitt and James Byers. The deceased was also a Mason.

The late Mr. Wilson was first married to Miss Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Graham at St. Alban's church, south of the village and to this union were born eight children.

Some years after the passing of his wife in 1922 he was married to Mrs. Eliza Nae of Midland.

Surviving are his widow, four daughters and two sons, Mrs. Robert Graham (Celia) of Dunford, Mrs. Clarence Mountjoy (Eva), Mrs. Garfield Trewin (Sophia), and Mrs. Everett Trewin (Eunice) all of Cartwright; William Wilson of Lotus and Herman Wilson on the homestead. Another son and daughter, Arthur Wilson and Mrs. Bert Middleton (Emma) of Omemee, predeceased their father a few years ago.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Wood of the Church of England, Blackstock and interment was made at St. Alban's cemetery at Janetville which is situated on one corner of the Wilson farm.

Two In One

TAVISTOCK, Ont., Feb. 10 — (C. P.). — A hen owned by Henry Schmidt laid an egg measuring 7½ by 8 inches. Inside this egg was another perfectly formed egg of normal size.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. George Hurl, R.R. 7, Peterborough and a resident of this city until six years ago, is reported to have died during the night, apparently having slept away, death being due to a heart attack. For many years she lived on Mark street in Ashburnham and is well known in the city. They have lived on the farm formerly owned by Mr. Brown on the north side of the Norwood Road, opposite the Rifle Range, three miles east of the city. Funeral details later.

Catholic World Mourns Death of His Holiness Pope Pius XI

Devoted Life to Cause Of Peace Among Nations

Was brilliant scholar and daring mountaineer —healed breach between Vatican and Italian government by Lateran Treaty

By HENRY F. SPEARING

Consecrating all the efforts of his high office to the peace of the world and striving unflinchingly toward this ultimate goal throughout the turmoil of a constantly changing civilization, Pope Pius XI, who will forever be remembered as the "Pope of Conciliation," was a man of many brilliant achievements during his remarkable ecclesiastical career.

Roman Catholics everywhere were plunged into deepest mourning when word of the death of their beloved Pope Pius was made public. As an empire mourns the passing of a great king, as greatly do Roman Catholics the world over grieve for the loss to the Catholic Church of its beloved Pontiff.

Universal peace was the great dream and hope of the sovereign of the Vatican. One mere fragment in this dream, but undoubtedly one of the most dramatic achievements in his career, was the Lateran Treaty whereby the 59-year-old feud between the church and state in Italy was ended and popes freed forever from their self-imposed imprisonment. For many years he had sought to end the estrangement between the head of the Catholic Church, with its seat in Rome, and the lay government of Italy under the rule of Premier Benito Mussolini. But it was not until Sept. 2, of 1931, that an agreement was reached between state and Holy See for a peaceful settling of the dispute.

Compromised With Mussolini

Pope Pius had always maintained that the spiritual and moral education of youth belonged first to the church, then to the family and last of all to the state. Just as passionately, Premier Mussolini maintained that children belonged to the state.

The pope's great conciliatory powers were simply yet most definitely shown by the compromise made in the controversy between the Italian premier and the Vatican. The agreement clearly defined where Pius should leave off and Mussolini carry on in the education of the youth of Italy.

These two men, both of extraordinary force of character, one springing from the middle classes of laborious Lombardy and the other the son of a blacksmith, have stood out more in the recent history of Italy than any two other persons in that country during the previous century.

Born in 1857

The fourth child of his parents Francesco and Teresa Ratti, Pope Pius XI was born at Desio, a small Lombard town, on May 31, 1857 and baptised Ambrose Damian Achille Ratti. His family were of peasant stock, who with the later introduction of the silk industry became operatives, and, on a small scale, capitalists. They had been residents of the Desio district since early in the 16th century.

Across the street from the little mill home of Achille Ratti, as he was known as a child, was the village church and ever before the eyes of the infant, who later was to wear the white raiment of the Pontificate, was the cross, the symbol of Christianity.

Visitors to the Vatican in later years were to note and remark that the Pope's features glowed as though from some inner light. The village priest, Don Giuseppe Volontieri, and Achille's uncle were his first teachers. From his earliest and most impressionable years therefore, the teachings of the church were before him. His uncle often talked to him of the beauties of religious service and always was Damian Achille Ratti an ardent and interested listener.

Experienced Mountain Climber

Books for the knowledge that they held were loved by the boy Achille. He had also a normal youth's pleasure in taking part in physical trials and accomplishments. Reared at the foot of the towering Alps, those lofty peaks were an ageless challenge that constantly called to him. One of the peaks bears his name now; the result of his being the first to scale its perilous summit, for despite his slight and pale appearance he became an accomplished Alpinist while still in his boyhood. His fearless ascents continued even after his entering priesthood.

A student as talented as Achille soon was recognized as being destined for the "road to Rome." He pursued his studies at the Milan seminary, conducted by the priesthood, then to a seminary at Monza and later to the Archbishop's urban seminary of St. Charles. He became a student in the Lombard College in Rome and also frequented the Gregorian University, taking degrees in canon law, theology and philosophy. On December, 20, 1879, he was ordained priest and said his first mass the next day in St. Charles on the Corso in Rome.

As doctor in the Ambrosian Library of Milan was Achille's first appointment. Many years were spent carrying out his duties as an assistant librarian and later as prefect. He travelled widely during his Milan years and was sent into many lands to inspect rare documents. Because of this he became the lifelong, respected friend of countless savants.

Saved Life of Guide

Despite the spending of 20 years in the famous Ambrosian Library he was in no way buried away from life among books. Often he acted as priest of the Chapel of the Cenacle, played quiet games of billiards after supper, and when time could be spared, be belted his cassock, grasped his alpenstock and went forth upon the high trails of his beloved Alps.

The same dauntless courage as Achille showed in the face of danger along Alpine trails, did he show when serious labor riots broke out in Milan. On one trip skyward in an ascent toward the glorious heights of a mountain-peak, his daring had saved the life of his guide. When riots broke out and men threatened to destroy the great Capucine Convent, he went among the rioters and was responsible for bringing the disorders to a peaceful conclusion.

Honored by King

Pope Leo 13th appointed Achille as professor of dogmatic theology in Milan's Great Seminary. Following his attaining membership at the Ambrosian Library at that city, his next appointment was as Comestic prelate to Pius 10th. Later he was appointed as canon of Milan Cathedral, where the noted Cardinal Ferrari was the archbishop. Mgr. Ratti was to hold this post in later years.

One of the many works he undertook while at the library, was to re-classify its contents on modern lines. This won him the gratitude of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, who conferred upon him the Knighthood of the Order of Saints Maurice and Lazarus.

In 1912 he was appointed a Canon of St. Peter's and entered the cloistered quiet of the Vatican library for six years. These six years were the most uneventful during his life but for the most part of the period the outside world writhed in the horrifying throes of the World War.

An active part in the world of men rather than the world of books, however, was again taken by Mgr. Ratti immediately following the Armistice. Benedict XI sent him as Apostolic Visitor to new-born Poland, later making him Papal Nuncio there. For three years he stayed in Warsaw, and there included among his friends such famous personalities as Paderewski, Pilsudsky, and Herbert Hoover.

Went to Poland

It was Monsignor Ratti who prepared the way for the concordat between Poland and the Holy See. When the Bolshevist invasion was at the doors of Warsaw, and the diplomatic corps was leaving, Mons. Ratti telegraphed to Benedict XV asking his authorization to remain, even if the city should be occupied, but the order came that he was to follow the Polish government. The brilliant mind that was the Mons. Ratti was found invaluable in helping the Poles and Germans deal with the intricacies which the various nationalities and their post-war claims engendered.

During 1919 the Inter-Allied Commission requested him to act as high ecclesiastical commissioner for the Upper Silesia plebiscite. Nowhere did he work harder than in Russia. Because of his conservative views and his experience in dealing with the misery there, he had a strong aversion to Bolshevism.

In June, 1921, he was appointed Archbishop of Milan in the place of Cardinal Ferrari, deceased, by Pope Benedict, and was made Cardinal in the same year, but in the following February Benedict died.

Elected Pope

Cardinal Ratti left for Rome, in his natural modesty, buying a return ticket. Fifty-three Cardinals for three days pursued their scrutinies in the Sistine Chapel while thousands of watchers stood in awed suspense as black plumes of smoke from burned ballots rose repeatedly from the chimney in sign the church was still widowed.

Suddenly, as if realizing simultaneously where their duty lay, the Cardinals voted almost unanimously for Achille Ratti, the newest Cardinal of them all. Ballots laid on dry straw instead of damp, in the fireplace, caused a column of white smoke to rise high in the air. The great crowd in St. Peter's Square knelt as one person on the stone pavement and prayed in thanksgiving.

Signed Treaty With Il Duce

"Pius is a name of peace. I desire to consecrate my labors to the peace of the world. I choose the name of Pius XI," declared the newly elected Pope as the Cardinals left their stalls to ask what name he would choose.

It was this unwavering passion for peace which brought to the church riches and recognition and freed Italy from the stigma of oppression through the Lateran Treaty. But he found the road to peace a slow one to travel. Until Sept. 2, 1931, negotiations were made and discussions held between Church and State and finally, with the support of no less a man than Premier Benito Mussolini, who rose to power in the same year that Pius XI was crowned Pope, the dream of the sovereign of the Vatican was realized.

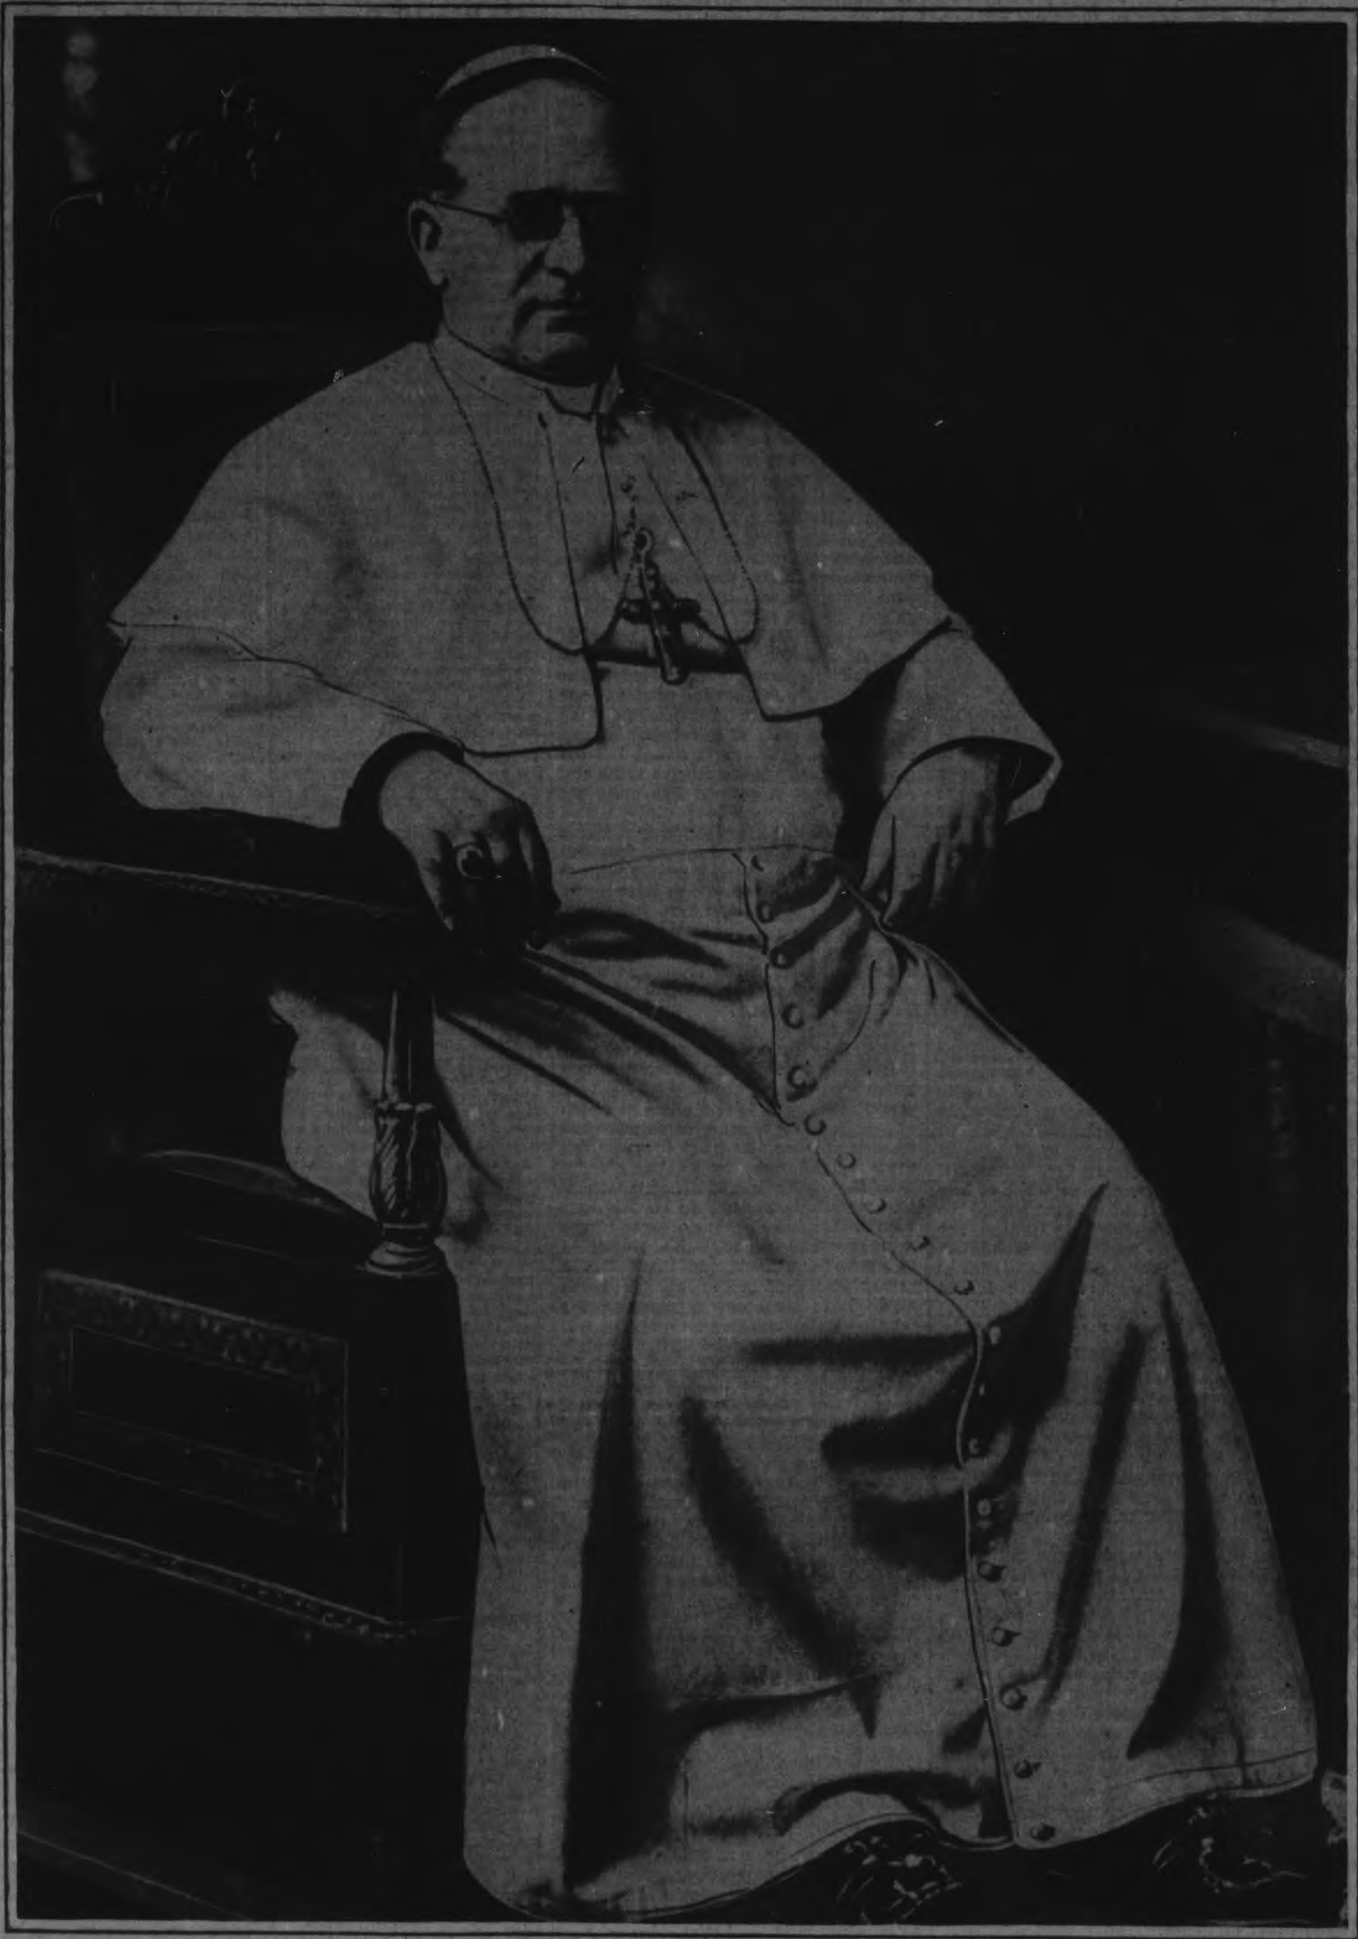
Tranquil Mind

With the signing of the Treaty, the Pope was free to leave the Vatican when he pleased and was the first Pope to have such freedom since the Fall of Rome in 1870.

One of the physical characteristics of Pius XI was the regular tranquillity of his mind. Always an early riser, he contented himself with six hours' sleep each night during his years of Pontificate. He rarely changed the fixed time-table for his work that he had adopted early in his reign. Especially to his mother, he was, in private life, devoted to his family and was a friend of Don Bosco, founder of the Salesian order. He later beatified Bosco. Professor Contardo Ferrini, teacher of Roman law at the University of Pavia, was a particular friend.

His death was hastened by worry over unsettled world conditions, the Ethiopian war, the Spanish civil war and the treatment of the Catholics in Germany by the Nazis.

His reign was constantly one of ceaseless activity, high ideals and courageous administration.



HIS HOLINESS POPE PIUS XI.

These remarkable camera studies of His Holiness Pope Pius XI were made recently while the pontiff delivered an address at the Vatican.

This magnificent scene, with the rays of the sun pouring through St. Peter's cathedral in the Vatican city, was taken when Pius XI first wore the triple crown of the church at the coronation ceremonies in 1922.

Building a New Hospital

The trustees of Nicholls Hospital have asked the City Council to submit a by-law to the Protestant ratepayers of Peterborough providing for funds to the extent of $395,000 for the erection of a new hospital. It is proposed to spread the payment over a period of 30 years and in that way the cost would mean about $1 per year for each $1,000 assessment of property.

There are few, if any, cities which have been so fortunate in the matter of hospital accommodation at no cost to the municipality. Peterborough as a city has never invested or spent a five cent piece in building Nicholls Hospital. It was a gift from the late Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls, and in addition she left an endowment fund of $250,000 which gives the hospital an income of $1,000 a month for operating expenses. There was no half-way policy adopted by Mrs. Nicholls when she provided a hospital and then made the added provision of providing the money to run it.

The problem today is that the hospital is no longer able to meet the demands made upon it. The construction of the building is substantial but it is antiquated. The bill for heating alone runs from $6,000 to $8,500 per year, and competent authorities claim that with modern construction it would be possible to heat a place twice that size at half the cost.

It is not idle talk which says that Nicholls Hospital cannot provide for those who seek admission. During last year there were 200 applications for admission and there was no room. According to recognized practice a hospital should never have over 80 per cent. of its capacity filled; that 20 per cent. should be kept in reserve for emergency purposes, for accident or similar cases which require immediate attention. It is dangerous to operate at what might be called capacity.

And yet that is exactly what is being done most of the time at Nicholls Hospital. There is a bed capacity there of 85, and yet there have been occasions when there have been as many as 94 patients in the hospital. That was made possible by crowding in extra beds in some of the rooms, something which should not have been done, but it had to be.

The situation at present—and it it has been the same for some time—is that the hospital actually has to say "No" to people who desire to go there when they are sick, and as the city keeps on growing that condition will become more acute.

We have no doubt the City Council will pass along the matter to the ratepayers and the Examiner believes the ratepayers will see the wisdom of giving an affirmative answer. We cannot see any other way open except to go ahead and build the new hospital. As a city we have been generously treated by a former noble woman Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls. She it was who in her time accepted a heavy responsibility which would otherwise have become the property of the ratepayers years ago, and her method of endowment has saved the people from making anuual expenditure for operation. The request as presented by the trustees appears to be reasonable and right.

Can't Both Be Right

Discussing the Bren gun contract in the House of Commons, W. A. Walsh of Montreal launched a vigorous attack on the manner in which the Inglis company had been organized. His claim was that 191,662 shares of stock with a par value of $6 "were given to four or five promoters without a cent of money being turned over by them. The company was merely a promotion scheme." The phrase "watered stock" was used by Mr. Walsh and he appeared to be certain there was going to be a million dollars made by "a bunch of promoters."

We are not prepared to accept at face value the analysis of Mr. Walsh, but that is not the interesting point. It comes here—

Mr. Walsh is a member of the Federal government, and he was speaking of a company the stock of which had been offered in Ontario, and on that account would have to pass under the scrutiny of the Securities Commissioner of the Ontario government.

It has been announced that some time before the company was allowed to offer any stock the whole transaction had been scrutinized and approved by the Ontario government official, and if such scrutiny amounts to anything at all it is not reasonable to conclude that a "bunch of promoters" could run as loose as Mr. Walsh seems inclined to believe.

It must be that if Mr. Walsh is right in his charges then the Securities Commissioner for Ontario was—and is—all wrong. And if the Securities Commissioner was right and thorough in his work then by the same token Mr. Walsh must be entirely wrong. It is not possible for them both to be right.

Ignoring Stop Signs

The Examiner has previously stated there is a tremendous amount of disregard in this city for stop signs. There are drivers in large bundles who apparently think the signs were never put up to be observed, or else they are certain the word "Stop" means nothing at all to them.

One can see this any day in the week and it is plain enough the police could see the same thing if they went about the city looking for it, although the presence of a policeman in uniform is probably a handicap in trying to enforce such a law. The driver sees the policeman and he becomes a careful driver, and when there is no uniformed man in sight he proceeds to ignore the plain signs.

It is a problem the police should deal with in the most effective manner at their disposal. There is need to make it plain that "Stop" means exactly what it says and that it means every driver. If there were some wholesome checking up done about this the roads would soon become safer for all drivers. Those who at present persist in barging out from stop streets without pausing are becoming a nuisance, and they are getting away with it continually.

Seems Final Enough

It was announced from London that George Andrew McMahon intended to visit Canada at the time Their Majesties are in this country. McMahon had been in prison two years because he was the person in possession of a loaded revolver which was tossed about near Edward VIII. in 1936. He has since issued a leaflet in which he describes himself as a second Dreyfus and seeks to have his name vindicated. McMahon was also certain representations would be made on his behalf in case there was any objection to his entering the Dominion of Canada.

It does look as though George Andrew McMahon would have to change his plans for the spring and summer months of 1939 because he is not wanted in Canada and will not be allowed to enter the country. Ottawa makes that plain as a pikestaff. A person who has been in prison for the offence lodged against McMahon is placed in the "prohibited class" by law. Nor can we think of any sufficient reason why there should be any change. We appear to have all the queer people we need in the Dominion, and Mr. McMahon should not desire to force his company where it is not wanted.

An Ex-Convict Wins

Now and then things seem to come out right—just as they should. The case of Vernon B. Browne, chief of police in Glendale, California, serves as an example. Browne has been on duty there for several years and his record is good; he has been found to be honorable and honest, courteous and very much on the job.

Within recent weeks some individual dug into the records and found that in 1925 Browne had been sentenced to prison for nine months for embezzlement. Armed with that information the next step was to place the information before the authorities and have Chief Browne fired.

He was called before the officials and faced with the accusation. Browne said it was correct but it did not tell the entire story. He had been pardoned a short time after being sent to prison, although he stated he was undoubtedly guilty in some small degree for the offence. He decided it was enough for him and he went straight ever since and intended to keep on doing so no matter whether he was retained or fired as Chief of Police.

After which there was a vote of confidence passed in him and it was uanimous. A small item in the day's run of news but rather a good one.

Digging up a man's past when he is trying to live it down is poor stuff at best. A good many people are willing enough to sob over the hard luck of the criminal and to demand all manner of changes in penal institutions, but there are few of them ready to give a hand to the ex-convict who is trying to make his way by going straight. Trying to bowl a man over after he had worked for and gained a second chance is unspeakably small stuff.

As It Was On The Tenth

We had taken it for granted that the business of selling enlarged crayon pictures of people had fallen by the boards, but apparently such belief was wrong. We noticed an item a few days ago telling of a case in court where an unpaid balance on such a picture was being sought. The individual who had agreed to purchase the picture was not satisfied with the finished article and had refused to meet final payment.

Now and again there was a travelling artist who used to make the rounds of the Tenth Concession and his business was making enlargements from photographs. He was a friendly chap and a good talker and knew enough to arrive generally a little while before dinner hour. He always said he wanted to pay for his meal, but never did, and the folks used to say he never would unless they set the farm dog on him.

Just how he managed to talk grandfather into having an enlarged portrait made was always a sort of puzzle. He found an old picture of grandfather in the family album and at once got lost in admiration; it looked for a while as though he had gone into a trance or something like that. He was full up on a good meal when he tackled grandfather and his sales pressure was running high. He even walked around the parlor and pointed to a spot just as the corner of the organ where the easel which went with the picture would stand and I guess grandfather could almost see the thing in place and realized it would sort of finish the room off, so his name went down on the dotted line and the travelling artist took the photograph and departed.

It must have been a good three or four weeks before he came back and he had the whole works tied up in a bundle riding in the buggy alongside of him. No person in the house could run out and bring it in. The artist handled it with care; in fact he sort of fondled it as though it were dear to him. He would have dinner first and then the unveiling would take place with all the members of the family properly seated in the parlor. He said a little ceremony like that got the thing off to a good start and furnished one of those long-to-be-remembered days, something like the time when we won first prize on mangels at the fall fair.

The easel was made out of pieces of bamboo and the artist said they were especially imported. He shoved chairs around a little and got the easel and the big framed picture in place and then took off the piece of newspaper he had over it. That was the unveiling but the travelling artist did so much bowing and scraping that it seemed like quite an occasion.

And there was grandfather in a frame over two feet high and a good foot and a-half crosswise. Every person admitted it was a dandy frame. Those were in the days when the gold standard was working more than eight hours a day. It may have been gilt but it knocked spots off everything else in the room and made the painted shade on the hanging lamp look kind of shabby.

After the company looked at the frame they started looking at grandfather and some person tittered, which seemed to annoy the artist. He took grandfather first to one angle of vision and then another and explained just what a great work of art it was. You could tell all right by looking a trifle close that it was grandfather but there was something strange in it. His ears were always large but they looked bigger than ever and the artist had neglected to shove them back, and there was a rather wild look in the left eye which would have been out of place in the family pew on Sunday morning.

But there was no law suit. Grandfather was a stickler for doing what he agreed. About the time of the spring housecleaning it was found the enlarged photo had come down off the easel and one of Queen Victoria took its place. Grandfather's picture got put up in the spare bedroom, and he drove a nail in the wall himself. He never actually complained about the picture but in one of his rare spells of humor he remarked that with his picture in the spare room probably company might not be inclined to overstay their welcome.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We learn it is illegal in Russia to engage in buying and selling at a profit. In our country a god many people have found it impossible.

Tobacco men look for an increased business from Canadian factories. If the hungry world cannot afford to buy our wheat it can at least smoke our tobacco.

There is to be a training centre in Chicago for the retail grocery trade. First lesson is how to look and sound impressive and honest when saying: "Yes, mam, we'll send that right over at once."

Move is being made to change the name Penetanguishene to Penetang as the present name is too great a mouthful. Tax bills, we understand will continue to be computed on the basis of the old mouthful.

WORTH TRYING

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Folks ask the government today, to help them almost every way, with every little chore; I find it hard to scoop up wealth, I think I'll ask for things myself, I never did before.

¶ When I have weeks when money goes, for buying fish and prunes and clothes, and I can't pay the rent; I think I'll join with other men, sit down and write a letter then, and ask the government.

¶ When I have lots of spuds for sale, and when my stock is getting stale, and I can't make a cent; I won't sit there and road and groan, but get right busy on the phone, and call the government.

¶ My pink sedan no more will run, I really need a better one, with that I'd be content; I know right well when comes the spring, that I can't pay for anything, I'll ask the government.

¶ My brindle cow is milking good, performing just the way she should, with milk I'd pay the rent; my customers left on the train, I see the bailiff down the lane, I'll ask the government.

¶ But if the government replies, expresses words of sad surprise, and says my claim is bunk; if they refuse to give me aid, why then I'm very much afraid —that I am simply sunk.

The Prospects Of World Peace

EVEN his bitterest enemies would find it hard to advance any effective criticism of the speech delivered by Premier Chamberlain in Birmingham says the Family Herald. It was a speech designed to set before the world Britain's set policy, at once a warning, a declaration of faith, and an appeal to the forces of recklessness and blind passion to hesitate before they plunge Europe into the horrors of modern warfare.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke with moderation, with a sincerity that none can challenge, and with a frankness that cannot be misunderstood by those to whom his words were addressed.

Mr. Chamberlain was clearly addressing Hitler when, after declaring that the peoples of Britain, France, Italy and Germany all entertain a passionate desire for peace, he continued:—"I do not exclude the possibility that these feelings of the peoples may not always be shared by their governments, and recognise that it is with governments and not peoples that we have to deal. Nevertheless, let us cultivate the friendship of the peoples. . . Let us make it clear to them that we do not regard them as potential foes, but rather as human beings like ourselves with whom we are always prepared to talk terms of equality, with an open mind to hear their point of view and to satisfy so far as we can any reasonable aspirations that they cherish and which do not conflict with the general rights of others to liberty and justice."

Then he sounded a slogan that will ring around the Empire: "Our motto is neither defiance nor deference. It is defence. And we confidently count on the response of the nation to show our determination to make that defence invincible." There is the crux of the British foreign policy, plain for all the world to see. It is a policy that can, by no considerable juggling of words, be made to mean anything but what it says.

A careful examination of the speech delivered by Adolf Hitler at the opening of the Reichstag, does not reveal any substantial ground for pessimism. A large part of it was manifestly for home consumption, consisting of a long review of what had been achieved by Germany since the Nazis' accession to power.

What really concerns the outside world is what Hitler said about colonies, about trade and economics, and about the Rome-Berlin axis.

And there is nothing in his references to these matters that conveys any threat of aggression or even suggests any likelihood of war in the near future.

The general reaction to the speech indicates that it has brought a considerable feeling of relief. It contained nothing of a sensational or alarmist nature. It held no suggestion that should give the democracies reason for immediate uneasiness. Hitler declared himself as believing in "a long peace."

And while all such declarations are subject to a certain percentage of discounting, according to the circumstances under which they are made and the maner of their making, the general tenor of his whole address was much more pacific than any previous utterance on similar occasions.

At the worst, there is no cause for immediate alarm. At the best, there is some ground for a reasonable optimism.

PRONOUNCING "YMIR."

——There are many Canadian place names which the average newspaper reader prefers to spell out rather than to try to pronounce. That of the mining town Ymir, lying south of Nelson, B. C., is a case in point.

One of those whom it has puzzled wrote the other day to the Financial News in Vancouver for enlightenment. He was told that the people of the community in question pronounce the "y" to rhyme with "pie" and the "mir" with "cur". This leaves doubt still as to whether the "y" should be sounded like that letter or like "i".

But the Journal learns from a person acquainted with the locality that "y" is right, according to the usage there, making the pronunciation "Wimur". The Vancouver editor stated further that a resident of the coast city who was in the vicinity of Ymir in 1890 discovered that the name antedated the arrival of the white man and was believed to be of Indian origin.—Edmonton Journal.

THE GOOD OLD STORMS.

THE hardy Milverton Sun reports that winter is getting soft:

The storm of Monday piled considerable snow on the roads stopping motor traffic for a day or two but there really isn't much snow. Conditions have changed, old rail fences along roads have disappeared but seasons especially winter seems to have become more moderate. A real winter storm used to last at least three days. "Sun dogs" would appear on the evening of the first day, a sure sign of another couple days of storm. After the blow-out roads would be broken over the fences and through the fields. Many of the young people of today never saw the real work of nature in the matter of miles and miles of "pitch holes." The road to Milverton in past years had them aplenty, often 10 feet deep, and what a thrill for the sleighing party with a smart team of roadsters. The numerous teamsters, however, on every road, hauling saw logs, wood, grain or hay, cussed the pitch holes as they effected a heavy strain on horses, harness and sleighs. The record winter came about 30 years ago, at which time Mornington residents were 15 days without receiving mail, not a train could get through in this time and mail was, before the end of the siege, brought in by sleighs from Stratford. Yes, if it wasn't that we hesitate to offend "il'l ole February" we would say winter is getting soft.

Thus Are Problems Solved!

THE place is the House of Commons, and the matter under debate is the Bren machine gun contract. Mr. Jean-Francois Pouliot, member for Temiscouata, has just levelled the charge that members who have been making speeches about this contract have never read it. What happened is reported verbatim, taken from the pages of House of Commons Debates:

Mr. POULIOT: It was open to all hon. members, but it was locked in that room downstairs, according to the statement I had at twelve o'clock today. No one got it until eleven-thirty. Who got it I do not know. But perhaps they are mind readers and can read a contract that is in a steel locker.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: Mr. Speaker, as one who spoke, and as one who is concerned with this thing, I had access to the document some days ago and took my quotations from it. I think it is unfair for the hon. member to cast aspersions on hon. members who have spoken.

Mr. POULIOT: The hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Woodsworth) knows very well that I would not cast aspersions upon him. I take what he says. If he did that, and if the hon. member for Vancouver North (Mr. MacNeil), who has just risen in his seat, has read the contract, then they are the only two who have.

Mr. MASSEY: Oh, no; not at all.

Mr. POULIOT: Nok, leaving aside the legal side of the contract—

Mr. MASSEY: Mr. Speaker, I demand that the hon. member for Temiscouata (Mr. Pouliot) withdraw that remark. I have read the contract.

Mr. MacNEIL: I wish to inform the hon. member that I obtained from the clerk of sessional papers a copy of the contract, which is still in my possession.

Mr. POULIOT: If my hon. friends have the contract, so much the better for them. But I regret to say that they have not understood a word of it.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Oh, oh.

Mr. STEWART: And you laugh at that.

Mr. POULIOT: There is another point to consider in this matter—

Mr. MASSEY: Mr. Speaker, no hon. member of the house—

Some hon. MEMBERS: Order.

Mr. MASSEY: —can make an insinuation about me—

An hon. MEMBER: He did not insinuate.

Mr. MASSEY: —nor can he make a direct statement involving me which is not in accordance with the facts, without withdrawing it; and I demand a withdrawal of the statement of the hon. member for Temiscouata that I have not read the report.

Mr. POULIOT: I submit I have not anything to withdraw. The house has to decide, from the hon. member's speech, whether or not he understood it.

Mr. MASSEY: On a point of order—

Mr. POULIOT: Mr. Speaker—

Mr. SPEAKER: The hon. member for Greenwood has the floor.

Mr. MASSEY: The hon. member has made a statement which I demand he withdraw.

An hon. MEMBER: What?

Mr. MASSEY: That I have not read the contract.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): He has withdrawn it.

Mr. MASSEY: Understanding has not anything to do with it: that is a matter of opinion. It was the first thing—

Mr. POULIOT: Mr. Speaker, if I am allowed by the house to give an expression of my views, may I say that most hon. members confuse points or order and questions of privilege. A point of order may be well taken when an hon. member uses language which is unparliamentary, and therefore an hon. member may have to withdraw any unparliamentary language. But an hon. member need not withdraw to please another hon. member. The hon. member for Greenwood is a member of the house, as I am. I state something and he denies it. The statement is there; that is enough. I did not use unparliamentary language.

Mr. MASSEY: A minute ago the hon. member for Temiscouata referred to the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre and Vancouver North, saying that these two hon. gentlemen were the only ones who spoke yesterday who had read the contract. I demand that that statement be withdrawn.

Mr. POULIOT: And I ask you, Mr. Speaker, to tell the hon. member to keep the peace.

Mr. MANION: Mr. Speaker, on the point of order, I think the hon. member, who is an old parliamentarian, knows he must accept the statement of the hon. member.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): He has.

Mr. MANION: When the hon. member for Greenwood made the statement that he had read the contract, the hon. member for Temiscouata said he had not. In fact, he says none of us had. The hon. member for Greenwood says he did, and I think the hon. member for Temiscouata should accept that statement.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): He accepted it.

Mr. POULIOT: The hon. member for Greenwood reminds me of the country lawyer who was arguing a case before a judge. After he had won his case, the judge said, "Why do you argue any more?" "Oh," he said, "I have a fine speech, to please my client."

Mr. MASSEY: Mr. Speaker, I am quite prepared to accept the statement — in fact I am prepared to thank the hon. member for Temiscouata for insinuating that I have already won my case.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Time.

Mr. Pouliot: This is childish. We will continue, and talk seriously.

Mr. SPEAKER: The hon. member has exhausted his time.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): He has been interrupted.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Time! Time!

Mr. POULIOT: By leave of the house, may I finish?

Mr. MANION: No, no.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): What about interruptions?

Mr. MANION: We were not given leave yesterday. The hon. member for Greenwood was not given leave yesterday.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): He should not interrupt, then.

Mr. MANION: When a misconstruction of fact is made, he has a right to interrupt.

Mr. T. C. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): Mr. Speaker, I am sure the hon. member for Temiscouata (Mr. Pouliot) will pardon me if I do not attempt to follow him in what he has been saying.

Mr. POULIOT: You should finish my speech.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): I am glad he gave members on the government side a good laugh. Some of them were looking as though they needed it pretty badly.

Mr. BRADETTE: You need a laugh once in a while yourself.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): As the seconder of the motion to refer the matter to the public accounts committee—

Mr. DUNNING: And which you voted against.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): —and as a member of the public accounts committee I wish first of all to take issue with the speech made by the Prime Minister (Mr. Mackenzie King) last Friday when he stated, in effect, that members who expressed themselves in this debate might possibly preclude themselves from being members of the public accounts committee.

Mr. DUNNING: He did not say that.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): That is in fact what it meant.

Mr. DUNNING: No, it is not.

BOIL SIX MINUTES.

Tips about tea-making are always welcome in a tea-drinking community such as ours, and the following tip from a group of unquestioned experts might be worth Winnipeg housewives' while following up:

Just the other day eight expert tasters gathered in Mincing Lane the centre of the world tea trade, to taste eight different blends of fifteen choice teas in order to select the contents of a golden casket of tea soon to be presented to the King. The job was quickly done but all eight tasters agreed on one point, namely, that in order to make good tea the water in the kettle must be boiled for six minutes only. The average housewives they said, are ignorant of this fact, and often boil the water for ten minutes or more, thus spoiling even the best tea.—(Winnipeg Free Press)

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things. For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known. And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three: but the greatest of these is charity.—I Cor. xiii, 11-13.

For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God.—Eph. iii, 14-19.

SMALL-TIME BANDITS.

One of the meanest characters portrayed by Charles Dickens was Noah Claypole, in "Oliver Twist." It was Noah who used to catch little children going messages and take their pennies and sixpences. There are Claypoles to-day, and they rob messenger boys. Some of them in Montreal go in pairs and work from automobiles. When they see a messenger, they stop the car. If no one else is about they almost invariably knock the defenseless messenger down, seize his cash and parcels and drive off.—(Montreal Gazette)

ONE ADVANTAGE.

Senator Meighen said the other day that he could not think of anything more stupid than the repudiation policy of the province of Alberta, but in one respect they were in a preferred position. It was impossible for that province to go into the market and borrow any more money, and they had to pay as they went from now on. Therefore they cannot spend more than they take in, which is the fault of so many other governments.—(St. Catherines Standard)

Costly Wardrobe Is Being Made For The Queen

By CHARLES A. SMITH
Central Press Canadian

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Probably the richest wardrob ever to be taken across the Atlantic by any woman will accompany Queen Elizabeth when she visits Canada next May, it was learned today.

Queen Elizabeth

Product of the fertile brain of Norman Hartnell, who for years has created everything worn by the 38-year-old Queen, the collection will be unique in that every single article and accessory, even down to the buttons, will have been modeled and designed exclusively for the Queen.

Although the date of the royal departure for Canada is four months away, Hartnell and his designers already have commenced work on the collection. Details are being kept secret, as is customary with the exclusive fashion houses, but it is known Hartnell will endeavor to enable the Queen to spring numerous new fashion surprises.

Hartnell Supervises.

As is his custom, Hartnell will personally supervise the designing, making, and fitting of every article to be worn by the Queen during her trip to the new world.

Rough suggestions for the collection will first be taken to the Queen at Buckingham Palace for her approval. Fabrics will then be chosen, also for the Queen's approval or rejection, and finally work will commence on the actual making of the collection.

At the first fittings, which will be attended by Hartnell, the various day and evening gowns, etc., will be carefully inspected, approved, modified, or even rejected if necessary.

Later on, Hartnell and the Queen will discuss accessories, for the tall, good-looking, well-built Englishman is completely in her majesty's confidence in dress matters, and he designs or supplies her hats, shoes, stockings, furs, hand-bags, and even her hair ornaments.

Can't Wear "Slinky" Gowns.

The Queen's preference for "soft" fashions will influence Hartnell's designs. Her majesty's plump build forbids anything in the nature of "slinky" ensembles, although it has been observed in recent months that she has been wearing clothes cut on slightly more severe lines, with less and less trimming.

This has had the effect of minimizing the stockiness of her build, which formerly was accentuated by her insistence of having almost all her day clothes and her street ensembles heavily trimmed with fur.

The evening gowns which her majesty will wear in Canada and the United States are expected to model on Victorian lines, emphasizing the crinoline style recently adopted with great success by her. Luxurious velvets, in pastel colors, will featuer the daytime ensembles.

Started in Small Way.

Hartnell, who today occupies a pre-eminent position in the English fashion world, started out in a small, almost amateur way in a small house in Bruton street, near the Queen's old home. His staff consisted of three workgirls and his apparatus a single sewing machine. Today his business extends over four connected houses in Bruton street, with nearly two-score workrooms and a staff of around 400.

In an average season, he creates fifty complete outfits for the Queen every year.

Car is Wrecked Crashing Truck

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Feb. 10. — Considerable property damage resulted when a motor car driven by Gordon Miller, skidden on the icy pavement and crashed into a large C.I.A. Company tractor truck on the Cannifton Road early on Wednesday evening. The truck was being driven north by William McCaffery.

Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Irving investigated and found Miller was proceeding south, and while negotiating a curve, applied the brakes of his automobile upon the approach of the large tractor trailer. The lighter car went into a skid and crashed into the truck. The front portions of both vehicles were badly damged, but no serious injuries resulted.

Spot a Deer.

Engaged in wood cutting in a bush just east of Marysville, John S. Meagher and son of Tyendinaga observed a fine large red deer pass through a nearby thicket, apparently unware of the men at work. Reports of deer being observed through the more settled sections of this district have been unusually numerous of late.

Held for Assault.

A Trenton taxi driver and another resident of that community appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Police Court in Tweed on Thursday afternoon, charged with disorderly conduct and assault. It is alleged that these two men forced two young women to enter their car in Tweed and the shouts of the girls attracted the attention of neighbors who reported the matter to Chief Clare Hayes. As a result the men were taken into custody and subsequently charges were preferred.

The Stem Mystery.

There was nothing confusing about the accident that happened to Dr. E. A. Carleton on Wednesday, except the stem of the doctor's pipe.

The doctor was driving down the Marmora Road and had a collision with a truck. His pipe was knocked out of his mouth.

He found the bowl but not the stem. Not knowing whether he had swallowed it or not, the doctor is now awaiting significant pains in his inner regions.

Chest Wheezing Means Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied with a rapid wheezing and feeling of tightness across the chest.

There is a rising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light color, but as the disease progresses becomes yellowish or greenish, and is sometimes streaked with blood.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucus, and help nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Human Meteor

Second Lieutenant Troy Keith of the U.S. Air Corps Reserve, had no ill effects to show after diving nearly four miles in his pursuit ship at a speed estimate at 670 miles per hour. Keith lost consciousness when his oxygen tank failed to function at 28,000 feet. Before he recovered, his plane plunged 9,000 feet where he managed to get control of it and land safely despite a buckled wing. His speed indicator had jammed at 500 m.p.h., but officers experienced in aerodynamics figured, in a "scientific guess," that the plane may have attained a speed of 670 miles per hour.

Rates For Telephone Service In Peterborough

As already announced, dial telephone service will go into operation here about September next. The reasons for the small rate increase to become effective at that time are as follows:

In 1926, before the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, the policies, practices, finances, rates of the Bell Telephone Company were the subject of thorough investigation. Hearings occupied upwards of fifty days.

Towns and cities of Ontario and Quebec were classified and rates proposed based on the number of telephones in service in the centres included in the several groups. The Board of Railway Commissioners in 1927 approved these rates, embodying the principle that charges should vary according to the size of exchanges—low rates being applicable for smaller centres, and gradually increasing schedules being necessary for larger places of varying size. Since 1927, many towns have advanced in telephone development to a higher group and the Board has approved the application to them of the higher group charges.

This principle takes account of two fundamentals—the increasing value to the individual telephone user as the scope of his service extends; and the increasing cost per telephone of providing the service, due to growing complexity of telephone plant and the higher calling rate per telephone.

Peterborough has progressed substantially both in commercial status and in its telephone development. Peterborough subscribers can call over a thousand more telephones today than was possible in 1927. The city has advanced in a telephone sense from its present rate group to a higher category—to the group which includes such centres as Kitchener, Brantford, and St. Catharines.

The rate differential between the groups is small—25c per month for residence, and 50c for business service.

We are confident that when dial telephones are introduced in Peterborough our subscribers will appreciate this great advance in the city's service and the reasonableness of the small increase in cost of service. The principle of slightly higher rates for a wider service is sound and just.

We shall value your co-operation in following closely the information we distribute concerning dial service.

KEEN CONTESTS RACKED UP IN CHURCH HOCKEY CIRCUIT SERIES

Murray St. Wins A 1-0 Tussle Over George St.

Four Church Hockey League games were run off last night at All Saints' rink. Murray St. Seniors copped a 1-0 win over George St.; St. Paul's Juniors and All Saints' went to a 2-2 playoff draw; George St. Juveniles took a 7-4 victory over Mark St.; and St. John's Bantams banged out a 7-1 verdict against Knox. Some lively hockey was seen in every game.

Padgett scored the only goal of the second game with less than a minute to go to break a scoreless tie, putting Murray St. in second place, three points over George St. Murray St. had an edge but their rivals checked well, Parnell and Heard going good and Rennie starred in the net. Crary also went well in goal to block George St. Teams:

George St.: Goal, Rennie; defence, Heard, L. Parnell; centre, Edwards; wings, R. Parnell, Sproat; subs., Murphy, Roberts.

Murray St.: Goal, Crary; defence, Wilson, F. Spencely; centre, Johnston; wings, Watkins, Padgett; subs., Ellis, Hawkes, E. Spencely.

Referees: B. Worsencroft, S. Seabrooke.

J. Easton scored for St. Paul's Juniors in the first frame, but McDougall tied it up for All Saints' in the second. Deering and Dundas each counted in the tight third. Each team has won a game and tied one in their three-out-of-five series. Good goalies and bumping defencemen keep the counts down. Up front, the Anglicans had an edge but St. Paul's checked closely. Mackness was missed. McDougall stood out for All Saints', with Csumrik best for the other side. The All Saints' gang had too many penalties. Teams:

St. Paul's: Goal, McBride; defence, Csumrik, J. McMillan; centre, J. Easton; wings, Lockington, G. Easton; subs.: T. McMillan, Watson, Milburn, Dundas.

All Saints: Goal, Lacey; defence, Williamson, B. Morley; centre, McDougall; wings, Carpenter, Stinson; subs.: G. Smith, Abraham, Deering, B. Smith, P. Morley. Referee, L. Parnall.

George St. Juveniles led Mark St. all the way. Woodgate scored five on passes from outley and Hamilton, Routley also scoring two. Scriver, D. Eason and Curton, with two, scored for the losers. All the winners played fine hockey, while D. Eason and Scriver went best for the losers. Agnew and Curtis looked good, too. It was the first loss for the East City team this season. Teams:

Mark St.: Goal, Shearer; defence, Agnew, Scriver; centre, D. Eason; wings, Curtis, Robinson; subs.: E. Eason, Ralph, Harris, Moore, Baker.

George St.: Goal, Richardson; defence, Henry, Saunders; centre, Routley; wings, Hamilton, Woodgate; sub.: Roberts.

Referees: B. McDougall, J. McBride.

Frank and Clark scored in the first for St. John's Bantams, and Coones and Bond made it 4-0 in the second. Bond, Clark and Frank counted in the third, as Robertson scored from Darling for Knox. Parnall went fine in goal as the big fast Saints' swarmed in regularly in their drive for a playoff berth. Teams:

St. John's: Goal, Moore; defence, Frank, Scott; centre, Howard; wings, Coones, Bond; sub., Clark.

Referee, M. Williamson.

DENIES SNOBBERY

HASTINGS, England—(CP)—The artisan section of Hastings Downs Golf Club has apologized to the parent club "for the annoyance caused by an unnamed member" in reviving a charge of snobbery.

Ups And Quits

One of hockey's more colorful performers, somewhat short on ability, but long on tempestuous instincts, Jean Pusie, ABOVE, who hit the major ice lanes for short spells with Canadiens and Rangers quit St. Louis Flyers of the American association, following a riot, in which he was the central figure. Pusie put on one of his finer uprisings during a game in Wichita after somebody in the audience threw a chair at him. He was leaving for his home in Quebec, he announced.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

And so tonight the senior "B" group playoffs commence in this man's—and women's—town. And there will be a great rush on seats at the Rue Brock, and much hulabaloo before the fracas is ge-finished along about 11 bells. The Petes should win this tilt, but those who saw the Fliers nail through 'em here last time aren't so sure. Those Airmen are opportunists, with plenty of speed and puck savvy—but we think the Petes have more speed and should cop the win. At anyrate, it'll be another grand playoff embroglio—remember those thrilling money tussles of last winter?—with enough roars and yelps to give the shingles a permanent wave. Two smart teams playing for keeps, with the chips all down.

* * * * * * *

Orginally this Friday was to see Red Foster and the local Lions Club put on a carnival, but it was put off in order not to conflict with the Winter Sports Committee carnival—a really big jam session—on Feb. 17th. So we'll have, instead, a carnival of hockey betwixt the R.C.A.F.-ers and the local Petes. While there will be a huge crowd, don't let it discourage your last-minute fans — as they always have room there for a few more. Except maybe the final playoff game. So don't pass it up, and don't blame us if you do!

* * * * * * *

And The Gladiators

Petes' lineup will be something like this: Goal, Harding; defence, Gray and Crowe; centre, Kingdon; wings, Starr, Tompkins; subs, Weir, McNulty ,Creighton, Coughlin, Gardner or McDougall. Fliers' should be this, with numbers: Goal, Gibson; defence, Oleskevis (2), Cook (3); centre, Lecompte (7); wings, McNeeley (6), Legris (5); subs, Baldwin (8), Johnston (4), Brackenbury (10), McNab (11), Todd (9). Lecompte led the group in scoring during scheduled games with 22 points, a dandy mark. Tompkins, Starr and Creighton were our main snipers, but the scoring was spread about more even than the Airmen.

* * * * * * *

Looking over the figures in scoring, we note that the Petes scored 36 goals and had 27 scored against 'em. The Fliers whammed the puck home 40 times but had 40 tallied on Goalie Gibson. And the Redmen got 30 and failed to block 39. We have a big edge in defensive hockey, but the Fliers shade us on the attack—or they did in group games. Their 11-3 win over Belleville helped pad the figures. However, figures don't mean much when it's money time—and the real money players will now begin to sparkle, regardless of how they went during the sawoff schedule, which lasted weeks to eliminate one team.

A Word From Mr. Bond

Had a letter yesterday from Percy Bond, enjoying a visit now at Miami Beach. He sends along a coupla newspaper pictures of puck fights down that way, two showing Jimmy Ellis in the middle. It's hard to understand it but the pugnacious Mick Magee didn't appear in the fisticuffing photos, but Mick had an assist on the tying goal in a game his squadron won by a tight count. Percy tells us the temperature at Miami now is 85, while the ocean water is 77. He sees King Clancy and other athletic greats regularly at Hialeah Park. Wonder if Mr. Bond realizes he's missing some lovely cold, snappy, healthy, scrumptious weather up here!

Four Church Hockey League fixtures were run off last e'en as a chill breeze whistled by the players' ears. Murray St. Seniors beat George St. in a 1-0 pippin, St. Paul's and All Saints had a 2-2 tie in their junior playoff, George St. handed Mark St. Juveniles their first loss in a 7-4 swish, and St. John's Bantams trounced Knox 7-1. The last game was held up for a time when one boy's shin-pad fell out—the bulky magazine scattering all over the ice! Schedules should finish next week. The postponed George St.-Trinity juvenile joust will be run in next Tuesday eve at seven. The All Saints-George St. bantam fray will be this Saturday at seven pm. Loop standings in tomorrow.

A Lot of Ski Entries

Secretary L. Parsons of the local Ski Club yesterday had 55 entries in for the provincial ski meet here this week-end. They came from various Ontario centres ,and a few even from Quebec. Another 10 or 12 last-minute entries were expected today—so there should be plenty of keen competition both Saturday and Sunday. Cross-country race is tomorrow morn, jumping is in the aft, while the slalom and downhill will be on Sunday in Bethany. Special train to Nassau for the jumps. Local folk should turn out in force to witness these colorful and keen events.

They commence early this time, Y.W. gals playing Quaker Aces at 6.00, C.G.E. meeting Quaker Debs at 6.45, and St. John's tackling Quaker Maids at 7.15, as Westclox takes a bye. Dope on two L.O.B.A. tilts here last eve should be in elsewhere tonight. And three senior men's scraps are on tap for tomorrow in the gloaming up at the Y.M.C.A. gym. C.G.E. plays Dominions at seven, Hecias meet Quakers at eight, and St. Paul's tackle St. John's at nine. By the way, the Belleville, Orfuns ad C.G.E. gals of the Lakeshore group have voted to suspend Cobourg—which is an intermediate "A" club, but is trying to claim an intermediate "B" rating—and have so notified the L.O.B.A. A crucial fray will be here Tuesday at 7.45 at P.C.I. hall when Orfuns and C.G.E. clash, and the latter must win to stave off elimination.

Local Cagers Break Even In Two Tilts

Locals girls' basketball squads split a pair of decisions, with outside teams in the Collegiate gym last night, Cobourg Gradettes blasting C.G.E. 29-19 to remain unbeaten, while Belleville Y girls nosed out a thrilling 18-16 nod over the Orfuns to keep the league standing well bunched.

Cobourg, held to an 8-7 margin in the opening half, ran it up in the third quarter and won easily when a C.G.E. rally in the closing minutes fell short.

Each side was guilty of fouling nine times, the winners making two and the C.G.E. dropping in three. J. Young and A. Page dropped in 21 of the winners' points to star all through with M. McArthy, who starred at guard and A. Craig with 12 points standing out for the losing C.G.E. team. The teams:

C.G.E. (19)—R. Thompson (3), F. Nolan, M. Hallahan, E. Foster, A. Craig (12), V. Bartley (2), M. McArthy (1), K. Rogow (1), G. Mann.

Cobourg (29)—J. Young (12), A. Page (9), A. Riley (4), K. Throop, J. Ovens (2), N. Shorey, L. Thompson (2), Dr. Throop, E. Stewart.

Referee, H. Winter; umpire, J. Cooper.

Early Margin

A first half margin gave Belleville Y their victory in the second game, the Orfuns out-scoring the victors in the closing stanza but not being able to climb over that first half deficit.

The locals with as big a part of the play as the winners couldn't score under the basket and threw away numerous chances to jump into the lead at the last. A. Cruji with 6 points and B. Storey starred for the winners and B. Blade with the nights high of 9 and G. Mortimer shone for the Orfuns. The teams:

Belleville (18)—M. MacLean (4), A. Cruji (6), L. Melchior (4), M. Hitchon, B. Shorey (4), J. Sherry M. Bowbotham, M. Sharpe, J. Corbo, M. Miller.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

All next week the ices will be given over to the playing of postponed schedule games. The committee has decided that: These games will be called and must be played on the date set, or defaulted.

There will be a double-header on Monday night—the 7 p.m. draw will be the postponed games of January 6, and the 9 p.m. draw will be the postponed games of January 9. The games will then be played in order of postponement.

This curling game is very funny. Here's what happened last night: J. Sedgewick slipped a game to C. Westbrook, and is now conceded a slim chance to win group honors. E. Metcalfe's defeat by H. Clegg about puts him out of the running. George Robertson added another win to his long list, now making 10 straight schedule wins.

The defeat of the old-timer, Ray Best, by the youngest skip of the club, Max Comstock, was a big surprise. However, the junior boys deserved it.

George Cairns' rink kept up its consistent playing.

J. Richmond had no trouble with Ray Bacon, and Bruce Scott nosed out N. Hamley.

Scores.

Maroons Win Playoff Tilt

Maroons took a 2-1 intermediate Southend Hockey League playoff win over Canucks in a nifty scrap last night at the Sacred Heart rink. Leggitt scored the only goal of the first period, while Fleming and Padgett each tallied in a thrilling second chukker. There was no count in the third torrid frame. Spencely, Rennie, Collins and Conroy all turned in a whale of a game, both goalies kicked out a lot of rubber. The teams:

Canucks: Goal, G. Fleming; defence, K. Fleming, Giardino; centre, Collins; wings, Coursey, Langdon; subs, Jones, Conroy.

Maroons: Goal, Rennie; defence, Anderson, Spencely; centre, Johnson; wings, Padgett, Ellis; subs, Leggitt, Whatman, Hawks.

"South Ops Kids" Beat Lindsay 7-2

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, Feb. 10. — The Victorias of Lindsay journeyed to Janetville on Tuesday night for the first game in the Hughes Cup series. The game was fast and clean, with no penalties and no casualties.

The Lindsay players, who were defeated 7-2, were no doubt handicapped by the smaller ice. Goals for the visitors were scored by Frank Walsh and Mick Clement, and for the South Ops kids by Roy Crawford 3, Douglas Armstrong, John McNeil, Cecil Armstrong, and Carson Howe. The line-up:

Victorias — Goal, Max Perrin; defence, Buffer Reeves, Harry Wilson; wings, Pat Cain, Ted Bacon; centre, John Johnston; subs., Mick Clement and Frank Walsh.

BLAKE SCORES FOUR GOALS TO LEAD CANADIENS TO 5-2 WIN

Amerks Beaten While Hawks Turn On Detroit

By Jack Calder
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Any upward leap Montreal Canadiens might make now would not be an inspired burst of energy from a hockey team on its last legs. The Habitants were counted among the National League's genuine contenders before the season started and the fact they haven't lived up to expectations is no reason to underestimate their strength today.

Canadiens, though trailing the seven-team league, are only eight points from fourth position with 15 games to go. That alone should call attention to the possibilities of this combination of fleet little forwards, veteran defencemen and a goalie—Wilfie Cude—who has been known to set his teammates on fire. A couple of good, sound performances might send such a club away on a winning streak.

Wilf Cude

It took the Flying Frenchmen's leading point-maker, Hector (Toe) Blake, to bring them bursting back into the fight for the six playoff places last night with one of the season's great scoring displays. He scored four times as Canadiens whipped the third-place New York Americans 5-2 at Montreal, to tie the season's record of four goals in on game, set by Syl Apps of Toronto.

Rangers Lose to Bruins

Because Boston Bruins stepped on the second-place Rangers 4-2 at New York, increasing their league lead to 10 points, the scramble down in the lower strata drew fresh interest. Chicago Black Hawks, rallying at last, defeated Detroit Red Wings 4-2 at Chicago to climb over the Wings into fifth place. Canadiens play the fourth-place Maple Leafs at Toronto Saturday and would stir the fight among the trailing teams to new fever by winning.

A club can sulk in last place for an entire season and never get enough ambition to reach out for better things. But Canadiens have seen Cecil Hart fired as their manager and their bosses have shown willingness to bring a youngster from the farm club at little provocation. There are jobs to be figured on at Montreal and Canadiens know it as they enter the stretch.

They showed battling ability last night, when Americans held them on even terms for half the game. Then little Polly Drouin wipped a goal past Earl Robertson and in the third period Blake popped in his third and fourth scores, rounding off Canadiens' greatest power display of the winter.

Blake shot into third place in the league's point-making standings, two points below Johnny Gottselig of Chicago and one behind Sweeney Schriner of Americans. Both Gottselig and Schriner got two assists on the night, but Johnny Gagnon of Canadiens stole the honors in that department by helping Blake on all his goals.

Off to Good Start

Toe, playing left wing on a line with Gagnon and Paul Haynes, gave the home side an early lead. After Eddie Wiseman scored for Americans, Blake put Canadiens ahead 2-1 eight seconds before the first period ended. Art Chapman's goal, after seven minutes of the second, was Americans' last successful drive.

Rookie Roy Conacher of the Bruins rivalled Blake's performance with three goals against Rangers. His first tied the score in the opening chapter after Clint Smith had tallied for Rangers. His second gave the Bruins a 2-1 advantage in the third and his parting shot put them back in front after Alex Shibicky had levelled the count four minutes from the finish. Bobby Bauer scored for Bruins with five seconds to go.

Roy Conacher

Bruins became the first team to make a mathematical cinch of a playoff place. Canadiens still can tie Boston by winning every game if Bruins should lose all theirs, but even then then Montreal team would have the better goal average to edge them out. The leaders have scored 91 times to 41 goals for the opposition, while Canadiens have 64 goals to 103.

Bill Thoms scored twice as Chicago came from behind to defeat the Wings for the first time this season. Gus Giesebrecht and Scotty Bowman sent Detroit into an early 2-0 lead, but Joffre Desilets and Thoms scored for Chicago in the second. Thoms put the finishing touches to the victory after Cully Dahlstrom bagged the winning goal in the third.

HONEY TOMPKINS

Wolverhampton Everton Wins Predicted

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(CP Cable.) Interest in England's soccer program to-morrow is divided between Cup and League games. With 16 teams playing in the fifth round of the English Cup competition, the league schedule will be curtailed considerably.

In the first division, three matches are down for decision, seven will be played in the second division, while the third division will be run off according to schedule with the exception of the Exeter City-Walsall fixture.

Two outstanding cup battles find first division clubs in opposition with the prospect of victories for Wolverhampton Wanderers and Everton, both regarded as likely winners of the trophy now held by Preston North End. Although at home to Liverpool the Wolves have the toughest battle. Everton is due at Birmingham but should come through successfully against the league tail-enders.

The cup holders may win at Newcastle as the home team will play without Bowden in the attack. Last week he suffered a fractured cheekbone in the match with Coventry City. Walsall has never forgotten its 2-0 victory over Arsenal in a third round cup contest in 1933 and the ball used in that game is to be taken to Huddersfield as a lucky charm. Sole survivor of the third division, Walsall can be counted on to give the major leaguers a hard struggle.

Some Transfers.

Midweek transfers sent Tom Cheetham, ace sharpshooter of Queen's Park Rangers, and Leslie Boulter of Charlton Athletic to Brentford as the Griffin Park continues its efforts to get out of the First Division danger zone. In another deal J. Mallet, young Charlton forward, moved to Queen's Park Rangers.

William Miller, Tranmere Rovers inside-left, has returned to Scotland. Several First Division Scottish clubs have been negotiating for his transfer, but Falkirk's £4,000 ($18,840) proved the most tempting bait and the player may appear for the Brockville Park club in its match against Queen of the South. Miller was a member of the Scottish Football Association team that visited Canada in 1935.

Glasgow's six senior clubs will provide a big day for soccer fans in the Scottish City Saturday. Rangers, leading the league by a nine-point margin, play Third Lanark at Cathkin Park, Celtic is at home to Clyde, and the Queen's Park amateur eleven is away to Partick Thistle.

As an outcome of the English Football Association's investigation into the Chesterfield - Southend United English Cup match, January 16, which was marked by a lot of rough play, one Southend player was suspended for a week and two others fined.

TO MANAGE IRISH

BELFAST—(CP).—Arthur Lumberg of Wrexham, third division English League football club, has been appointed manager of Newry Town, Irish League entry. Lumberg represented Wales in 11 international matches.

From Left, Right and Centre Blinco Is Bottled

Storey And Walton Win Badminton First Rounds

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 10. — (CP).— All defending titlists remained in the running to-day as third-round play began in the Ontario badminton championships. The tourney began Wednesday and will close Saturday.

The crack doubles team of Ted Pollock, Kitchener, and Doug Kennedy, Waterloos, started defence of their provincial crown impressively, whipping the Port Elgin pair, A. Kratzky and Cairns in a second round match last night.

Toronto's Jack Storey, last year's singles champion, had little trouble ousting L. Purvis, Kitchener, in a second round affair, 15-,2 15-9. Jim Snyder, Waterloo, defeated J. Abbotts, Owen Sound, 15-1, 15-5 in a first round tilt.

The Canadian and Ontario singles champion in the ladies' division Mrs. W. R. Walton, Toronto, whipped Miss B. Bick, Ottawa, as she began her Ontario title defence in a second round singles match. The scores weer 11-1, 11-2. Ottawa's Robertson sisters, Ruth and Margaret, holders of the Ontario women's doubles title, advanced into the third round with an easy 15-1, 15-3 win over the Misses Mitchell and Boone, Kitchener.

Ruth Robertson teamed with B. Mitchell, Ottawa, to win 15-1, 15-6 from Miss Budd, Kitchener, and Terry, Toronto, in a second round mixed doubles match. Margaret Robertson paired with London's Jack Nash in another second round tilt to beat Miss Risdon, Kitchener, and Whetter, Toronto, 15-5, 15-9.

Third Round Tilt

In the only third round match played last night, Kay Biette, Oakville, and Jack Sibbald, Toronto, holders of the mixed doubles title, made their first appearance in the tourney with a 15-6, 15-6 triumph over Crombie and Crombie, Woodstock.

No outstanding upsets have been recorded since the competition began. Approximately 300 players from 25 Ontario clubs entered. Favorites came through in all divisions last night.

Rose Kampman of Kitchener, pretty sister of Bingo Kampman of Toronto's National Hockey League Leafs, won and lost. She lost to D. Clapperton, Toronto, 11-8, 11-1, in a second round singles tilt, but teamed with Brown of Kitchener, to defeat Snell and Brewster, Kitchener, 15-1, 15-9 in a second round mixed doubles affair.

The London team of Nash and Colin Brown advanced into doubles third round play with a 15-3, 15-5 win from Martin and Cunningham, Kitchener. Another strong team, Toronto, Sibbald and Rod Phelan, ousted Gross and Henderson, Kitchener, 15-1, 18-16.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 — (AP). — Helen Wills Moody is back from her lecture tour and soon will tee off on her detective thriller....Former Irish fighters tossed a party for Billy Conn to wish him luck against Fred Apostoli to-night....Conn was presented with a silver four-leaf clover and "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien master of ceremonies, kept the affair strictly kosher by introducing Barney Ross as "Barney O'Ross"....Nice going, Slug.

Broadway columns say Maxie Rosenbloom will pull up stakes in Hollywood and operate a joint on W. 52nd Street during the Fair....Tommy Farr sails for London to-day which is why the firm of Galento and Jacobs is hollering "Bring on Farr."

Trenton Fliers And Petes Here

Last year's thrilling senior "B" group playoff series between Trenton Fliers and the Petes will be resumed here tonight (Friday) when these same squads — with some changes in their lineups—clash at 8.30 in the Brock in the first of their 1939 group finals. It will be best three games out of five, and may well go the limit as it did last year. The Fliers won the group two years ago, but were nosed out last winter by the Petes. Tonight's tussle should be a typical Fliers-Petes playoff number with speed, color, class and excitement. And the issue always in doubt. Second struggle of the series will be in Belleville on Monday night.

The likely lineup for the Airmen here is: Goal, Gibson; defence, Oleskevis and Todd; centre, LeCompte; wings, McNeeley and Legris; subs, Baldwin, Johnston, McNab, Brackenbury and Cook. The Petes are at full strength and ready to fight furiously for this first win. The biggest puck crowd in Peterborough this year will be on deck to see this senior playoff clash—and it promises to be a memorable melee from start to finish.

Canada's Smokies Swamp Germany 9-0

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 10 (CP)—A battle between Canada and the United States for the world amateur hockey title was indicated today following announcement of the draw for the final pool.

Out of the 14 teams from different countries in the tourney, only the two teams from North America, along with Switzerland and Czecho-Slovakia remained.

Canada today plays the high-flying Swiss team at Basle, while the Americans meet the Czechs at Zurich.

In yesterday's matches, Canada's Smoke Eaters from Trail, B.C., swamped Germany 9-0, the Czechs eliminated Great Britain by a 2-0 score, and Switzerland gave Hungary its knockout blow 5-2.

Bunny Dame and Mel Snowdon put Canada two goals in front in the first period in which the Germans were clearly outclassed. In the second frame, Smoke Eaters rang up five goals, one each for Ab Cronie, Bunny Dame, Johnny McCreedy, Mickey Brennen and Joe Benoit. Dick Kowcinak and Jimmy Morris added a brace in the third period.

AUSSIE TOUR OFF

AUCKLAND—(CP).—Because an Indian team will tour New Zealand in 1940, New Zealand (field) Hockey Association has decided against inviting an Australian squad. The usual arrangement is for an interchange of teams every second year.

Calves Ease $1, Hogs Close On Up Grade

TORONTO, Feb. 10. — (CP).—Prices on steers and heifers opened 15 to 25 cents lower on Toronto livestock market this week, the Dominion livestock branch reported, but half the early drop was regained in stronger following markets. Calves dropped fully $1 cwt. during the week. Hogs started 25 cents lower but came back most of the way. Sheep and lambs were steady.

The cattle run was light and a good clean-up was very steady.

Highways Were Bad For Morning Traffic

Bus Service Disrupted By Icy Streets

A rise in temperature from eight above to 32 above with a change in the wind and a light rain about seven o'clock laid a smooth coat of thin ice across the countryside today slowing traffic to a crawl and disrupting inter-city bus service as well as bus service on the city streets.

Trucks carrying papers from Toronto had not reached the city at ten o'clock, although normal time for reaching the post office is six o'clock, in the morning. Ivan Fletcher, from Keene kept his record for arriving on time intact, by starting early. He said it was not so bad on the Sixth Line because of the snow shoulders thrown up by the snow plows. He was twenty minutes longer on the road between Keene and this city. Highway 7 is glare ice and is not sanded, according to Fletcher who said traffic was very light and moving at a snail's pace. It was dangerous to drive fast or to stop on the road.

Highway 28 from Peterborough to Port Hope, from Peterborough to Lakefield and on No. 7 highway northeast to Lindsay were all in a dangerous condition and few motorists risked driving outside of the city.

The regular bus schedule in the city was interrupted, particularly on the south run to Byersville where the drivers lost time.

No trouble was reported on the hydro and telephone lines locally.

No Regrets

Homuth had condemned "the Tory party to which he now pays allegiance." After considerable confusion Mr. Mackenzie said he would be glad to withdraw the word "principle" from his remark.

In his magazine article Col. Drew did not have the "manhood to make definite charges, Mr. Mackenzie said.

Then when he came before the royal commission he had not called a single witness to support any of his insinuations or innuendoes.

Some members had spoken about tenders. Witnesses had been called to give evidence about tenders "by that gallant soldier and gentleman, Leyton Ralston," (Hon. J. L. Ralston, government cousel at the inquiry).

"Another grafter," said a Conservative member.

"Who said that?" demanded Mr. Mackenzie.

"Whoever said it is a dirty liar and if he says it outside this House I'll knock his head off."

"I tell you that there is not a finer Canadian today in any province of this Dominion than Col. Ralston," the minister continued. "So high was his sense of public duty and service that he undertook his duties without a single cent of remuneration. And yet somebody called a man like that a grafter."

"He made thousands before that," said Dave Spence (Con. Toronto Parkdale.)

"Conservatives now had a bit too much debate although they wanted debate in the House."

"You've had too much," said Dr. Manion.

"I have not," retorted the minister.

"I say now I have nothing to retract, nothing to regret and nothing to withdraw.

Another Withdrawal

The minister drew a protest from J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, when he referred to the C.C.F. as a "semi-communist group"; seeking to destroy all the government was doing for the defence of Canada.

Mr. Mackenzie withdrew the words as applying to the C.C.F. but said he knew there were "semi-communist elements," in the country which were seeking to destroy the government's efforts.

There were two essential points in the Davis Commission report, the finding that there was "no wrong doing" and that nothing was wrong with the form of the contract.

"Every Tory speaker for the last five days has been attacking the Davis report," Mr. Mackenzie said. Arguments drawn from it by Dr. Manion were "figments of his own futile hibernian imagination."

For the first time since the war Canada had joined hands with the Motherland to obtain the guns necessary to their common defence. At the same time the contract was saving Canadian taxpayers more than $1,300,000 in cost of production.

Answers given by him to questions asked in the House last session on the Bren gun were proper and correct, and there had been no effort or desire to conceal anything.

Slap at Britain?

G. G. McGeer (Lib., Vancouver-Burrard) asked the House to consider consequence of the cancellation of the contract as proposed by the Conservatives. It would be a message to the British War Office that further orders for munitions in Canada would not be welcome for the War Office had contracted for Bren guns from the same company in almost identical terms.

Any repudiation of the Department of National Defence would, in effect, be a repudiation of the War Office. But there was no ground for repudiating the contract either in fraud or default. Col. George Drew ,author of the magazine article which started the controversy, had charged fraud, and Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, royal commissioner who investigated the contract had found there was no fraud.

Death was believed hastened by his determination to celebrate fittingly two proud anniversaries of his reign—that of the lateran treaty Saturday and the 13th of his coronation on Sunday.

Oxygen had been administered last evening after a severe attack during which the pontiff lapsed from consciousness for 30 minutes, but at midnight he was said to be resting easily.

A change was noticed soon after Dr. Filippo Rocchi, who had attended since Tuesday in the absence of Dr. Milani, noted that a pulse could hardly be felt and notified the papal secretary of state, Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, that the end was near.

Monsignor de Romanis, the pontiff's sacristan, administered extreme unction as cardinals, Dr. Milani, and other functionaries were summoned.

The Pope's nephew, Count Franco Ratti, Monsignor de Romanis, Cardinal Pacelli, nurses and a few other dignitaries knelt by the bedside.

In the traditional ceremony of the church, Cardinal Pacelli as Camerlengo, or interim ruler, made the official pronouncement of death of the 261st Pope—born Achille Ratti, the son of an Italian silk worker.

As if the Pope still lived, Cardinal Pacelli approached the death bed and drew back the white veil that covered the Pontiff's face. Flickers of light from dozens of candles fell upon the aged countenance.

"Achille!" called the thin, ascetic Cardinal who for many years had worked closely with his temporal ruler.

The call echoed through the small, plain bedroom.

No answer.

"The Pope is truly dead," said the Cardinal.

In quavering voices those in the room began the "De Profundis," chant for the dead: "Out of the Depths, O Lord, Do I Cry Unto Thee."

Cardinal Francesco Marchetti-Selvagiani, the Pope's Victor for the Rome Diocese, began to say mass in the Pope's private chapel a few feet from the death bed.

Cardinal Pacelli and the other Cardinals removed the violet mantellettas, their distinguishing mark of rank, since they now were more than Cardinals—each with a chance to become the next Pontiff.

Cardinal Pacelli went soon to his offices to start notifying the diplomatic corps of the Holy See, Papal representatives abroad.

He sent a formal notification to King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy, Premier Mussolini and the heads of other States, said Stefani, the Italian News Agency.

Elect New Pope Feb. 28

The Cardinals were expected to gather here as quickly as possible to fix the date for election of a new Pope for Feb. 28, since 18 days is the logest delay allowed for the assembly. Cardinal Villeneuve, head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Canada already was in Vatican City, having come to participate in celebrations at the Canadian College.

"The official Vatican communique stated:—

"Following the death of the pontiff, his seat is declared vacant.

"During this period, the government of the church is entrusted to the Cardinal secretary of state, Pacelli, who yields up his office in order to assume that of Chamberlain of the Holy Roman Church."

The pontiff had had the longest reign of any Pope since Leo XIII died in 1903. His tenure was more than tiwce that of his predecessor, Benedict XV. He was elected on Feb. 6, 1922.

The funeral will be in St. Peter's, probably Feb. 15, with burial, as the Pope wished, in the grottoes of St. Peter's near the tombs of his two immediate predecessors — Pius XI and Benedict XV—and a few yards from the tomb of St. Peter.

Requim services lasting nine days start Sunday.

The body was to be borne today from the death room to the throne room, where the pontiff received hundreds of thousands of visitors.

Tomorrow it will be carried into St. Peter's in solemn procession for veneration by the thousands who will be permitted to pass by the bier.

Conant, Beatty

he saw three "practical and direct ways" in which the burden might be reduced: by economical municipal administration; by repudiation of municipal obligations or by shifting the burden of taxation to some other source.

As to repudiation, the Attorney-General said this might be an easy way out of the difficulties, but it would be taking a short-range view of public affairs. Canadians should never lost sight of the fact that confidence is of the utmost importance in public as in private affairs.

Col. Drew recalled that vast areas of rural and urban property in Ontario was today the property of the State "as a result of taxes which amount in many cases to more than a fair rental value." He said that while most people dislike Communism in Canada, yet the Communist principle of confiscation of land for the State was working out, in effect, in this country.

People had been forced to give up their homes "because of a taxation out of all relation to the earning value of the property itself." Today the property owner had become "the victim of ruthless extortion" by the combined taxing powers of Federal, Provincial and municipal governments.

TO ADDRESS LIONS.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr is listed as the speaker at the next regular meeting of the Lions Club on Monday night at the Kawartha club. He will speak to the members on Democracy.

COLLIDE AT CORNER.

Cars driven by Thomas Miller, 221 George street, and Alex Lyons collided at Brock and Aylmer streets Thursday night at 7.45 o'clock. The bumper of Miller's car was bent and the rear fender and running board of the other machine damaged.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Following a meeting of the relief committee next Monday night, the council will deal with the request of the Nicholls Hospital Trust to submit a bylaw authorizing the expenditure of $365,000 for an extension to the hospital.

DAMAGE SLIGHT.

Only slight damage was done when a National Grocers' truck, driven east on Dalhousie street by W. Northey, R.R. 11, collided with a car owned by P. Harrison and driven by E. Sullivan, 461 McDonnel street, at the intersection of George street. Sullivan was driving south and the fender of the car was damaged.

SERVICE MAINTAINED.

The demon bicycle riders from the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. telegraph offices maintained the fine service despite the icy streets throughout the day. The boys had several falls as their bikes went into tail spins on icy slopes but no mishaps of a serious nature outside perhaps of a few bad bruises were reported.

NEW CLUB STARTING.

Plans have been completed for the formation of a Kinsmen's Club at Lindsay, Don Scott, local president reported last night, and it is believed the organization meeting will be held this month. He said there were six young business men who are regular live wires and who are giving the venture the needed impetus in the Scugog town.

HOUND DOG BUSINESS.

Hound Dog business is reported to be enjoying a brisk season at present because of the great number of foxes reported to be in this district. One owner of black and tan hounds sold two hound pups in two days and has a prospective buyer for a third dog. Undoubtedly there are more foxes this year than in any winter in the last decade.

SKI CLUB DANCE

Members of the Peterborough Ski Club are working overtime to-day preparing the Legion Hall for their monster ski dance on Saturday night. The hall will have real ski atmosphere for the event, complete with crossed skis, cut outs of jumpers, and a dozen other attractions. The other meetings for the opening day of the campaign are as planned, at No. 8, Otonabee, S.S. No. 3, Douro, and at Lakefield. The eight visiting speakers for the co-operative 'drive' are six young men and two young women, who have been hand-picked to tell the story of what Co-operation has done and can do.

Sixty Entered In Events Two-Day Meet

Close to sixty entries have been made in jumping, cross country, downhill, and slalom events at the Ontario Ski championships to be held here tomorrow. Although the list has officially closed, Peterborough officials confidently anticipate dozens more entries before the first event is run off.

The number now entered is exceptionally high, and includes the names of some of the Dominion's best skiers, it is said. Men like C. Skavaas, Julian Sale, and Vladimir Havlicek of the Toronto Ski club; T. Dubroy and D. Hall of the Ottawa club; Jack Landry of the Laurentian club, North Bay, are entered—when whose names are household words among skiing enthusiasts in this country.

Mild weather and light rain today will not spoil any skiing event over the weekend, Lahring Parsons, ski club secretary, said today. The jump at Nassau is in perfect condition, and today's rain will only make it faster than ever, she said. There is sufficient snow at the jump that lots will remain for tomororw. It is being constantly raked so that the landing slope will not become sheer ice.

At Bethany records should be broken on Sunday as a result of the weather today. The snow will be crusted and skiiers will know real thrills competing on it.

Three of Canada's most outstanding ski officials will be in Peterborough to judge events. They are Fred A. Hall of Toronto, president of the Canadian Amateur Ski association; Siegurd Lockeberg of Ottawa, chairman of the technical board of the C.A.S.A.; and Al Wilson of Toronto, chairman of the technical board of the Ontario Ski Zone.

Karl Baadsvik, last year a member of the Peterborough club and its most accomplished jumper, will be jumping for the Toronto club tomororw, as will Alf Brennar and Julian Sale. Both the Ottawa club and the Laurentian club of North Bay will be represented in jumping events in addition to five Peterborough skiiers. There is good news for jumping fans in the fact that more than twenty jumpers will hurl through the air. Ski officials here expect that all jumping records will be broken by many yards. This morning six entries were received from the Norlands club of Ottawa, a club that confines its activities to jumping alone, and whose members are all outstanding.

Downhill and slalom events will see the greatest number of entrants, both events being run off at Bethany on Sunday. Nearly forty skiiers from Peterborough, Toronto, Ottawa, Owen Sound, North Bay, and Hamilton, are already entered.

Following is a list of the entrants to date:

Cross country—C. Skavaas, Vladimir Havlicek, W. Cook, W. G. Kingsmill, all of the Toronto Ski club; T. Dubroy and D. Hall of the Ottawa Ski club.

Jumping—Jack Holland, Carrol Oakander, Andy Rutetr, Don Shiner, Bill Wright, all of Peterborough Ski club; Karl Baadsvik, Ross Wilson, C. Skavaas, All Brennar and Julian Sale, all of Toronto Ski club; A. Bagguley and Dave Hall, both of Ottawa ski club; Jack Landry and Frank Jeffrey, both of Laurentian club, North Bay; R. Wallace, W. Gauthier, R. Millar, B. Fagan, G. McMartin and Cecil Clark, all of the Norlands club, Ottawa.

Downhill and slalom—Jack Holland, Carrol Oakander, Neil Mackenzie, Andy Rutter, Karl Duffus, Bob White, Eric Shiner, Don Shiner, George Cook, and Jerry Dawson, all of Peterborough Ski club; Ross Wilson, T. McCoey, D. Heriot, C. Skavaas, Vladimir Havlicek, Gordon Wishart, J. S. Dinnech, Merret Putman, H. Wagget, Bruce Carnall, M. Murphy, A. Brennar, W. T. Clark, Julian Sale, Karl Baadsvik, all of Toronto Ski club; A Bagguley, B. Heggtveit, E. Heggtveit, T. Dubroy and D. Hall, all of Ottawa ski club; Louis Georgas of Owen Sound club; Jack Landry, Frank Jeffrey, and J. Wyatt, all of Laurentian club, North Bay; Bob Hanna of Cedar Springs Ski club, Hamilton.

BICYCLISTS WARNED.

In addition to warning pedestrians about walking on the left side of the highway, facing oncoming traffic, when walking out to Nassau for the ski meet tomorrow and also about the danger of riding on the running board of cars, traffic officers also wish to announce that the dangerous practice of two persons riding on the same bicycle at the same time will be frowned upon.

Skaters Who Will Appear at the Peterboro Skating Carnival

Miss Norah McCarthy, of the Toronto Skating Club, who at fifteen years of age appears destined to be a world's skating champion in the very near future. She won the Canadian Ladies' Junior championship in 1938; was runner-up to Mary Rose Thacker, of Winnipeg, in the 1939 Senior Championship; was third in the North American Ladies' Championship; won the Canadian Pair championship this year with Ralph McCreath, and was second with him in the North American Pair Championship.

Miss Nora McCarthy, 1938 Canadian Ladies' Junior Champion, runner-up for the 1939 Canadian Ladies' Senior champion, and Canadian Pair champion with her partner, Ralph McCreath, of the Toronto Skating Club. These two young skaters are the most promising developments of recent years and as a pair should in another year be close to being the best in the world, for they combine marvellous skating with a great display of athletic achievements. This pair are on the program of the Skating Carnival.

Miss Theresa McCarthy, thirteen-year-old Toronto Skating Club star and holder of the Canadian Ladies' Junior Title. [Two years younger than her sister, Norah, this girl appears destined to be another Sonya Henie, for she has all the attributes of the Norwegian star except that her hair is dark. Despite her youth she accomplishes most of the hardest leaps with ease, and is a fine little showwoman. Miss McCarthy will be seen next Friday night performing at the Brock Street rink.

The Rambling REPORTERS

POLICE EFFICIENCY.

Between the efficiency of the Police Force and the pranks of the Bachelors' Club, Don Ross is having some bad moments. A few nights ago he was visiting at the home of Don Duncan, with other members of the Bachelors' Club, and did not start for home until close to one o'clock. When he came to the spot where his car had been parked, there was no car. He suspected at once that the Bachelors who had left earlier had driven or pushed the car around the corner, so he enlisted the aid of seven members, and started a search of the district. They were unsuccessful, so he 'phoned the police and was informed the car had been found on the street after midnight with the keys still in it, so one of the officers in the prowler car had driven it to the station for safe-keeping and to check-up on whether or not it had been stolen.

RATHER DISGRUNTLED

The regular patrons of police court have some reason to feel disgruntled at the authorities over the poor show that was put on for their benefit this morning. Here it was a wet disagreeable morning, and many of them had slipped and skidded over icy pavements for blocks in order to be on hand for the start of the proceedings. They had just got more or less comfortably seated and were leaning back to watch the wheels of justice revolve when the whole thing blew up in their faces and they were wafted out in the rain again.

There was only one case on the list, a charge against a youth of riding a bicycle on a North Monaghan sidewalk and it was adjourned for two weeks by consent. Then the customary "court's adjourned" was sounded and it was all over. The audible "Oh" of disappointment that greeted the announcement made the court personnel smile.—C.

Open House Held St. Peter's School

Parents of pupils attending Grades One to Ten at St. Peter's Schol were visitors at the school Thursday when open house was held and the parents were given an opportunity of seeing the work being done and have the salient features of the new course of study outlined to them.

St. M. Lucretta, principal of the school, received the parents and the Sisters in the different class-rooms acted as guides and explained the work. The system visual education received much favorable comment. Samples of the work was displayed in each room.

The open house program was arranged as part of Education Week program and it was held early in the year at the suggestion of Mr. Leo Langan, inspector of Separate Schools in this district. Tea was served by women of St. Peter's Parish later in the afternoon.

The third, fourth and fifth form pupils had their parents at school on Tuesday, when a regular literary society program was run off, and supplemented by various musical numbers, recitations and readings. At that time the school magazine, "The Net," was read and it was explained that it was the first time the school had published a school magazine. A few years ago some of the forms had class publications which were restricted to the high school form which planned and published the paper, but in the last publication all high school pupils had an interest.

Success Obtained By Dictator Nations Must Be Equalled By Democratic Countries

Canadians are an individualistic people and would never tolerate nor become reconciled to the stringent conditions which exist in Dictator nations, Adrian Macdonald, M.A. of Toronto and former teacher at the Peterborough Normal School told a group of 200 people in Central School last night.

Mr. Macdonald was introduced by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, after a formal welcome had been extended the visitors by R. J. Bolton, principal of Central School.

"The success achieved by dictator nations in internal development of their countries can and must be equalled by democratic system, said the speaker. He explained that such progress can only be achieved when all citizens have the ability to think clearly, judge wisely and use their initiative to solve the problems which beset all nations today, and are imbued with a willingness to sacrifice themselves for the good of the state.

"The primary purpose of education today is to develop the traits outlined above in the generation now attending school, so that they may intelligently assume responsible tasks and maintain Canada as one of the leading nations of the world."

A vote of thanks to Mr. Macdonald was tendered on motion of Rev. M. C. Parr, seconded by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

Considerable discussion followed a suggestion that a Father's Association be formed, and two who took a prominent part in this discussion were R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne and Dr. J. J. Craig. A committee was appointed to carry on and investigate further into the merits of the suggestion and are as follows: Homer Borland, Dr. Craig, Alex Sollitt, Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and Rev. M. C. Parr.

The tragic death of Colleen Hamilton, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton of the River Road, occurred at the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto on Wednesday. She had been ill about five months.

Surviving besides her parents are two sisters, Gloria and Sylvia.

Hazel Grove Largest Village In England

The visit of the Ladybrook Ladies' Choir to Peterborough Thursday night was of special interest to Alderman Dutton, whose home town of Stockport in Cheshire is only four miles from Hazel Grove, the home of the choir.

"Hazel Grove has the distinction of being the largest village in England," Mr. Dutton told the Examiner. "It has a population of 7,000, and, according to Hon. M. Clements, M.P., president of the Choir, the village has resisted the extension and influence of the city of Stockport and is tenaciously clinging to all its old characteristics. Canadian soldiers who were at the Buxton hospital during the war may remember Hazel Grove, on the edge of the peak district. They must have marched through it many times."

Alderman Dutton said he was delighted with the excellence of the concert, and the fact that such talent had been developed in an English village.

Police Inspect Taxi Stands

Preliminary steps in regard to the issuing of taxi owners and driving licenses under the new taxi bylaw are being taken, although no licenses have so far been issued. It is provided under the measure that before the necessary licenses are granted the Chief Constable must be satisfied that the applicant is a proper person to be licensed and that he possesses the equipment and plant called for by the bylaw.

A police inspection is being made of the headquarters of all applicants for licenses and when that is completed and the applicants themselves have been interviewed the way will be cleared for the issuance of the necessary permits.

The bylaw, passed last month by the Board of Police Commissioners, went into effect on February 1.

Employment has been maintained in Italy recently only in industries supported by government orders.

Youth Training Program Is Big Success

"Unemployed Youth," Canada's greatest asset and greatest tragedy, was the subject of an inspiring address by H. F. Irwin, chief placement officer in Eastern Ontario for the Department of Labor, at the regular supper meeting of the Kinsmen Club Thursday night, when the speaker pleaded with the members to exert their influence in making known to youth and to the heads of industry the benefits obtainable by use of the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Program instituted two years ago.

"Much of the bitter criticism and misunderstandings of government bodies today exists because the average person has few true facts on existing situations and conditions, said Mr. Irwin. "I will talk to you about the greatest problem in Canada today, namely the thousands of unemployed youths who are either trekking up and down the country in search of work, or else are a burden in their own homes.

70,000 Transient Youths

"This very night there are many youths who will be sleeping under culverts, in doorways, in the haymows of some farmer's barn or in the police stations across the country, because they have neither home, nor employment. Last summer 500 transients a month were taken off the trains between Cornwall and Fort William and from the best sources available we learn that there are approximately 70,000 youths on the move looking for work. Many of these have not lived long enough in any place to be regarded as bonafide residents."

"I don't want you to think when I say this, that you need not care because it is not your son, but tomorrow your own boy, discouraged because of no work, may leave your home and become one of the army of homeless, hungry men. It is a problem that concerns every man and woman in the country."

Besides the transients, there are about 50,000 high school graduates who have been unable to find employment, and we can recall at this time that every year 125,000 young men and women are graduated from the high schools of the country. Industry has not been able to absorb this crowd during the past few years. At any given period we can figure there are from 200,000 to 250,000 unemployed young men and women in Canada.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a murder mystery when first the eccentric old lady and later her middle-aged daughter-in-law are found dead under the same hair drier. Elsie was attending each at the time, though out of the salon for a few moments before discovering the old lady's death. A string of emeralds, belonging to Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., are strangely missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family, and some of the house guests, strike Elsie as queer. Phil Benson, newspaper reporter and close friend of Elsie, arrives as the police launch their investigation. He immediately phones for Mac McIntyer, head of the Chicago homicide squad, who happens to be in town. Meanwhile Richard and Daphne Witherspoon, children of the second victim, conduct themselves oddly during questioning. The chief of police continues his interrogation of all those at the Manor when the two deaths occurred. Elsie, Benson and McIntyre discuss the possible suspects. No trace of poison is found in the body of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Jr., Making a secret investigation of the beauty salon, Phil and Elsie come upon a bit of cigaret tissue which has a smell of bitter almonds. Suddenly something strikes Phil on the head. When he recovers a few seconds later the cigaret tissue is gone.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

IN SPITE of the fact that I knew I would not sleep a wink, I crawled into bed and slept dreamlessly all the night. In the morning, with the sun shining, I felt better. At nine o'clock, according to schedule, I opened the salon. I thought it highly improbable that the beauty business would be rushing—an unexplained death is apt to put a damper on the vainest woman's vanity—but I had been hired to operate the salon and I intended to carry out my part of the bargain.

Around the middle of the morning I heard a car chugging up the drive. It was Phil's Ford, with Phil himself at the wheel and a strange man seated beside him. I ran down the front stairs like a mad woman. Hawkins was opening the door.

"Hi, there, Elsie!" shouted Phil. He was bubbling over with cheer and good spirits. "This is Mac McIntyre," he added, and I looked up into a pair of the bluest eyes I had ever seen.

"So this is Elsie Ritter!" Mac McIntyre said, and his blue eyes began to twinkle. I could not say a thing; I was stricken dumb with surprise. Mac McIntyre, as a detective, was a shock and a disappointment. He was a tall, gangling figure of a man with long arms that dangled from his coat sleeves and long legs that dangled from his trouser cuffs. Scrubbed and pressed and dressed in his Sunday best, he reminded me of a farmer in town for the day. Somehow I expected to see the hayseed clinging to his hair.

Not that Mac looked especially dumb, or especially bright, for that matter. But he did not look like my idea of a Chicago man-eater!

"Will I do?" he asked, and I blushed to the roots of my red hair. I had been guilty of staring at him.

"Don't let Mac kid you," Phil said. "He's a notorious lady killer. In Chicago, they say, he owns the finest collections of etchings a chorus girl was ever invited to inspect!"

I smiled uncertainly and extended my hand. One of us was being taken for a ride, and I had a hunch it was little Elsie.

"Did you wish to see someone?" Hawkins addressed Phil.

"I'd like to see Mr. Horace Witherspoon, Benson of the Times.

"Mr. Witherspoon is at breakfast. Will you wait in the library?"

"I will. Thanks." And to Mac and me: "Come along, gang."

We followed Hawkins along the corridor into the library. I could hardly wait for the butler to get out of sight to ask the questions that were seeking throught my rattled brain. "Phil, did you find anything?"

He glanced swiftly around the room. "I found plenty, Elsie," he said softly. "I found murder!"

"I want you to begin at the beginning and tell the whole story as you remember it," said Mac McIntyre, as we sat waiting for Mr. Horace to appear. "Don't skip a thing because you think it's not important; in a murder case everything is important. Everything!"

"All right." I settled myself more comfortably in an armchair before the fireplace. "I'll try. But first, for Pete's sake, tell me somethng! How was Mrs. Horace killed?"

Mac grinned wickedly: "Perhaps we have been a little lax, Elsie. I Suppose you explain, Benson. After all, it's your show."

"Anything to oblige a lady," Phil said, passing around the cigarets. "You see, baby, it was this way: Didmore performed a second and more thorough autopsy this morning. This time he knew what he was looking for—and he found it. Cyanide!"

"Cyanide! I thought that was a gas!"

"It's a poison that works as a gas. Taylor knew what it was the minute I explained the circumstances we discussed last night. He gave me all the dope. This is the way cyanide works: a tiny pinch of the stuff kills, and kills instantly, and because such a small amount is required to cause death, it is difficult to detect by autopsy. Didmore found minute traces in the heart and lungs."

He continued: "Cyanide, as I said, works as a gas. It is really an acid, and this acid forms gas, or fumes, which enter the heart and lungs and suffocate the victim. Even when taken internally, Taylor says, the action is the same."

"And the odor?"

"Bitter almond! And the beauty of it is that the odor lasts only a short while. Had you raised the hood ten minutes sooner than you did the odor would have been quite marked. As it was, you got only a faint whiff, enough to make you sneeze."

"But — I was still puzzled — "how was the cyanide used in this case?"

"Simple, darling. Here's the way I figure it: The murderer fastened a pinch of the poison to the inside of the drier hood by means of the tissue and adhesive strips. Previously he had disconnected three of the driers to insure his victim choosing the right one. All unsuspecting, you, Elsie, tied the victim into the contraption and threw the switch. Almost immediately the air fanned the paper, the cyanide formed its poisonous gas and presto! the thing was done. Later the paper and tape were removed. A practically foolproof murder device!"

"How awful! Why—why, I killed Mrs. Horace! I killed her!"

"You made an obliging tool for X," he said. "The whole thing was ingeniously planned and carried out. And that's the hell of it! All X had to do was to bait the trap. No time alibi was needed, for X didn't have to be on the spot to commit the crime!"

"A very clever one, our X" added Mac. "If you, Elsie, hadn't found that scrap of paper, and if the person who stole it had let well enough alone instead of drawing our attention to its importance—"

"But I found that paper before Mrs. Horace was killed!"

"I know. Your tissue had nothing to do with her death. Your tissue held the poison that killed Mrs. Witherspoon, senior."

I shuddered. "Then she was murdered?"

The detective nodded. "We are practically certain that she did not die a natural death. However until the body is exhumed and an autopsy performed, we are forced to assume that she died of a heart attack. In the meantime we will concentrate on the daughter-in-law's death."

"I see," I said, and strangely enough I felt neither shock nor horror. Perhaps I was becoming inured to both. Somehow the fact that the dead body of Mrs. Witherspoon, so recently laid to rest, was to be taken from the ground—rudely and unceremoniously dug from the ground to be dissected and discussed upon a cold marble slab in the middle of the night—affected me not at all. Perhaps, I found myself thinking, perhaps in a little while I shall regard murder without fear or emotion, seeing it as a game of hide-and-seek, with the murderer at one base and ourselves at the other. Funny, what you can get used to—is that not what they once said of the men in the trenches?

"Now, Elsie," McIntyre interrupted my revery. "Suppose you begin at the beginning and tell me a few things."

"What is it you want to know?"

"Everything. Everything that has happened in this house since your arrival."

"I'll try," I said and began my story. When I had finished Mac's face was grave.

"A queer outfit, these Witherspoons!" he mused. "Each one of them hiding something—"

"Daphne knows plenty!" put in Phil. "Without half trying I could built up a sweet case against her."

"She isn't guilty!" I flared. "She couldn't be — her own mother!"

"Matricide isn't so uncommon."

"Rubbish! Daphne was crazy about her mother. Anyone could see that!"

Phil argued: "But if Mrs. Horace suspected her—"

I snorted: "Mothers don't suspect their daughters, and even if they do, they don't give them away to the police! I'd as soon suspect Mr. Horace!"

"I'm considering him, too," Phil returned, unperturbed. "My mind is open—"

"And empty!" I added dryly.

McIntyre guffawed: "So you two are already disagreeing!"

"Elsie is a sentimentalist," Phil said. "According to her, none of the Witherspoons could have done the deed."

"I'm not!" I denied furiously.

"Children! Children!" chided Mac. "Remember you aren't married yet!"

We grinned sheepishly.

Beautify Your Home With Glorious Bloom

Let the lovely amaryllis transform your living room this spring. Rose, scarlet, or delicate pink and white, its great lily-like blossoms open in a true burst of glory.

For speedy bloom, ask your florist for a bulb that's starting to sprout. Plant in a pot just an inch larger than bulb, leaving the upper third exposed.

Or scrape base or bulb with a sharp knife (Diagram A) and try flowering it in a hyacinth glass (Diagram B). The bulb should just touch the surface of the water in the glass. If immersed it will rot.

Whether you plant your amaryllis in soil or water, keep it in a shady corner until flower stalk is three inches high; then bring out into full sunlight.

Now is the time, too, to cut branches of fruit trees and spring-flowering shrubs for indoor forcing —forsythia, Japanese quince, sour cherry, crab apple.

Our 32-page booklet gives full directions for the care of all kinds of beautiful house plants. How to avoid pests.

Children Grow Cynical And Critical Of Their Parents Because They See Them At Close Range And Are Guided By Their Actions In The Home

WHAT do our children think of us? How do they size us up as the phrase goes? These are questions that few parents ever ask themselves because they are so complacently sure that Tommy and Mamie worship them as little tin gods and regard their every word as the utterance of an oracle. The idea that their youngsters look upon them with a cynical and an appraising and often a disapproving eye never crosses their minds. Still less do they suspect that in their cradles Junior and Sweetums not only got their number to the last figure but learned how to work the combination.

Of course, this hallucination that fathers and mothers entertain that their children are filled with awe and admiration of them and blind to their every defect is a merciful provision of Providence to compensate them for all the work and worry and noise and mischief that they have to put up with from their youngsters.

But in reality it has no foundation upon which to rest. For there are no keener nor more merciless critics than children. No one is quicker to perceive a fault or weakness, and if they early learn to keep their real opinions of Papa and Mamma to themselves, it is because experience has taught them that the reward of frankness is called impudence and rates the hairbrush or being sent supperless to bed.

Doubtless it is just as well for our peace of mind and self-esteem that we do not know just what our children think of us, but if we could pry into their minds we would find a lot of things that would astonish and chagrin us.

The first amazing discovery would be that not only our babies but also our adolescent sons and daughters regard us as being so old as to be almost prehistoric. Virtually contemporary with the Neanderthal man, so aged as to be completely out of touch with modern life, hence whose opinions are of no value and not worth considering.

Only today I have a letter illustrating this. It is from a girl of 15 who complains bitterly because her mother won't let her go joyriding at night with wild boys. "Of course, mother is senile," she writes. "She is 35 and so old she doesn't know what she is talking about, so don't you think I am justified in refusing to be bound by her old-fashioned views?"

Strangely enough, children do not regard other people who are the same age as their parents as being old and outmoded. It is just their own mothers and fathers whom they look upon as tottering on the verge of the grave at 40. Hence it is a waste of effort for any of us to try to keep young and grow up with our children. It can't be done. The picture of us as Methuselahs is fixed in their minds.

Another thing that would surprise us if we could see into our children's minds is that they don't want us to chum with them nor to put ourselves on their level, and it offends and disgusts them when we do. The most bored children in the world are those whose parents try to entertain them. Grown-ups and kids don't talk the same language. They don't play the same games. They don't giggle over the same things. Every child is martyred who has a conscientious father or mother who feels that it is his or her duty to be little Sally's or Bobby's best friend.

Children don't want their parents as playfellows. They want to look up to them as something wiser and stronger than they are. And when their parents quarrel before them, or come home reeling drunk, or accuse each other of dreadful things, the faces of the boys and girls who look on are the faces of those who have seen their idols overthrown and trampled in the dust.

If we could see into the minds of our children we would perceive that they are sitting in judgment on us all the time, and sometimes their verdict is bitter hard because they have not known enough of life to temper justice with mercy.

They know whether we are liars or truthful, honest or crooks, weak or strong; whether we are lazy or energetic; whether we are to be depended on or are a broken reed upon which to lean. We may fool other people, but not our children. And that is why it is salutary for our souls to try to find out what our children think of us.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TELL

"Oh! Listen to the music!" the children cried. They all ran down the street as fast as they could. In their footsteps ran Hanid and Knarf, the shadows, for shadows, as you know, always go with their masters and mistresses.

There, at the corner, they found a little old man grinding an organ. Quite a number of children were standing near, listening. But none of them was dancing.

The little old man looked sad. "None of the children likes my music," he thought to himself sadly.

Now he was really right about that. None of the children liked the organ-grinder's music well enough to dance to it. It wasn't "dancing" music. Some of them even began drifting away. And the little old man looked sadder and sadder. It isn't any fun playing music if no one likes it.

The little old man looked sad.

Knarf and Hanid felt very sorry for the little old organ-grinder. Suddenly Knarf, who often had very bright ideas, exclaimed: "I'm going to make better music come out of that organ."

"But you can't!" Hanid said.

Knarf smiled at his sister. "Just wait here. You'll see." With that he glided around to the back of the little hurdy-gurdy and crept inside. No one noticed him at all. He had, you see, made himself very small. Shadows can make themselves any size they please.

My! what a curious place he found himself in! It was like a great high room with chairs all around and little men sitting in them before music stands, playing on little instruments.

"Oh! So you're the ones who are making th music come out of the hurdy-gurdy?" he said to them.

Tired of It.

"Yes," they answered. "Isn't it beautiful music? We play this song over and over again. But to tell you the truth, we'd like to play a different song for a change."

"You would? Then I'll tell you just the song to play. It will make all the children dance. Then you and all the children and your master the organ-grinder will all be happy."

And what do you suppose was the song which Knarf, the shadow-boy, made the little men play? It was "All Around the Mulberry Bush!"

And did the children dance to it? I should say they did! And was the little old man happy again? I should say he was! And are you glad? I certainly hope so.

Looking Back
On This Date

Today may be considered the anniversary of the birthday of the province of Canada, because on Feb. 10, 1841, Lord Sydenham took the oath of office as governor-general and the union of Lower and Upper Canada advised by Lord Durham, was completed.

The "act to reunite the provinces of Upper Canada and Lower Canada and for the government of Canada" had been given the royal assent Aug. 10, 1840. Five days after Sydenham's taking office he issued a proclamation ordering elections for an assembly "to meet at the town of Kingston on April 8, then and there to have conference and treaty with the great men and the legislative council of the said province," but it was not until June 14 that "the legislative councillors of the province of Canada and the knights, citizens and burgesses elected to serve in the legislative assembly" met at kingston.

Sydenham's regime was short. It saw the first steps taken to the control of all public affairs by the assembly. His two successors, Metcalfe and Bagot, tried to stem the tide but failed, and then, with the coming of the Earl of Elgin in 1847, true responsible government was inaugurated.

A quarter century of storm and stress, economic as well as political, followed, and then came Confederation. Now we are faced with a revision of the Confederation constitution. How fitting it would be if the amended constitution, if it is amended, should be inaugurated in 1941, just a century after, the creation of the province of Canada.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

For Saturday, February 11.

A very lively day, with the promise of much excitement and probable commotion in putting over or composing rather drastic activities, already under high pressure, is forecast. It may be desirable to make an effort to promote profitable issues in these by diplomacy or compromise, rather than resorting to litigation or other aggressive methods. Confer with elders or old established institutions, or resort to subtlety or stratagem.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and exciting year, in which matters moving at excessive high pressure may have to be adjusted by compromise or diplomacy rather than aggression, litigation, or other drastic means. Elders may have sound advice or suggest efforts to placate rather than resort to open hostility.

A child born on this day may have very positive and determined qualities, with a predisposition to very drastic modes of action. However, it may have a rather keen or subtle instinct, presenting its problems to its superiors.

The theme of the roll call was "Love," and the scripture reading was given by Mrs. M. McKibbon. Mrs. M. McLean led in prayer.

A thoughtful address on the subject of worship, in which she stressed worship by prayer and a quiet mind, was given by Mrs. W. H. Morton. Members were reminded of the Day of Prayer to be held in St. James' Church on the 24th of February, Faith is to be the subject of the roll call at the March meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. B. Frederick. Tea was served after the meeting by the hostess and members of the social committee. There were eighteen members and five visitors present. Thanks to the hostess was expressed by Mrs. W. H. Cunningham.

Homes And People Of Quebec Subject Of Address

Quebec, the quaint, with its long farms, its tiny homes; its present restlessness; its fear of communism, and its growing population, was discussed by Mrs. Loomis at the monthly meeting of the Murray Street Ladies' Mission Circle, which met in the ladies' parlor of the church with the president, Mrs. H. H. Graham, presiding. Mrs. Loomis concluded her remarks with a brief history of the work of the Grand Ligne mission, with its earnest staff of workers.

The work of the Grand Ligne Bible women among the poor and in the hospitals, was spoken of by Mrs. Jackson, who mentioned the Peace Bridge, and urged that a spiritual bridge of prayer be built up by the members, and asked that they pray for a return of peace in Europe.

Miss Mary Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. W. Kidd, sang two hymns. A prayer of thanks for blessings received, of hope for the work of the circle, and a petition for the missionaries' needs, was led by the president, Mrs. L. A. Campbell read the scripture. During the business period it was decided to hold the March meeting on the evening of March 7. The Jubilee Convention, to be held in Toronto during the month of June, was brought to the attention of the members.

Ladybrook Choir Concert Is Delightful

One of England's most distinguished women's choral organizations was heard by an appreciative Peterborough audience on Thursday evening when the Ladybrook Ladies' Choir from the Cheshire village of Hazel Grove gave a concert in St. Andrew's United Church.

En route to the World's Fair at New York, the choir has sung in Halifax, Sherbrooke, Montreal, and Ottawa since landing in Canada about two weeks ago. The choir consists of 26 singers in addition to the director and accompanist. Organized in 1927 by its director, Madame Elsie Harrop, A.R.C.M., to whom much of its success is undoubtedly due, it grew from a village choral group to an ensemble which won tributes on the London concert stage, and highest awards at large music festivals in the Old Country. The title "Ladybrook" was chosen because of a stream which skirts the borders of the village.

Accompanying the choir are Hon. M. Clements, English member of Parliament, and Mrs. Clements, Miss Gargaret Maddison, talented young English pianist, and Mr. J. Webb, choir secretary. They were extended a civic welcome by Mayor Hamilton, who was presented by Dr. E. W. Young.

The choir, garbed in simple gowns of soft crimson, seemed to sing for the pure joy of singing, and guided by the slender, expressive hands of the leader, became truly inspired. Evidence of their remarkable training was apparent in very clear enunciation, and in excellence of tone and shading, while blending of the voice parts made for very fine harmonies.

Included in the opening group was Elgar's "The Snow," which was one of the best performances. "As Torrents in Summer," and "My Love Dwell sin a Northern Land." A soprano solo by one of the members, "Little Fellow with His Mammy's Eyes," was particularly enjoyable.

Miss Margaret Maddison, who has a splendid reputation as a pianist in her native land, gave a pleasant variety to the concert by playing two groups, the first included "Sicilians and Hornpipe" by Purcell (arr. by Craxton and Moffat), "Sonata" by Scarlotte, "Mazurka in C" and "Study in F," Chopin. In her second group, the "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakov (arr. by Strimer) seemed to be most popular with the audience, who brought her back again and again to smile and curtsey. As an encore she played "Flutes" by Defesch (arr. by Craxton and Moffat). Miss Maddison, who wore a quaint, rose frock that complimented her golden hair, has a personality of great charm. She is a born musician, and played brilliantly.

"The Witches Carnival" by Fletcher, in which effects of shading were delightful, was sung by the choir in the second group. The words are taken from a translation by Shelley of scenes from Goethe's Faust, and depict a scene in the Hartz Mountains where the great Witch-carnival of Walpurgis night is going on. The witches can be heard approaching in the distance, the mad revelry of the carnival takes place, and through the expressive voices one could almost see them mount their broomsticks and fly away. "Hear the Sledges with the Bells" was rich in programmatic effects, and some more frivolous things included Bridge's "Peter Piper,' which Miss Harrop described as a "tongue twister in music," and "Jack and Jill" (Jarvis).

Schubert's lovely "The Lord Is My Shepherd," a request number, concluded the program, and in gracious response to the continuous applause Miss Harrop led her choir in an impressive presentation of "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" (Brahms).

The numbers were announced as they were sung, by Miss Harrop, whose winsome personality endeared her to the audience from the beginning. Miss Irene Halworth, accompanist, was in closest musical accord with the choir all the way through the varied program.

Following the concert, the executive of the Women's Association entertained the Ladybrook and Madrigal Choirs members at tea in the ladies' parlors.

Central School Parents Guests of Honor

Education Week was featured at Central School on Thursday afternoon and evening by a program to which the parents of the pupils were invited. Under the sponsorship of the Home and School Association and the willing help and co-operation of Principal R. J. Bolton and the teaching staff, the parents were privileged to observe the regular school routine. They can now visualize their children at work in school, which creates an agreeable atmosphere between the home and the school.

After visiting the various rooms during the afternoon in which they were most interested, the guests were welcomed to the kindergarten room by the president, Mrs. J. H. Quirt, and the vice-president, Mrs. G. Poulson, where afternoon tea was served from a lace-covered table centered with a silver vase holding tulips and smilax. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. J. Bolton, Mrs. C. H. McWilliams, Mrs. N. Stanger and Miss Denne. Girl pupils of Mr. Bolton's and George Nicholls' rooms in their domestic science uniforms, made very efficient assistants in the tea-room. Mrs. G. Payne and Mrs. Honor, with a willing staff of assistants, carried through their social duties very successfully. A table of home-made candy was in charge of Mrs. Bruce Fowler and Mrs. J. Hooper. Mrs. Wilfred Boorman acted as treasurer.

Fathers' Program.

A "Fathers' Night" program was the feature of the evening. A splendid representation of fathers attended. The rooms of the school were open for inspection, and a class of manual training and one of domestic science could be seen at work. The kindergarten room was comfortably filled for the program, with Homer Borland acting as chairman. After briefly addressing the meeting, the chairman called upon Principal R. J. Bolton, who extended a hearty welcome to the parents, and expressed appreciation of the splendid response which the idea of "open school" had called forth. Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr had the honor of introducing the guest speaker, Adrian Macdonald, who was formerly on the teaching staff of the Normal School. Mr. Macdonald, who is a recognized authority on educational matters throughout the Dominion, delivered a very thought-provoking address on Empire problems of today. Rapt attention was accorded this very able speaker, who through the Rev. M. C Parr and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe received the grateful thanks of the sponsors. Other speakers who briefly addressed the meeting were J. R. Marshall of the Board of Education, Mayor James Hamilton, Dr. J. J. Craig, and Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne.

Musical numbers were enjoyed when a violin solo was played by Mervin McLaren, and a vocal solo, "A Heart That is Free," was rendered by Mrs. L. Groombridge, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E. Foster. The meeting closed with God Save the King.

C.W.A. Holds Enjoyable Tea

A successful and enjoyable tea was held Thursday afternoon by the C.W.A. of All Saints' Church, at the home of Mrs. L. Ackford, 297 Boswell Avenue. The large number of guests were received by the hostess and Mrs. J. D. Paterson.

Mrs. A. Reid and Mrs. W. Hughes were hostesses in the tea room, where tea was poured by Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. J. Adams. Cupids standing on a base of red hearts, red candles in silver holders, and a graceful centre arrangement of daffodils, red tulips and Freesia, adorned the tea table, which was laid with a white cloth of Scottish lace. Mrs. A Milne was tea room convener, assisted by Mrs. B. Burns, Mrs. J. Detcher, Mrs. G. Worboy, Miss M.

Mrs. J. Kemp and Mrs. A. Tivey were in charge of the fancy work table, Mrs. Sabin convened the homemade cooking table, and Mrs. J. Price acted as treasurer.

It was interesting to note that one of the oldest Guild members, Mrs. J. Crowe, who has been unable to attend any church function for home time, was present at the tea yesterday to greet many old friends.

Bensfort Church Societies Hold Joint Meeting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BENSFORT, Feb. 10.—On Tuesday afternoon the monthly meeting of the W.A. and M.A. was held in the basement of Bensfort United church with a fair attendance.

The meeting opened with a hymn, folowed by a Psalm in unison. Mrs. Reg. Perrin read the scripture and Mrs. Charles Fisher led in prayer. Mrs. Edmund Dawson gave a reading and also a report on the W.M.S. Presbyterial recently held in Peterborough. A piano solo by Marion Moncrief was much enjoyed. Mrs. Edgar Wood capably introduced the new study book, and gave a paper on the opening chapter. The roll call was responded to by a "household hint."

The annual quilting bee will be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Moncrief on March 7. It was decided to hold a supper on February 21, the ladies to put on the supper and the men to put on the program. Proceeds will be used to repair buildings, etc.

Suppper was served at 7 p m. to the young people, after which the young people's meeting was held. Gomer Robinson gave a very splendid topic. After the meeting crokinole and bingo were played. Prizes were won by Bruce Fisher, Alan Dawson, Marie Van Allen, and Mrs. Harold Moncrief.

Rawdon Conservatives Hear Party Nominee

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, Feb. 10 — A very successful social evening and rally was held Wednesday night by the Rawdon Conservative Association, in the Orange hall at Springbrook, when the auditorium of the hall was packed to the doors. George White, of Madoc, who will contest this federal riding in the next election, was the guest speaker and gave a splendid address. Other speakers: R. D. Arnott, M.P.P., of Belleville, Dr. H. Welch, M.P.P., of Thomasburg, and George E Thompson, Warden of Hastings County.

Between addresses vocal solos were contributed by Mrs. White and Mr. Hawthorne of Madock, and J. P. Baker of Bonarlaw and violin solos by Mr. Johnson of Madoc. Mr. Hawthorne also amused the audience with clever drawings and cartoons.

V. Richardson acted as chairman. After the program round and square dancing was enjoyed by all, to the accompaniment of an orchestra composed of Messrs. Porter, Hagerman and Pitman, and Herb Jones acting as floor manager.

The de Havilland Aircraft Company's factory at Toronto is working at top speed to complete the order of 200 Tiger Trainers ordered by the British air ministry for use by the Royal Air Force. Already 104 of the trainers have been delivered and officials of the company are confident that the entire order will be filled by May. The entire ship, save for the engine, which is installed in England, is being constructed in the factory. Nine Women are employed to fit the fabric on the framework of the ships. Havelock Church Opposes Sweeps At Congregational Session

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 10—Reports for last year, presented at the annual congregational meeting of the Havelock United church, showed encouraging progress and every organization in flourishing condition. Rev. Andrew McLauchlin presided at the meeting, Carman Coon being reappointed secretary.

Re-elected to the Board of Elders for three-year terms were, Messrs. Bernard Smith and Edwad Fennell, and Mrs. John Cochrane. The congregation decided to function with a committee of stewards handling all the finances, in the future. Messrs. R. W. Goheen and W. D. Duncan were appointed to the committee for three-year terms, while re-elected for the same term were Miss M. Seeney, A. C. Denike, Carman Coon, Bernard Smith, Charles Roberts and Gordon Denike. The committee will organize and elect its own chairman and treasurer.

The congregation registered its disapproval of legislation proposed to commercialize amusements on the Lord's Day; and against the renewed attempt at Ottawa to legalize sweepstakes. Suitable forms of protest will be sent to political leaders and local members of legislature and parliament.

Church treasurer, Charles Roberts, reported receipts of $2,428 during the year, with a balance on hand of $31. There was an increase in weekly envelopes used and a splendid response to the appeal at the end of the year.

35 New Members

The session was organized during the year and its first report presented by Bernard Smith, its clerk. Attendance at communion showed an increase of 35; the roll call shows a total of 264 members, a net increase of 30 members. The most remarkable feature was the reception of the profession of faith from 32 young people under the pastorate of Rev. S. A. Kemp, who moved to Oshawa Centre Street United church in July. There are 150 families in Havelock, 90 at Trent River, and 85 at Rush Point and Victoria.

Co-operation with other denominations in various activities was noted during the past year. A Bible Study Forum will be opened next Wednesday evening.

A report was presented of the work accomplished by student pastor L. Jones during the summer months in Belmont township. A Sunday School was held weekly at Victoria church, with an average attendance of 31. The church building was also repaired and weekly services held. An anniversary service in September brought many old timers back, and the communion celebrating the event was largely attended.

At Rush Point church the average attendance was 38. The Sunday School here, under Superintendent Earl Pollock, had 53 scholars, an average atetndance of 33, and raised $79 during the year. The Y.P.U., under president Helen Buchanan, had an average attendance of 30.

Rush Point and Victoria, with the assistance of tourists attending the services, raised a total of $238 for student support and $2'5 for other purposes.

Edward Fennell presented the report of the parsonage trustees' board, which, in co-operation with Trent River, had installed running water facilities in the parsonage and furnished a bathroom.

Missionary and maintenance reported $311 sent in from the pastoral charge.

Reports were received from the several organisations in the church and adopted by the meeting.

The Women's Association report given by Mrs. Clare Price, showed that $334 had been raised, of which $100 was donated to the stewards. Under the leadership of their president, Mrs. Charles Roberts, the forty members made substantial improvements in the parsonage furnishings. During 1939 the W.A. will function in three separate units.

There were 29 members in the Women's Missionary Society last year, the president being Mrs. Thomas Easterbrook. The sum of $249 was sent to the Presbyterial, while the Mission Band, with 22 members, under the direction of Mrs. William Forsythe and Mrs. George Iles, sent in $53. The report was presented by Miss M. Seeney, on behalf of the treasurer, Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke.

The Young People's Union, with 23 members, under the presidency of Miss Edna Haig, raised $132.46, including $10 for missions. Delegates were sent to Winter School and Young People's conferences and one member, Miss Verna Buchanan, entered the Toronto Bible College.

135 on Sunday School Roll

The Sunday School report presented by Miss Edna Haig, showed receipts at $132.46, including for mission, $27. Membership was 135, with an average attendance of 77, and another 14 on the Cradle Roll, reported by the leader, Verna Johnson. Twenty-six pupils joined the church upon profession of faith during the year.

The attendance is increasing, and a new girls' class has been formed, with Mrs. A. McLauchlin as teacher. R. W. Gcheen is organizing the boys' classes and a father and son banquet is to be held. Seven boys attended a boys' work conference at Brighton, and eight pupils earned certificates for temperance examinations.

Church officers for 1939 are as follows: Clerk of session, Bernard Smith; chuch treasurer, Charles Roberts; missions treasurer, Harrison Wing; Sunday School superintendent, Charles Roberts; Sunday School superintendent at Rush Point, Earl Pollock; W.M.S. president, Mrs. A. McLauchlin; Mission Band leaders, Mesdames W. Forsythe, G. Iles; Women's Association president, Mrs. Arthur Russell; Women's Association group leaders, Mesdames C. Roberts, C. Price, Rae Williams; Girls' Club leader, Miss M. Williams; Boys' work leader, R. W. Goheen; Y.P.U. president, William McLauchlin; Y.P.U. president at Rush Point, Helen Buchanan; secretary of congregation, Carman Coon; recording secretary, E. Fennell; envelope steward, Everard Chiles; envelope steward, missions, Miss E. Roberts; auditors, Misses K. Anderson, E. Wright; organist, Mrs. R. Campney.

The meeting concluded with thanks to the officials by the minister and the benediction, after which a lunch was served.

45 Boys Enter Seed Judging Durham County

The Durham County sixth Annual Seed Judging Competition was held at Blackstock, with forty-five boys taking part. A new feature this year was the dividing of the contestants into junior and senior groups with two previous competitions or special coaching placing a boy in the senior group. There were thirty-two juniors and thirteen seniors.

Atlanta Cuts Traffic Deaths From 21 To 5 By Slicing 35-Mile Limit To 25

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 10 (AP). DRIVING 10 miles an hour slower than they used to, Atlanta motorists noted four results today after two months of a 25-mile speed:

1. Traffic deaths totalled five compared to 21 for the same 60-day period a year ago.
2. Accidents were reduced from 1,100 to 700.
3. Standard motor casualty base rate was cut from $44 to $40.
4. It takes a bit longer to get where you're going.

Police Captain Jack Malcolm said 90 per cent of the people were co-operating with enforcement of an ordinance, enacted last December, cutting the speed limit from 35 miles an hour. The hope was an annual death toll of "less than 25", against 57 in 1938.

Peterboro' Leads Group With 241 Loans

Peterborough assumed leadership in the group of cities of 20,000 to 30,000 population in the number of loans issued under the Home Improvement Plan last year. And from several accounts locally indications are bright for increased impetus to the business which has been substantially maintained during the late fall and winter months, in fact up to the present.

With 241 loans made during 1938 Peterborough stepped out into leadership over such other cities of comparative size as Oshawa, 227; Brantford, 85; Kingston, 99; St. Catharines, 187; Kitchener, 134; Moncton, N.B., 180; Sherbrooke, P.Q., 131; Fort William, 118; Guelph, 100; Glace Bay, N.S., 192, and so on down to Hull, Que., 20.

Fourth In Amount

The official records from the Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, also show that in the amount of money borrowed and expended under the Home Improvement Plan last year Peterborough was in fourth place in the same bracket of cities.

Glace Bay, N.S., was first with $75,591.51; Sault Ste. Marie second with $74,196 52; Moncton, N.B., third $73,247.97; Peterborough fourth $72,741.26; Sherbrooke, Que., fifth $64,992.45; Kitchener sixth, $64,404.05. And the total amount borrowed by the cities of from 20,000 to 40,000 last year was $839,772.88 in 2,110 loans.

The number of H.I.P. loans last year for all Canada was 43,475 for a total of $18,073,873.35.

Impressive Totals

For the twenty-six months since the Home Improvement Plan came into effect in November 1936, the number of loans issued in Peterborough was second only to Oshawa in the 20,000-40,000 population brackets.

Oshawa's total was exactly 600 loans to the end of December 1938, and their total investment was $152,096.21; and Peterborough was second with 456 loans, their amount of $134,766.36 declining in the comparative column to seventh place.

The statistics for the twenty-six months follow:

Cities	No.	Amount
Glace Bay, N.B.	433	$173,165.50
Sydney, N.S.	427	161,173.16
Oshawa	600	182,096.21
Moncton, N.B.	389	149,807.83
Kitchener	342	147,535.65
St. Catharines	391	137,488.69
Peterborough	456	134,766.36

$5,000 Last Month

The salient fact relating to Peterborough's response to the Dominion Government's Home Improvement Plan is that 456 loans have been issued in Peterborough for a total outlay of $134,766.36 in twenty-six months, a striking summary that tells its own story of local enterprise, and especially of Peterborough's receptiveness to a new idea.

And the success of the H.I.P. is reflected in the total issue of 43,475 loans for $18,073,873.35.

Peterborough's interest has carried over into 1939 with encouraging prospects for further business when the building season gets under way in the Spring.

C. S. Cummer, manager of the George Street branch of the Bank of Montreal, informed the Examiner today that the loans issued through that branch during January amount to more than $5,000. Many enquiries have been coming from owners of houses who are considering the advantages the H.I.P. holds out to them for necessary improvements to their properties this season.

It will be recalled that Peterborough was one of the first cities in Ontario to manifest an active interest in the H.I.P., forming a promotional committee of which Roland Denne was chairman. And at the same time the late Harry B. Muir who recently died in Kingston visited the Peterborough group on several occasions in his capacity as one of the Ontario directors of the H.I.P. committee for Ontario.

Will It Be Peace Or Continued War In Spain? These Men Say War

Peace or continued war in Spain? These men indicate it's to be war. The insurgents, under Gen. Francisco Franco, now hold most of the territory of Spain except the section around Madrid. Loyalist government president Manuel Azana, has left Spain and was reported ready to surrender. But Loyalist Premier Juan Negrin is said to be determined to continue the war. Apparently the key figure is Gen. Jose Miaja, the "saviour of Madrid" and commander-in-chief of the central government forces. He is said to be stubbornly insisting upon "a war to the finish." If so, Madrid, shelled badly in 1937, again will be the target for all insurgent attacks.

Seymour Charge Of United Church Opposes Legalizing Sports On The Sabbath Day

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10.—The ire of three Seymour United Church congregations has been focused on the provincial legislature following its proposal to legalize sport on Sundays. The Tabernacle, Stephens, and Zion churches all in charge of Rev. Dr. C. S. Reddick have voiced strong opposition to the proposal and in a resolution which they have adopted and which they propose to forward to the Northumberland representative in the Legislature and to the Attorney General they make their attitude perfectly clear. The text of the resolution reads: "We the members of Tabernacle, Stephens and Zion congregations of the United Church of Canada, located in the township of Seymour, county of Northumberland, Province of Ontario, being informed that at the next meeting of the Provincial Legislature it is proposed to enact legislation legalizing commercialized sport and entertainments on the Lord's Day do hereby register our emphatic opposition to such a proposal and request that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the representative of this riding in the Provincial Legislature, and also to the Attorney General.

IN MEMORIAM

POTTS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Stella Potts, who departed this life three years ago, February 10, 1936.

We often sit and think of her when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep green and never fade away.
